Magistrate Daly Formally Remands Napanee Prisoners.

PONTON'S CONFIDENT BEARING.

Demeanor of Mackie and Cracksman Pare—Sketches of the Accused—Counsel for Prisoners Apply for Bail and It Is Fixed at $10,000 — Holden in Canada.

Napanee July 22.—William H. Ponton had his first glimpse of liberty since his second incarceration yesterday. It was rumored about Napanee last night that the ex-teller would appear before the Magistrate in the morning and so great is the popularity of the chief prisoner that all else was forgotten and everyone discussed the chances of those who were putting forth their best endeavors to gain admission to his presence during the brief time that he was expected to spend outside the prison walls. All the efforts of these enthusiastic friends of Ponton's were, however, futile, for when the ex-teller stepped from his cell it was only to walk into the parlor of Turnkey Clarke's residence, which is within the jail building.

In the turnkey's parlor, the only available place in the jail for the holding of a court, no one was admitted but officials and corrrespondents of the city newspapers. The hour for the opening of the court was set for 10 o'clock.

Ponton Came First.

Ponton was first brought in between Chief Adams and Jailer Vanluven. He looked in perfect health and wore a confident smile. His step was firm and his voice, as he answered to his name, showed no signs of tremor. He noticed one or two of his friends in the room and nodded gaily, as if he were upon the street. He made no complaint, and was entirely unabashed by his position or by the proceedings.

Mackie was the next to appear, and he was perfectly at his ease and was not visibly weakened. He is a fine-looking chap, and is not dressed in the regulation turf speculator style He expressed the hope that the trial would soon be brought on, as he was getting tired of the rarified atmosphere of the jail.

The Magistrate informed him that no persons were more anxious than the Crown that the matter should be proceeded with, but that the delay was caused by the non-arrival of Holden.

Prisoner Pare's coming in was a matter of interest to everyone present. When first seen on his arrival in Napanee it was late at night, and little more than an outline of the man could be discerned. He is about 5 feet 7 inches in height and of medium build. He must be a man of 45, for his hair is quite grey and he is partially bald. He wears a dark moustache, flecked with grey, and has not been shaved for a week. His forehead slants considerably, while his eyes are shifty. He was dressed in ordinary street clothes that hung loosely about his spare frame.

Magistrate Daly then formally remanded the several prisoners until Friday, July 29.

Mackie Wants His Money.

Lawyer Wilson has made an application to the County Crown Attorney for the money, and in the meantime awaits an answer. The bills, it is known, were not Dominion Bank bills, signed or unsigned, but American bills. There were also found upon Mackie some race tickets, tantamount to saying that he had been losing "on the sure tip." The coins that were found will, it is claimed, be identified by relatives of Mackie as ones that he has had in his possession for years. This, if sufficient, may discount the importance that is attached to the finding of the coins.

Application for Bail.

Lawyers Porter and Wilson made application yesterday for bail for Ponton and Mackie. An order was granted, fixing the bail at $10,000 apiece. If the trial comes off on Tuesday the lawyers think the bail will not be put up. But it is currently reported that neither of the sides will even then be ready to go on, and that the trial will be postponed till the following Monday. Mr. Porter stated that in his opinion the trial would not take place till the latter date.

Holden on the Way.

Boston, Mass., July 23.—William H. Holden, the alleged robber of the Dominion Bank of Napanee, Ont., left for Montreal on the 9 o'clock train yesterday morning, in charge of Inspector Gaddis of Police Headquarters and a Canadian officer. Holden returned without demanding extradition.

Holden at Montreal.

Montreal, July 22.—W. H. Holden, arrested in Boston as being implicated in the Napanee bank robbery, arrived here last night in charge of Inspector Gaddis and Chief E. H. Sills of Napanee. Holden was not handcuffed and appeared to be as unconcerned as any of the party. The prisoner will be taken to Napanee by the morning train.

The Chinese Rebellion.

London, July 23.—The Hong-Kong correspondent of the Daily Mail says: The rebellion in the Province of Kwang-Si is being rapidly suppressed. The Imperial troops are dispersing the rebels and re-capturing the cities they had seized.

It is reported that an arrangement has been made with regard to the Ning-Po joss house. The French agree to abandon their scheme for carrying a road through it, in exchange for an extension of French concessions.

Albert Edward's Condition.

London, July 22.—The British Medical Journal yesterday, after giving a technical description of the injury to the left knee of the Prince of Wales, adds that the day's examination showed him to be in a considerably improved condition. The patient, otherwise, is in very satisfactory health and no operation will be necessary.

Sandys' Body Buried at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., July 22.—The body of Mr. B. J. Sandys, who was shot on the street on Saturday last by Samuel H. Taylor, has been interred here, instructions to that effect having been received from his relatives in Canada as soon as possible after they learned of his death.

Discipline.

"I hate to insist on my husband's taking me away for the summer," she said in tones of sympathy. "It costs a great deal of money."

"Why do you require it, then?" asked the mother.

"I've got to keep him in a stuffy hotel for a few weeks every year to make him appreciate the way I keep house."—Detroit Free Press.

Her Quandary.

Her Mother (to bride elect)—What, frowning on your wedding day?

Bride Elect—I'm in a quandary. If I go to the altar smiling, people will say I'm simply crazy to get Charlie, and if I look solemn they will say I already regret the step. What shall I do?—Tit-Bits.

Analytical.

"That boy of Brown's is of a most inquiring turn of mind. He is always interested in the reason of things."

"Going to be an analytical scientist, is he?"

"Perhaps. When his mother tells him to shut the door, he always says 'Why?'"—Vim.

The Alexandra Competition.

The Canadian team yesterday competed for the Alexandra, a squadded competition open to all comers, seven shots at 500 and 600 yards aggregate. The prize is a National Rifle Association prize of £1,050, made up of one prize of £30, one of £20, two prizes of £15, seven prizes of £10, twenty-four prizes of £5, twenty-five prizes of £4, one hundred prizes of £3, one hundred and sixty-five prizes of £2, and twenty-five prizes for S. R. tyros who do not gain any other prize in the competition. Sergt. Broadhurst, 5th Batt., and Pte. McVittie, 48th Batt., each scored 34. The others ranged from that down to 25.

Notes of the Matches.

For the Queen's Prize, first stage, 200 yards, Captain Hutcheson in 359th place made 40 shillings. There are 12 competitors to shoot for 28 places qualifying for the third stage of the Queen's Prize. Lieut. Smith, 59th Batt., and Pte. Swaine, 14th Batt., will shoot to-day.

Lieut. Pain, 13th Batt., in the match for the Association Cup, seven shots at 600 yards, made a score of 33.

In the St. George's match all with scores of 66 will shoot for 28 places in qualifying for the second stage.

Sergt Logie, 12th F.B., in the St. George's match, 500 yards, secured 130th place, winning 40 shillings; Lieut. Robertson, 7th Batt., 135th place, also won 40 shillings.

Sergt. Broadhurst, 5th Batt., secured third place in the competition for the Daily Telegraph Cup, winning 136 shillings.

In the Alexandra squadded competition, seven shots at 600 yards, the highest Canadian scores were those of Sergts. Armstrong and Simpson, who each made 34.

In the Daily Graphic competition, seven shots at 200 yards, prize a silver cup, price £52 10s., and framed sketches. 34 points, by Lieut. Ross and Col.-Sergt. Blair, was the highest Canadian score. Sergt. Armstrong, Sergt. Broadhurst, Sergt. Simpson and Lieut. Smith each scored 33. In this competition all scores of 33 and over will likely be in the prize list.

In the second stage of the Queen's Prize, Sergt. Armstrong, 10th Batt., and Lieut. Forbes, 73rd Batt., won 60 shillings each.

Lieut. Gilchrist, 1st B. F. A., with a score of 198, won 193rd place, winning 30 shillings.

Chronic Eczema Cured

One of the most chronic cases of eczema ever cured is the case of Miss Gracie Ella Aiton, of Hartland, N. B. On a sworn statement Mr. Aiton says: I hereby certify that my daughter Gracie Ella was cured of eczema of long standing by using four boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment. William Thistle, druggist, of Hartland, also certifies that he sold four boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment which cured Gracie Ella.

Miss Bentley Drowned.

Forest, July 22.—A sad drowning accident occurred at the north shore, Kettle Point, about 8 miles north of here, in which Miss Emma Bentley, aged 35 years, daughter of Mr. D. Bentley, book and job printer, Montreal, lost her life. In returning from a picnic the boat in which she was got into the trough of the sea and upset in about 5½ or 6 feet of water. The three managed to grasp the boat and Miss Bentley was so cool that she was giving the young lad instructions how to save himself, when a wave struck them. How or why she let go will likely never be known, and she was drowned in a very few feet of water. The other two managed to reach shore. Her father is at present taking a tour through Switzerland.

Christie, which were all consumed. Insurance on Christie's $1,200.

$12,500 SLUMP IN ONE CLIP

Gough Bros.' Big Double Stores and Oak Hall Branch Included.

Mark these words! and study them over, and see what it means for you. Since the close of a great day's business last Saturday, we have deliberately slashed about $12,500 off prices in our two Big Double Stores and Oak Hall Branch —including a net shrinkage of fully 25 per cent. in profits.

This is a gigantic undertaking to save you money, and to rapidly reduce all summer stocks. We are not so awfully greedy after gain as not to make prices bend to our will when we want to—even if loss must follow. But as our great stocks are brought away down to begin with, we can afford to do some marvellous selling, still further away down to quickly clear them. Never anything done in Peterborough can compare with it :—

Uncle Sam Will Not Be Allowed to Annex Philippines.

VETO ON ANGLO-AMERICANISM.

The British Columbia Filibustering Expedition Scheme Confessed to by the Spanish Consul-General for British North America—Warm Welcome for Hobson—A Manifesto From Garcia.

London, July 23.—A despatch to the Daily News from Berlin says that the powers, with the exception of Great Britain, have arrived at an agreement, though only in negative terms, regarding the future of the Philippines. They concur that they will not allow the islands to be annexed by the United States, and will not consent to an Anglo-American protectorate, which is believed to be cherished in influential quarters in Washington.

HAS CONFESSED.

The British North American Consul for Spain Gives Details of His Little Privateering Scheme.

Vancouver, July 23.—Capt. Mellon, Spanish Consul for British North America, has been forced by the presence of the executive officer of the United States ship Bennington and a secret service officer of the Washington Government to confess his schemes to aid Spain. The old man is in a state of hysterics for fear that the Canadian Government will deal harshly with him.

He said to a correspondent: "I'll keep back nothing. Two weeks ago I was appointed Spanish Consul for British North America, in compliance with a promise made at Madrid. I was instructed by official communication to buy several 15-knot cruisers and put them on the route between British Columbia and Manila. There was placed at my disposal unlimited capital. I was instructed to engage competent men to pilot and man the cruisers, and was expected to bring 2,000 wounded soldiers from the Philippines, shipping them over the Canadian Pacific railway via Montreal to Spain, and on the return trip to take provisions to the besieged—in all $4,000,000 worth—to be bought at Vancouver.

"Westerlund, the pilot, was offered $8,000 to act as pilot for two months, and Capt. S. S. Scott was approached and offered honors and wealth to go into the service of Spain, but pirating the St. Michael treasure ships was not mentioned and not thought of by me until the American papers published despatches to that effect. And the most astounding thing in connection with the matter is that from the time these stories appeared in print I had offer upon offer from United States adventurers and steamboat men, the former offering to enlist under Spain to pirate the treasure ships, and the latter to sell their steamers for this service. If circumstances warranted, I could make it hot for these people."

J. G. Sobral, ex-Spanish Attache, U.S. Navy, turned out of Montreal by the Canadian Government, is said to be here egging Mellon on. Mellon denies the report.

Lieut. Leighton of the United States Navy is here investigating the privateer story. Pilot Westerlund has received instructions from the Federal Government to tell, under oath, what he knows of Capt. Mellon's action regarding the Spanish privateer. Westerlund is preparing his affidavit.

Capt Scott, who was also approached, has been asked to do the same. It is understood that it was due to the presentation of Col. Dudley, the American Consul at this port, that these numerous confessions are coming out, and the Spanish Consul-General's schemes are being delivered in embryo. Owing to Capt. Mellon's position as agent for the Marine Board of Underwriters for America, the truth was forced from him in interests of American shipping.

CLOSING IN ON MANILA.

California Volunteers Now Only Two Miles From the Spanish Lines.

New York, July 23.—A despatch from Cavite July 19, via Hong Kong, July 23, says:

The entire regiment of First California volunteers advanced to-day to Janbo, only two miles from the Spanish lines surrounding Manila.

The California troops have been thrown out by General Anderson to form the advance of the attack in force.

South Manila is to be captured first.

The Colorado and Utah batteries are being landed at Paranaque, directly from the ships.

The Tenth Pennsylvania volunteers, with the rest of the artillery, will land at Malabon, just north of Manila.

Brig. General Francis V. Greene is in command of the advance, General Anderson remaining in Cavite.

Hooray for Hobson.

Washington, July 23.—The most agreeable event of the day was the arrival at the Navy Department of Lieut. Hobson, of Merrimac fame. The officials were not informed of his approaching visit, consequently there was no official at the railway station to meet him, and his reception was truly democratic. He succeeded in escaping observation, but before he emerged from the station, the cry of "Hobson! Hobson!" rang out, and the crowd closed about him, shaking his hand and pushing him about until he was rescued by the police and escorted to his carriage. Secretary Long came out of his private office, and grasping Hobson with both hands, said with sincerity: "Lieutenant, I am glad, very glad to see you."

Hobson's mission is to lay before the department the exact condition of the Christobal Colon with a view of saving the ship to the U. S. navy.

Uncle Sam's Rowdy Soldiers.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 23.—Pandemonium reigned in the city last night. Tough members of the 18th Pennsylvania volunteers sent here to guard the Soo Canal are raising disturbances that approached riots.

The officers apparently have no control whatever over their men. It has been unsafe for women to walk in the streets after dark the last few evenings and the citizens are thoroughly disgusted. The condition of affairs will be brought to the attention of the Secretary of War.

A VICTORY REPEAT.

Spanish Cruiser Captured Without Loss to Admiral Sampson—A French Steamer Taken In.

Washington, D.C., July 23.—The following message has been received at the Navy Department:

Playa, July 22.—Expedition to Nipe has been entirely successful, although the mines have not been removed for want of time. The Spanish cruiser Jorge Juan defending the place, was destroyed without loss on our part. The Annapolis and Wasp afterwards proceeded from Nipe to assist in the landing of the commanding general of the army on arrival at Porto Rico. (Sgd.) Sampson.

Frenchmen Run In.

Charleston, S.C., July 23.—The French steamer Olinde Rodriguez was brought into port yesterday in charge of a prize crew from the cruiser New Orleans. The steamer was captured off San Juan, Porto Rico. She was warned July 5 by the cruiser not to enter the port. July 17 the Rodriguez appeared again, making for the harbor. The New Orleans sent two shots across her bows and brought her to. She had 23 cabin and 14 steerage passengers on board and a cargo of coffee and tobacco.

How They View the Cubans Now.

New York, July 23.—A Washington special to the Journal says: On Gen. Shafter's recommendation all orders for sending supplies and arms to the Cuban insurgents have been suspended. The War Department has authorized Gen. Shafter to disarm the Cubans if their insubordination should take a serious turn.

U. S. Troops Disembarking.

Manila, July 19, via Hong-Kong, July 22.—The disembarkation of the American troops, composing the second expedition, is being pushed with utmost energy. The Colorado regiment is already in the field near Paranajo, and the other regiments will be transferred without any loss of time from the transports to the camp in native boats. The United States cruiser Boston has been detailed to cover the landing parties.

Fighting at Manila.

Manila, July 19, via Hong-Kong, July 22.—The insurgents are gradually getting artillery into action against Pondo, Santa Mero, and Malate. The fighting is desultory. The Spaniards have been driven from the trenches outside Malate, and the insurgents are strongly entrenched near the walls of the fort. The insurgents have begun to bombard Malate fort, and have struck the telegraph company's cable house.

Joseph Orde Discharged.

Barrie, July 23.—Joseph Orde, of Orillia Township, who stabbed his stepson Lawrence with a penknife early in June, was discharged yesterday on suspended sentence by Judge Ardagh. The old man is 86 years of age, and during his imprisonment awaitig trial has given evident signs that he is not likely to live very long.

HOLDEN ARRAIGNED.

He Admits That He Was One of the Tramps.

COMMITTED TILL FRIDAY NEXT.

A Big Crowd of Napanee People Meet Him at the Station in Charge of Detective Dougherty and Constable Sills—Crown Won't Be Ready for 10 Days Yet.

Napanee, July 23.—The town of Napanee at shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday was almost deserted. Everyone who could spare an hour went to the Grand Trunk Railway station to meet William Holden. The crowd filled the platform, and when the express from Montreal pulled in there was a rush for the first car. The smoker was filled with people eager for a look at the noted prisoner, but not one of them saw him. While attention was distracted to the front end of the train, Detective Dougherty jumped from the steps of the last coach, and, turning, assisted to the platform a tall, rather dignified looking man, who, though the traces of dissipation were plain upon his face, would never have been taken for a bank robber. He was nevertheless William Henry Holden, the man who assisted Edward Pare in the robbery of the bank. At his side walked County Constable Sills, and over the right and left hand of each man respectively hung a black silk handkerchief. When a draught of wind blew this handkerchief aside the glimmer of a steel handcuff was seen.

Holden Remanded.

Around the steps leading to Police Magistrate Daly's office, the crowd stood thick. When Holden was seated in the office, the magistrate read the remanding document, stating that William H. Holden was accused of breaking into the Napanee Bank. He was then remanded for eight days. The magistrate addressed the prisoner, and said he recognized him as one of the tramps arrested a year ago.

Holden acknowledged the truth of this and remarked, "You thought it was strange that I had that cartridge of coins in my possession."

"No, it was the other fellow that had them," corrected the Magistrate.

"Oh, yes, so it was, assented Holden. Then they drove him to jail.

Crown Not Ready for Ten Days.

The investigation will not begin for 10 days, because many witnesses have yet to be got together, some it is said from British Columbia. The following statement from the Crown Attorney justifies this statement: "I see no probability of the Crown being ready in these cases inside of ten days. If the magistrate makes an order for bail I would like to have the names submitted to me some time prior to the time you would expect your client released in order that I may make enquiries as to their sufficiency. This also applies to Mr. Ponton. (Signed) W. S. Herrington."

The jail is being lighted inside and out by both oil and electric lights. This is the work of the County Council.

That Holden has made a confession could not be learned, though his waiving extradition proceedings might lead to this conclusion. It is officially stated that another arrest will have been made within the next 24 hours.

Will Not Be Brought to Napanee.

Mrs. Saucier will not be brought to Napanee, as she had nothing whatever to do with the robbery, and is an entirely different person from the notorious Mrs. Seymour. Her connection with the case is that she circulated the mis-signed bills. The police are not free to admit that none of the $3,000 share of the swag Pare says was given to Ponton has been traced to the latter. The evidence taken at the last trial will form an important part of the Crown's case.

Holden is lodged in the same corridor as Mackie. Mackie does not recognize Holden, though the police say Holden said, "I know that man." Extra guards have been placed at nights on the jail. The money taken from Mackie on his arrest will be returned to him to-day. If it is decided to secure bail in the case of Ponton, it can be raised in half a minute. The sum is waiting to be called for. A number of persons are being taken every day to the jail to identify the prisoners.

WILL BE REPRESENTED.

Newfoundland Will Send Sir James Winter to Quebec Conference.

London, July 23.—Sir James Winter, the Premier of Newfoundland, returns to America on Aug. 6 by the steamer Siberian, having completed the mission which brought him to this country. It is understood that the British Colonial Office has agreed that Newfoundland shall be directly represented at the coming conference on American-Canadian affairs, and the Newfoundland Premier himself will be the commissioner from that colony.

Sir James Winter has also had a satisfactory conference with the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. George J. Goschen, in regard to establishing a naval reserve corps in Newfoundland. The British Government has not reached a decision on the French shore and other questions.

Martial Law at Skaguay.

Juneau, Alaska, July 17, by steamer Alki to Departure Bay, July 23.—The town of Skaguay is still under martial law, and all saloons are closed. Twenty-six men who have been bound over by the United States commissioner have been taken to Sitka. City Surveyor Reid, who killed "Soapy" Smith recently, received a wound in the hand and may die of blood poisoning.

Head and Limbs

All Covered With Eruptions—Could Not Work, the Suffering Was So Great—Hood's Has Cured.

"I was all run down with complaints peculiar to my sex, and I broke out in sores on my body, head, limbs and hands, and my hair all came out. I was under the doctor's treatment a long time without benefit. They called my trouble eczema. Finally I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after I had used three or four bottles I found I was improving. I kept on until I had taken several more bottles and the sores and itching have disappeared and my hair has grown out." MRS. J. G. BROWN, Brantford, Ontario.

"I was all run down and had no appetite. I had a tired feeling all the time. I was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so and it benefited me so much that I would not be without it." MRS. G. I. BURNETT, Central Norton, N. B.

Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, JULY 23, 1898.

The Melbourne correspondent of the London Times cabled on July 6 with regard to "Mr. Henniker Heaton's Imperial penny postage scheme." By those who know, it is nowhere called Mr. Mulock's scheme.—Toronto Mail.

Here's smallness for you. The organ carries its political hostility so far as to deny due credit to a Canadian, simply because he is a political opponent. It is a bad spirit for a Canadian newspaper. Such a spirit must have suggested the unpleasant but effective proverb about "a bird fouling its own nest." To dull the point of the Mail and Empire's ill-tempered snarl, it may be pointed out that at a "meeting at Westminster of the members of the British House of Commons, held in recognation of Canada's leading part in the promotion of penny postage. Mr. Henniker Heaton himself seconded the vote to Canada and South Africa for the important and successful work of their representatives at the postal conference. In speaking to the motion Mr. Heaton said that the adoption of Hon. Mr. Mulock's motion had endeared Canada to the people of Great Britain, and that, but for Canada's resolute action the movement for imperial penny postage would have remained unsuccessful for years. Mr. Henniker Heaton concluded his remarks by saying that Canada's Postmaster-General, Hon. Mr. Mulock, had "proved himself the Rowland Hill of the day." There, now, Mr. Mail and Empire, don't be so envious any more. If a political opponent does a great thing for the benefit of his country and the Empire, gracefully acknowledge it; or, if that is too great a strain upon your generosity, gracefully keep silent. It is just as easy to be magnanimous as to be pusillanimous.

AGONIZING PAINS.

Endured by Those who Suffer from Sciatica—A Victim Tells How to Obtain Relief.

Probably no trouble that afflicts mankind causes more intense agony than sciatica. Frequently the victim is utterly helpless, the least movement causing the most agonizing pains. To those who are suffering from this malady the following statement from Mr. John Hayes, of Havesville, York Co., N.B., will point the road to relief and cure. Mr. Hayes says:—"For upward of twenty years I have suffered from weakness and pain in the back. Some four years ago my trouble was intensified by Sciatica settling in my right leg. What I suffered seems almost beyond description. I employed three doctors but all to no purpose; I had to give up work entirely and almost despaired of life. This continued for two years—years filled with misery. At this time I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using six boxes both the sciatica and the weakness in the back which had troubled me so long, were gone. I was again a well man and feeling fifteen years younger than before I began the pills. Nearly two years has passed since I discontinued the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in that time no symptom of the trouble has shown itself. Under God I thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for what they have done for me."

Mr. Hayes voluntarily testifies to the truth of the above statement before Edward Whosead, Esq., J.P., and his statements are further vouched for by Rev. J. N. Barnes, of Stanley, N.B.

The Heat of the Sun.

It is impossible except by illustration and comparison to grasp the idea of the heat of the sun. According to calculations, based upon the energy of the sun's rays on the earth, the temperature at its surface is computed as about 18,000 degrees F. No artificial temperature of this degree can be created by any known means. Efforts have been made to collect and utilize the tremendous heat power of the sun, but cloudiness, mist and darkness have prevented anything like marked success. At the Columbian exposition an apparatus was shown, consisting of a reflector and proper attachments, which utilized the heat of the sun to such an effect that a two horsepower engine was run by it. It is proposed to try experimenting with reflectors in countries where the sky is free of cloudiness and the sun shines almost uninterruptedly nearly every day in the year.—New York Ledger.

NEW REGULATIONS.

Conditions of Yearly Licenses to Cut Dominion Timber.

West of Eagle Pass in British Columbia the Ground Rent Will Be 5 Cents an Acre The Crown Dues to Be Collected on Manufactured Timber Ottawa News.

Ottawa, July 23.—Regulations governing the granting of yearly licenses to cut timber on Dominion lands in Manitoba and the Territories, excepting the Yukon district and within twenty miles on the other side of the Canadian Pacific Railway in British Columbia, will be given to-day to take the place of those which have been in force since 1889. The licensee shall pay an annual ground rent of $5 per square mile, except for lands situated west of Eagle Pass, in the Province of British Columbia, in which case the yearly ground rent shall be five cents an acre. The following Crown dues will be collected: Sawn lumber, 50 cents per thousand feet, b.m.; railway ties, 8 feet long, 1½ cents each; railway ties, 9 feet long, 1¾ cents each; shingle bolts, 25 cents per cord; and 5 per cent. on the sales of all other products of the berth. A rebate of 40 cents per thousand feet, b.m., will be allowed on lumber exported from British Columbia to places outside of the Dominion of Canada, provided the licensee can produce evidence to the Crown Timber Agent as to the quality exported.

Mennonite Reserve Lands.

On August 1 all the lands remaining vacant at that date in the Western Mennonite Reserve, and in townships four and five, in range six, east, in the Eastern Mennonite Reserve will be thrown open for general settlement, except such portions as it may be deemed advisable in the public interest to reserve for timber purposes.

General Ottawa News.

Ottawa, July 23.—The clergy of Ottawa are practically unanimous in their opposition to Sunday street cars, but all are not opposed to the proposed plebiscite to be taken next January on the subject.

A deputation waited upon the Township Council of Nepean, which met yesterday, and asked that a bylaw be passed to prevent bicycle and horse racing on the roads of the township. The Council promised to do this at its next meeting.

BRITAIN WILL KEEP PEACE.

Mr. George J. Goschen on the Supplementary Naval Program.

London, July 23.—The eagerly-expected statement of the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. George J. Goschen, on the supplementary naval program, was made yesterday in the House of Commons. He reviewed the original program which was considered sufficient when it was framed, being based upon the two-power system that the navy of Great Britain would be equal to the combined fleets of any two powers. But, in consequence of the action of Russia on the same system, the Government was compelled to present a supplementary program, paralleling the Russian increases of six battleships, which Russia proposed to begin in 1898. Only two battleships were taken into account in the original British program, and the First Lord of the Admiralty asked the House to grant four more battleships. (Cheers.) Continuing, Mr. Goschen remarked: "The Russian program provides for four cruisers. We propose to build four—(Cheers)—and also 12 destroyers."

It is estimated that the cost of the new program will be £8,000,000, making the entire expenditure for the new ships £15,000,000. The battleships will be especially adapted for the passage of the Suez Canal.

ANOTHER TIMBER LEG.

The Peculiar Tramp Who Is Exciting Surmise at Baby's Point.

Wallaceburg, July 23.—A man answering the description published by Chief Constable Williams of London, wanted for shooting Policeman Twohey, has been prowling around the country in the vicinity of Baby's Point, a few miles west of this place, for several days. People who have seen him believe he is the much-looked-for tramp.

He acts suspiciously, avoids company, begs food, but refuses to enter a house, although he was invited in during a rain storm. Persons who attempt to interview him or follow him are given clearly to understand they must leave him alone. He wears a shoe on the wooden leg and pants full length. The straps holding the peg leg on are plainly discernible. No attempt to arrest him has been made, as the people are afraid of him. The London police have been notified.

Is That Which Can be Easily Cured Like Kidney Disease.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure all Kidney Complaints, no Matter how Severe They May be—The Evidence of Mr. A. Richards, of Montreal.

MONTREAL, July 22.—If all the men and women of Montreal, who are ill, enjoyed good health, their industry would enrich the city to quite an extent.

No person has a right to be sick, if it is possible to get better.

"I had terrible pains in my back, which often obliged me to quit work till they abated.

"My urine was passed in very small quantities, many times a day and night. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing.

"I was wearing to a skeleton, and was utterly discouraged.

"I used various remedies, but they did me no good, till I began taking Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"A few boxes cured me out and out. I am now free from pain, eat and sleep well, and weigh 253 pounds. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it all for me."

An Italian Bull.

"We also in Italy," says a correspondent of the London Spectator, "produce a fine breed of 'bulls.' Here is an example: My servant was sent the other day to bespeak an early cab for the next morning and to insist on punctuality. He came back well satisfied with himself. 'I told Angelo,' he said, 'to be at the house punctually at a quarter before 7, and if he was not punctual he must be there at half past 6.'"

A Fancy Worker.

"Does your wife do much fancy work?"

"Fancy work? She won't even let a porous plaster come into the house without crocheting a red border round it and running a yellow ribbon through the holes."—London Tit-Bits.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

ASSURANCE CO.

OFFICE OF W. A. MURRAY & CO., 17 to 27 King St., East, Toronto.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,033 00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	8,280 00
3rd or take the profits in cash	2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

RAILWAY RATES TO GO UP.

Sir William Van Horne and "Jim" Hill Said to Have Reached an Agreement That Way.

Chicago, July 23.—Sir William Van Horne, President of the Canadian Pacific road, passed through Chicago yesterday on his way east from St. Paul, where he had been in conference with J. J. Hill, President of the Great Northern road, on the transcontinental passenger rate matter.

No official statement has yet been made regarding the result of the conferences. Unofficially, however, it is stated that an agreement was reached the practical result of which will be the restoration of rates. It is stated that a meeting of the lines will be called immediately on Sir William Van Horne's arrival at Montreal, for the purpose of settling the details of the restoration, which will be put into effect with the least possible delay.

THE N.A.A.O. REGATTA.

The Argonauts of Toronto Win the Four-Oared Shell Race.

Philadelphia, July 23.—The 26th annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen was opened here yesterday under the most favorable auspices. The weather was all that could be desired, the water was smooth and the contests were all good.

Yesterday's events consisted of two trial heats in intermediate singles and finals in the senior pair oared, senior double, senior four and intermediate eight-oared shell. One championship prize went to Toronto, another to Worcester, Mass., and the other two to Philadelphia. The surprise of the day was the defeat of Wright and Thomson, the Toronto Argonaut champion pair oared shell crew. They were looked upon as sure winners, but Exley and Scott of the Pennsylvania Barge Club defeated them quite easily.

There were three starters in the senior four-oared shell race—Argonaut of Toronto, Ariel of Baltimore and Western of St. Louis. The Ariels got the worst of the start by over half a length. The St. Louis men did considerable splashing, while the Argonauts showed fine oarsmanship, which enabled them to take the lead and win by a length.

A Little Girl Drowned.

Port Hope, July 23.—A sad drowning accident occurred at Canton on Wednesday night. The victim was Annie Gordon, the 13-year-old daughter of Mr. Joseph Gordon, who resides near here. No information can be had as to how the accident occurred. The girl was seen about 7.30 in the evening, but not returning home as night came on, a search was made by anxious ones, but her whereabouts could not be discovered. After every probable place had been examined, the pond in the rear of Kinsman's flour mill was dragged, and the body of the missing girl was found about 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

The McKinnon Challenge Cup.

Hutcheson, 43rd Batt., has been placed in command of the team. Adjutant Smith explaining that he handed over the command of the McKinnon team to Capt. Hutcheson for the reason that he himself had too much other work. Members of the team are not at all anxious to shoot for the McKinnon Cup, believing they have no chance of winning for lack of proper preparation.

Won the Canada Cup.

Sergt. Broadhurst, 5th Batt., won the Canada Cup, a prize given by the Canada Club for the highest aggregate in the Canadian team.

Lieut. Ross, 13th Batt., is winner of the cup given by Lord Strathcona, Canadian High Commissioner.

The winnings of the Canadian team at the present meeting are almost nothing. Some of the members have not won a cent.

In the 500 yards of the Alexandra match, Sergt. Simpson, 10th Batt., in 51st place, won 80 shillings. Sergt. Broadhurst, 5th Batt., 65th place, and Sergt. Armstrong, 88th place; each won 60 shillings.

Smith, 59th Batt., 93rd place; Sergt. Simpson, 10th Batt., 100th place; and Sergt. Armstrong, 10th Batt., 117th place; each won 60 shillings.

General Notes.

Only Sergt. Armstrong, Lieut. Ross and Lieut. Smith are in the prize list for the Graphic. They each scored 84, seven shots at 600 yards.

During the meeting great complaints have been made about the deduction of entrance fees. If the practice is continued it may be difficult in 1899 to induce men to come over here.

Rain fell at intervals yesterday, and the wind was shifty. Some members of the Canadian team have not fired at all in some of the competitions.

STAGGERING.

Wheat Prices Advance and Then React Before the Markets Close—The Latest Quotations.

Friday Evening, July 22.

Chicago wheat market again showed considerable variableness to-day. Advices early in the session that Argentine shipments for the week have fallen off to almost nil, tended to strengthen both the cash delivery, and the futures, and prices were further toned up when it came out that to-day's primary receipts were only half those of the corresponding day last year. Later in the day a reaction was caused by the poor export demand, and further reports of good crop prospects in Europe, July closed 1⅛c, September ⅝c and December ½c below yesterday's final figures.

On the Liverpool board, July wheat closed unchanged from yesterday, with the September and December options, respectively, ⅛c and ⅝d per central higher for the day. Paris closed 15 to 30 centimes above yesterday's final figures. Antwerp was 12½ to 25 centimes lower.

Buyers and sellers of Ontario new wheat were apart to-day, 68c north and west bidding, and 70c asked at some points. Old red and Manitoba hard incline lower.

SOUND SLEEP IS SURE

If you Perfect your Digestive System with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

You Get Up Refreshed and Vigorous. Ready for your Day's Work—Your Bones and Head Don't Ache.

"Oh! These hot, sweltering nights! Sleep is impossible. I toss and roll about in misery. When daylight comes after long and weary waiting, my head aches, my eyes pain, I am tired and sore in every joint.

"My blood is hot and feverish, my breath is offensive, my tongue is furred, and generally my face is disfigured by pimples.

"What must I do to overcome this condition to get sound sleep, rest and relief?' This is the question a lady asks.

The answer is easy. She must take a treatment of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The secret of her trouble is bad blood. Her digestive system doesn't work properly in this overpoweringly hot weather.

Imperfect digestion brings on sleeplessness, headache, pimples, etc.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, taken one after each meal, digest the food perfectly, thoroughly, and promptly.

Pure, cool blood is thus secured, in abundance.

Headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, and "that tired feeling," all vanish when the blood is pure.

And Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets make pure blood a certainty. They supply it themselves by digesting the food.

They restore the stomach and the other digestive organs to thorough and perfect health, the small tablets that go with every box regulate and stimulate the bowels, and bring about perfect co-operation among the different digestive organs.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 50 cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or sent on receipt of price, by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Drought.

Owing to the long continued drought root crops are said to be suffering. There has not been a rainfall of any account since June 13th, and during the present month of July up to date rain has only fallen to the very small amount of .15 of an inch. During July of last year there was a rainfall of almost 5 inches, and on one day (the 27th) there was rain to the amount of 2 inches and 23-100, an extraordinary amount for 24 hours. A good thunderstorm would go a long way towards reviving and refreshing parched vegetation.

CUBANS ATTACK SPANISH PRISONERS.

But Were Beaten Off With Heavy Loss.

NATIVES DEMAND VENGEANCE.

Insurgents Repulsed at Manilla—American Troops will not be Brought Back From Cuba Until all Traces of Yellow Fever are Stamped Out.

Special 3 p. m. despatches to the Examiner.

A special despatch from Santiago says:—A detachment of Spanish troops bound for Santiago to surrender were attacked by four thousand Cuban insurgents, composing part of General Garcia's army. The Spaniards routed the enemy, killing forty-one and wounding a large number. The Spanish loss was small. This story of battle and its results has greatly excited the Cubans. They are demanding vengeance and cannot understand why the Americans do not annihilate their Spanish prisoners of war.

Insurgents Repulsed at Manilla.

Madrid, July 23rd.—According to a despatch from Hong Kong the insurgents attacked Manilla, but were repulsed with a loss of 500. The Spaniards had 50 killed and wounded. A second attack was equally unsuccessful.

The belief is current in Madrid that the delay in Commodore Watson's starting is due to a desire to give Gen. Polavista time to form a cabinet and to sue for peace.

Won't Import Yellow Fever.

New York, July 23. — It is said that Shafter's 5th corps now at Santiago will be kept on Cuba soil until every vestige of yellow fever is stamped out. There is no intention of bringing the troops back to the United States at present, the authorities believing it dangerous to do so on account of the risk of spreading the fever broadcast throughout the country.

Berlin, July 23.—A Shanghai despatch declares that the relations between the Germans and Americans at Manilla are very friendly.

Santiago de Cuba, June 23.—The city is quiet and ordinary business is being resumed. From various points in the province Spanish troops continue to arrive daily and are sent to camp to await embarkation. General Wood, the military governor, has ordered all the shops to open, and hereafter there will be music in the plaza every Thursday and Sunday.

More Batteries Silenced.

Key West, Fla., July 23.—United States Gun boat silenced Spanish fortifications in Nipe Bay, northern coast of the Province of Santiago De Cuba, on Thursday, and sank a Spanish gun boat.

Santiago De Cuba, July 23—It turns out that General Garcia never saw the letter addressed to General Shafter, complaining of the treatment accorded the Cubans and advising General Shafter of General Garcia's resignation. It is said the letter was prepared by a newspaper correspondent on General Castillo's staff.

Porto Rico Will Fight Back.

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, July 23.—The Spaniards at San Juan de Porto Rico are making extensive preparations to resist an anticipated attack upon the part of the United States war ships which are understood to be convoying the army of invasion commanded by Gen. Miles. There were no signs this a.m. of the American warships or transports but news of them is expected shortly.

Removing to Peterborough.

Mr. Alfred Davies, professor of music, intends, the Norwood Register says, moving to Peterborough the first week in August. Mr. Davies finds this necessary on account of his engagement as choirmaster in St. Luke's church, owing to which he has in the past been unable to spend Sunday with his family. The departure of Mr. Davies and his estimable family will be much regretted by our citizens. They have resided here for over five years and many pleasant associations have been formed which all will regret are to be thus interrupted.

ASHBURNHAM SCHOOL BOARD.

It Decides to Introduce a Kindergarten in September Next.

A special meeting of Ashburnham School Board was held last evening. There were present:—Chairman E. A. Peck, and Trustees Adams, Sheridan, and Agnew. The Secretary Treasurer, Mr. J. T. Wright, was also present.

The chief business was to discuss the establishment of a Kindergarten room. It was finally decided to open a Kindergarten room and to have it ready for use when school re-opens on Sept. 1st.

A committee was appointed to procure all necessary supplies.

Miss Agnes Williamson, was appointed as directress, at a salary of $260 a year. She is to teach the junior first classes in the afternoons, and do Kindergarten work in the forenoons.

Mr. M. W. Matchett, presented a report of the results of the recent Entrance examination, which was highly satisfactory. Ashburnham Public School passed 9 pupils out of 13, or 69 per cent. Of all who wrote at Peterborough only 59 per cent. passed. The average age of the Ashburnham pupils is 13 years, and only one of the class tried the examination before. The average marks of the class was 604. Of the four who failed the average was 544. One got 17 marks and another 21, more than the required total. One of the Ashburnham pupils took honours, and another carried off a physiology prize. In geography the highest mark was taken by an Ashburnham pupil, and in spelling one of the pupils made a perfect mark (50), the average of the whole class being 45.

The members of the Board were well pleased with the report.

Miss Erskine is to take charge of the Second Book classes, Miss Coveney is to teach the Senior First and the Part Second classes. Miss Dawson retains the Third classes.

JULY NUPTIALS.

Wedding of Miss Mary J. Freeborn and Mr. Wm. Freeman.

The residence of Mr. Thos. Freeborn, Smith, was the scene of one of those happy events, on Wednesday evening, July 6th, when all care and sorrow are forgotten, it being the occasion of the marriage of his eldest daughter, Miss Mary J. Freeborn to Mr. Wm. Freeman, of Bobcaygeon.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. T. J. Edmison, B.A., B.D., in the Methodist parsonage, Lakefield. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Jarvis, while Mr. John Freeman, brother of the groom, performed the duties of groomsman. The presents to the bride were both handsome and useful.

The happy couple will take residence in Lakefield.

A Dastardly Mean Act.

This morning a gentleman brought into the EXAMINER office about twenty sharp tacks, which he picked up on the bicycle strip alongside the car track, near the crossing, opposite Mr. Wrighton's shop. The tacks were new and were evidently placed where they were found for the purpose of doing damage to bicycle tires. It is too hot weather to waste indignation on such a cowardly and despicably mean act. The person guilty of it should be publicly whipped.

JAS. HANLON ARRESTED.

He is Charged With Stealing a Watch, with a Chain and Locket—Remanded Until Monday Next.

James Hanlon was arrested last evening on George street, charged with the theft of a gold watch, chain and locket from Wm. Mensies, at the City Hotel.

Mr. Mensies, it appears, went out to work on Thursday morning and left his watch and chain in his room. On returning in the evening he missed the time-piece and suspicion fell on Hanlon. His guilt was confirmed when it was ascertained that he had taken a watch to Mr. Ernie Wasson, in W. A. Sanderson's jewelry store, and asked to have it valued. Assurance, however was rendered doubly sure when Hanlon was traced to Robt. Gibbs' livery stable, where it was found he had hired a horse and left the watch as security. When it was found that he had driven out to Ennismore, P. C. McGinty secured a rig and went after him but without avail. The horse was returned, last evening, however, and a few minutes later Hanlon was under arrest.

On being brought before the Magistrate this morning the prisoner acknowledged taking the watch, but said he fully intended to return it. He was remanded until Monday.

THE COUNCIL'S TRIP.

The Members Witness the Work of Rival Steam Rollers and Stone-Crushers.

The council has returned from its trip to Hamilton, where an inspection was made of the work done by the Russel and the Pitts steam rollers and several makes of stone crushers. Whilst in the Ambitious City the members were treated with the greatest courtesy by the Hamilton council, who insisted on entertaining the visitors during their stay.

The two rollers were operated on a stretch of road on the steep mountain grade, and after "picking" the roadway rolled it down again in a manner which greatly impressed the councillors with the usefulness of the machines. The stone crushers also did good work.

On leaving Hamilton each councillor was presented with a handsome souvenir volume of the views of the city and its environments. On behalf of the Mayor, Councillor McWilliams extended an invitation to the Hamilton council to visit Peterborough this year when out on their annual jaunt, and by the warm reception with which the invitation was greeted, it is probable that before the summer is over Peterborough will have an opportunity of returning the courtesy which the Hamilton aldermen so recently extended to its representatives.

The local delegation feels especially indebted to Alderman Dunn of Hamilton for the attention which he showed them. He never left the party from the time of their arrival until the train left the station.

Councillors Langford, J. M. White and W. H. White went on to London yesterday to inspect another make of crusher which is used in that city.

YOUNG LEGER CAUGHT.

He Has Been Keeping Away From the Police by Remaining out in Ennismore.

Jos. Leger, the small boy whom the police have been after for the last month on suspicion of entering the stores of J. W. T. Fairweather and R. H. Kells, and rifling the cash registers, was captured yesterday out in Ennismore by P. C. McGinty, who was after another culprit, but in getting wind of Leger being in the neighborhood ran him down and brought him to town.

The lad, who is only 13 years of age was up in the police court this morning and remanded until Monday.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.

A Former Employee of the Rathbun Co. Has Got Into Trouble.

Armed with a warrant for the arrest of a man named Thos. J. Bowens, Chief Bell, of Lindsay, left yesterday for the village of Gooderham, near Pine Lake, on the I. B. & O. R. R. On the arrival at a late hour in the evening he learned that Bowens was employed by a farmer living about half-way between the village and Irondale. Engaging a rig and driver he proceeded to the residence of the farmer mentioned, where the arrest was quietly effected, Bowens taking matters coolly. Chief Bell and his prisoner were then driven to Kinmount and caught the southbound train reaching Lindsay at 9 o'clock.

It appears that the prisoner had been employed by the Rathbun Co. last winter in a shanty near Lakefield, and on the drive this spring. After he left some forged time-sheets were negotiated, and it was discovered that blank forms had been abstracted from the back of a book in the office. The circumstances point to Bowens as the guilty party.

The prisoner was brought before Magistrate McIntyre and was remanded to gaol till next Thursday when his trial will take place.

LOCAL DEER HUNTERS HOLD A POW-WOW.

THEY DISAPPROVE OF SHOOTING DEER ON RUNWAYS.

Game Warden Tinsley's Circular Responsible for the Meeting—His Questions Discussed and Answered—Will the Season be Extended.

At a meeting of the Central Ontario Game and Fish Protection Association, held in the National Hotel parlours, last evening, there was a large attendance of hunters present.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, the President, occupied the chair and explained the object of the meeting to be the discussion of a circular sent out by Game Warden Tinsley asking various questions relative to the satisfaction which was given our hunters by the present game laws.

Mr. Dumble read the following answers which he had given to the questions and they appeared to be heartily endorsed by all present.

1 Do you approve of the hounding of deer? Yes.

2 Do you think the abolition of hounding would conduce to the increased protection of deer? Yes.

3 Give reasons for your answer to No. 2.

If the question means hunting with dogs as against still hunting or stalking—certainly there will be fewer deer killed in the present hunting season by stalking or still hunting, than if dogs are allowed. Still hunting can only be successful when there is snow on the ground; and only that class of people with much wood craft dare wander in Canadian woods still hunting. their game would be shot frequently where the hunter could not get it to camp. Still hunting in the tangles of fallen timber and burnt lands is impracticable. It would simply mean handing over the deer to the backwoodsman who now kills deer when he pleases. The sportsman from the front would not be in it. The deer are game to be used for sport, intended to be killed and the legislation must be for the people—not for the deer. Wild deer in the forest are only of value in proportion as they give, 1st, sport; 2nd, meat and hides.

4 Do you approve of the killing of deer in the water or when just leaving the water? Yes.

5 Give reasons for your answer.

a It is kind to the deer, for they are killed in the kindest way.

b The deer is not allowed to escape wounded to die in the woods.

c The meat is much better in a beast shot in the head or neck than riddled with bullets from a repeating rifle and shot most frequently in the body, as they are when not shot in the water.

d. The deer shot in the water is brought to the nearest shore, bled and opened or put in the canoe and paddled to a convenient place, and thus got easily to camp or a road.

e Deer shot on a runway involve great hardship in getting them to camp.

f As a matter of fact the present law is almost universally ignored and deer are shot in the water now as formerly.

6. The protection of deer being the object in view, please make any suggestions which you may consider useful to the Government or the commissioners on the subject.

The protection of deer is not the object. The sport, meat and hides are the object. The deer in the woods are worthless and they are valuable only in proportion as they are available for sport, meat or hides, and the law must be shaped to answer the purpose to be served.

Protect the deer not simply that they may be numerous—to be eaten by wolves—but protect them so as to keep up sport, meat and hides. North of Peterborough, in the vast tract of bad lands, which have been timbered over and mostly burnt, the deer are as plentiful as they were twenty years ago. They always will be plentiful there for the wolves will not come where there are roads and settlements. The efforts of the Government to prevent total destruction are right, but it must take the hunters into consideration, for the legislation must be for them, not for deer. The hunters do not want the destruction of the deer. They will honourably assist in carrying out a good law. The men who go out in the season are much more honourable than the pot hunters called settlers, some of whom killed forty or fifty deer in a season.

Let everyone alike pay for his license. Let everyone licensed have a return to be declared before a magistrate within ten days from the close of the season, stating the district hunted, the number in the party, the number of deer killed, number killed in water or on land, whether with dogs or without them and the sex and age of the deer.

In this way the Government will get statistics on which they can work for the perfection of regulations.

D. W. DUMBLE,
President Central Ontario Fish and Game Protection Society.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn stated that if he was placed on a runway he would be likely to badly wound twenty deer before he could get one, as he would not take the risk of following wounded animals to even a distance of 200 yards from the runway.

The entire meeting was unanimously in favour of hounding deer and of allowing them to be killed in the water.

Mr. T. Fitzgerald suggested that deer could be better preserved by increasing the premium for killing wolves. Mr. Wm. Hall had stated to him that wolves were very plentiful in the back country last winter.

Mr. Chas. Gunsolus, a hunter of 27 years experience, had hunted in Victoria and Peterborough counties. Deer were becoming thicker in the last five years than ever before. He had always hunted with dogs. Only one man out of twenty-five could kill deer without dogs. They could not be killed at all without dogs if there was no snow. Deer hounded by dogs and shot in the water made good meat. If shot on the runways many deer escaped. Those which were killed were shot in the body and the meat was bloody. If shot in the water the bullet would have been put in the head. To his knowledge a large percentage of deer were killed in the water last year. He was in favour of extending the season from Nov. 15th to Oct. 15th. Deer would have a better chance in the long season, as at present there were too many men on each runway. He was in favour of doing away with the sale of venison, as a means of preserving the deer.

On a vote being taken the meeting endorsed Mr. Gunsolus' sentiments with the exception of his last remark.

Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald, who had hunted deer for the last 35 years, approved of all the previous speaker had said with the exception of the last clause.

Mr. Tobe Fitzgerald, with 15 years experience, agreed with Mr. Gunsolus also, only objecting to his views on the last question. He would approve of raising the bounty on wolves from ten to fifteen dollars.

Mr. Louis Spry had hunted for 35 years. He didn't believe in shipping deer away. They ought to be killed for the sport alone.

Mr. Harry Winch, 33 years' experience, thought that when a man killed two deer he ought to be allowed to dispose of them as he chose. The season should be extended from Nov. 15th to Oct. 15th. Referring to still hunting he was against it as a deer received no warning. When a hound was after it the deer would take precautions to get away. He had known a still hunter to shoot a doe in the rutting season and then kill several bucks which were in her company.

All were in favour of the season being extended from Oct. 15th to Nov. 15th.

Mr. G. E. Whiten stated that he had hunted 25 years in Muskoka and Simcoe. Deer were more plentiful two years ago than ever before. Hunters had known a deer to run for hours after getting as many as five bullets in its body. Three out of five deer shot on runways got away to die in the woods.

Mr. Brightman's experience last fall was that only one out of three deer shot on the runways were secured.

Mr. Mart Dobson stated that a year ago last fall he had wounded five deer himself which had never been secured. He had hunted for 11 years.

Various experiences were related of large numbers of deer which were wounded on the runways and were never seen again, last fall. The animals in nearly every instance were easily traced for miles by their blood.

The meeting adjourned on the understanding that a well signed petition be sent to the Government and also that the circular be answered along the lines suggested by the individual members.

CAN'T EAT.

FOOD is the fuel that feeds the fires of life. Digestion is the process that turns the fuel into energy. Few possess perfect digestion. If your digestion is imperfect, if you cannot eat what you like without discomfort, if you cannot eat when you ought to eat, the time has come when you should take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Hunger is the best Sauce. Take these Pills and get hungry. You may eat what you want if you take Dr. Ward's Pills.

WHAT THEIR MERITS ARE:

My system was entirely rejuvenated by the use of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I consider them a marvellous strength and nerve builder for dyspepsia. I was so sick and miserable that I seemed to have no life or energy left in me. I suffered so at times that I thought death would be better for me. I had tried Doctors and different kinds of medicines, but all failed to do me any good. I am in every way now a well woman, and have been for months. Before using these Pills I was so sick that I could not keep anything in my stomach. I was under the opinion that dyspepsia could not be cured, but now I am satisfied it can be cured, for I am able to eat like any healthy woman and feel better in every way. They have built me up also,—I now weigh several pounds more than I ever did before. In conclusion, I would advise every woman afflicted with poor digestion to give Dr. Ward's Pills a trial.

MRS. L. E. WATSON, Port Colborne, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy happy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Most all of woman's weakness, and particularly the weakness that most strongly influences the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure troubles of this nature. It should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of gestation. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains of childbirth, and insures the health of both mother and child.

OVER MILES OF WIRE

WAVES OF LIGHT NOW CONTROLLED LIKE THOSE OF SOUND.

Selenium's Strange Quality—You Can Now Gaze on the Living Portrait of Some Fond Friend or Relative Who May Be at the Antipodes—Dussaud's Telescope.

The recent declarations of a Polish schoolmaster that he had been able to transmit pictures at a great distance by means of a wire and a current of electricity, have been received with some discredit among scientific people, because of the neglect of the inventor to make any rational explanation of his process. The French scientist, M. Dussaud, however, now comes to the front with a method by which he says he is able to accomplish the purpose. He calls it the teleoscope. His claim has the advantage of having upon it the stamp of approval, because it comes from one whose position as a scientist is assured.

The working of this apparatus is described by M. Armengand in La Nature as follows:

To the left of what is called the transmitter stands the person whom it is desired to see at a distance, and whose movements it is desired to follow. At B is a camera which rights the images and the back of which is formed of the following parts: (1) of a movable shutter, C, containing apertures arranged in a spiral, and (2) of a peculiar system of selenite plates. At E there is a battery, of which the current passes through the selenite plates and the wire of an induction coil, F.

The person in motion forms a movable image at the back of the camera, as in a photographic apparatus, and the different, more or less luminous, parts of this image strike in succession the selenite plates, D, in measure as the movable shutter, C, presents its apertures. This shutter is actuated by a clockwork mechanism, G, analogous to that of the Hughes telegraph.

Selenium opposes itself more or less to the passage of electricity, according to the quantity of light that it receives. Therefore, according as the shutter, C, uncovers the more or less luminous parts of the image, currents of varying intensity will pass through the coarse wire of the induction coil, F. These, according to a well-known law, cause proportionate currents in the fine wire of the coil. This fine wire ends on the one hand in the earth, and on the other goes to the receiving station, where the currents of varying intensity that traverse it cause the vibration of the disk of a sort of very sensitive telephone, H. This disk acts upon an opaque plate, K, provided with transparent lines, and displaces it more or less in front of an identical but stationary plate, L. These plates are protected against external disturbance by glass. The result is that a pencil of parallel light, M, produced by a lamp, N, with crossed carbons, and obliged to pass through the two opaque plates, is more or less diminished throughout its whole extent, according to the currents that pass through the fine wire. But, thanks to a shutter, O, identical and synchronous with C, this variation in intensity is projected upon the screen by an optical system, P, only at the plate corresponding to the part of the image which, at a transmitting station, has the same intensity. Since the two shutters, C and O, make one complete revolution in one-tenth of a second, all the parts of the image act successively upon the selenium during this time, at the transmitting station, and give different intensities to the current at the receiving station, and thus project luminous intensities that correspond to their respective intensity.

Any observer, then, at the receiver station sees upon the screen the person placed at the transmitting station, by virtue of the persistence of luminous impressions, which is one-tenth of a second, and by the fact that it suffices to have all small surfaces more or less light in order to reproduce a portrait.

Dussaud is responsible for many inventions, and one of the most useful is a microphonograph, which increases the volume of sound, which instrument is in daily use in Europe for teaching the deaf and deaf mutes the use of words.

Of Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mr. Colwell of Bright's Disease.

Windsor, July 11th.—"Is it true, Mr. Colwell, that you have been cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills?" our reporter asked Mr. R. F. Colwell, jeweller, of No. 9, Oulette street, to-day.

"It is indeed," was the answer. I suffered two years with Bright's Disease. My back ached all the time. I had awful, aching pains in my loins, a puffiness under my eyes, and my urine was very dark coloured.

"For a time I could find no remedy to do me any good. But one day a friend told me he had been cured of the same disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought a supply. A few boxes cured me thoroughly." Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all kidney complaints.

INANIMATE THINGS.

Theory That They Have an Unpleasant Sense of Humor.

We have read and talked about the total depravity of inanimate things, but the sense of humor in intimate things has not been written of as it ought to be. There can be little doubt that inanimate things, especially if they are small and elusive, possess a strong sense of humor.

For instance, a man had in his desk one of those curving things with a handle in which sheets of blotting paper are held. It was convenient as long as it could be prevented from getting snowed under on his desk. One day the man missed the pad when he was writing and wanted it. He had a cleared space occupying the center of his desk, and all around this space was a litter of papers, letters and things. Naturally he supposed that the pad had got under these things. He searched among the papers, but took care not to get any of them upon the cleared space in the center. He searched over the whole lot, and it occurred to him that this was a good time to put his desk in order. He cleared up and sorted out all the things and put them in pigeonholes or within bands and made his desk spick and span, but no trace of the pad could be discovered.

He was discouraged, and as it was near lunchtime he locked up his desk and went out to lunch. When he came back, he opened the desk, and there, exactly in the middle of the desk, on the very spot which his paper had occupied when he was writing, was that pad, simply glaring at him. It seemed to wear an expression that was positively malicious. The man was forced to conclude that the pad had a strong sense of humor, with a tendency to practical joking, and that it had concealed itself in some corner of the desk when he was searching and while he was gone had whipped itself out into the most conspicuous spot on the desk as a way of laughing at him. Of course it wasn't possible that he could have absentmindedly dislodged it while he was looking over the papers and gone off and left it there.

Lately the same man had a slender little pencil about two inches long. It was a very amiable little pencil, of pleasing manners and suave movements, and the man used to hold it between his forefinger and his middle finger and direct it with his thumb while he was scrawling memoranda or doing other things which required a pencil. He kept it in a waistcoat pocket. One day the pencil turned up missing. He wanted it and wanted no other pencil. He searched all his pockets several times over and looked all over his desk and shelves and even searched the floor. No trace of it.

He sat down to write with a long, uncongenial pencil. It seemed to balk and mock him, and he said to himself, "Oh, Lord, I wish that little pencil would appear!" And at that very moment it dropped upon his paper as if from the sky, but really from over his right ear, where it had humorously concealed itself. Though, of course, the humor came in the reappearance rather than the disappearance, articles without a grain of humor in them may conceal themselves behind one's ear, especially if the ear offers ample opportunity for such concealment, but to flip out just at the psychological moment—that takes real humor.—Boston Transcript.

The left side of my face from the top of my ear to half way down my jaw was in a very bad state—being almost raw, making shaving very painful. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters. One bottle perfectly cured me. I can honestly recommend B.B.B. to all who suffer from any skin disease." G. WHITE, Carievale, N.W.T.

"On Guard."

When disease shoots the first arrow the truly wise man will come instantly on guard. He will not wait for the attack. He will not hesitate until the full force of disease and misery and death comes crashing about him.

When a man begins to feel "out of sorts," when his appetite is failing and his energy is not up to the mark, when he has bilious attacks and a feeling of lassitude and incapacity, if he is wise, he will take Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery right away. It will bring his appetite back again, and what is more it will bring back his digestive powers. It will give all the assimilative functions the edge and power to extract abundant nourishment from the food he eats. It will make good, pure healthy blood and send it coursing rapidly through his veins and arteries into every organ and tissue of the body. It will put flesh on his bones and force in his muscles; it will give him strength and courage and cheerfulness, in a word it will give him complete health.

It excretes from the system every particle of dead, useless, flabby tissue. It even reduces the weight of the corpulent man at the same time that it builds up his strength and working power. The weight it adds to people who need it is the kind that comes of pure blood and every organ doing its work properly and thoroughly;—what pugilists call "fighting weight."

A CURIOUS CANDLESTICK.

Novel Use That Was Made of an Open Barrel of Gunpowder.

Historical students, when called upon to criticise relations of events, especially those that seem in themselves unlikely, that are recorded to have happened in the lives of persons whose careers are separated by a long period of time, when the said events have a very striking similarity between them, are wont to regard the first narrative as the prototype and the latter as a case of transference. Sometimes this may be the correct view to take, but it is commonly a dangerous proceeding to insist upon. An example has occurred to me recently which illustrates this.

At East Butterwick, a village on the banks of the Trent, some eight miles northwest of this place, there lived in the middle of the century a shopkeeper named Marshall. He was a general dealer, supplying nearly all the wants of his neighbors. Above this man's shop and adjoining outhouses was a long chamber, open to the roof, in which he kept such stores as he had not room for in his somewhat small shop. Among other things this room contained a mangle, which was at the service of such of the women of the town as made him a small payment.

One winter evening several women were engaged in mangling when one of them knocked down their solitary candlestick and, being probably of earthenware, it was broken. Work for the night was nearly over. It did not seem worth while to fetch another, so one of the women took the still burning candle—happily it was not a very short one—and stuck it into some black, dusty looking stuff which she had noticed in a barrel standing near. Soon, however, one of these good dames had occasion to descend into the shop, and, encountering Marshall there, naturally began to apologize for the candlestick having suffered.

We may conceive what was the shopkeeper's horror when he heard what was the substitute that had been found, for he knew at once that the candle was standing in a cask of gunpowder. He rushed up stairs and was just in time. He made "a cup with his two hands," as he said, "so that no sparks could get to the powder," and drew the candle calmly out without uttering a sound. His words afterward when all danger was over were, I have been told, of a kind not uncommonly heard on board of keels and coal barges on our rivers, but such as are discouraged elsewhere.

Marshall told me of this very soon after it occurred. The date I am unable to fix, but am sure that it was before the year 1854. In the year 1861 "The Depositions From the Castle of York * * * In the Seventeenth Century" were published by the Surtees society. In a note in this work by its editor, the late Canon Raine, the following passage occurs. The parallelism between the two narratives as to the way the candle was removed from danger is very striking:

"Newcastle had a very narrow escape about 1684. An apprentice going up with a candle into a loft which contained many barrels of gunpowder and much combustible material thoughtlessly stuck the candle into a barrel, of which the head had been knocked off, to serve for a candlestick. He saw the danger and fled. A laborer ran into the loft, and, joining both his hands together, drew the candle softly up between his middlemost fingers, so that if any snuff had dropped it must have fallen into the hollow of the man's hand."—Notes and Queries.

Mr. M. T. Wigle

Of Kingsville, Essex Co.

CURED OF ITCHING PILES OF 23 YEARS STANDING

M. T. Wigle, better known to every one in the vicinity as "Uncle Mike,' was troubled for over 23 years with itching piles. At times he was so bad he would have to quit work. The irritation became so intense with constant rubbing that they became ulcerated and would bleed. He had been treated by many physicians, but found nothing that gave him relief. Reading in the paper the cure of a friend who had suffered in a like manner, and been cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment, he procured a box. After the third application he got such relief that he had the first comfortable night's sleep he had enjoyed in years. The one box made a complete cure, and he says he would not be without it for $50 a box if it could not be replaced. Mr. Wigle is a wealthy farmer, well known in the community in which he resides. It is over two years since he was afflicted, and he has never been troubled since.

Physicians fail to make a cure when Dr. Chase's Ointment gave Immediate Relief. . . .

A Paddle and a Horse.

"I have owned and used many horses," said a horseman, "among which were several balky ones. I once owned a team, the best one I ever had, that at times were stubborn and ugly and would not work. One morning when we were going out in the field with a heavy load we came to a steep pitch in the road. The nigh horse, as usual, flared up, and then the other. We tried to start them by coaxing and by using the lash, but it was no use. They refused to move. At last I became infuriated and would have killed the horses with a good will, but it was of no avail. I left the team standing there that morning, went back to the house and decided to leave them there, when a thought struck me that proved successful.

"I took a wide board, and, making it into the shape of a paddle, proceeded to the field. Once more we tried the horses, but it was no use. They were determined not to move. Taking the weapon which I had made I struck first one horse, then the other, a few blows, and to my great surprise they started at a rapid rate. After that I always kept the paddle shaped weapon in my wagon and when they refused duty I merely had to show it to them. I have tried this same rule on many other horses, and I never knew it to fail."

"What is your theory? It certainly cannot be the hardness of the blow?"

"My theory is that the animals are started from fright, caused by the jar of the board."—Lewiston Journal.

Methods of Dusting.

"Man's dusting implement is a feather duster," said Mr. Glimmerton; "woman's is a dust cloth. There can be no doubt which is the better, but each clings to his own. But I think I see signs of a change. I saw a boy walk out of a store up town this morning and walk across the sidewalk to the curb and stand there and shake a dust cloth, just as a woman would shake one out of the window. I don't know where the boy got this notion, whether he made the discovery himself that, except under favorable conditions, with doors and windows open at both ends and wind blowing through, stirring up dust with a duster only serves to redistribute it, or whether there is a woman in this store who insists on dust cloths and has taught the boy the use of them.

"Maybe as the boy grows up and becomes confirmed in this way he will teach the use of the dust cloth to others and to his children, and they will teach it to their children, and so it may finally come about in this simple manner that all men will come to use it and that the feather duster will go."—New York Sun.

POLITICAL TALK.

One Reporter Who Knew How to Save Valuable Time.

The astute politician who controlled about every vote in his party mixed up penknife, keys and legislators in his vest pocket and kept a fine assortment of rigorous collars on hand for those he deemed worthy of wearing them, stepped jauntily into the corridor of a well known hotel one Sunday.

He was immediately surrounded by a crowd of other politicians (but not so astute), who commenced all talking at once. The subject was palpably politics, but the excitement of the group was so intense that it was impossible for an outsider to catch the gist of the powwow. Therefore a reporter for one of the daily papers waited for the astute politician after the group had broken up and asked him what was the result of that political talk.

"Political talk?" echoed the astute politician. "Why, my boy, I"—

But the reporter produced a rubber stamp from his pocket, made a hurried impression on his pad and moved off impatiently.

This same incident happened every Sunday—the arrival of the astute politician, the eager political conference, the query of the reporter and the production of the rubber stamp.

And the way the rubber stamp road was as follows:

"Political talk? Why, my boy, I am not in town on account of politics! No! I am here merely on private business."—Vim.

Smallest Electrical Battery.

The smallest electrical battery ever constructed was the work of an electrician in the employ of the Boston Telephone Company. It consisted of an ordinary "glass head" through which two wires, one of copper and the other of iron, were looped and twisted so as to prevent their coming in contact. The wires acted as the electrodes, and all that was necessary to cause a current was to place a drop of acidulated water in the head. Certainly such a minute battery furnished but an infinitesimal current, but it could be easily used in a delicate telephone; in fact, it is said to have actually served in signalling a distance of nearly 200 miles.

When Putting Away Furs.

Shake and brush the furs thoroughly, hanging them in the open air—in the sun if possible. Wrap them closely in stout wrapping paper, being careful that no rent exists to give entrance to the wandering moths; tie the parcel firmly, then inclose it in an outside wrapper of paper, pasting up the ends, and one need have no fear of moths.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Only a Hobby.

Lionel Brough tells a story of an old country sexton who in showing visitors round the churchyard used to stop at one particular tombstone and say:

"This 'ere is the tomb of Tummas 'Ooper an 'is 11 wolves."

On one occasion a lady said: "Eleven! Dear me! That's rather a lot, isn't it?"

The old man looked at her gravely and then replied, "Well, mum, yer see, it was an 'obby of 'is'n."—Tit-Bits.

King of Siam Instructs His Subjects.

There is another thing whereof I must warn you. Whatever may be our mutual good will for increasing the prosperity of our country and our mutual love of justice, we may be quite certain that we shall not at once, nor in as short a time as we might wish, eradicate all abuses nor do as much good as we are aspiring for. Even in Europe and in the most prosperous countries I never met with people who were perfectly and unanimously satisfied with the government and the state of things in their own country. Therefore, let us all make a rule not to complain prematurely, because, notwithstanding our good will, and our endeavors, everything is not going on according to our desire. In other words, let us be satisfied with what is possible and only dream of what is perfect.

Finally let us not exclusively admire what is foreign and despise what is Siamese, nor exclusively admire what is Siamese and despise what is foreign. There is in every country, as in every human being, a mixture of good and evil, and we must try to imitate what is good elsewhere, and at the same time not only to keep but to develop what is good and worthy of respect in our own national character and institutions.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER.

Kidney Disease Man's Deadliest Foe' Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, July 18.—"Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease," was the assertion of a prominent Toronto physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death-rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used, in every case of Kidney Disease, there would be no deaths from it.

GREAT DAY FOR OLYMPIA.

When the First Train Started Over a Railway Built by the Natives.

Probably the cheapest railroad in the world was built in Oregon in 1872. During the preceding year the Northern Pacific Railroad company surveyed the line between Portland and Olympia, terminating at the latter place, but only for a short time. Then it was moved away to Tacoma, 35 miles farther north.

At that the people of Olympia arose in indignation, called a meeting, and after vigorously discussing ways and means resolved that, although the railroad had been both given and taken away, they were not bound to submit as unto the Lord, but would build one for themselves and build it with voluntary subscriptions of labor and material.

One bright morning in April the Olympia brass band halted at the corner of Main and Fourth streets. Charley Granger's bay mule Betty fell in behind. Then came the officials of both city and county, led by the governor and followed by the citizens, until the whole procession was half a mile in length. They marched to a high bluff above the capitol building, and there the mayor of the city and the governor both made speeches, and a prayer was offered. The first sod was turned, and the grading of the road began in earnest. One day in every week was set apart as field day, when the city and county officials came out as at first, the merchants closed their stores, and mechanics shut their shops, and young men and old men, boys and Indians plied the spade with hearty will, while the women spread the tables with all things needed for a midday feast.

Week after week the work went on, and the road stretched out past the timber skirting the upper end of Puget sound, past the falls of Tumwater, between the Indian mounds of Mound Prairie, through half a mile of timber to Bush Prairie, more timber, more prairie, across wide and shallow Scatter creek, 16 miles to Tenino.

Then the ties were made and laid and not a dollar had yet been asked for. But the time had come to buy the rolling stock, and subscriptions came pouring in until everything was bought and ready.

What a day it was in the history of Olympia when the first train was started over the hard earned little railroad! Open cars were hung with evergreen, and again the people all came out, with music and rejoicing, this time to ride and not to work.

Many of the old soldiers who labored faithfully to build that little road, among them General Milroy, who was known all through the civil war as Gray Eagle, have crossed the silent river, but the road they built is still in use, and old settlers point to it with pride, the road the hardy pioneers made with their own hands, the cheapest railroad in the world.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Dear Creature.

Of course they were dear friends.

"Did he kiss you when he proposed?" asked the one in pink.

"No-o, I believe not," answered the one in blue.

"You were too quick for him, I suppose," suggested the one in pink, "but really I think you made a mistake. It is better to let the man initiate anything of that sort."

It is hardly necessary to explain why they are no longer dear friends.—Chicago Post.

A Born Mathematician.

"Dickey doesn't know his letters well," explained his mother to the new teacher, "but he's quick in learning figures."

"What is this, dear?" asked the teacher, pointing to the letter B.

"Dat's a 13 jammed togedder," promptly responded Dickey.—Chicago Tribune.

Nature's Compensations.

"Tell me about your graduating class photograph, Miss Lily."

"Well, all those homely girls standing up at the back are the smart ones. All those pretty girls sitting down in front are the silly ones."—Chicago Record.

Many barrels of sawdust are shipped from Bowdoinham, Me., every day. It is used to cover the floors of express cars in which fish are shipped, the sawdust absorbing the wet and moisture coming from the fish and ice with which they are packed.

The Egyptians practiced the art of hatching chickens by artificial means a century and a half ago, though they knew nothing of the modern incubator.

BABY'S AWFUL HUMOR

Eighteen Months Old Baby Had Rash on Shoulder for Two Years Causing Intense Suffering. Would Scab Over, Break Open and Be Raw. Several Doctors and Remedies Tried. Efforts Fruitless. Cured by CUTICURA.

My sister had this rash come on her shoulder when she was about eighteen months old. It was there about two years causing her intense suffering. We had several different doctors, tried everything that we could think of, and that every one could suggest without effecting a cure. In spite of all we did it kept spreading. One day it would scab over and then crack open and a watery matter come from it and the scabs would all fall off. It would be raw for a time, then scab over again. Some one recommended CUTICURA REMEDIES. We immediately procured a box of CUTICURA (ointment), a cake of CUTICURA SOAP, then tried the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and before the bottle was half gone we saw a marked change, and by the time it was gone, she was entirely cured without a scar being left. She is now twelve years old, and has not had a pimple or sign of blood trouble since. Feb. 13, '98. Miss LILLIE CHASE, Bristol, Vt.

TORTURING, DISFIGURING ECZEMA, and every species of itching, burning, scaly, crusted, and pimply skin and scalp diseases, with dry, thin, and falling hair, instantly relieved and speedily cured by warm baths with CUTICURA SOAP, gentle anointings with CUTICURA, purest of emollient skin cures, and mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor cures, when all else fails.

Report of County High School Entrance and Public School Leaving Examinations

Below is given the results of the recent Entrance and Public School Leaving Examination held at Norwood and Lakefield. For the Entrance 550 marks were necessary and for the Public School Leaving, 612.

In many cases the numbering of the answers was different from that of the printed paper, giving much unnecessary trouble to the examiners. In defining words and phases sufficient care was not taken in many instances, to adapt the form of the definition to that of the thing defined. The penmanship, taken as a whole, was not creditably to the candidates or to their teachers. The exceptions were generally vertical. In the statement of arithmetical questions there was often circumlocation. If mathematically correct, the more condensed the statement the better.

SHIRT WAISTS

NOW IN PROGRESS AT THE

GOLDEN LION

It was a fitting termination of the spring and summer season of 1898, which shows the volume of business transacted to be the largest on our records.

The sizes are well assorted yet as we had large quantities of each number, they are disappearing quickly and the prices remain the same, the lowest ever quoted for such high-class garments, 50c. and 75c., formerly $1.00 and $1.25. As we must soon turn attention to autumn importations, we direct special attention to the very great reductions at which we are clearing out the balance of all classes of summer fabrics, viz.:

—Prints, Printed Organdies, Spot Muslins, Victoria Lawns, Cocheco Flannels.

—Ladies' Ties, Collars and Cuffs, Gloves, Hosiery, Leather Belts, Fancy Ribbons, Valenciennes Laces, Velvet Ribbons, Sash Ribbons, Carpets, Curtains and Housefurnishings.

—Special clearing prices in Ladies' and Children's trimmed and untrimmed Millinery, Sailors and Straws, Jackets and Capes.

HE IS AFTER CAMARA.

The Main Purpose of Watson's Expedition.

YELLOW FEVER BEFORE HAVANA

The United States Has No Intention of Bombarding Spanish Ports—The Seizure of the Canary Islands No Part of the War Program—War News in General.

Washington, July 25.—A significant statement was made to the Associated Press by a gentleman in a position to speak with knowledge and authority as to the plans of the Administration with reference to future war operations. In substance the statement was as follows:

"Commodore Watson, in proceeding to the Spanish peninsula as soon as the Porto Rican expedition is gotten under way, is not to bombard the cities on the Spanish coast. No such idea of bombardment of the coast is entertained. While there may be other incidental purposes, the main mission of Watson is to take care of Admiral Camara's fleet. The movement of this fleet, and the fears and apprehensions caused by reports concerning it, are to be stopped for all time. The ships under Camara will be located by Watson and finally met and engaged.

"The talk occasionally indulged in as to the Canary Isles is utterly without foundation. This Government has no plans to take these islands, and does not want them.

"Despite popular expectation that Porto Rico operations will be followed immediately by action against Havana, it can be said that Havana will not be attacked while yellow fever conditions exist. This is certain."

PEACE MAY BE DELAYED.

The Internal Condition of Spain Makes It Almost Imperative That the War Should Drag On.

London, July 25.—The New York Post's correspondent cables his paper as follows: Peace rumors come from every quarter, but there is a solid opinion, especially in official quarters, that Spain's own internal necessities probably will keep the war dragging on.

Besides Don Carlos, national pride stands in the way of peace; and there is also a conviction that when things are at the worst dynastic Europe will interfere.

It is quite conceivable that not a few of those near the throne are impatient for the thunder of Watson's guns and the news that he has occupied the Canaries. Whether right or wrong, this is the view of the situation taken in the most weighty quarters here, and upon it the British Government are shaping their immediate and especially their naval policy. In their eyes there is a corner of the globe which may, in a few weeks or months hence, become even more inflammable than the far east is at present—that corner is in the Mediterranean.

Nobody can say what will happen in Spain or Italy or Austria, before the year is out, especially if the American fleet should appear in the Mediterranean.

Another disturbing element is the German Emperor's approaching visit to Palestine, a visit which in London is associated with the Kaiser's desire to find in Asia Minor land which Germans may colonize without ceasing to be Germans. These and other causes combined make the Mediterranean a subject of the British Ministry's most watchful care just now.

This is the chief explanation why the Admiralty has taken the otherwise inexplicable decision to strengthen British squadrons within easy reach of home at the expense of the China squadron, by replacing the two powerful vessels Narcissus and Immortalite on the China station by the second-class cruisers Charybdis and Cambrian.

I have tried to ascertain the probable action of England in the event of the European powers attempting to take the regulation of the future of the Philippines out of the hands of the United States. The reply made is that it depends entirely upon the exact proposals of the European powers. The expectation is that America will show no desire for more than a naval base in the Philippines, to enable her to watch her commerce in the east, and that this desire probably will be found not incompatible with the aims of Russia, Germany and France.

No trace is discoverable of England's desire for the Philippines herself or for an Anglo-American protectorate. Lord Salisbury is firmly of the opinion that England has more than enough in the way of territory and spheres of interest in the east.

FEEDING THE HUNGRY.

4,000 Well and 1,600 Sick Spaniards Living on American Food.

Washington, D.C., July 25.—The War Department has received the following from Gen. Shafter:

Santiago de Cuba, July 23, 1898, 6.25 p.m. Adjutant-General, Washington:

Colonel of Engineers, Spanish army, has just arrived from Guantanamo. He heard from the French Consul there that Santiago had surrendered and that they had been included. Not crediting it, he was sent here to verify the fact. They will be very glad to accept the terms of surrender. Very short of rations and I shall have to begin feeding them at once. He tells me there are 6,000 men at that place. Am now feeding 4,000 well prisoners here, and 1,600 sick in hospital. Expect 2,000 men in to-morrow from San Luis and Palma. Will send an officer to-morrow or next day with one of Gen. Toral's to receive surrender at Guantanamo, and then to Sagua and Baracoa to receive surrender there. Think the number of prisoners will be fully up to the estimate, 22,000 or 23,000.—Shafter, Major-General Commanding.

Attack on Manila Impending.

London, July 25.—A special despatch from Madrid says that Gen. Augustin, Captain-General of the Philippines, has telegraphed to the Government as follows:

"The Americans are about to attack Manila. Grave events are impending."

The Situation Most Critical.

London, July 25.—The Madrid correspondent of the Observer says the condition of the Government is now most critical, and that the authorities are devoting all their attention to preventing a revolution and safeguarding the dynasty.

THOSE SPANISH PRISONERS.

Spanish Company Not to Have the Transportation Job Without a Fight.

New York, July 25.—The Journal says: Although the contract for carrying the Spanish prisoners back to Spain has apparently been awarded to the Spanish Trans-Atlantic Company, by Secretary Alger, the other bidders are not disposed to let it go without a fight. George Osgood Lord, representing an English steamship company, one of the bidders, has engaged lawyers to contest the validity of the contract, and they have notified Secretary Alger that proceedings will be begun at once to dissolve the contract. The contentions are:

1. That the contract is illegal.
2. That it is against public policy.
3. It gives an enemy ships and money to arm them.
4. It compels Uncle Sam to furnish convoys to protect an enemy's ships against himself.

Steamship companies here will combine to fight the case.

THE SPANIARDS ARE GLAD

Because of the Rupture Between the Americans and Cubans.

Madrid, July 25.—The news of friction between Americans and insurgents in Cuba is received here with great satisfaction, and those who hope for peace with honor regard it with joyful anticipation. Dupuy De Lome declared yesterday that no such opportunity for peace negotiations as the Garcia-Shafter split has occurred since the loss of Cervera's fleet.

Spaniards Driven Out.

Madrid, July 25.—A telegram from Havana reports that the insurgents attacked Gibara, near Santiago de Cuba, and that the garrison, after a severe fight, evacuated the place. Many of the insurgents were killed. The despatch also reports that a force of Americans landed at Galamalacoa (Tayabacoa) and invested Tunas de Zara, and the warships shelled "Galamakacoa."

Senor Sagasta, the Premier, says that not all the troops included in the capitulation of Santiago agreed to surrender.

Over 300 New Cases of Fever.

Washington, July 25.—A despatch received Saturday night from General Shafter by Adjutant-General Corbin says that 336 new cases of fever of all classes were reported in his camp before Santiago Friday.

Earthquake in Chili.

Valparaiso, Chili, July 25.—A violent shock of earthquake lasting a minute was felt last night at Concepcion, capital of the Chilian province of that name, and at Talcanuane, on the Bay of Concepcion and eight miles distant from Concepcion City. Many houses were destroyed and the telegraph and electric wires were severed. The inhabitants were terrified and fled from their homes, spending the night in the open air. Another severe shock was experienced to-day.

THEY CHANGE CELLS.

Napanee Prisoners Have Been Moved to Prevent Escape.

W. H. PONTON'S STAUNCH FRIEND

All the Prisoners Now Ready for Trial—The Detectives Announce That They, Too, Are Ready—Intense Sympathy Manifested in Favor of the Youngest Prisoner, Ponton.

Napanee, July 25.—The Pinkerton detectives employed on the bank robbery case yesterday announced that their work had been completed and that they were ready at any time for the preliminary investigation. It is claimed by the defence that the prisoners have always been prepared to face the charge against them, and so the re-opening of the case only awaits the order of the acting Crown official. That official is at present out of town, and as he will be away until Tuesday the two prisoners, Ponton and Mackie, for whom bail has been granted, will be forced to remain in jail for a few days more. It is necessary that Mr. Herrington shall inquire into the sufficiency of the sureties offered before their bonds are accepted. In the case of Ponton, especially, no difficulty has been encountered in securing names to the bail bonds. Mr. Porter, the ex-teller's counsel, Saturday received a call from one of the most wealthy residents of Belleville, and was told that the bail bonds were not to be issued unless they bore the visitor's name, and, if necessary, he would willingly give bonds for the entire sum—$10,000. This is an indication of the feeling in favor of the youngest prisoner, a feeling which, strong as it was at the last trial, has been greatly intensified since then. During the past few days, too, the sentiment against the Pinkerton men has, through the efforts of strong friends of the defence, been vastly increased. So much sympathy has gone out for the two prisoners, who, if they are innocent men, have only lost their liberty until the time of the trial, that there is very little left for the institution which has lost the greater part of $33,000 forever.

Ponton, with the other prisoners in the jail, changed cells Saturday at the order of the Sheriff, in order that a search of each cell might be made, and any possible attempt at an escape might be frustrated.

The following list has not seen print before. It is interesting in the light of present events:

DEATH BY DROWNING

Throughout the Dominion—Four in Manitoba Lakes—Port Elgin Boy Another Victim.

Winnipeg, Man., July 25.—Two boys belonging to Winnipeg, named Jack and Henry Chambers, were drowned Saturday morning while boating at Shoal Lake.

Two Men Drowned.

Dauphin, July 25.—Word has just been received of the drowning on Lake Winnipegosis, Thursday afternoon, of John McNeill and James Padfield of Rigby. The parties had gone for a sail with H. C. Ross, and the boat capsized in a squall. McNeill clung to the boat until exhausted, when he slipped off and never rose. Ross and Padfield endeavored to make the shore, but the latter's strength failed and he went down. Ross managed to reach shore.

Port Elgin Boy Drowned.

Port Elgin, Ont., July 25.—A sad drowning accident occurred Saturday afternoon in the Saugeen River near here. Young Edward Shiels, about 14 years of age, a son of Mr. Andrew Shiels, hotelkeeper here, was drowned. The body was recovered Sunday morning after dragging the river.

Drowned While Bathing.

Carleton Place, July 25.—Boyd Kibble, the 13-year-old son of W. W. Kibble, C.P.R. ticket agent here, was drowned while bathing in the Mississippi River at 1.30 Saturday afternoon. The body was recovered after being in the water about 20 minutes, but all efforts to restore life proved futile.

Drowned in the Nith.

Drumbo, July 25.—Mr. William Jamieson, a well-known farmer and a prominent member of the Presbyterian Church of Drumbo, was drowned at Wolverton in the River Nith Saturday night while bathing. He resided with his aged mother, for whom much sympathy is felt.

Collision on the C.P.R.

Pembroke, Ont., July 25.—Between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday morning two C.P.R. passenger trains collided one mile east of the town. The Soo Express, going east, ran into an excursion special from Ottawa. No one was killed, though several were slightly injured. Full particulars are not obtainable at present.

The People's Faith

Firmly Grounded Upon Real Merit —They Know Hood's Sarsaparilla Absolutely and Permanently Cures When All Others Fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is not merely a simple preparation of Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and a little Iodide of Potassium.

Besides these excellent alteratives, it also contains those great anti-bilious and liver remedies, Mandrake and Dandelion. It also contains those great kidney remedies, Uva Ursi, Juniper Berries, and Pipsissewa.

Nor are these all. Other very valuable curative agents are harmoniously combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla and it is carefully prepared under the personal supervision of a regularly educated pharmacist.

Knowing these facts, is the abiding faith the people have in Hood's Sarsaparilla a matter of surprise? You can see why Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, when other medicines totally, absolutely fail.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THINGS are not exactly going to smash under a Liberal government. Bertram & Co., Dundas, are making a large addition to their factory, and the Valleyfield Cotton Mills are erecting additional buildings. "Blue ruin that takes a shape like this is not bad to have.

THE Liberals do not seem to be losing ground in Prince Edward Island since the general election. In the constituency of West Prince, which was carried by the Conservatives in the general elections in 1896 by a plurality of forty-five, the Liberal candidate has just been elected to the Local Legislature by a majority of two hundred and forty-five. The late member in the Local House was a Conservative.

THE POSTMASTER GENERAL.

If I by chance succeed,
Know, I am not so stupid or so hard,
Not to feel praise or fame's deserved reward.—
Dryden.

What of the ridicule heaped upon the head of the Hon. William Mulock, the chaff and banter he has had to endure for his action in prematurely proclaiming a reduction in the cost of transmitting letters across the sea? Surely those who have so freely pointed the finger of derision at the perseverance of the Canadian Postmaster General in his work of procuring for our people the advantages of the penny post will not be niggardly with their praise now that he, the "I, William Mulock," of their fun-making, has succeeded in obtaining the consent of the British Government to the change he has persistently advocated.

The Hon. William Mulock deserves to be rewarded with the thanks of all who have occasion to post a letter, and those who characterized his action of last year as stupid must now have a perfectly proper contempt for their rash and ill-considered opinion of a Postmaster-General whose victory in England will probably result in a reduction of the rate for all—Canadian letters. Some of our newspapers are attributing the change to the Postmaster-General's "great luck." It was nothing but a deserved reward for his persistency in seeking a desired reform, and every letter-writer should acknowledge his worth by saying, I.O.U., William Mulock, sincere thanks for a great boon conferred upon your countrymen.—Insurance and Finance Chronicle.

CANADA'S EXPORT TRADE.

For years past almost seven-eighths of the export trade of Canada has been to Great Britain and the United States, the remnant of a few odd millions going to other and more distant countries. A compilation which we made in 1895 showed the proportions of Canadian produce exported that year, total value $100,586,853, to have been as follows to different countries:

Proportion sent to	Great Britain	60.52 per cent.
"	United States	29.12 "
"	European countries	1.72 "
"	West Indies	3.54 "
"	Newfoundland	2.48 "
"	S A and Australia	1.02 "
"	Other countries	1.60 "
Total		100.00 "

These proportions have probably altered since then, for we are sending more goods now to China and Japan, more to the West Indies and undoubtedly more to Australia. Letters of a Sydney correspondent show that Canadian direct exporters have made a distinct impression on the market of New South Wales and Victoria

INSPECTING.

Mr. R. B. Rogers arrived on Monday, per steamer Empire, says the Bobcaygeon Independent, having with him Mr. L. K. Jones, Deputy Minister of Canals, and Mr. Phillip, superintending engineer of the Rideau Canal. They were making a tour of inspection. Very general interest is being taken by engineers throughout the continent in the works now under construction. As a result of his visit to Belgium and other countries, Mr. Rogers is introducing a class of work new to America. The displacement of masonry by concrete in locks, bridges and piers is an introduction that is giving every satisfaction and lessens the cost immensely. The hydraulic lift, the plans for which Mr. Rogers has prepared, will be sure to attract the inspection of the leading American engineers, as it is the first one on the continent. Mr. Jones was surprised with the works he had seen, was pleased with the country he had passed through, and, of course, was delighted with Bobcaygeon.

BRITAIN'S VIGOROUS NAVAL PROGRAMME

TO BUILD SIX NEW BATTLESHIPS, FOUR CRUISERS AND TWELVE DESTROYERS.

Cost Will be $40,000,000—Supplementing the Original Programme in Order to Keep Pace With Russia.

London July 22.—The eagerly expected statement of the First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. George J. Goschen, on the supplementary naval programme, was made to-day in the House of Commons. He reviewed the original programme which was considered sufficient when it was framed, being based upon the two-power system, that the navy of Great Britain would be equal to the combined fleets of any two powers. But, in consequence of the action of Russia on the same system, the Government was compelled to present a supplementary programme, parallelling the Russian increase of six battleships, which Russia proposes to begin in 1898. Only two battleships were taken into account in the original British programme, and the First Lord of the Admiralty now asked the House to grant four more battleships. (Cheers.) Continuing, Mr. Goschen remarked:—"The Russian programme provides for four cruisers. We propose to build four—(cheers)—and also twelve destroyers."

It is estimated that the cost of the new programme will be £8,000,000, making the entire expenditure for the new ships £15,000,000. The battleships will be especially adapted for the passage of the Suez Canal.

A TELEPHONE NOVELTY.

W. F. Smith, of San Francisco, has invented an automatic telephone attachment, calculated to be more satisfactory than the present manner of communicating. The Mining and Scientific Press gives a description of this, from which we learn that the telephone is the same as now used on present systems, only having a plate on the lower box, or in case of hand telephones on standard, fitted with eleven buttons and a proving slot to show that one has called up the right number. These buttons are numbered from 1 to 0 inclusive, and one disconnecting button, and are pushed down a short space in a slot. To call up a number, the buttons are pushed down in rotation to make up that number. For instance your number is 3429; you wish to call up 2685. Push down button marked 2 to bottom of slot and let go immediately. Push down button, 6, let go, then 8, let go, then 5; immediately in front at proving slot showr 2685 at central station in a similar slot on switchboard, will appear the same number, under 3429, the number of your telephone, and your telephone is immediately connected with the one you desire. When conversation is ended, you hang up receiver, push down disconnecting button, when all numbers disappear the connecting plug is thrown out, and any number you may desire to ring up may be gotten immediately, without waiting for central office, as at present ten minutes or more. Should it happen the number you wish is busy, the operator at the central switches on the phonograph and so informs you. If you wish to wait, leave the telephone, and the number, being exposed, shows operator you are waiting, and you will be plugged and connected as soon as the line is clear. Should you prefer another number, push down disconnecting button and proceed as before. The subscriber is thus in an independent position in regard to cutting and disconnecting, and the operator who simply puts in plugs can do no more.

An Ex-U.S. Consul's Tribute

To Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

There is scarcely any remedy anywhere that has received such heart felt praise from all over the land as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Steadily year by year, for over forty years now it has grown in public favour solely on its merits, and is to-day without a peer for the cure of Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cramps, Colic, Cholera, and all bowel troubles of children and adults.

The following letter from Mr. Edward Young, formerly Consul at Windsor, N. S., speaks for itself:

207 Maryland Avenue, N.E.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 3, 1898.

MESSRS. T. MILBURN & Co.,
Toronto.

Gentlemen,—Since my return to this city from Windsor, N.S., where I was U.S. consul for eleven years, I am unable to obtain from our druggist Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which myself and family prize so much. I always kept it in the house when at Windsor ready to use when I had eaten anything that disagreed with me.

Please advise me where I can obtain it here, as I do not know of any medicine so useful as this.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) EDWARD YOUNG.

Blenheim, Ont.

Bisley Camp, July 25.—Lieut. Smith, 59th Battalion, and Pte. Swaine, 14th Battalion, made scores in the Queen's Prize, second stage, 600 yards, which entitle each to 40 shillings.

In the Armourer's Company Prize competition Sergt. Simpson, 10th Battalion, secured 10th place, winning 40 shillings. Lieut. Gilchrist, 1st B.F.A., in seventeenth place, won 20 shillings.

Lieut. Gilchrist, 1st B.F.A., in the Alexander Martin, carried off the first prize, a Martin's best quality match rifle, .256 calibre, with a full set of match sights, in a leather case, price £20 16s., given by Alexander Martin of Glasgow. Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,008 00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	8,280 00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

UNITED STATES VIEW.

How the Quebec Conference Questions Are Regarded.

BEHRING SEA SEALS THE CRUX.

Desire to Be Met by Mutual Concessions—Uncle Sam and the Atlantic Fisheries, the Alien Labor Laws, the Bonding Privilege, Mining Rights, Reciprocity of Trade, Etc.

Ottawa, July 25.—A correspondent of the Buffalo Express telegraphs the following to his paper:

The British Government and the Government of the United States have finally decided upon the subjects which are to come up for consideration at the approaching conference at Quebec. They are as follows:

Fur seals in Behring Sea and the North Pacific.

The Atlantic and Pacific coast fisheries and fisheries in inland waters contiguous to the frontier.

Delimitation of the Alaska-Canadian boundary.

Transportation of merchandise in bond through the United States and Canada.

Alien labor laws.

The mining rights of citizens of one country within the territory of the other.

Reciprocity of trade.

Naval vessels on the lakes.

Other subjects are described of minor importance, except provisions for the conveyance of officers of one country through the territory of the other.

Eight of these subjects are to be classed as outstanding matters in dispute between both countries, to which are added the latter points and the question of reciprocity.

What the United States is most interested in is the sealing industry in Behring Sea. If Canada agrees to sell out its interest to the United States, and withdraw its fur-seal fishing fleet, the American commissioners will doubtless be willing to accede something substantial in return. In regard to the Atlantic fisheries, the most, probably, that Canada could consent to would be to retain the three-mile limit as at present, but to extend to the United States full freedom to enter Canadian ports and purchase supplies, bait and whatever they might desire in addition to the privilege of exporting their catch in bond. In other words, the American fishermen would have all the advantages that the Canadian fishermen would have except that the territory within the three-mile limit would be reserved for Canada.

Americans now obtain in Canada all the mining rights that a Canadian can hold, so that some concessions will be looked for from the United States, whose laws prevent aliens holding claims, etc.

In respect to the bonding privileges and the alien labor laws, both countries are about equally interested, and both are anxious for an amicable settlement.

As for the Alaska boundary, the same thing might be said, although with the present rush to the Klondike and the efforts made to develop that region, Canada is looking for some concessions, which might well be given in return for concessions to be acceded by Canada in connection with the Atlantic and Pacific fisheries.

As to naval vessels on the lakes, there cannot possibly be any very serious difference of opinion, nor will there be any desire to refuse provisions to convey persons in custody of officers of one country through the territory of the other.

The whole question then narrows itself down to this:

How much can Canada get in the way of a better trade arrangement with the United States if she withdraws her sealing fleet from Behring Sea? Something substantial to the Canadian farmer in the way of free hay or free barley will be necessary even as a political argument before the Canadian commissioners could accede to putting a stop to its sealing industry. Canada might also give free coal for free lumber. If all this be accomplished, it is not only about as much as is looked for in official quarters, but is certainly thought to be about all that ought to be pressed for, because the United States Senate probably would throw out any extensive reciprocity treaty.

The conference will sit at Quebec, but the treaty, if such a consummation can be reached, will be signed in Ottawa. Extensive arrangements are now on foot to give the American commissioners a good time. Nothing will be wanting in the program to entertain them during their stay at the Ancient Capital nor after having reached Ottawa. The conference is expected to last fully three weeks.

SIR WILLIAM DENIES IT.

His Western Visit Had No Connection With Rate War.

Montreal, July 25.—The rumor has been very active and persistent for the past three days that the trip of Sir William Van Horne, president of the C.P.R., to the western railway centres, had something to do with the rate war, but that gentleman says it is not so. The story went on to say that the highest official of the big Canadian road has gone so far as to settle the matter with Mr. J. J. Hill, the leading man of the great western railway interests. It was a statement of that nature which was handed to Sir William on his arrival here in his private car at Windsor street station. The President had just arrived from the west, the Saskatchewan being attached to the Chicago train.

"I don't know anything about the rate war, and my trip to the west was on entirely different business," was the reply which Sir William gave. That was all he had to say on the matter, and ought to be explicit enough to settle the reports which have been active for some days.

WHEAT ROSE THREE CENTS.

Summary of the Wheat Market Fluctuations for the Past Week—The Latest Quotations.

Saturday Evening, July 23.

This week's Chicago wheat market has been marked by considerable irregularity, but it has been chiefly characterized by an advance of nearly 3c per bushel in the price of July wheat, while the quotations on the September and December options are only quarter of a cent above those of last Saturday. The reason for this condition of things is easily gotten at. The fact of the matter is that the stocks of old wheat in the west are at a very low ebb, which has given rise to a strong demand for cash wheat and the near by delivery. And as for the later options, they have not declined, as in view of the great crop predictions it was expected they would, and the whyfore of this is that shipments of new western wheat to market have been as yet light, compared with the same time last year. In consideration of the circumstance that American reserves are so badly depleted it is thought by some that the farmers may hold back their grain to some extent for some time to come.

Liverpool has followed the lead of Chicago and though the July article has moved up something like 2d per cental during the week, the later options remain at about last Saturday's figures.

A LETTER DIRECT FROM THE KLONDYKE.

Mr. Geo. A. Baptie, Formerly of Lakefield, Writes to a Peterborough Friend.

A friend in town has received a letter from Geo. A. Baptie, formerly of Lakefield, dated June 26th, and post marked Dawson, N. W. T., June 28th, Victoria, B. C., July 16th, and Peterborough, Ont., July 23rd. From Dawson to Victoria it took 17 days and from Victoria to Peterborough, 7 days, or 24 days in all, allowing two weeks from Dawson to Tide Water, a distance of about 550 miles, this gives an average of about 40 miles per day. Not bad travelling considering the first 525 miles is upstream work and the last 225 miles is over the Rocky Mountain passes.

A few extracts from his letter may prove interesting to our readers.

"We left Tagish on the 7th of June, arriving at Dawson on the 24th. We were delayed on Lake Lebarge a few days with head winds. We had a good passage through the Canyon and White Horse. I had two trips through them. There has been several boats smashed running them. A large scow struck the side of the White Horse about an hour ahead of us and filled. She had 15 tons of provisions which all got wet. About a mile down the shore from this rapid the ground was covered with outfits laid out to dry, out of boats that had filled or broken, and some outfits were in the bottom of the river. The 30 mile river is very dangerous also, that is from Lake Lebarge to the junction of the Hootatinqua. We passed several boats hauled up for repairs, also several boats and one large scow broken fair in two. There is quite a few rocks out near the centre of the river, and they are from 6 to 12 inches under water and you cannot see them until you are on top of them. We struck the one that had smashed most of the boats but we were nearly past it when we struck it, so it did us no harm. There was quite a lot of boats tied up at Big Salmon, and there must have been three or four hundred at Little Salmon, as there was a strike over on the Pelley, which is 125 miles overland. The only cause there was for it was that an Indian came there and said he saw a white man washing out lots of gold, but I think 99 out of the 100 will return, as the weather is very warm and a pack on the back with provisions enough for return trip over mountains is no fun and there may be nothing in it.

Dawson is a canvas city. There are thousands of tents here, large canvas houses and quite a few log buildings. The place is filled with men and there are quite a lot of women of the class that follow up such rushes. What all these people propose doing I have no idea. There is lots of gold in town. All the old miners have well filled bags and most of them are spending it freely. Meals are worth $2 50, oranges $6.00 per doz., bananas, $1 each, potatoes, 35c per lb., ice cream, $1 50 a dish, oysters $2 50 a dish, hair cut, $1.50, other things in proportion.

There are several steam boats on the rivers, three or four of them having been run down the White Horse. There has been very few accidents on the route. I have only heard of 5 or 6 men being drowned, and if you saw all the boats that came down you would be surprised that so many got through.

This is a very quiet place on Sunday, all the shops and saloons are closed. That is one thing you don't see on the American side. At Skaguay Sunday was the same as any other day.

Special this week at Miss Melville's, Infants Jackets from 48c up, 138 Hunter Street.

HANLON'S CASE.

His Solicitor Asks That He be Allowed to go on suspended Sentence.

Jas. Hanlon was found guilty this morning by Magistrate Dumble of the theft of a watch with a chain and locket from Mr. Menzies, a boarder in the City Hotel.

It was shown in the evidence that Hanlon had been in the hall of the hotel all night and on seeing Menzies go out in the morning had slipped into his room and getting his eye on the watch made off with it. He left it and the chain with Robert Gibbs as security for a rig which he hired and the locket was found on his person when he was arrested.

Mr. Dennistoun, who appeared for the prisoner, asked for sentence to be suspended in view of Hanlon's youth and previous good character. As the Magistrate knew nothing whatever about the prisoner's character he enlarged the case until Friday for evidence on this point to be put in.

Mr. G. W. Hatton appeared for the Crown.

THE MOTHER ARRESTED.

Mrs. Leger is Charged with Getting Some of the Stolen Money.

Young Leger was remanded in the police court this morning until Friday on the charge of breaking into the premises of Messrs. R. H. Kells and J. W. T. Fairweather. His mother has also been arrested. She is charged with retaining some of the spoil, knowing it to have been stolen.

A NORTH END ASSAULT.

The Fight Took Place on the Auburn Dam on Wednesday Last.

The adjourned assault case of Andrew Allison vs. Maurice Dineen and Oliver Emlow came before Magistrate Dumble this morning, and resulted in Dineen being discharged and Emlow fined $20 and costs.

The case arose out of the complainant pressing Dineen for a debt whilst standing on the Auburn dam. The argument ended in blows, when Emlow interfered, taking Dineen's part. Dineen then dropped out of the fight and finally had to pull Emlow off. The three combatants were all badly damaged in the encounter. The conflicting evidence of the witnesses as to whether Allison or Dineen struck the first blow, resulted in Dineen being discharged by the Magistrate, but as Emlow had no reason for taking a hand in the affair, he was mulcted in the amount stated.

GOLD IN HALIBURTON COUNTY.

A Possible Eldorado When Development Takes Place.

During the past few days much excitement has been caused by the definite assertion that gold in paying quantities had been found in the township of Harburn, where American capitalists have been prospecting, taking an assayist (Mr. Alexander Ray,) to the spot, who tested the ore as it was taken out and found pay gold in everything within reach, varying from $6 50 to $20 per ton, and the supply in almost unlimited quantities. Besides the rock quartz a very valuable find has been made of rich gold bearing sand near the same locality. It is also claimed that the shafts now being opened in the township of Dysart are very rich, and when fully developed will prove a veritable Eldorado. The township of Lutterworth is also expected to prove equally valuable, and we have no doubt in the very near future the county of Haliburton will have a "Klondyke" at home, and that there will be a big gold boom in this locality. Miners' Bay has long been looked upon as rich in minerals, and on the west side of Gull Lake gold and silver bearing quartz, graphite and other valuable minerals were discovered over a quarter of a century ago, but the owners of the property were financially unable to develop their possessions and the matter was pooh-pooed, the finder's sanity being attacked, but time is the avenger of all things and we hope in the near future that their latent riches will be developed.—Minden Echo.

WHOSE FAULT IS IT?

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I wish to ask a few questions and make a few complaints. Who has the looking after the street watering? To whom can a taxpayer complain of the negligence of some one for the way in which some localities are watered? Are not the different wards or sections let by contract, and are not the contractors obliged to furnish bonds for the doing of the work properly? I live on Sherbrooke street, on a part the most sandy and dusty. It is the third street south from market, the supposed centre of the town. For a couple of years our street was not watered, as the bridge over the creek was not strong enough to carry the watering cart, and we had to swallow the dust and dirt from the road. We have no new bridge yet. The man-holes in it are bigger than ever, but the council has grown reckless. They care not for the loss of a team of horses, a cart, or a man, and the watering cart comes up our street twice in in twenty-four hours. Sometimes the driver keeps his foot pressed on the crank in a half sort of way and we get a little light sprinkle of water, and sometimes none at all; he evidentally is trying to save the water for the town or save himself the trouble of filling his cart too often. If he has too large a section to cover properly why was it given to one man? And if he was foolish enough to bid for it at a price why isn't he made to do it right or forfeit what he has put up for it? I watched the cart this morning. It passed along the south side of the street with the sprinkler at half force and left half the sandy, dusty street untouched. He will pass again after dinner and, I am told, go over the same side of the street. There is a professional man living on that side; perhaps he has done some kicking and gets the benefit of the little that is given us. Of course if the people on the north side don't pay their taxes, it is all right and nothing but fair, but Mr. Editor it is really disgusting the way the Councillors of No. 1 Ward look after and always have looked after this same street. If you ever have the misfortune to pass this way at night be sure to bring your lantern, for it is as dark as dungeon and you are very likely to fall through the bridge. Thanking you for this long space,

Yours truly,
AN OLD RESIDENT.

ASHBURNHAM.

Mark Street Methodist Church Notes.

The contractor W. J. Johnston, is pushing the work on Mark street church in good shape. The building will have a tower, new roof, new pews, chancel for the choir, and basement for the Sunday school. The job is to be completed by Sept. 25th, and the church will be re opened Oct. 2nd and 3rd. The next thing will be a new organ for the choir. Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph., B., the energetic pastor, preached a short but strong sermon last evening in the new town hall, from the text, "His name shall be called wonderful."

The Epworth League will hold their meeting this evening at 8 o'clock, in the Nicholls Park, Ashburnham, conducted by the President, Mr. M. Carton, Mr. Frank Siddwill, a teacher, of Dutton County, Elgin, who is spending his vacation with Bert Moore, at the parsonage, will give an address. There will be music, &c.

Rev. Mr. Moore, prayed for rain at both morning and evening services yesterday.

DAILY TEMPERATURE RECORD.

The following are readings of the official thermometers for this afternoon, as well as the highest and lowest yesterday—shade temperature:—

To-day, 1 p.m. ..... 75°

	Highest.	Lowest
Yesterday	93°	64°

On Saturday afternoon about 2.30 the standard thermometer reached 97 degrees in the shade, about as high as it ever goes in this section of Ontario. This morning the prospects were good for another high mark, but the welcome thunderstorm at noon cooled the air considerably.

Ill Temper

Is more rapidly improved by relief from physical suffering than in any other way. Step on your friend's corn, and the impulse to strike is strongest. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, by quickly and painlessly removing them, insues good nature. Fifty imitations prove its value. Beware of substitutes, "Putnam's," sure, safe, painless.

"As Cool as a Cucumber."

It's no trick to dress well and, at the same time, to feel "as cool as a cucumber," in our rightly-fashioned Hot Weather Outfits:—

Shell Coats and Vests, or Shell Coats and Trousers.

Select any piece you fancy among our light-weight Foreign or Domestic Weaves, and have it made up to your measure.

The price is only a little more than you would pay for factory-made stuff—but there's a vast difference in the wear and looks.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

No practices should be mised this week.

Young Pringle of last year's Markham twelve, is playing a phenomenal game at cover point for the Galt team. In the recent game at Fergus he played the heavy Thistle home at times to a standstill.

The Beaverton Checkers play here on Friday. The Checkers are making a hard fight for the championship.

Says the St. Kitts' Journal in reference to the recent game at the Toronto Island: "St. Catharines people who were present at the game describe the play of the Toronto team as brutal, and that of Kelly as especially so. Pringle was struck in the groin by one of the Toronto team and injured so badly that he was unable to come home on Saturday. Hagan was struck in the head deliberately in the third game, and a six-inch cut made. The referee would do nothing. Frank Williams had his head cracked, and the other members of the team were pretty well battered up."

The Toronto News contains the following excellent piece of advice for the eye of Mr. T. H. Lennox: President Lennox, of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, should recognize that a successful championship season depends upon the enthusiasm amongst the clubs in a legitimate way. The bitterness and hate engendered between clubs is inimical to the sport, and nothing so much conduces to the development of such inter-club antipathy as rough brutal play.

In the official referee lies the only remedy, and to make a judicious selection is the president's bounden duty.

No greater mistake, and one calculated to do the game greater injury, could be made than the appointment of an incompetent official. Unnecessary rough play must be done away with. The referee to accomplish the reform must enforce the rules of play.

The recent championship matches—Tecumseh-Elms at St. Catharines, Georgetown at Orangeville, Peterborough at Orillia and St. Catharines at Tecumseh-Elms—have occasioned no end of irritating complaint. There cannot be too much caution exercised in the selection of a refree.

THE WHEEL.

Mr. Milt. Walker has accepted the challenge of Mr. Peter Larsen for a ten mile race on the Nicholls' Park track. The final arrangements will be entered into as soon as Mr. Larsen proves his amateur standing. Pace makers will probably be brought from Toronto for the event. A quad and two triplets will be used.

ANGLING.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

I desire through the columns of your paper to call the attention of the public generally, and the Fish and Game Protection Association and Fishery Inspectors particularly, to the fact that our fishing preserve along the Otonabee river between here and Lakefield are being simply ruined by Americans and others.

In view of the proposed Anglo-American alliance we should feel very friendly towards our American cousins generally, and we do, but this is no reason why individual Americans should be allowed to come over and break our fishing laws with impunity. It is a positive fact that one of our own citizens was fined for catching 47 bass in one day, while two Americans were allowed to go "scot free" after catching, according to their own story, 100, and judging by the appearance of the bags from two to three bushels of bass in one day.

May I ask, Mr. Editor, what is the use of protecting the fish at all, and allow such infractions of the law to go unnoticed? Is not the object of such a law to prevent the fish from being exterminated

Another important point regarding fishing is the minimum size of the fish taken. This seems to be disregarded to a very great extent by fishermen.

The cause of this evil seems to orginate from a peculiar idea or mania after numbers, without any regard to size or quality—a parallel to which can only be found in the Red Indian, who strives to have the greatest number of scalps dangling at his belt.

No attempt is made to use such a large number of fish. The great majority are simply wasted.

Since the construction of the dam across the river between Nassau and Lakefield it has become a series of fish ponds, and whereas it was formerly necessary to go to Burleigh and Lakefield to catch fish, it is now only necessary to go up the river. This particular advantage to the citizens of Peterborough is in great danger unless steps are taken to protect the fish from annihilation.

As an ordinary citizen, who appreciates a nice piece of our own fresh fish at the proper time, I protest against this wholesale slaughter.

Your truly,
CITIZEN.

CANOES AND AIR TANKS.

Mr. E. B. Edwards contributes the following to the Mail and Empire:

SIR,—At this season of the year when so many people are using canoes, I deem it timely to again call attention to the fact that the addition of a pair of small air tanks under the short bow and stern decking will render a canoe practically a lifepreserver. A canoe so provided will safely carry its ordinary crew of two or three grown persons, even after it has been filled with water by swamping or upsetting, all but the paddler lying down in the bottom of the canoe, with the head only above water. The air tanks, too, serve to keep the canoe right side up after it is filled with water, as they are wider at the top than at the bottom, conforming to the shape of the canoe. A canoe without air tanks, when upset or swamped, having little material in it to give floating power, is apt to roll over and over, and, in too many cases, drowning accidents have been recorded which might have been avoided in many cases. The air tanks may be made of tin or zinc, or of a light framework of wood, covered with canvas, made waterproof by paint or oil.

The contrast between the comparative safety on the one side and the known danger on the other side is, to my mind, so great as to warrant a law being passed that all canoes sold, or at all events all canoes let for hire, should be provided with air tanks. The greatest danger is, of course, with inexperienced paddlers, and those who hire canoes are commonly within this class. Owners of private canoes who neglect a means of safety so easily available, are like men who carry their own fire or life insurance. They should not, however, risk other people's lives by asking helpless women or children, or others who cannot swim, to go out upon open water in a canoe which they have neglected to properly equip.

Yours truly,
E. B. EDWARDS.

WRESTLING.

The Randolph Courant says: The Buffalo Courier recently contained an account of a fake wrestling match that was pulled off at Toronto recently. The contestants were known as Collins and Doyle. Each won a fall, when Doyle allowed that he was sick and gave up the match. We are informed that the wrestlers were no other than Bob Reakes and his brother Tom. Bob has wrestled under the assumed name of Doyle a number of times, and it is quite probable that he was the fellow who flim flammed the Canadian sports." The article concludes with a statement that every effort is being made to discover the identity and the whereabouts of the sharpers. If the slippery Bobby eludes the authorities of Toronto he still has the Hawaiian Islands to do business in."

It is reported that Doyle wrestled in Ridgetown on the 21st.

CRICKET.

A meeting of the Cricket Club will be held in the Oriental Hotel parlours at 9 o'clock this evening.

The senior eleven leaves for Campbellford to morrow morning on the 8.10 train.

THE RING.

Bob. Fitzsimmons, who has met Thomas Sharkey in the ring on more than one occasion, is firmly convinced that the sailor is paralysed on one side. This bit of information was not given through the regular channels, however, and, inasmuch as Mr. Fitzsimmons' manager, Martin Julian, has not sanctioned its publication, it may be regarded as a breach of etiquette to disseminate it. That Mr. Fitzsimmons made the declaration that he was convinced that Sharkey could not feel the effects of blows administered on the left side of his face, and that he was not sure as to whether his right cheek was not also impervious to punishment, in all seriousness is, however, a fact. Fitzsimmons declared that in order to hurt Sharkey it was necessary to administer body blows.

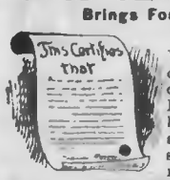
THIS CERTIFICATE

Brings Forth a Story.



BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

We, the undersigned, certify that the health of the Rev. R. A. Bilkey has for months been deteriorating, and that he is now suffering from severe nervous prostration, and urgently requires immediate and prolonged rest. J. W. McLaughlin, M.D., A. Beith, M.D., L. Holland Reid, M.R.C.S., etc.

THIS INTERVIEW TELLS IT.

A reporter called on the Rev. R. A. Bilkey, rector St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Bowmanville, Ontario, during a church function, and on congratulating him on the great change for the better in his appearance, the reverend gentleman said, "It is due entirely to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

"I suffered for over three years from extreme nervousness, weakness and prostration, and could not obtain relief. A few months ago it became only too apparent that extreme nervous prostration had set in, as I lost flesh and appetite rapidly. Three of our four medical men pronounced me in urgent need of immediate and prolonged rest in order to build up my nervous system, giving me a certificate to that effect. About this time, by pure accident, Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills were brought to my notice. I decided to try them, and on doing so a decided change for the better took place at once. I have since continued taking the pills, with continued and marked benefit and improvement. My appetite has returned. I am gaining in flesh steadily, and my general health is now good. Further, I am sure that these results are due to the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I have every confidence that they will do for others all that they have done for me."

Dr Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c per box, 6 boxes for $2, at Druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by the Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

GORDON AND POLYGAMY.

No Conversion of Africa Possible if Monogamy Is Required.

A particularly interesting reminiscence of General Gordon was given recently at the Shoreditch town hall by the archbishop of Canterbury, who presided over a meeting convened in the interest of the universities mission to central Africa. Very shortly before starting for Khartum, in 1884, Gordon came to Dr. Temple to consult him on three problems, the first of which was whether as a mere layman he would be justified in endeavoring to convert the natives and even to baptize them. To that the archbishop answered certainly—every Christian was at liberty alike to preach and to baptize.

Gordon then propounded a plan he had for buying slaves a thousand at a time, drilling them thoroughly, and perhaps making 10 per cent good soldiers, giving freedom ultimately to all, and asked whether slave buying could ever be justifiable. Again the archbishop could reassure his scruples and point out that if purchased with a view to giving them liberty the act would be compatible with the highest Christianity. The ultimate difficulty, however, was polygamy, Gordon explaining that a man had rarely less than four wives, as this number sufficed to maintain him, and asking whether Christian tenets could possibly sanction a limited plurality of wives. But on this Dr. Temple admitted he could give no justifying permission whatever, and to establish a pseudo religion without so elementary a principle of morality would be highly reprehensible. "Then," said Gordon, "Africa is a long way from conversion if one wife is made an essential of it."—London Telegraph.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy happy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Most all of woman's weakness, and particularly the weakness that most strongly influences the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure troubles of this nature. It should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of gestation. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains of childbirth, and insures the health of both mother and child.

DIED OF GRIEF.

A Horse That Could Not Stand the Pangs of Separation.

"Speaking of the emotional life of a horse," said an old trainer who had been listening to a story about an animal's death that was directly traced to grief, "I recall one remarkable instance of sorrow shown by a horse belonging to a circus with which I was traveling three years ago. We were performing in the little town of Unionville, Pa., when one of the trick horses fell and sprained one of his legs so badly that he could not travel. He was taken to a livery stable and put in a box stall, the leg was bandaged and he was made as comfortable as possible.

"He ate his food and was apparently contented until about midnight, when the circus began moving out of town. Then he became restless and tramped and whinnied. As the caravans moved past the stable he seemed to realize that he was being deserted, and his anxiety and distress became pitiful. He would stand with his ears pricked in an attitude of intense listening, and then as his ears caught the sounds of the retiring wagons he would rush as best he could with his injured leg from one side of the stall to the other, pushing at the door with his nose and making every effort to escape. The stableman, who was a stranger to him, tried to soothe him, but to no purpose. He would not be comforted.

"Long after all sounds of the circus had ceased his agitation continued. The sweat poured from him, and he quivered in every part of his body. Finally the stableman went to his employer's house, woke him up and told him he believed the horse would die if some of the circus horses were not brought back to keep him company. At about daylight the proprietor of the stable mounted a horse and rode after the circus. He overtook us 10 or 12 miles away, and as I had charge of all the horses and was much attached to the injured animal I returned with him. When we reached the stall, the horse was dead.

"The stableman said that he remained for nearly an hour perfectly still and with every sense apparently strained to the utmost tension, and then without making a sign fell and died with scarcely a struggle. The veterinarian who was called remarked after the circumstances were told him that unquestionably the horse died from grief."—Washington Star.

Getting One's Self to Sleep.

Many are the expedients resorted to by persons who are troubled with insomnia to coax reluctant slumber. Some of these expedients are as primitive and simple as grandmother's remedies for colds, fevers, torpid liver and the like, and they are equally as effective. At a little dinner party at an up-town club not long ago, the subject of sleeplessness thrust itself into the general discussion, and various experiences were narrated. One found the gentle of slumber in a glass of Scotch ale, another in a cup of hot water, another in a bromide, and another in a book or newspaper.

"Now let me tell my way of getting to sleep when I feel nervous and wakeful," said a woman who was born in New England, and who takes pride in the fact that she embodies family traditions nearly two hundred years old. "It is a method that has prevailed in our family for several generations. Of course, you will laugh at me, but it is just this: Whenever you find yourself getting more and more wakeful after you have retired to bed, just close your eyes, conjure up a pasture, and begin counting the sheep as they jump over a stile. At first you may not be able to see the sheep very distinctly, but soon they will pass before your imagination like a procession. You count them one by one, and by and by you will see two jump over the stile at the same time; next a whole lot of them will go over in a bunch, and you will lose the count. Everything then becomes vague, and for a short time you see an endless string of sheep moving forward, growing more indistinct with each movement, until you are sound asleep."

Of Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mr. Colwell of Bright's Disease.

Windsor, July 11th.—"Is it true, Mr. Colwell, that you have been cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills?" our reporter asked Mr. R. F. Colwell, jeweller, of No. 9, Oulette street, to-day.

"It is indeed," was the answer. I suffered two years with Bright's Disease. My back ached all the time. I had awful, aching pains in my loins, a puffiness under my eyes, and my urine was very dark coloured.

"For a time I could find no remedy to do me any good. But one day a friend told me he had been cured of the same disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought a supply. A few boxes cured me thoroughly." Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all kidney complaints.

Garcia Will Fight Spaniards.

Santiago de Cuba, July 23.—Notwithstanding Gen. Garcia's bitter complaint to Gen. Shafter that he had been ignored, and that the restoration of the Spanish civil authorities in the city of Santiago was most offensive to him, and that in consequence of all this he had been forced to tender his resignation as a general in the Cuban army, he is going on with his preparations for a contest with the Spanish forces of Holguin and Manzanillo, quite as though nothing had happened.

To-day Gen. Garcia will issue a decree authorizing all Cubans who have been driven from their plantations and country homes by the Spaniards and who have taken refuge for safety in the cities and towns, to return to the country and go to work on their farms and plantations, assuring them of protection by his forces.

A YOUNG GIRL'S ESCAPE.

Saved from being a Nervous Wreck BY MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

For the benefit of Canadian mothers, who have daughters who are weak, pale, run down or nervous, Mrs. Belanger, 128 Rideau Street, Ottawa, Ontario, made the following statement, so that no one need suffer through ignorance of the right remedy to use: "My daughter suffered very much from heart troubles at times. Often she was so bad that she could not speak, but had to sit and gasp for breath. She was so extremely nervous that her limbs would fairly shake and tremble. Frequently she would have to leave school; and finally she grew so weak that we were much alarmed about her health. I gave her many remedies, but they did not seem to do her any good.

Then I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and got a box of them, and they have indeed worked wonders with her. I can recommend them very highly as the best remedy I ever heard of for complaints similar to those from which my daughter suffered."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills never fail to do good. They cure palpitation, faintness, dizziness, smothering sensation, weakness, nervousness, sleeplessness, anæmia, female troubles and general debility. Sold by all druggists at 50c. a box or three boxes for $1.25. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ontario.

One of the most eminent and skillful specialists in the United States is the author of a great home medical work that every woman, whether young or old, should read. That physician is Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. This is one of the greatest medical institutions in the world. In his capacity as head of this institution, Dr. Pierce is surrounded by a staff of nearly a score of able physicians. With the assistance of this staff of physicians, during the past thirty years, Dr. Pierce has prescribed for many thousands of ailing women. His "Common Sense Medical Adviser" contains 1008 pages and over 300 illustrations. It contains several chapters devoted to the treatment of diseases peculiar to women. A paper-covered copy is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing, by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth binding 50 stamps.

Every woman should read it. It tells about a medicine that cures all disorders and irregularities from which women suffer. This medicine is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the delicate organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood. It makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, stops debilitating drains and soothes pain. It is the greatest of all nerve tonics. In the "Medical Adviser" hundreds of women tell their experiences with this medicine. The "Favorite Prescription" is for sale by all good medicine dealers.

THE REAL REASON.

I had arrived at Monte Carlo about 2 o'clock and after a late lunch set out in search of my friends the Verneys. I found Master Arthur, a serious minded young politician of 22, in his room at the hotel. He was completing an elaborate toilet and drinking champagne.

"Aynsley!" he cried in surprise. "I thought you were in London."

"The spirit of restlessness," I explained. My eye dwelt for a moment on the champagne. "A little low, Arthur?"

He blushed. Arthur was the highly respectable son of an eminently respectable father, who was M. P. and other things.

He glanced at the clock, then rose and picked up his hat and gloves.

"A stroll!" I finished, with a grin.

He laughed nervously.

"Look here, Aynsley," he said, "you'll find the governor and Evelyn on the terrace. Do you mind if I run away now?"

I got up and laid a hand on his shoulder in a paternal fashion. "She is a woman in a thousand, Arthur. Au revoir and good luck!"

He blushed again—he was really a most nervous young man—and hurried away. I followed him out of the hotel, then strolled leisurely through the gardens and round to the terrace. I espied Mr. Verney and his daughter sitting almost immediately in the rear of the casino. I walked up to them.

"Well, 'pon my word!" cried Mr. Varney. A smile dimpled round Miss Verney's mouth as she took my hand. I explained lucidly how it was I came to leave London in so unexpected a fashion.

"It enslaves us all," I finished, with a graceful wave of my hand toward the casino.

"Indeed," said Miss Verney politely.

After a few minutes' conversation Mr. Verney pulled out his watch.

"I'm very glad you came, Aynsley," he said, "as I left off last night in the midst of a little mathematical experiment with trente et quarante, and I thought that if you would kindly look after Evelyn I'd"—

"Delighted!" I said quickly. "I trust the experiment will be brought to a satisfactory conclusion."

As soon as he had taken his departure I glanced at Miss Verney. She was examining the handle of her parasol with some intentness. I made a mental note that white suited her admirably—in fact, better than any other girl of my acquaintance.

"Perfect weather," I remarked at length. She nodded in a preoccupied manner.

Dr. A. W. CHASE

COMES TO THE AID OF

Catarrh Sufferers

SUCCESS in life is almost impossible for a man with bad breath. Nobody wants to do business with him. Nobody wants to associate with him. He is handicapped everywhere. Offensive breath comes from Catarrh; sometimes from Catarrh of the Stomach, sometimes of the lungs, sometimes of the head, nose, and throat. It is from Catarrh somewhere, and Catarrh is another name for uncleanness.

Many men understand this, and make every effort to cure it, but it is beyond the reach of ordinary practice.

No self-respecting man can ignore Catarrh. If he has it in any form he makes constant effort to be rid of it.

There is something about the manner of life and the climate of Canada that seems to breed diseases of the mucous membrane. Medical science ordinarily doesn't try to cure Catarrh; it "relieves" it; but Dr. Chase has been curing Catarrh for over thirty years, and his name is blessed by thousands who have shaken off the grasp of this insidious disease.

Sold by all dealers, price 25 cents per box, blower free.

"I have been wondering," she said after a moment, "why you came here."

"Did you not hear me explain?" I began.

She smiled.

"Oh, yes, but"—

"Surely nothing further is needed. The attraction of Monte Carlo is world famed."

"I do not believe, Mr. Aynsley," she said deliberately, "that you have ever gambled in your life."

I tried another tack.

"Well, then, I'm rather delicate, and the chill, damp fogs of London are rather trying to an invalid."

Again Miss Verney laughed.

"How unsympathetic you are!"

"The deep sea fishing last winter must have been rather bad for you. No, Mr. Aynsley, I'm a clear sighted young person, and I can quite see what has brought you so suddenly to Monte Carlo."

"Well?" I said, with an air of indifference.

She played with the tassel on her parasol for a moment. Then she smiled.

"Mrs. Fairfax," she said at length.

I laughed outright.

"How amusing! Nothing of the sort. The usual attraction, I assure you."

"Mrs. Fairfax."

"Gambling—or invalid's natural aversion to chill, damp fogs!"

"Mrs. Fairfax!" repeated Miss Verney once again, with just a shade of emphasis.

I gave it up.

"A very charming person," I said.

"You admit it?" and her voice held a tiny note of triumph.

"Don't you?" I replied wonderingly. "She is talented, pretty, agreeable and"—

"A widow," put in Miss Verney.

"Yes, but her husband was hardly more than an acquaintance. He went to India, you know, shortly after their marriage, and was killed. Do you not think her fascinating?"

"Yes, undoubtedly she is a pleasant companion."

"And I'm a lonely bachelor man!" I remarked apologetically.

She turned to me with a smile. "Forgive me," she said kindly, "for reminding you of your pitiful condition. I only meant to show you that I guessed the reason for your sudden change of plans."

"Your intelligence is beyond reproach. But what made you think of Mrs. Fairfax?"

"My dear Mr. Aynsley," she laughed, "you forget last season."

I tried to recollect.

"The episode at the Cartons; the Melba night at Covent Garden," she reminded gently.

"You take great interest in my welfare," I said with a laugh. "I am very glad to notice it," I added with a glance at her.

"By the way," I continued after a pause, "where is Arthur?"

"I never trouble about Arthur, she replied quickly, "he is so wrapped up in his books and studies that even here at Monte Carlo I see very little of him."

I was amused.

"You have nothing against Mrs. Fairfax?" I suggested.

"Nothing whatever," she replied frankly. "I like her immensely."

This helped matters, I thought.

"You think she will make a good wife?"

"Admirable," said Miss Verney, calmly surveying the bay. "Her experience will be invaluable."

I caught sight of a couple that had just appeared on the farther end of the terrace.

"You will come to the wedding?"

A slight tinge of color appeared on Miss Verney's cheeks as she turned to me.

"Has it reached that stage?"

I glanced at the couple and noticed they were arm in arm.

"I believe so."

There was a slight pause. Miss Verney played with the tassel again.

"Then I suppose I must tender my congratulations?" she said at length.

"I believe it is customary among friends," I replied, with a glance at her. She had allowed her eyes to fall on the ground.

"You know she is very wealthy?" I added.

"You have been most fortunate in your endeavors," she replied in deliberate tones. "I trust you'll be very happy."

The couple were now opposite to where we were sitting. So engrossed were they in conversation that they had not noticed us. I felt an anticipatory shiver of enjoyment.

"I do not enter into the question," I said. "Look!"

She glanced up in surprise.

"Arthur and Mrs. Fairfax," she whispered.

"He is wrapped up in his studies again," I remarked. "I fancy he has taken the lady's eyes as his subject."

Miss Verney looked at me reproachfully.

"And you knew this all the time!"

"I'm afraid so. Arthur d[illegible] me some months ago in London, and I have occasionally amused myself helping him. Take the Melba night, for instance.

"Was that on Arthur's behalf?" she asked wonderingly.

I nodded. It occurred to me once again how extremely charming Miss Verney looked in white.

There was a silence for a minute or so. Arthur and Mrs. Fairfax passed out of sight.

"It wasn't the gambling," I remarked at length.

Miss Verney made no reply.

"Nor an invalid's aversion to the chill, damp fogs," I went on after a pause.

"Nor Mrs. Fairfax," she put in.

"No," I said slowly. "I came because I thought it just possible you might be pleased to see me."

There was another pause, and then I added:

"Are you?"

A smile crept round the corners of Miss Verney's mouth.

"Well, yes, I think I am," she said.

We see a good deal of one another now.—Gilbert Dayle in London Weekly Sun.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? In Death. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

McCoy Had Enough.

Here is a story told by Parson Davies on Kid McCoy, the pugilist, as given in the Wilmington Sun:

"Kid McCoy attracted the attention of a crowd of sportsmen at the Gilsey House," says Parson, "and it was decided to introduce Lavenia Charmion, a trapeze performer and a muscular phenomenon, to him as a woman who wished to learn boxing. McCoy was delighted.

"The meeting took place, and the Kid told Charmion to take a position, in which of course she was very awkward. 'That is picturesque, but not pugilistically correct,' he remarked, with a smile of superior knowledge. 'Now,' he said, as she adjusted her arms, 'let go with your left.'

"It was a chop blow and made the air whiz, as the first attempt narrowly missed the Kid's face. He looked apprehensive and remarked: 'You have steam enough, but your execution is faulty. Now, hit out straight and let your body go with the blow.'

"The fist brought up suddenly at about the third button of McCoy's waistcoat. 'That is better,' gasped the Kid. 'That will do for the first lesson. Come again tomorrow, and we'll try the big gloves.'

"'Oh, how nice,' said Charmion. 'Do you know, I never had but one chance to box with a man. That was when a fellow tried to kiss me, and I knocked him down and broke his jaw with my boot heel. I'—

"'Excuse me,' interrupted McCoy, 'come to think of it, I have an engagement for tomorrow. Ah, yes, I leave town Sunday, but—but I'll see you again.'"

He Knew.

TO A MAIDEN OF SIXTEEN.

I do not fondly ask from you
The qualities of a noble heart,
A mind whose thoughts are pure and true,
A tongue that speeds no venomed dart,
A temper sweet or gentle mood,
Unselfishness or high endeavor—
I do not ask you to "be good,
Sweet maid," or even to be "clever!"

I do not ask for poet's song,
For dreamer's tale, high gifts of mind,
For orator's eloquence righting wrong—
Gifts all, no doubt, to you assigned;
I do not ask for theories new,
One's powers of comprehension tasking,
For wisdom or for wit from you
(There would not be much use in asking).

I do not ask you for the gift
All other gifts so far above,
I will be brave and make a shift
To live my life without your love—
Not mine to play a lover's part,
So, though the omission is distressing,
I do not ask you for your heart.
I only ask a minor blessing.

I do not ask you when we meet
To condescend to notice me,
But when kind fate affords that treat
Pray bear in mind this modest plea:
I do not ask you to sit still,
Though in your chair you always wriggle,
I'd have you do whate'er you will.
I only ask you—not to giggle!

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER.

Kidney Disease Man's Deadliest Foe Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, July 18.—"Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease," was the assertion of a prominent Toronto physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death-rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used, in every case of Kidney Disease, there would be no deaths from it.

Very Encouraging Reports From Manitoba, the Territories and B. C.

Ottawa, July 22.—Recent reports received by the director of the Experimental farms from the superintendents of the branch farms in the Northwest and British Columbia are more encouraging. In Manitoba in the early part of the season, the growth was retarded for want of moisture; but copious and timely showers since have brought on a rapid growth. During the past fortnight grain has made great progress. The weather has been warm and seasonable and the soil in a favourable condition of moisture. Wheat, oats and barley are well headed. In some districts in the north-west and south-west parts of Manitoba the general condition of the grain is scarcely up to the average; but in many other sections, especially in the large wheat growing districts east of Brandon, including the plains about Carberry and Portage la Prairie, grain looks remarkably well and promises heavy returns.

The dry weather in the early part of the season has resulted in a light crop of hay. Roots and fodder corn are now growing very fast. In the district about Indian Head in Eastern Assiniboia, grain is growing very rapidly. The early part of the season was very dry, but timely and abundant rains have given favourable conditions of moisture, and crops of all sorts are now making a healthy and vigorous growth. The grain crops have been very good throughout this section of the country for the past two years and with another good crop, and reasonably good prices, the outlook for agriculture in this part of the Dominion is very promising.

In British Columbia the hay crop is reported as very good in all parts of the Province. Clover especially has given a heavy yield. The grain crops in most districts are healthy and vigorous and give promise of satisfactory returns. Roots and fodder crops are also growing well.

In the coast climate, where large quantities of fruit are now produced, the crop of plums is very heavy. The season has been generally favourable. Apple and pear trees blossomed very freely, but the fruit has not set very well, and the crops of these fruits will probably be below the average. Small fruits are producing abundantly.

The Moon's Influence

Upon the weather is accepted by some as real, by others it is disputed. The moon never attracts corns from the tender, aching spot. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the most painful corns in three days. This great remedy makes no sore spots, doesn't go fooling around a man's foot, but gets to business at once, and effects a cure. Don't be imposed upon by substitutes and imitations. Get "Putnam's" and no other.

Thursday evening of last week Mrs. W. H. Moore entertained a number of her friends. The hotel amusement room was a brilliant scene until a seasonable hour brought the pleasant hop to a finish, then all set out for "Echo" Cottage where Mrs. Moore had provided a dainty spread of good things. Among those present were: Mr and Mrs L M Hayes, Mr and Mrs T A Hay, Mr and Mrs Max Dennistoun, Mr and Mrs W Sherwood, Mr and Mrs W Hartshorne, Mrs Allan Bains, Miss Erie Temple, Miss M E Murray, Miss Allen, Miss Hay, Miss Helen Hay, Miss Helen Boucher, Mr H Allen, Mr W Allen, Mr H Morrow, Mr T Lefevre, Mr McNee, Mr Montgomery.

Friday of last week the Rev Mr Armitage, who was a guest of Mr D H Burritt, had a pleasant little surprise while in the act of fishing without intent to catch. Waiting for the boat to be made ready Mr. Armitage amused himself by tossing the spoon-hooks repeatedly into the water and drawing the glittering bait, spinning out again, until a bass of about three pounds grabbed the bait and made a desperate effort to get away with it. There was an exciting moment for Mr. Armitage who landed the gamey fish after the usual struggle, so well known in the landing of this class of the finny tribe. This was not all. The reverend gentleman caught a 'lunge and another bass while out in their boat.

Miss Boucher is the guest of Mrs. Wallace.

Miss Dennistoun is spending a few days with her brother.

Miss Allen, of Bowmanville, with her sister and brother, are guests of Mr. H. Allen, Underwood Cottage.

Miss Bessie King is visiting with Miss Ethel Tully, Fern Lodge.

Miss M. E. Murray, of Toronto, is a guest of Mrs. L. M. Hayes.

Dr. Boucher was at the park, last Sunday.

Mr. W. Conway caught a 16 lb. 'lunge a few evenings ago.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Spence, of Brooklyn, are rusticating at the park.

His Lordship Bishop Sweatman, of Toronto, was at the park Wednesday last week and went north on Mr. Boyd's palace steamer "Calumet."

Divine service was conducted at the pavilion Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Davidson.

At Jubilee cottage, Sunday, mass was celebrated for the first time at the park. Rev. Father McColl, officiated.

Dodd's Kidney Pills the Only Cure on Earth for Bright's Disease.

Toronto, July 25.—Bright's Disease has once again been conquered in Toronto.

And in this case, as in every other that has been cured, Dodd's Kidney Pills effected the cure.

Here is what the person most deeply concerned says about the matter:

"I suffered with Bright's Disease and impure blood for some time, and all my efforts to find relief or cure were fruitless.

"I was persuaded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I had only used two boxes when my cure was complete." Fred Borland, 677 Markham street, Toronto.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured every case of Bright's Disease for which they have been used. They never fail.

INTERESTING AND PROFITABLE WAS

THE SUMMER SCHOOL FOR CLERGY.

The First Canadian School is Held at Lakefield—Excellent Summary of the Results of the Term.

The following concise presentation of the gratifying results of the summer school for clergy, at Lakefield, is taken from the Canadian Churchman:—

I do not know who was the originator of the idea of summer schools, but there is no doubt of its excellence. It has proved highly successful in the United States, and more recently at Oxford and Durham and other places in England. It was, therefore, a happy thought to make the experiment in Canada, and the first Canadian summer school for the clergy has demonstrated its practicability and utility in Canada. That the school was in the highest degree successful was the unanimous opinion of all who attended it, and we desire at the outset to say that great praise is due to Rev. E. V. Stevenson, the secretary of the committee, for his untiring labours, and for the excellence of the arrangements down to the smallest details. The school was held at the school of Rev. A. W. Mackenzie, of Lakefield. Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie most generously placed the buildings and beautiful grounds entirely at the disposal of the committee free of charge. The proceedings commenced on Monday evening, July 4th, when addresses of welcome were delivered, after evening prayer, by Rev. G. Warren, of Lakefield, and Rev. A. W. Mackenzie. The following morning the Holy Communion was celebrated at 7.30, and after breakfast the regular work of the school commenced. The proceedings of one day were very similar to those of another. Three hours each morning were devoted to lectures. From dinner until 8 p.m. the members took various kinds of recreation, boating, tennis and so on. Then came evening prayer, after which an informal discussion, lasting till 10 o'clock, was held, upon some practical points in the life and work of the pastor. The committee was happy in the choice of lectures, and fortunate in securing those whom they invited. The various speakers spoke with the authority of learning, conviction and experience. When we say that four lectures were delivered by Prof. Clark, on the English Reformation, we need add nothing to assure our readers of their interest and value, as everyone knows Prof. Clark has the gift of stimulating as well as informing his hearers. One who is no mean judge, remarked to the present writer, immediately after the second lecture in this course, that it was the most interesting historical lecture which he had ever heard. The heaviest burden of instruction fell upon the shoulders of Rev. Algernon S. Crapsey, of Rochester, N. Y., who most kindly undertook a course of eight lectures on Christian Doctrine. These, delivered with scarcely a note, each lasting a full hour, were of the utmost value. They were profound, for Mr. Crapsey has the truly philosophic mind, but so charmingly delivered, with apt illustration, and here and there relieved with a vein of quiet humour, that never for a moment did they become tedious. The following were the subjects of his course: "Providence," "God," "The Fatherhood of God, as seen in the Sonship of Christ," "The Divine Personality of Jesus Christ," "Sacrifice Christ for us," "Grace: Christ in Us," "The Kingdom of God: The Church as the Sphere of the Operation of the Holy Ghost," "The Communion of Saints: The Church as the Brotherhood of Man." Mr. Crapsey very heartily threw himself into the spirit of the school, and before its close, was styled "The Head Master." The American Church supplied the school with the main supply of lectures. From Boston came an old Trinity graduate, now a man of mark, Rev. C. H. Brent, who out of much reading and even more experience, expounded the fundamental principles of Christian fellowship and applied them to some of the practical social problems of the day. Professor Roper gave a course of lectures on recent teaching on the Atonement, accompanied by a valuable bibliography of recent works on the subject. Single lectures on "Preaching," illustrated from the sermons of Philip Brooks, Archbishop Alexander and Canon Liddon, were given by Rev. T. C. Street-Macklem, Rev. Canon Dann, and Rev. Geo. Warren, of Lakefield. Space will not permit of more than mention of the evening conferences on some practical matters of the clerical life and work, or of the recreations of the afternoons, including an exciting tennis tournament, and two cricket matches. Suffice it to say in conclusion that the utmost harmony and good fellowship prevailed throughout, all were agreed that it was a most profitable and enjoyable ten days, and the old committee, with the addition of Very Rev. Dean Smith, Rev. Canon Dann, and Rev. Mr. Belt, were appointed to arrange for another summer school of theology for next year.

HERBERT SYMONDS.

INTERNATIONAL GOOD-WILL.

The Vice-President Elect of the International Association of Railway Surgeons Speaks Highly of Canada.

The Utica Daily Press, of July 19th, has the following:—Dr. James G. Hunt has returned from an extended trip through the Provinces of Canada, visiting Quebec, Montreal, Toronto and many other places. He was a delegate to the International Association of Railway Surgeons, which held a convention in Toronto on July 6th, 7th and 8th. Dr. Hunt brings with him the warmest kind of feeling for the English and American people, and his description of the royal manner in which the English people entertained the members of the association is quite graphic. Dr. Hunt says the good feeling that exists between the English people and Americans in regard to the Spanish-American war is something wonderfu' as is shown by the press and public throughout the whole Dominion. Nothing like it was ever known before and the American flag and the Union Jack float in many places side by side. In the hall where the meetings were held the decorations were especially effective. The royal arms were in the centre and flanked on one side by the British ensign and on the other by Old Glory. The caps of the pillars extending round the hall were adorned with British and American flags in friendly proximity. In some cases the Stars and Stripes occupied the centre, with a Union Jack on eather side, and in other instances the British emblem had the place of honour and was guarded on each side by the flag of the republic. Dr. Hunt said last evening that the Canadian press voices the sentiment of the English-speaking people in favour of Americans on the Spanish question, and is very outspoken at all times.

THE EARL OF MINTO

Will Be the Next Governor-General of Canada.

COMES OF AN ANCIENT FAMILY.

His Ancestors Have Been Statesmen and Soldiers and He Has Followed in Their Footsteps—Served in Our Northwest Rebellion as Gen. Middleton's Chief of Staff.

London, July 26.—The Earl of Minto has been appointed Governor-General of Canada in succession to the Earl of Aberdeen.

The Earl of Minto (Sir Gilbert John Elliot Murray Kynynmound) County Roxburgh; Viscount Melgund of Melgund, County Forfar; Baron Minto of Minto, County Roxburgh, and a

THE EARL OF MINTO.

baronet of Nova Scotia, formerly lieutenant of the Scots Guards, attached to the Turkish army in the Russo Turkish war, 1877, served in Afghanston in 1879, in Egypt in 1882, in Canadian rebellion in 1885, Military Secretary to the Governor-General of Canada (Lord Lapsdowne) in 1885-86, captain of reserve officers colonel and brigadier-general commanding the Scottish Borderers' Volunteers Infantry Brigade (volunteer officer's decoration), born July 9, 1845, succeeded his father as fourth earl, 1891, married July 28, 1880, Mary Caroline, daughter of General Hon. Charles Grey, and has issue:

1. Victor Gilbert Laristone Garnet, Viscount Melgund, born Feb. 19, 1891.
2. Gavin William Esmond, born April 25, 1895.
3. Eileen Nina Evelyn Sibell, born Dec. 13, 1884.
4. Ruby Florence Mary, born Sept. 26, 1886.
5. Violet Mary, born May 28, 1889.

The Earl of Minto was educated at Eton and at Trinity College, Cambridge, graduating as a B.A. in 1866. His services to Canada were given in the capacity of chief of the staff in the Northwest rebellion of 1885, for which he received mention in the despatches and a medal. He has been under fire, having been wounded in the Egyptian campaign of 1882. After his recovery he won fame as commander of the Mounted Infantry in Canea, being mentioned in despatches, given a medal and ranked as fourth-class Medjidie. He was of illustrious lineage. In the line were a Governor of Madras, an admiral and governor of St. Helena, besides numerous lesser lights in politics and the army.

His Ancestry.

Minto, Gilbert Elliot, first earl of, an English statesman, born April 23, 1751. He was the elder son of the third baronet, Sir Gilbert Elliot of Roxburghshire, Scotland, and entered the House of Commons in 1774 as a Liberal Whig. He was ambassador at Copenhagen from 1788 to 1794, and was sent as viceroy to Corsica during the English occupation of that island in the earlier years of the war with the French republic. On his return to England he was raised to the peerage (Oct. 10, 1797), as Baron Minto. In 1799 he was appointed ambassador at Vienna. On resuming his seat in the House of Lords he urged the union of Ireland with England, and subsequently opposed the emancipation of the Irish Catholics. In 1806-7 he was president of the Board of Control for Indian affairs, and he was made Governor-General of

THE COUNTESS OF MINTO.

Bengal from 1807 to 1813, when he was made Viscount Melgund, the Earl of Minto (Feb 24). See "Life and Letters of Sir Gilbert Elliot, first Earl of Minto," by his grandniece, the Countess of Minto, (London, 1874).

His son, Gilbert Elliot Murray Kynynmound, second earl, born Nov. 16, 1782, was Minister to Berlin in 1823, First Lord of the Admiralty 1835-41, Lord Privy Seal in the administration of Lord John Russel (his son-in-law), 1846-52, and in 1847 was sent on a special mission to the Italian courts for the purpose of promoting Liberal reforms. He died July 31, 1859.

He Was a Sportsman.

Earl Minto, 25 years ago, as Lord Melgund, was recognized as one of the most brilliant cross-country riders in England, and owned many first-class steeplechasers. His colors were white, blue sleeves and cap, which he very often bore to victory, his great contemporary and competitor being Mr. J. M. Richardson, who was afterwards a member of the House of Commons.

Earl Minto married Miss Grey, a renowned beauty, whose father was equery to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in his Canadian tour in 1860. Lady Minto is still one of the best lady skaters in England, a recreation which she practised and graduated in at Ottawa.

The Elliot family have always been to the front in political appointments in England, having furnished Ministers of the Crown, Ambassadors and envoys without end.

The family residence at Hawick, Roxburghshire is among the best known of the great places in the lowlands of Scotland.

Although Lord and Lady Minto are eminent society people, he is a man of great energy and activity, and he is sure to make every possible endeavor to do what he considers to be his duty in all parts of the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

It is likely that Earl Minto owes his appointment as much to his life-long friendship with Lord Lansdowne, an influential member of the present English Cabinet, as to any other cause. They were at Eton together.

A Canadian Who Knows Him.

Toronto, July 26.—Colonel Grasett, who was on the staff of General Middleton in 1885, says the Earl of Minto is a pleasant looking man, rather under the average height. He is an excellent horseman, having the reputation of being the best gentleman rider in England.

While he was in Canada in 1885 he was chief of the staff in the Northwest rebellion. He held no appointment in the Canadian militia, but acted as the confidential aide of General Middleton, of whom he was a warm personal friend.

At Clark's Crossing Middleton's column was divided, and Lord Melgund was put in charge of the division that crossed the river and occupied the west bank. As a result of this the latter division was not present at the battle of Fish Creek, but rejoined the main column immediately at its conclusion. Lord Melgund was at once despatched to Qu'Appelle by General Middleton with despatches, the nature of which has never been revealed. At any rate he came too late, for the fort had fallen when he arrived.

QUEBEC CONFERENCE.

A Sixth United States Representative Chosen.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S DELEGATE.

The Nomination of Sir James Winter of Newfoundland and of Mr. T. J. Coolidge of Boston Will Add Strength and Wisdom to the Counsels of the Conference.

Ottawa, July 26.—The recognition of Newfoundland's claim to the right of representation at the Quebec Conference, resulting in the appointment of Sir James Winter, entitles the United States to a sixth representative, and the choice of President McKinley has fallen upon Mr. Thomas Jefferson Coolidge of Boston. The nomination of these gentlemen will add strength to the personnel of the commission and bring wisdom to its counsels.

Sir James Winter is a native of the ancient colony, having been born at Placentia Bay, Newfoundland, on January 1, 1845. He was educated at St. John's, and in his early years was a clerk in a mercantile office. Abandoning commerce for the law, he studied for that profession under the late Sir H. W. Hoyles, and was called to the bar in 1867, being named a Queen's counsel in 1880. As a lawyer he was one of the most prominent and successful members of his profession in the colony, but, extensive as his practice was, he found time to indulge a natural taste for public affairs. He entered the Legislature of Newfoundland in 1874 and continued to hold his seat until 1889. Shortly after this he was elevated to the bench. During this period of his public career he filled successively the offices of Speaker of the Assembly, Solicitor-General and Attorney-General. He was also for a time leader of the Opposition. He served as a delegate to London on the French fisheries question in 1890, and was agent for Newfoundland at the fishery conference between British and United States plenipotentiaries in Washington in 1887 and 1888. In 1894 he was a delegate from Newfoundland to the Orange Triennial Council at London, England. In November, 1896, Sir James resigned his seat upon the bench and resumed practice at the bar as a protest against the reduction which was made in the salaries of the judges, and because, as he said, of the "violent and malignant hostility of the Government in their individual and collective capacity towards the bench." Not long afterwards he re-entered the political arena and was elected leader of the Opposition. Upon the defeat of the Whiteway Government in 1897 Sir James was called to the Premiership of Newfoundland and formed a new Government, he and his colleagues assuming office on November 17. Sir James was one of the colonial delegates who went to London during the present summer and succeeded in securing the appointment of a commission to consider the French shoe question and other long-standing grievances of the colony. He was created a K.C.M.G. for public services in 1888.

Mr. Coolidge is a native of Boston. He was born in that city on August 26, 1831, and was educated in Switzerland and Germany, and at Harvard University, from which he received the degrees of A.B. and A.M. He has extensive business connections, having occupied the position of treasurer of the Amoskeag Manufacturing C. and president of the Santa Fe Railroad. In 1893 he was appointed United States Minister to France to succeed Whitelaw Reid, but was superseded by ex-Senator James B. Eustis of Louisiana, nominated March 20, 1893, and on March 25 he was promoted to the rank of Ambassador, being the first diplomatic agent of that rank ever accredited to France.

MORE DROWNINGS.

Mr. Charles Drennon, Merchant, Campbellford, Was One of the Victims

Campbellford, Ont., July 26.—Last evening about 8 o'clock, while in bathing near the railroad bridge here, Mr. Charles Drennon, merchant of this town, was drowned. The body was recovered about one hour afterwards.

Child Drowned at Chatham.

Chatham, Ont., July 26.—A sad drowning accident occurred in this city yesterday, by which Samuel, the young son of Thomas Glover, lost his life. The child had been left by the mother in charge of an older sister, and in some unaccountable manner fell into the cistern. The child was not discovered until it had been in the water two hours.

One Also at Lindsay.

Lindsay, Ont., July 26.—A sad fatality occurred last evening near Carew's saw mill, by which an employe named Cronk lost his life. The evening being insufferably warm, he went bathing about 10 o'clock with his brother-in-law, John Holden, in the river below the mill. He was unable to swim more than a few strokes, and he waded out a considerable distance, intending to try and swim back. He soon went under. He was 36 years of age.

WELL KNOWN VIOLINIST

Traveled Extensively Throughout the Provinces—Interesting Statements Concerning His Experience.

STELLARTON, N.S.—James R. Murray, a well known violinist, of this place, who has traveled extensively throughout the Provinces, makes this statement:

"I was running down in health and my weight fell off from 175 to 150 pounds. Prescriptions did me but little good. My trouble was called nervous dyspepsia. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking five bottles I was greatly benefited. I feel as well now as ever in my life, and have increased in flesh so that I now weigh 177 pounds. I am well known in this part of the country, having followed my profession, that of a violin musician for the last 26 years. I gladly tell my friends what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. Before I began taking the medicine I did not have any ambition, but now all is changed and my dyspeptic trouble perfectly cured." JAMES R. MURRAY.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute. Be sure to get Hood's.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

PROFESSIONAL SANITATION.

The City of Liverpool has taken a step which cannot fail to be productive of excellent results. It has established, under the management of University College, a school and museum to be devoted exclusively to the instruction of students who intend to make the preservation of health, as distinguished from its restoration, the means and end of a professional career. The object is in brief, declared to be not merely the training of plumbers or sewer builders in the practical details of their trades, but to turn out men able to direct artisans and to decide whether or not they are following lines on whose observance public health in so great a degree depends. No more progressive course could be followed. The increasing attention which is being given to hygiene as years succeed one another, is a most promising sign. It is reported in the Lancet that though this Liverpool school has only been established for a very short time, a number of students have passed the examinations qualifying them to be certificated as sanitary inspectors. The meeting of the American Health Association in this city is an evidence of the increasing interest taken in the science of sanitation and the establishment in Canada of such a college as that described might with advantage be made the subject of consideration by the approaching convention.

OTTAWA

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Ottawa, July 22.—The extreme to which partyism will carry one, is well shown in the way in which some newspapers have criticized Sir Wilfrid Laurier's action in insisting upon the immediate departure of the last remaining members of the late Spanish Legation at Washington from Montreal. The Citizen, for instance, comments editorially: "So anxious is he (Sir Wilfrid Laurier) to please the Americans, that he loses no opportunity of doing so. He is absolutely incapable of taking a straight, all-Canadian course. In his speech in Parliament regarding Canadian neutrality in the Spanish-American war, he inconsistently wandered out of his way to announce his sympathy with the American cause." The Citizen apparently forgot that this "anti-Canadian conduct" of Sir Wilfrid was endorsed and closely followed by Sir Charles Tupper, and many other Conservative members, and that the only dissenting voice was indignantly howled down.

It is very satisfactory to find that all its contemporaries of the same political school are not as foolishly biased. The Toronto News, for instance—as pronounced Conservative in its views—declares that the Premier could not do anything else, and that "it is the height of folly to charge him with undue friendship for the United States in taking such action." In a matter of international importance like this, the Canadian Government would be in close communication with the Imperial authorities, and we may be well assured that the unpleasant duty so tactfully performed was only undertaken after the most careful consideration and with the full concurrence of the Home Office, if, indeed, it was not at their specific request.

GOING TO THE DOGS.

The trade returns for the fiscal year ending June 30th, have been completed and as foreshadowed in this column a week ago, the story is a most gratifying one. The increase of trade as compared with 1897 is over $44,000,000, and 1897 was away ahead of any previous year. The increase in exports for 1898 over 1897 are $24,723,678 and the increase of imports for the same period is $19,330,174. While the increase in the Customs revenue is a substantial one of $1,983,263, it is worth remembering that the duties have been considerably reduced, mainly through the operation of the Preferential tariff. This latter figure does not include the receipts from the Yukon which when received will put it well over the $2,000,000 mark. Forty millions increase in trade in one year; and "the country is going to the dogs under Grit rule." With the immortal Mr. Mantalini we are prepared to go to the "demnition bow-wows," if the trip can be accomplished under such advantageous conditions.

A GENERAL ELECTION SCARE.

So we are to have a general Federal election right away, at least so the Conservative press have discovered. But beyond the bare assertion little information is vouchedfed and no particular reason is given for it. The local organ has discovered that twenty Liberal newspapers have come out squarely in denouncioation of the Government, but forgets to give the list. So far from discovering reasons for this expected appeal to the country, the editorial columns of the Conservative papers would lead one to exactly opposite conclusions. "The country is sick and tired of the mis-deeds of the Government," "every where there is a desire to return to the old order of things," "the electors are waiting a chance to turn the rascals out," and so forth and so on. If this is the real condition of things the Government deserves to be defeated, if it is foolish enough to choose so inopportune [a moment, when it has more than two years yet before it must, by law, go to the country. Of one thing all parties alike may rest assured hat neither threats nor entreaties will bring on an election one day sooner than the interests of the country and cause of good Government demand.

MR. BLAKE APPRECIATED.

The flattering comments of the English newspapers upon Mr. Blake's recent speech in the Imperial House of Commons on the Irish financial claims are receiving deserved publicity through the Canadian press, even Conservative journals giving prominence thereto. What a pity that public men in this country have either to die or to retire from active service—the former preferred—before their opponents can discover any good in their actions or any honesty in their motives.

DEEPENING OF THE ST. LAWRENCE CANAL.

Chief Government Engineer Schreiber has just returned from a tour of inspection of the St. Lawrence Canals and reports excellent progress in the work of deepening. The original promise was that the work should be completed in time for the opening of navigation next season and like all other pre-election promises of the present administration, it will doubtless be fulfilled.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE MILITIA.

Members of the active militia throughout the country will be interested in the improved facilities about completed for rifle practice at the Capital. Thanks to the practical ideas and energetic work of the Minister of Militia, Hon. Dr. Borden, who has taken the matter under his personal supervision, the new Dominion Rifle Ranges will be as near perfection as it is possible to make them. They will be equipped with 55 targets and besides being a model shooting ground, will afford excellent accommodation for the manoeuvering of troops; it will be a Bisley and Aldershot in one.

CIVIL SERVICE SUPERANNUATION.

With the first of the month the old civil service superannuation scheme, which had long been a source of wasteful expenditure amounting even to scandal, passed out of existence and Mr. Mulock's Act, providing for the retirement of members of the service at no expense to the country, has taken its place. The Act applies to every person hereafter appointed to the service, and to all persons now in the service, who before January next accept its provisions in lieu of the present system. A reduction of five per cent. will be made from their salaries and interest on the funded amount at their credit, to be available on their retirement or death, will be allowed at the rate of four per cent. Thus has another pre-election promise been fulfilled.

AN ANGLO-SAXON PENNY POSTAGE RATE.

The benefits of good works often become far more extensive than their promoters originally anticipated, and thus we find that, although the Imperial Penny Postage boom was only conceded ten days ago, there is already a strong movement in favour of including the United States in the scheme. Events develop rapidly these days; it is only a year since the Jubilee gave tangible and concrete form to Imperialism in its highest sense, only a year since the unification of the Empire became an accomplished fact. Now even the vast limits of that movement are too circumscribed, and "Anglo-Saxonism" is the new term to conjure with. No single step in the march of progress can have greater effect in bringing the race together than the universal adoption within its limits of a penny postal rate, and, as has been universally admitted in the Old Country, the pressure brought to bear by our Government was the chief influence that won the victory.

Men and Women Repaired.

A machine that is constantly and incessantly working needs repairs at certain intervals.

The human frame, worn by mental and physical toil and subjected to the worries and cares of our modern life, has need of repairs and building up. In the hot summer weather nervous energy is at a low ebb, and as a consequence, nervous debility, terrible headaches, dyspepsia and a run-down condition makes life a burden for thousands.

Paine's Celery Compound is the great repairer and builder when weakness and sickness prevail. This great medicine has the power of rapidly repairing the tissues and purifying the blood. It bestows the proper nutriment to all the weakened tissues, bringing strength and true vigour, thus averting breakdown and collapse.

Thousands of lives are now fast wearing out that can be prolonged and made happy by the present use of Paine's Celery Compound. Its use to-day will save months of sickness, misery and suffering. Take no substitute; get only "Paine's," the kind that cures.

Demented Woman Gone Astray.

1898 WHEAT

Was the Cause of a Further Depression of the Price of the Cereal—Latest Prices.

Monday Evening, July 25.

On the Chicago market July wheat to-day declined a clear 2¼c per bushel, and the September and December options fell off ½c to ⅝c per bushel respectively. The downward movement was due to several causes, among which were an increase of 362,000 bushels in the English visible supply and the consequent weakness of Liverpool prices. A still more important factor, however, was the added impetus shown in the shipments of new wheat to market. Prices were somewhat steadied on the other hand by the announcement that the American visible has been reduced to a little over nine million bushels, the smallest on record.

In Liverpool July wheat declined 1¼d per cental, September ¾d, and December ½d. Paris wheat was 20 to 25 centimes lower for the day.

At Toronto new Ontario wheat was bought at 69c, north and west, with American offering from Toledo and Detroit at prices equal to 68c on track. Old red and Manitoba hard weaker.

Visible and Afloat.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 1,979,000 bush; that of corn has decreased 1,316,000 bush, and that of oats has decreased 1,302,000 bush. Following is a comparative statement for the week ending to-day, the preceding week and the corresponding week last year:

	July 25,'98.	July 18,'98.	July 24,'97.

Oats, bu.	4,270,000	5,572,000	6,651,000

There are on passage to the United Kingdom 17,840,000 bushels of wheat and 4,480,000 bushels of corn. There are on passage to the European Continent 8,160,000 bushels of wheat and 6,160,000 bushels of corn.

BLAZE AT PUGWASH.

People Fought the Fire Hand-to-Hand With Buckets.

Halifax, July 26.—The Amherst fire engine, in charge of a large force of men, has gone to Pugwash by special train. The fire there started in Brown's brick warehouse. This, with Brown's store, the American Hotel, Baptist Church, and the following residences, are in ashes: James Elliott's, H. T. Elliott's, Joseph Clarke's, Mrs. Clarke's, Mr. McLean's, Rufus Black's, Lewis Borden's, Mrs. Power's. The fire is now directly opposite the Intercolonial Railway Station. No effort is being made to save the station. There is no fire protection, and the fire is a hand-to-hand one with buckets.

At 4 p.m. the fire was reported to be under control. The telephone and telegraph offices at Pugwash are not working. Some months ago the insurance rates at Pugwash were advanced considerably, resulting in many policies there being cancelled.

Loss about $32,000; insurance, $8,000.

THE PETERSENS NOT IN IT.

The Canadian Government Has Closed on the Newcastle Firm.

Montreal, July 26.—(Star Cable from London)—Mr. Petersen, of the firm of Petersen, Tait & Co., has been notified by the Canadian Government that the fast mail contract must be considered at an end. Petersen's firm will, the Government assert, forfeit its deposit of £10,000.

Hon. Mr. Dobell, when interviewed, said that tenders would not be called for just now. They would let matters settle down for a little while first. Many firms, he thinks, are willing to contract for the same subsidy as Petersen, whose failure is considered due more to powerful opponents than the decreased amount of subsidy.

Mr. Dobell returns to Canada on Wednesday on the Parisian, when the matter will be discussed by the Cabinet.

Mr. Petersen absolutely denies that he ever said, as was reported in the Toronto Telegram, that if Hon. Mr. Fielding had been sent, instead of Mr. Dobell, the contract would have gone through.

"Kidney Disease." Do you know what it means? It means that the kidneys are either rotten, or rotting; the blood is full of poisonous, death-dealing corruption; that the Kidneys can't do their work; that the victim is a walking charnel-house; that his hours are numbered; that the victim MUST take Dodd's Kidney Pills if he does not want to die.

Have you Kidney Disease? Is your skin hot and dry; memory failing; breath short; urine, reddish, or pale colored; does it scald when passing; is your appetite changeable; do your ankles swell; have you bitter taste in the mouth on getting up mornings; is there a brick-dust deposit in your urine?

Any of these signs is proof positive of Kidney Disease. Will you be cured, or will you die? Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only means on earth that will cure you. They never fail.

MILES AT PORTO RICO

The Landing of His Troops Now Being Made Near Ponce.

SPANIARDS REPULSE THE PARTY

The Boat Launched by the American Landing Party Was, According to the Spanish Story, Sunk by the Fire From the Shore—Lieutenant and Four Men Killed.

Madrid, July 26.—A despatch from Havana says that Commander Manzanal yesterday prevented the landing of a body of Americans near Bahia Honda. The Americans were protected by a warship. The landing party launched a boat, which was sunk by the fire from the shore. A Lieutenant and four men were killed. The Spanish artillery also killed several men on board the warship. The Spanish loss was only three men slightly wounded.

Madrid, July 25.—A private despatch from San Juan de Puerto Rico says a strong American squadron has appeared before Bahia Honda, but that the American attempt to disembark was repulsed with considerable losses.

PITY THE QUEEN.

Much Sympathy With Her Majesty of Spain as Her Troubles Increase—Her Boy Is Sick.

Paris, July 26.—A special despatch from Madrid gives the following account of the Queen Regent's daily life during the present crisis: "Poor Queen," this is the exclamation so often heard of late, day after day, as matters grow worse and worse, as the Spanish disasters repeat themselves and as the throne of the little King seems slipping from her hands, into which it was given in trust. Her Majesty is looking careworn and anxious. Even her drives are becoming fewer and fewer. It would surely appeal to any mother in the world were she to see the way this Queen mother each day seems to cling closer and closer to her little boy, as though to shield him from the dangers closing about him, with almost fatal force. It was very touching to witness it. Her worst enemies recognize in the Queen personal qualities worthy of the highest admiration. The Queen used every means at her disposal to prevent war. Her great hope lay in Senor Moret, the former Minister of the Colonies, and he would have carried his point but for Senor Gullon, the former Minister of Foreign Affairs. To-day, and ever since the war began, the great pre-occupation of the Queen is to find the quickest way for its termination. At many of the councils of late held at the palace, the Queen has burst into tears, begging and urging her Ministers to find a solution for the terms of peace, which they seem incapable of materializing.

Since the commencement of the war, palace life has altered considerably, and still more since the illness of the little King. Now the Queen takes dinner in her private apartments with the boy King at 7.30 p.m. There is a reason for this, as the Queen imagines the illness of the King is due to poison. The Queen is very far from well and is very nervous.

Don Carlos in Switzerland.

Lucerne, Switzerland, July 26.—Don Carlos, the pretender to the Spanish throne, has arrived here with his wife and one aide-de-camp.

The Pope and Peace.

London, July 26.—A special despatch from Rome says the Pope has communicated to the powers peace proposals that he considers acceptable to both the United States and Spain, namely: American annexation of Cuba and Porto Rico, the restitution of the Philippine Islands to Spain and a commercial treaty giving Spain exceptional advantages in the colonies surrendered.

LAKE STEAMERS COLLIDE.

The Edward Smith Strikes the Aurania and Sinks.

Detriot, Mich., July 26.—A collision in which a steamer was sunk and another vessel badly damaged occurred last evening a half mile below the St. Clair Canal.

The steamer Aurora, having in tow the steel tow barge Aurania, was bound down with ore. The steamer Edward Smith, No. 2, was up bound, loaded deep with coal. The latter in trying to dodge another craft ran across the bows of the Aurania. The Smith was caught squarely abreast of her boiler house and a big hole driven in her quarter. She was knocked near the west shore of the channel where she quickly sank. No one was hurt, and the crew and a number of passengers were taken to the old Club House at the Flats.

The Aurania was badly damaged about the bows, but continued down, her pumps working. The wrecker Saginaw has gone to the Smith and it is thought she can be saved. The Smith is owned by John Mitchell of Cleveland, and was built at West Bay City nine years ago. She was worth $65,000. The Aurania belongs to Corrigan of Cleveland, and is valued at $150,000.

DESCENT OF LOVE.

Hath man e'er had experience like this
(For poets sing a love which children mock,
And bliss of love therein is laughing stock.

Their silly words make creed for common men)?
Our life had long been dreamy holiday
Till when one even on the bleak highway,

I told her that I loved her, and she left
Her soul upon my lips, and thus we staid
Bereft of earth, and then—oh, strange!—we fled

Down the bleak highway till the place's fear
Had closed his wings and left from following.
So here, within sound of her sweet singing,

This summer's day I fathom that dread time
And liken it—how up some desert peak
Sublime went ancient men and heard God speak

And won his law. But once they went, no more!
Yea, though God's dreams ran burning in their brain,
They hurried to the ways of humble men,
Nor prayed of him to visit them again!

MAY BE THE MISSING LINK.

That Mysterious and Useless Organ of Man, the Vermiform Appendix.

A distinguished paleontologist claims to have discovered facts serving to show that the vermiform appendix, that mysteriously useless organ that has annoyed the human family so much of late years, is no more nor less than the rudimentary remnant of the gizzard with which he believes the monstrous progenitors of man of the tertiary period of the earth's existence were supplied. Some of these gigantic creatures, lizards in form, birds in kind, animals in some functions, are believed to have developed by the gradual stages described by the supporters of the theory of evolution into the semblance of a human being.

If the bird form be the original of the human race, it is reasonable to believe that it may have been supplied with a gizzard, which in the bird of modern time possesses a definite and important function in the digestion of the food. The bird having no teeth the food is in many cases swallowed whole. Some birds can crush the food with their beaks, but normally the digestion is permitted largely through the agency of the gizzard, where the food is ground into fine particles. The interior coating of this organ is rough and muscular. Many birds swallow, as far as the gizzard, small pebbles that aid the process of attrition. Thus if the latest theory be correct a curious paradox is presented. Whereas in the beginning, as now, the gizzard performed its functions most satisfactorily when supplied with indigestible substances, its rudiment that now remains in the human structure becomes a center of dangerous conditions as soon as any foreign substance, and especially any hard matter, is deposited in it.

One of the marvels of anatomy for some years has been this strange sac in the upper intestines, apparently without the least function in the digestive system and capable of being removed without affecting the health of the patient save to a favorable degree. Researches have revealed many traces of such rudiments in the human system. Darwin's studies brought to light many resemblances between man and the lower orders. It may now be that the despised vermiform appendix will be exploited as the real "missing link" binding man to the past ages, when life assumed many forms that are today unknown.—Washington Star.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER.

Kidney Disease Man's Deadliest Foe Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, July 18.—"Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease," was the assertion of a prominent Toronto physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death-rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used, in every case of Kidney Disease, there would be no deaths from it.

Villager's Idea of Hotel Business.

A young lawyer in one of the leading lake cities recently passed a few days at the home of his childhood, a rural hamlet in an adjoining county. While there he ran across one of the characters of the place, a quaint old man whom he had known ever since he could remember.

"How's bizness in town?" inquired the aged man.

"Pretty good," replied the lawyer.

"What ye doin now?"

"Practicing law."

"What's your brother Jim doin?"

"Jim is running a hotel," and he named one of the largest public houses in the city.

"Is Jim married yet?"

"No."

The old man raised his head with a commiserating glance. Then he dryly observed:

"Has to dee-pend on hired help, eh!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Chronic Eczema Cured

One of the most chronic cases of eczema ever cured is the case of Miss Gracie Ella Alton, of Hartland, N. B. On a sworn statement Mr. Alton says: I hereby certify that my daughter Gracie Ella was cured of eczema of long standing by using four boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment. William Thistle, druggist, of Hartland, also certifies that he sold four boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment which cured Gracie Ella.

7,000 Spaniards Surrender.

Santiago De Cuba, July 26—Everything peaceful here. The 7000 Spanish soldiers at Guantanamo laid down their arms today. Others surrendered yesterday and provisions were sent them. Gen. Shafter authorizes an absolute contradiction to the report that Garcia encountered a force of Spanish soldiers who were returning to Santiago, and was defeated by them.

Starving Cubans.

Guantanimo, July 25—A pitiful appeal has been made to Rear Admiral Sampson by starving Cubans, old men, women and children at "Cienfuegos." The young men are all in the field with the American troops, have not shoes, neither food, all the food in the town is in the hands of the Spaniards.

No Word From Porto Rico.

Washington, July 26.—To the cabinet assembled at 11 o'clock today, Secretary Alger and Secretary Long both announced that they had received no despatches from the Porto Rico expedition. Secretary Alger was expecting to hear from General Miles and was much disappointed that no word had come from him as to his landing, reports of which had been transmitted to him through the Associated Press. Secretary Long also was keenly expectant of advices from that quarter referring to the expedition of Commodore Watson to the Spanish Coast, Secretary Long said there was nothing new with regard to that project.

"It is surely going, is it not?" he was asked.

"It is waiting orders from the president," was the reply of Secretary Long. However, he noticeably refrained from directly answering the questions.

Secretary Day stated that there had been no change in the peace outlook and that so far as he knew the Administration had no information of the reported peace vote the Spanish are reported as framing.

THE PASSING OF A PIONEER.

Death of Mrs. William Lundy, of "Verulam House," Ashburnham.

This morning there passed away at her residence, Verulam House, Ashburnham, perhaps one of the oldest residents of Peterborough, in the person of Mrs. Margaret Brown Lundy, widow of the late William Lundy, Esq. The deceased lady has been ill for some months and her vitality, that has maintained her in active life over four score years, has prolonged her life the past few days beyond what was thought possible to human endurance. Mrs. Lundy was 86 years of age at the time of her death, having been born in 1812, in the county of Cavan, Ireland. At about the age of ten years, she came to Canada with her parents, who settled at first in the vicinity of Port Hope, subsequently removing to Manvers. On the 1st of January, 1834, she was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Lundy. They removed to Peterborough where they resided, well known and prominent citizens. Mr. Lundy died in 1878, and a couple of years later the family removed to Ashburnham occupying the beautiful residence on the lake shore, "Verulam House." As remarked previously Mrs. Lundy was one of the oldest residents of the town, and it is probable that there are not half a dozen who have lived longer in Peterborough than herself. Mrs. Lundy was a faithful member of the Old Kirk, better known as St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, during the 65 years of her residence in town She was the mother of a family of nine of whom one daughter is deceased. The surviving members of the family consist of four daughters, and four sons. The sons are Messrs. J. J. Lundy, Robert B. Lundy, W. R. Lundy, (Toronto), Douglass J. Lundy. The daughters are Mrs. W. J. Robinson, Toronto; Mrs. T. M. Hewson, Hamilton; Mrs. W. A. Baldwin, Toronto, and Miss Lundy who resides at home. With the departure of Mrs. Lundy, disappears one of our oldest and most respected residents. As one by one these pioneers of our population pass away, the thinning ranks of survivers feel that the time is not long when the last of these first settlers who achieved success in the battle of life against the most difficult conditions, and laid the foundations of one of the foremost and most flourishing towns in Canada, will soon have passed from the active arena of life.

The funeral will be held from the family residence, "Verulam House," Ashburnham, on Thursday, at 3 30 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

A TEAM OF PACK DOGS.

Master "Bony" Anglesey Receives a Valuable Present.

On Friday last Mr. "Bony" Anglesey, son of Mr. Samuel Anglesey, Reid street, received as a present from Mr. Dan McIntosh, (formerly of town, but now with Messrs. Fisher & Turner, an American lumbering firm on the North Shore) a beautiful team of well-matched pack dogs, with sled and full travelling outfit.

The dogs are black beauties and have travelled as much as eighty miles a day with two men. Mr. Anglesey prizes the animals very much and desires to return thanks to Mr. McIntosh for his kindness.

Ill Temper

Is more rapidly improved by relief from physical suffering than in any other way. Step on your friend's corn, and the impulse to strike is strongest. REV. MR. DYKEMAN APPRECIATED.

The Baptist Young Peoples Union Greatly Regret His Departure.

At a meeting of the Murray street church branch of the Baptist Young People's Union last evening, the following resolution was moved by Miss Mary Stratton, seconded by Mrs. Ellis:

Whereas, the B. Y. P. U of C. E of the Murray sweet Baptist church, have learned with regret of the resignation of their pastor, Rev. Mr. Dykeman, who during his connection with the church, has taken untiring interest in the welfare and advancement of the society as evidenced by his constant attendance and the able manner in which he has conducted the Bible Literature course during the winter, which course entailed great inroads on his time in the preparation of the lectures and their delivereance.

And whereas, as Mrs. Dykeman and Miss Sadie, have also given so freely of their talents at all times. Therefore, be it resolved that we, the B. Y. P. U. of the Murray street church extend to Rev. Mr. Dykeman, Mrs. Dykeman and Miss Sadie Dykeman, and put on record this expression of our sincere regret at learning of their severance from the church and early departure from town. The benefit which has been realized by their connection with the Union has been fully appreciated, and the loss occasioned by their departure will create a void in the ranks, which we feel will long remain unfilled. We pray that the blessing which has been secured through faithful service may continue to attend them in their new home.

The resolution was unanimously adopted amidst the heartiest expressions of goodwill and of regret at the departure of Rev. Mr. Dykeman and his family.

The secretary was authorized to send a copy of the resolution to the pastor.

The Moon's Influence

Upon the weather is accepted by some as real, by others it is disputed. The moon never attracts corns from the tender, aching spot. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the most painful corns in three days. This great remedy makes no sore spots, doesn't go fooling around a man's foot, but gets to business at once, and effects a cure. Don't be imposed upon by substitutes and imitations. Get "Putnam's" and no other.

Stands the Test.

We knead—you need—it, every day;
Bates bakes the sweetest, purest, best,
The kindthat always stands the test.
Walter Bates, fancy bread baker.

Funeral from the family residence, Ashburnham, on Thursday, July 28th, at 3.30 o'clock.

CUT DOWN THE BURDOCKS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—Seeing that you are deeply interested in the burdock crop this year, the writer thought that you would be perhaps interested in the knowledge that the little shower yesterday did not sufficiently wet the soil to save the specimen crop on the vacant lot next to Mr. Haggart's, on Brock street. Unless the town proceeds at once to carefully sprinkle the lot, the dogs, cats, &c., will not be able to find shelter much longer, nor will the amount of seed be quarter as phenominal a yield as other years.

STREET WATERING.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR:—The remarks of a writer in last evening's EXAMINER are very applicable to the street watering generally and I will be glad as as an ordinary citizen if the Chairman of the Streets and Bridges will see that more attention is being given to this important matter.

Yours,
VOX-POPULI.

COUNTRY SCHOLARS AT THE EXAMS.

At the recent examinations for admittance to the Collegiate Institute held in Peterborough, Lakefield and Norwood, the pupils attending from country schools have made a very good showing.

In the country schools where one teacher has to look after the teaching of so many classes and prepares from two to six scholars for the Entrance means a great deal of hard and careful teaching.

At No. 4 school, Smith, this year, in charge of Miss McKee six pupils went up for Entrance—four girls and two boys. Of the six, five passed very successfully. One, Miss Maggie Hall, daughter of Mr. Thos. Hall, taking the highest marks taken by any one scholar at Entrance Exams. in the county this year. Miss Hall's name appeared Saturday in the list of candidates from Lakefield, where she headed the list for town and county with over 800 marks.

Miss McKee's scholars all passed well and both teachers and scholars are to be congratulated on their standing. Miss Hall deserves to be congratulated on her showing at this, her first, trial at the Entrance.—Com.

THEY WANT TO QUIT.

Railways Tired of the Continued Loss of Revenue—Several Conferences Betw en the C.P.R. and G.T.R. Officials.

It is pretty evident that no matter how the transcontinental rate war is settled the two great railway companies do not propose to continue the demoralization that at present exists in local rates in Canada, and particularly in Ontario. It would surprise no one in railway circles if the old rates, which in some cases are more than double the present rates, were put into effect again almost immediately. There have been several conferences recently between the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific officials with a view to a restoration of the rates, and it is now said that the two parties are pretty close together. In fact the representatives of both the lines in Toronto are daily expecting a circular notifying them to put the tariffs in force.

When the meeting of the sub-committee in Buffalo to try and settle the rate war was seen to be unsuccessful, the Grand Trunk is said to have made the first advances to the Canadian Pacific with a view to restoring local rates. The latter were not very favourably disposed towards it at that time, but the feeling of enmity that was held by the two roads towards each other then, has worn off now, and they are anxious to make some terms and stop the loss of revenue that they are suffering.

The cut in local rates was not a direct result of the transcontinental rate war, any more than that the Canadian Pacific desired to injure the revenue of the Grand Trunk as much as possible on account of the stand the latter road took with the American lines. The Grand Trunk, having the richest and most profitable territory in Ontario, naturally suffered more in loss of local revenue than the C. P. R., although the loss to the latter road has been no doubt many thousands of dollars, while the cheap rates, although they stimulated travel for a while, did not permanently increase the traffic of the roads. The Michigan Central Railroad and some of the boat lines were also drawn against their will into the rate war, and they will not be sorry to see local rates restored, as now seems possible.

CRICKET.

The following cricketers went to Campbellford this morning to play the team of that place:—S. Ray, W. J. Montgomery, J. H. Burnham, M. Hamilton, Dr. Boucher, A. Stethem, H. Burnham, W. Strathy, Cumberland (pro), W. Stocker and Hammond.

THE RING.

A New York exchange says: "Although Jim Corbett had the misfortune to be beaten by Bob Fitzsimmons, his admirers think he will surely beat Kid McCoy when they meet in their twenty-round bout at the Hawthorne Athletic Club of Buffalo on September 10th. They are anxious to get back the money they lost on him when he fought Fitzsimmons, and will no doubt make him a big favourite over McCoy.

Ever since the match was first arranged between Corbett and McCoy the followers of the sport have been constantly talking about the probable outcome of the battle. Every two out of three sports seem to think Pompadour Jim will win from the clever Kid, and the indications are that when the men enter the ring Corbett will be a big favourite at either 2 to 1 or 100 to 60. The fact that Corbett will rule such a strong favourite should not surprise any one. The sports seem to think that Corbett is a much cleverer boxer than McCoy, and they look upon the match as a very foolish move on McCoy's part, and expect to see him beaten in less than 15 rounds. McCoy, in spite of the big handicap which Corbett will have over him, such as weight and height, seems to think he will win, and is tipping his friends to bet all their money on him at the best odds they can obtain. McCoy, strange to say, has never for a moment so far, felt he was going to be defeated by Corbett, and it is the height of McCoy's ambition to become the heavy weight champion of the world some day. He will fight harder when he meets Corbett than he has ever done before.

YESTERDAY'S FIRE.

A Reaper and Field of Oats Destroyed at Mahoney's Corners.

Yesterday afternoon as Mr. James Doughty, local agent for the Noxon reaper, was driving out the Warsaw Road he stopped to water his horses at a pump near Mahoney's Corners. Two little girls who were there stated that the pump was dry, which fact troubled them greatly, as their father's grain was on fire and water seemed impossible to obtain.

Mr. Doughty accompanied them to the farm of Mr. Michael Mahoney, where a fine field of oats was being rapidly consumed. About an acre and a half of the crop was destroyed before the progress of the flames could be checked.

The fire started in the simplest way imaginable. Mr. Mahoney was straightening some irons after dinner in his reaper, and in bending over at the work allowed the ashes to fall on the ground from his pipe. On returning to the barn for his horses he noticed a small column of smoke rising from the field, which developed into a brisk blaze before he could begin his fight against it. By the time he reached the field the reaper was totally destroyed, but through the assistance of his neighbours the fire was kept from consuming the entire standing crop.

President Robertson called for bids whereupon Buyer Whitton pointed out that owing to the exceptionally warm weather it would be unsafe to ship cheese, and he suggested that the board adjourn for one week. Some salesmen felt inclined to accept offers, fearing they would not have room in their factories to store the cheese, and Buyer Flavelle offered 7 3 8s to these who were in that position, naming a number of factories, but Minden was the only one that accepted.

Buyer Whitton pointed out that he was prepared to bid freely, but as he would not ship cheese while the weather was so warm it would be better for the factories to hold, as the market showed an upward tendency. A vote was taken and the patrons decided to hold till next Monday, when the board will meet at 11 a.m.

BAILLIEBORO.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The harvest is progressing very rapidly. Most of the fall wheat has been drawn, and some of it has been threshed.

Mr. Bert Perrin is moving into his new house, which appears to be neat and comfortable.

Mr. Lucas has put a new fence in front of his house. He has worked in the wire on the gate, "Walnut Grove."

Quite a large strip of new sidewalk has been laid. If the energy of some of our citizens continue, and the patience of our council be not overdrawn, our sidewalks will soon be in excellent condition.

Rev. Mr. Kirkpatrick and family left on Monday afternoon to enjoy a month's vacation. He expects also to attend the Baptist Conference at Port Burwell and spend the remainder of the time at the home of Mr. Kirkpatrick's mother.

NAPANEE BANK ROBBERY.

Some Things to Consider in Connection With the Case.

The following is a synopsis of Saturday nights views on the Napanee bank robbery case: "If it is allowable for detectives to talk in print against a prisoner, it must be permissible to reply in print, and I wish to say that I think no man who had faith in Ponton at the time of his first arrest has reason yet to revise he opinion in the matter.

As for the published confession of Pare, we must remember that the implication of the bank clerk is not what it would have been had it come from a clear sky. It is like a shower that might easily have been produced by a rain-maker. It was this thoroughly posted culprit, shrewdest burglar in the country, who, a fortnight ago, found himself caught, his booty about him, and by the very detectives who had accused Ponton—who had put up evidence against him that the Magistrate refused to value, and who had yet to answer in a civil court for defamation of the young man's character. Here was the wily, unscrupulous crook in the tolls; here were the detectives who had been hooted and assailed on the streets of Napanee. Pare confessed, and need it surprise us that the confession was of a nature not to offend, but greatly to please, the detectives?

What induced Pare to confess? That breed of a man does not squeal on his pals without some inducement, and surely this notorious pick-lock, caught with his plunder hidden on his premises, was not guaranteed immunity or clemency for admitting facts already possessed by the detectives? What startling information had he to sell, and was it true or false? It was not evidence against himself, for the detectives had to search his house again and again, break up his furniture, and finally split up a coal box in the woodshed to find the stolen money. It was not evidence against his partner, Holden, for the detectives already had a man watching his house in Boston and it was proposed to arrest the two simultaneously. It was not evidence either against his sister, who was already under arrest. This ingenious mechanic, this draughtsman, this man who had served two terms in penitentiary and who once before picked a combination lock without possessing the secret, found himself, his sister and his Boston partner in the toils and most of their plunder seized. He could do nothing. But he could talk. What could he say that would be of any use to him? Whether Ponton was innocent or guilty, Pare knew just how useful would be a confession implicating that young man. He confessed and implicated him. It remains to be seen whether he was promised anything on making this true or false accusation.

On Tuesday, in the World, we find that Ponton in gaol reads magazines and is not given daily papers, while Pare "finds much pleasure in reading the reports to be found in the World." Why should one prisoner be permitted to educate himself in the developments of the case and not the other? In the same issue of the World these lines also appear, in reference to Pare:

"He is not charmed with his quarters and asked the gaoler where the furniture was. The opinion is current that Pare would be safe even out on the lawn before the gaol. He has everything to gain by staying right here.

What is it that makes the youth Ponton the prime criminal in the eyes of the law, instead of Pare, the twice-convicted and much-wanted burglar, or Holden, also twice a seven years man and long sought after for unpunished offences? Is it because of Ponton's suit for damages, and because of the bonds of the guarantee company? What have these civil suits to do with this criminal matter? Ponton may be guilty, and if he is he will be convicted and suffer just punishment, but in the meantime the general public would prefer that the Crown should prosecute and become responsible for all the evidence that is put forward against him, that it should gather and develop that evidence and not leave matters in interested hands. If it were known that a provincial detective were on the spot to supervise each important step there would be a better feeling throughout the country.

An official is quoted by one correspondent as saying that there is evidence enough to "convict Ponton over and over again." If it is so, very well. If he is guilty then his offence is the greater that he, who has been held in such confidence by so many people, should after all be undeserving of such confidence; but let us hope that the evidence is not of the class that was brought against him on the previous occasion, and that the words of the criminal Pare will have no weight whatever unless unmistakably corroborated by other evidence which that shrewd person could not have created for his own succor. Pare and his gang are generally suspected of the Trenton burglary, and it is argued that if Pare worked the Trenton vault without "inside influence" he also could handle the Napanee vault without the criminal aid of a bank clerk.

Why this anxiety to pronounce those tools new—used once but not twice! Apparently because if it turns out that Pare and his gang of accomplished picklocks plundered the Trenton vault by means of their unaided skill, the inference will be that they were also unaided in plundering the exactly similar vault and safe at Napanee, and the case against Ponton loses almost its entire force. It will be seen, then, that this whole case is so tremendously complicated that it is no longer safe to leave it in the hands of private investigators or to officers or detectives who are not completely and directly responsible to the Attorney-General. I have sometimes criticized Provincial Detective Murray, yet it would reassure the public if he were sent down to take the case out of unofficial hands—either he or Grier or Rogers.

MARGHERITA ARLINA HAMM.

Brilliant Canadian Woman Who Goes Out as War Correspondent and Nurse.

The world of journalism, women's clubs, reform and philanthropy has been startled somewhat by the appointment of Miss Margherita Arlina Hamm, of the editorial staff of the Mail and Express of New York City, a U. S. inspector of supplies furnished by the Women's National Veteran Auxiliaries to the 14th, 47th, 117th, 69th and 71st regiments and the 2nd and 10th Signal Corps of the army, says Boston Ideas. Miss Hamm is also appointed head of the organization of nurses for these auxiliaries. She is now preparing to take her departure for Tampa, and she will travel from that point.

The lady will in addition correspond for various New York newspapers, giving vivid pen pictures of the struggle between the United States and Spain in the Antilles. Miss Hamm is well equipped for this task. She has lived in the tropics and is an immuno. She was a nurse during the China-Japanese war and at the same time acted as war correspondent for several New York papers. She wrote the first story of that war printed in America for the New York World. She was a nurse during the great plague season of 1894 in Hong-Kong and has seen much service in this humane line of work.

Miss Clara Barton has especially complimented her upon her work.

Miss Hamm is sure to make the most of her opportunities. The following extract from a review of her work by a leading literary critic sums up her labors in an entertaining manner:

Think of traveling camel-back through heathen Mongolia and Manchuria, all alone with the exception of an interpreter! Think of doing newspaper work in Japan mounted upon a bicycle!

Think of traveling, as a newspaper correspondent, to Cape Breton, Newfoundland, Florida Keys, and the Lesser Antilles, and then for a little rest going to Cuba, the West Indies, the Sandwich Islands and Europe.

Then think of the honor of being elected honorary vice-president of such a body as the Writer's Club of London.

These are a few of the achievements of Miss Hamm, a woman who has scarcely as yet reached the quarter century mark.

It seems hardly credible that one woman in such a few years could do so much work, and attain the position which Miss Hamm has earned, and which is ungrudgingly given her.

Her journal, if she had kept one during the last few years, would read more like a fairy tale or a record of a little wizard's doings than the plain facts and incidents of a nineteenth century woman's career.

But this little woman is no ordinary personage, else she would never have made so extraordinary a record.

Speaking of her war correspondence the Pittsburg Press says:

"Miss Hamm's war correspondence was the best piece of Korean-Japanese-Chinese work done in America. She made the finest maps of Mongolia and Manchuria, which countries she visited on camel-back, all alone, save with an interpreter. During this tedious journey she made her way to Korea and happened there just as the war broke out. The cable and telegraphic lines throughout Japan and China were used to carry descriptions to the frontier of the attacks on the palace at Seoul, the sinking of the Kowshing, which was the first declaration of war, the attempted assassination of the Queen of Korea, and the political condition and situation. From here the correspondence was cabled or mailed to a list of American papers, including the Mail and Express, the New York Sun, New York World, San Francisco Examiner, Chicago Inter Ocean and Baltimore American. Miss Hamm's experiences were very lively and vivid."

She is editor of the "Woman's Arena" of the New York Mail and Express, the leading evening newspaper, one of the most brilliant and interesting of that paper's features. Her newspaper work is by no means confined to this paper, however, as her bright and piquant pen traces many "a line upon line" for other prominent metropolitan dailies and newspapers all over the country.

How she manages to do so much work is a mystery to her most intimate friends; but it is done and well done.

The combination of a most alert mind, which works with lightning-like rapidity, with a superb physique, is a solution in part, but to this must be added wonderful powers of endurance.

Of Miss Hamm's personal appearance, we leave her portrait to speak. She is a most brilliant conversationalist, and has been called "the womanliest woman on two continents;" surely no higher praise could be given, in conjunction with the work which might be supposed to have made some inroads upon this most priceless of characteristics.

Miss Hamm is a French-Canadian by birth, was born in Montreal in 1871.

She is a granddaughter of the late Bishop Spencer of Canada, and also a relative of Herbert Spencer.

She began her education in the Sacred Heart Convent at Carleton, and later graduated from the Emerson College in Boston.

She was also a member of one of the first law classes for women in the University of New York.

While wide awake, sound, practical common sense may predominate in her work, this many-sided worker has a mystic vein of poesy running side by side with it all, as is shown by the beautiful verses which occasionally appear over her signature.

Gananoque, July 25.—A sad fatality occurred here Saturday afternoon in the carriage, hardware and bolt works of George Gillis, when George Kelley, who was working the drop hammer, got caught in the belting and was carried around in the shafting, being killed. The remains, which were much mangled, were interred Sunday. Mr. Kelley was a married man and about 40 years of age.

Those Rowdy Yankee Volunteers.

Sault Ste. Marie Mich., July 25.—The actions of the Pennsylvania volunteers while guarding the locks have thoroughly disgusted the canal officials. Charges embodying their outrageous proceedings on the streets and locks have been forwarded to Col. Lydecker, by General Supt. Ripley, accompanied by a request for the removal of the troops from the canal, if not from Fort Brady. It will be strange if several court-martials are not instituted when matters are thoroughly aired.

CHASING HER HUBBY.

A Chicago Woman Visited Berlin, Ont., Looking for Albert Trato.

Berlin, Ont., July 25.—Two years ago, when our new opera house was built, there appeared in town an artist by the name of Albert Trato, who secured the contract for scenery painting and has been here more or less ever since, living with a family well known in town. Yesterday a lady signing herself Mrs. Trato registered at the American Hotel, and it was soon learnt that her mission was to trace up her recreant husband. She claims he left her in Chicago three years ago with two children, and since has contributed nothing towards her support, but on the contrary frequently asked for money. Mrs. Trato has satisfied herself that her husband has been false to her, and says she will return to her home and have nothing further to do with him.

Fell Down the Elevator Shaft.

Montreal, July 25.—Rose De Lisle, a young French-Canadian girl, aged 18 years, employed as a domestic at the Balmoral Hotel, was killed Sunday morning by falling into the elevator shaft.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner, and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping.

Poor Appetite.

Plenty of people lose their appetite, get weak and feel miserable during the summer season. Nothing will so quickly restore the natural desire for food, renew the energies and build up the health as Burdock Blood Bitters.

"For a long time I was troubled with weakness and pain in my sides, and had no appetite. I had great soreness through me and was confined to my bed a good deal. Doctors' medicine failed to cure me. I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and it did me so much good that I used 5 bottles more and am now entirely well." LUCRETIA HADLEY, Bury's Green, Ont.

North American Life

ASSURANCE CO.

OFFICE OF W. A. MURRAY & Co, 17 to 27 King St., East, Toronto.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$3,038 00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	3,283 00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,060 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

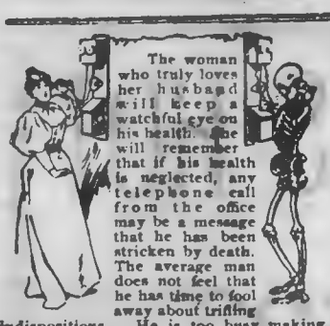
Can be found day or night at his Warerooms Hunter Street, or at his residence adjoining his Warerooms. Telephone Communication.



The woman who truly loves her husband will keep a watchful eye on his health. She will remember that if his health is neglected, any telephone call from the office may be a message that he has been stricken by death. The average man does not feel that he has time to fool away about trifling indispositions. He is too busy making money. He says he leaves sickness to the women folks.

That is the way men commit suicide—tens of thousands of them. A woman can stand between this danger and her husband if she will. A little watchfulness—a suggestion now and then and a little of a good general remedy always at hand may save her husband's life. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a remarkable remedy for hard working men and women. In a certain sense, it is a cure-all, for the reason that it goes down to bed-rock and cures the disorders that are responsible for the majority of serious illnesses. It strengthens the stomach, and makes the appetite keen and hearty. It invigorates the liver. It aids the natural processes of secretion and excretion. It makes the assimilation of the food perfect. It purifies the blood and fills it with the life-giving elements that build new and healthy flesh tissue. It tones the nerves. It is the great blood-maker and flesh builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of laryngial, bronchial, throat and kindred affections, which, if neglected, lead up to consumption. It is also an unfailing remedy for all nervous disorders. An honest dealer will not urge a substitute.

"Last winter I took sick with what the doctors called la grippe," writes Mrs. Sarah Farley, of Fairfax, Atchison Co., Mo. "Was sick for about four months and nothing that I took seemed to do me any good. My friends thought I had consumption. I coughed up blood for a long while, and nearly gave up all hope of ever getting well. I heard of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and thought I would try it. I had not finished the first bottle when I began to get better. I have taken two bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one of the 'Favorite Prescription' and feel better than ever before in my life."

FIND BIRTHPLACE OF BUDDHA.

Interesting Archæological Discoveries Recently Made in India.

Vincent Smith, a learned antiquary of Bengal, has recently made some interesting discoveries of Buddhist remains in India, says the London correspondent of the New York Sun. The first of these is the home of Gautama Buddha, who lived about 500 B.C. The ruins of this ancient city of Kapilavastu are in Nepaul territory; they are, so far as is yet known, entirely of brick, and are so covered with jungle and so extensive that years will be required for their thorough exploration. Since 410 B.C. the city has been in ruins and unoccupied, and excavations are now bringing to light buildings more ancient than any previously known in India.

More interesting even than Kapilavastu is the discovery of the Lumbini Garden, the traditional birthplace of Gautama. The sacred spot is marked by a pillar erected in the third century B.C. by the Emperor Asoka. The inscription on this pillar is still perfect. It stands on the western edge of a mound of ruins about a hundred yards in diameter, and on the south side of this mound is the tank in which the child's mother bathed after his birth.

Another discovery, which was made in a stupa, or brick tumulus, close to the British frontier, is that of relics of Buddha himself. These consist only of fragments of bone, which were deposited in a wooden vessel that stood on the bottom of a massive coffer, more than four feet long and two feet deep, cut out of a solid block of fine sandstone. This coffer was buried under eighteen feet of masonry, composed of huge bricks, each sixteen inches long. The wooden vessel was decayed, and with it was an exquisitely finished bowl of rock crystal, the largest yet discovered in India, and also five small vases of soapstone. All these vessels were partially filled, in honor of the relics, with a marvelous collection of gold stars, pearls, topazes, beryls, and other jewels, and of various objects delicately wrought in crystal, agate, and other substances. An inscription on the lid of one of the soapstone vases declares the relics to be those of Buddha himself, and the characters in which this inscription is written are substantially the same as those of the Asoka inscriptions, and indicate that the tumulus was constructed between 300 and 250 B.C.

Buddha spent many years preaching and teaching at the city of Sravasti, and a large number of his sayings and parables purport to have been uttered there. The site of this famous city was long sought in vain. Mr. Smith now states with confidence that it is in the jungles of the Nepaul Terai, about eleven miles from the station of Nepalganj road, on the Bengal and Northwestern Railway. Its remains, like those of Kapilavastu, are buried in jungle, but they seem of great extent, and are found precisely where the Chinese pilgrims of the early centuries of the Christian era stated that Sravasti was.

WRITES A LETTER ON DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Sufferers are at liberty to correspond with the above address and will obtain full particulars regarding the great cure.

He says: My wife was most terribly afflicted with protruding piles, and contemplated a surgical operation. A friend of ours recommended the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and less than one box effected a complete cure. We were so pleased with the ointment that I tried it myself, as I have been troubled with an unsightly skin affliction which covered the lower part of my face.

For 25 years I suffered untold agony, and was treated by the best medical skill in the United States. I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment worth its weight in gold for piles and skin disease.

Dr. Chase's large-size recipe book, cloth-bound, sent to any address on receipt of 50 cents, by addressing Dr. Chase's Company, Toronto or Buffalo, N.Y.

CERVERA'S WOES.

Why the Spanish Admiral Felt Utterly Crushed.

"Sir," cried the young lieutenant as he hastily saluted the distinguished Spanish admiral, "a 13 inch shell from the enemy's fleet has just dropped in the mud at the margin of the inner harbor!"

The eminent naval dodger smiled.

"And why this unseemly haste, my good Alfonso?" he courteously asked. "Is there danger that the missile will get away?"

"No, admiral," cried the lieutenant, "it is not that. But a strange and almost ominous thing has happened. The shell did not burst, but when it struck the earth its cover flew off and disclosed the fact that it was full of papers. In fact, admiral, I have taken the liberty of bringing them here with me."

And touching his cap the lieutenant dumped a mass of newspaper clippings on the table and respectfully drew back.

The admiral's heroic brow swiftly clouded.

"I was mortally afraid," he hoarsely gasped, "that those ever to be condemned press clipping bureaus would find some way of reaching me."

He stared wildly at the mass before him, then skimmed through the atrocious Cervera poetry and the awful Cervera puns. He glanced at the caustic Cervera editorials, and he glared at the diabolical Cervera portraits.

Then he fell heavily forward.

When they revived him, he looked about with a shudder, but the clippings were gone.

"And yet," he gasped, with a faint trace of sarcasm, "these accursed Yankees claim that they are carrying on a strictly humane warfare!" — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Morning Call.

Little Hostess (daughter of an author)—Do you see all these books? They are my papa's books.

Little Boy—Did he buy 'em?

"No; he mad. 'em."

"Did he make the paper?"

"Of course not."

"They's nice covers. Did he make the covers?"

"No."

"These is awful nice pictures. Did he make 'em?"

"No. He wrote the books, you know."

"Well, it's nice type anyhow. Where's his typewriter?"

"They ain't written by a typewriter. They is printed, same as all books; but papa did the writing."

"Oh! Only the writing!"—New York Weekly.

Of Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mr. Colwell of Bright's Disease.

Windsor, July 11th.—"Is it true, Mr. Colwell, that you have been cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills?" our reporter asked Mr. R. F. Colwell, jeweller, of No. 9, Oulette street, to-day.

"It is indeed," was the answer. I suffered two years with Bright's Disease. My back ached all the time. I had awful, aching pains in my loins, a puffiness under my eyes, and my urine was very dark coloured.

"For a time I could find no remedy to do me any good. But one day a friend told me he had been cured of the same disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought a supply. A few boxes cured me thoroughly." Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all kidney complaints.

Mr. Hall Caine, writing in McClure's Magazine, claims that he knows his Bible as few literary men know it and that the inspiration for all his stories was found in that one book.

M. Hughes Le Roux, the well known novelist, recently had a narrow escape from a Parisian motor cab and has written to M. Blanc to say that, as the drivers always escape, he will hereafter carry a revolver and will use it if necessary.

Anthony Trollope went through days of agonizing doubt before he could begin a novel. Hall Caine has the same experience, except that he has it with each chapter. Frank Stockton says he has at times waited an hour for the right word.

Munkacsy, whose real name is Lieb, has been declared insane officially by a Paris court and his wife appointed guardian of his property. The pictures in his Paris studio were sold recently, the highest price obtained being $3,000 for an "Ecce Homo."

The results that each of these Blacks produce are marvellous and pleasing. Your faded and dingy dresses, jackets, capes, coats, pants, vests, hose, etc., that are now so useless and repulsive looking, can be made like new garments with the Diamond Dye Blacks. TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

Chicago is thus early bidding for the next national political conventions. Though these events are two years off, it is violating no confidence to convey the information to Chicago that St. Louis has first claim on both conventions.—St. Louis Republic.

An Observation.

"I have observed," remarked the scientist to the landlady at the coffee end of the table, "that the tongue of the whale has been known to yield as much as a ton of oil."

"Hum," said the landlady with disagreeable personality, "and I have observed that some people don't yield a great deal of cash when it is needed."

"And I have also observed," proceeded the scientist as he stuck his fork into the eye of a helpless potato, "that the tongue of a woman has been known to yield much more conversation than a whale's tongue yields oil."

After which there was as much silence at that table as both products referred to.—Detroit Free Press.

LOCAL MINING.

Gold Mining in Haliburton—Placer and Quartz.

Within the last few days there have been some very very important developments in the mining regions north of Haliburton, and all doubt has been removed as to the county containing enormous mineral deposits of great value. The facts briefly told are as follows:

Last week Mr. Nease of New York, and Mr. McDougall, a mining expert, visited the mines in the township of Harburn, which Mr. D. Keith, the mining engineer, recently brought into public notice. They took with them Mr. Alex. Roy, the well-known chemist of Toronto, and were accompanied in their inspection by Mr. Keith. The party spent two days in a close, minute and searching investigation of two mines. The one mine is a placer deposit, the other is a quartz rock of great extent. The placer mine is a flat about a quarter of a mile in length and an eighth of a mile in width, and consists of an accumulation of gravel, the washings and disintegrated remains of neighbouring rocks. The placer was originally the bed of an old river, which existed centuries ago. A shaft was sunk at one point, selected by Mr. McDougall, and bed rock was reached at a depth of seven feet. On the bed rock is a deposit of gravel from one to two feet deep. Judging from the inclination of the side rocks they probably meet at a point about forty feet deep in the centre of the deposit. Samples were selected from this shaft and from seven other places, and submitted to analysis by Mr. Roy, who in making such analysis was scrupulous in making the average as low as possible. The average of the eight assays showed from $6 to $12 of gold to the ton. The sand was also assayed and was found to give an almost equal value with the gravel. The sand would prove a profitable mining investment owing to the abundance close at hand of both water and wood.

The second mine is about half a mile from the placer deposit and consists of quartz rock. This rock crosses the stream which formly ran to the placer deposit. The quartz rock has been analysed and found to contain copper and gold, the gold to the extent of $8 to the ton and four per cent. of copper, making the mining value of the quartz about $16 to the ton.

The two gentlemen who were investigating the mines, as also Mr. Roy, were greatly surprised at the richness of the mines. The investigation was very carefully made and great care was taken that there should be no exaggeration, Mr. McDougall himself supervising Mr. Roy's cupeling of the samples.

It is understood that arrangements are now being made for working both mines. The placer mine will require an hydraulic giant and a sluice, and the whole machinery will probably cost $15,000. The quartz mine will require a stamping mill and other machinery costing about $40,000. In the quartz it is free gold as far as the shaft has been sunk. The quartz rock in sight is sufficient to last a mill for a hundred years, and the mill will consume 100 tons each day. The placer mine with a six inch supply of water will operate about 200 cubic yards a day.

Mr. Nease and Mr. McDougal returned to Toronto on Saturday, but are expected to return to Haliburton in a few days, Mr. Roy, the Chemist, is still in Haliburton, where he will remain for a short time to make further analysis.

Mr. Keith is naturally very much pleased at the success which attended the investigation.

As regards the gold mine adjoining the village the work on the mine was resumed on Monday morning, and there is every reason to believe that operations on a large scale will shortly be commenced.

The opinion is freely expressed by those conversant with the subject that Haliburton will become one of the most important mining regions on the American continent.

MADE HIM AWFUL MAD.

Colonel Fussey, a wealthy old gentleman out at West Park, has given up for good his favorite evening pastime—that of perusing daily the local columns of our paper. We are sorry to lose him but its "an ill wind that blows no one good." He says he is darn tired being fooled into commencing an item he thinks will be of interest, reading almost to its conclusion and finding it to be a clever editorial on Colonel Carter's Pills, Limjab's Liver Pads, or a "jolly" to weak minded women from old Lide Pinkham. He came into the office this morning and cancelled his subscription to both daily and weekly, saying that he run afoul of whole pages lately that "cooked his goose" for good, and he was going back to The Vicar of Wakefield and Children of The Abbey, whose venerated authors he had a cinch upon—they'ed been dead so long. He was the picture of an angry old gentleman, as adjusting his eye glasses, and calling off from his note book, he informed us with a mild oath that in the past three days only he had been fooled into perusing three thrilling lion stories An elephants auto-biography, a scare war story and seventy-one exciting short locals that all wound up advertising the beauty and bigness of Walter Main's Great Show to exhibit here in all its stupendous grandeur and then admitting that he must see the now biggest and best show in the world, he cancelled his paper, and quit us cold. By the way the Walter Main Great Show comes to Peterborough, on Saturday, July 30th. Don't forget the date.

DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS.

Struck by Grand Trunk Express and Thrown Against a Fence.

Thamesville, Ont., July 26.—A terrible fatality occurred at 9.20 yesterday, by which a young man by the name of Burr, living about four miles from this place, was instantly killed. He was standing close to the G.T.R. track, apparently watching a west-bound freight, when the G.T.R. express, running at a high rate of speed came down upon him. He must not have been aware of its approach, as he never moved. The first coach struck him on the left side of his face, tearing his head in two and scattering his brains on the fence and ground. His body was thrown against the fence and death was instantaneous. The coroner has ordered an inquest to be held and has notified his parents.

Farmer Commits Suicide.

Tottenham, Ont., July 26.—James Agnew, an unmarried man, aged 36 years, who recently bought a fine farm in Albion Township, committed suicide on Saturday. Deceased went about trying to get some one to help him cut his grain. On his way back he called at his mother's and she made him a cup of tea. He started for home. A few hours afterwards a younger brother found him hanging in an outbuilding dead.

Mr. Craig Improving.

Fergus, July 26.—Mr. John Craig, M.P.P., is still improving, and his friends hope for a complete recovery.

NAPANEE JAIL SECURE.

Electric Lights to Be Placed in Corridors.

Napanee, July 26.—Dr. Chamberlain, Inspector of Prisons for Ontario, came to Napanee yesterday for the purpose of investigating the capabilities of the jail in retaining the possession of the four prisoners now in custody. A thorough examination of the building was made, and at the end of it Dr. Chamberlain expressed himself as being perfectly satisfied upon the point of the safety of the prisoners. The jail is very secure, he said, and with ordinary precautions there is little danger of an escape. Dr. Chamberlain, however, decided that lights were needed in the corridors, and these will probably be put in at once by the Provincial authorities, the County Council, in whose hands the matter should rest, being at a deadlock upon the question. It is not thought probable that the friends of either of the burglars will attempt a rescue while affairs are in their present condition, although after the men are sentenced, if they will be, the precautions taken against a "break" will be redoubled.

GUELPH PASTOR PASSES AWAY.

Rev. Dr. Smith of St. Andrew's Church Crosses the River.

Guelph, July 26.—Rev. Dr. Smith, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, who has been lying seriously ill for months, and whose death was not unexpected, passed away yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The deceased clergyman was a sturdy champion of the faith, an eminent scholar, and personally one of the most popular of men.

Election Protests Dropped.

Toronto, July 26.—The protest against Dr. John Bay, Conservative member-elect for Dufferin, has been withdrawn because the petitioner was unable to procure evidence to sustain his petition. Dr. Barr's cross-petition against William Dynes also falls.

HOBART AT KINGSTON.

Vice-President of United States a Guest of H. M. Folger.

Kingston, July 26.—Vice-President Hobart of the United States was a visitor in the city yesterday, the guest of Henry M. Folger, president of the Thousand Island Steamboat Company, and United States Vice-Consul at this port. He partook of luncheon on the verandah of Mr. Folger's residence on the Lake Shore, and within good sight of the yacht races. The only other guest present was Sir Richard Cartwright.

Twice Struck by Lightning.

Hespeler, Ont., July 26.—During a severe thunderstorm, which swept over the town yesterday, the residence of Mr. Robert Henders was struck twice by lightning. The occupants of the building received a bad shock.

Railroader Struck by Lightning.

A MESSAGE OF PEACE

Presented on Behalf of Spain at Washington by

FRENCH AMBASSADOR CAMBON.

The Dons Have Recognized the Handwriting on the Wall and Ask for Terms Upon Which the United States Will Terminate the War—Message in General Terms.

Washington, D. C., July 27.—The Spanish Government has sued for peace, not directly through the great powers of Europe, but by a direct appeal to President McKinley. The proposition was formally submitted to the President at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the French Ambassador, M. Jules Cambon, who had received instructions from the Foreign Office at Paris to deliver to the United States Government the tender of peace formulated by the Spanish Ministry. At the conclusion of the conference between the President and the French Ambassador the following statement was issued from the White House:

"The French Ambassador, on behalf of the Government of Spain and by direction of the Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, presented to the President this afternoon at the White House, a message from the Spanish Government, looking to the termination of the war, and the settlement of terms of peace."

This was the only official statement made public, but it sufficed to put at rest all conjectures and to make clear and definite that at last Spain had taken the initiative towards peace. Although peace rumors have been current almost daily heretofore since the war began, not one of them had the shadow of foundation, and until the French Ambassador received instructions from Paris late Monday night, no overtures of any kind had been received. Shortly before midnight a despatch to the French Embassy made it known to the Embassy that the Ambassador would be charged with the important mission of opening peace negotiations in behalf of Spain. The complete instructions, including an official letter from Duke Almadovar del Rio, Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, was received yesterday morning. Thereupon M. Thiebaut, First Secretary of the Embassy, called at the State Department and asked that an hour be appointed for a call by Ambassador Cambon on the President. The purpose of the call was not stated.

It was arranged at the White House that the call should be made at 3 o'clock. M. Cambon, first went to the State Department, where he was joined by Secretary Day and the two then proceeded together to the White House.

The call lasted about half an hour, and after the first formalities had been executed by M. Cambon, the talk became general and quite informal, the President, Ambassador and the Secretary of State discussing the outlook for a conclusion of hostilities.

The proposition submitted by the Ambassador, acting for the Spanish Government, was quite general in terms and was confined to the one essential point, of an earnest plea that negotiations be opened for the purpose of terminating the war and arriving at terms of peace. The communication of the Spanish Government did not suggest any specific terms of peace, nor was there any reference made to Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines, or other Spanish possessions.

The evident purpose of the Madrid authorities was first to learn whether the United States would treat on the subject of peace and after that to take up such terms as the two parties might suggest. Neither was there any suggestion from the Spanish Government that an armistice be established pending the peace negotiations. It seemed natural, however, from the proposition, that formal peace negotiations be entered upon, that, pending their conclusion, a cessation of hostilities would occur.

Owing to the importance of the communication, the Ambassador adopted the usual diplomatic procedure of reading the communication from the original in French, the translation being submitted by M. Thiebaut. In the conversation which followed the reading of the proposition, neither the President nor the Ambassador entered upon the question of the terms of peace. The instructions of the Ambassador had confined him to the one essential point of opening peace negotiations, and it was evident that the President desired to consider the proposition at this moment before giving any definite reply.

It was finally determined that the President would consult the members of his Cabinet concerning the proposition, and, after a decision had been arrived at, M. Cambon would then be invited to the White House for further conference and a final answer from the United States Government.

Before the call closed, a brief of the memorandum was agreed upon, in order to set at rest misleading conjectures and to give to the public infomation on a subject which had advanced beyond the point where diplomatic reserve was essential.

Naturally the plea of Spain to open peace negotiations opens up a wide field for conjecture on what the terms of peace will be. Thus far there is no official warrant for saying what terms Spain will propose or what terms the United States will offer or accept. So far as this country is concerned, it is the general impression that the complete Spanish evacuation of Cuba and Porto Rico will be insisted on as a sine qua non.

There is not the same certainty as to the Philippines, Ladrones and Carolines, although the belief is growing that the terms of the United States will include coaling stations in these groups.

On the part of Spain, it is believed that she has now reached such a realization of her misfortune that she will readily consent to terms for the evacuation of Cuba and probably Porto Rico. The Spanish desire is apparently very strong for retention of the Philippines, although there is little doubt that coaling stations there and at other points would be conceded. The matter of war indemnity is for future consideration, although there does not appear to be a disposition among the officials here to pile up a heavy war indemnity against Spain in her present helpless condition.

Yellow Jack's Ravages.

Division Hospital Camp, Juragua, July 26.—There are 200 yellow fever cases here and at the front to-day. There will be 1,000 if we are here two weeks longer. This was the prediction made by Dr. Senn, the Government yellow fever expert, who, with Dr. Guiteras, is looking after the health of the army in that particular line.

The Santiago Casualties.

Washington, July 27.—General Shafter's detailed report of the American casualties in the battle of Santiago has been received at the War Department. The total number of casualties was 1,595 Recapitulated, the American losses were: Killed, 23 officers and 208 enlisted men; wounded, 80 officers and 1,203 men; missing, 81 men. The missing are supposed to be dead, as, so far as known, the Spanish took no prisoners.

Canadian Among the Fallen.

Montreal, July 27.—Word has been received by the friends of Wm. Ford, a son of a Sweetsburg, Que., farmer, who joined the Massachusetts vounteers and went to Santiago, that he was killed in one of the first engagements with the Spanish forces. Ford was engaged to be married to a wealthy Bostonian girl when the war broke out and they arranged that he should enlist, but that they should be married before he went to the front. That was done, and an hour after the ceremony he was on his way to the front, and, as it turned out, to his death.

U. S. Foreign Policy.

Chicago, July 27.—The Civic Federation of Chicago last night gave out a call for a national conference to be held at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., August 19 and 20, to discuss the future foreign policy of the United States. The call is signed by over one thousand representative men from every State in the Union.

Spain Honors Canadian.

Enoch Thompson, Spanish Consul here, has received a despatch from the Duke of Almadovar del Rio, stating that Her Majesty the Queen Regent of Spain has been pleased to confer on him the rank of Chevalier of the Royal and Distinguished Order of Carlos III. for his valuable services as her consul at Toronto.

Mrs. Ash left her other children, Jack, Harry and Jennie, at school in London, to come here to prosecute her husband and their father for bigamy. He left them eleven years ago.

FIGHT THE LANDING.

The Spanish Resist the U. S. Troops at Guanica.

WEAK AND WITH NO SUCCESS.

The Gloucester Took the Lead and Shortly the Stars and Stripes Waved on Another Spanish Island—The Details of the Slight Engagement—General News of the War.

Port Guanica, Island of Porto Rico, July 25, via the Island of St. Thomas, July 26.—The United States military expedition, which left Guantanamo on Thursday, landed here successfully to-day after a skirmish with the Spanish troops. No Americans were killed. The whole of General Brooke's forces, with the New Orleans, Annapolis, Cincinnati, Leyden and Wasp, are expected within 24 hours. The ships left Guantanamo Bay suddenly on Thursday evening with the Massachusetts, commanded by Captain F. J. Higginson, leading. Captain Higginson was in charge of the naval expedition, which consisted of the Columbia, Dixie, Gloucester and Yale. General Miles was on board the last named vessel. The voyage from Guantanamo Bay to this port was uneventful. At noon yesterday General Miles called for a consultation, announcing that he was determined not to go by San Juan Cape, but to go by Mona Passage instead, and there surprise the Spanish and deceive their military authorities. The course was then changed and the Dixie was sent to warn Gen. Brooke at Cape San Juan.

Port Guanica, also written Guanico, has been fully described by Lieut. Whitney, of General Miles' staff, who recently made an adventurous tour of Porto Rico. Ponce, which is situated a distance from this port, variously estimated at from 10 to 15 miles, is to the eastward and a harder place to take. In addition, the water at Ponce is too shallow for the transports to be able to get close in shore. Then again, Ponce itself is some little distance from where the troops would have been able to land if that point had been selected for the debarkation of the expedition.

One advantage of this place is that it is situated close to the railroad connecting with Ponce, which means of transportation the troops hope to secure to-day.

Early this morning the Gloucester, in charge of Lieutenant Commander Wainwright, formerly of the Maine, and one of the heroes of the naval battle off Santiago de Cuba, steamed into Guanica harbor in order to reconnoitre the place. With the fleet waiting outside, the gallant little fighting yacht Gloucester braved the mines which were supposed to be in the harbor, and, upon sounding, found that there were five fathoms of water close in shore.

Guanica is a quiet place, surrounded by cultivated lands. In the rear are high mountains and close to the beach nestles a village of about 20 houses.

The Spaniards were completely taken by surprise. Almost the first they knew of the approach of the army of invasion was in the announcement contained in the firing of a gun from the Gloucester, saucily demanding that the Spaniards haul down the flag of Spain, which was floating from a flagstaff in front of a blockhouse standing to the east of the village. The first couple of three-pounders were fired into the hills right and left of the bay, and in order to scare the enemy, as the fighting yacht purposely avoided firing into the town, lest her projectiles hurt the women and children.

The Gloucester then hove to within about 600 yards of the shore and lowered a launch having on board a colt rapid firing gun and 30 men under the command of Lieut. Huse, and she was sent ashore without encountering any opposition.

Quarter-Master Bock thereupon told Yeoman Lacy to haul down the Spanish flag, which was done, and they then raised on the flagstaff the first United States flag to float over Porto Rican soil.

Suddenly about 30 Spaniards opened fire with Mauser rifles on the American party. Lieut. Huse and his men responded with great gallantry, the colt gun doing effective work. Norman, who received Admiral Cervera's surrender, and Wood, a volunteer lieutenant, shared the honors with Lieut. Huse. Almost immediately after the Spaniards fired on the Americans the Gloucester opened fire on the enemy with all her three pounders and six-pounders which could be brought to bear, shelling the town and also dropping shells into the hills to the west of Guanica, where a number of Spanish cavalry were to be seen hastening toward the spot where the Americans had landed. Lieut. Huse then threw up a little fort, which he named Fort Wainwright.

EUROPEAN POWERS SAY NO.

America Must Not Be Allowed to Annex the Philippines.

Hong-Kong, July 27.—Repeated telegraphic reports received here from the European capitals announce that all the European nations have agreed that America shall not annex the Philippine Islands. This has greatly aroused the activity of the Spanish at their headquarters in this city.

Encouraging reports are being sent to the Governor of Manila and attempts to buy or kill Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader, have been renewed with vigor. Consul-General Wildman is beginning to show the effects of the great strain to which he has been subjected to for many days. He has moved to Victoria Peak to avoid being harrassed by Spanish spies. Of late he has been much annoyed by the insistence of volunteers, who are eager to enlist with the American force

Perfectly Cured

Weak and Low Spirited — Nervous Prostration — Appetite Poor and Could Not Rest.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla to others. It has been the means of restoring my wife to good health. She was stricken down with an attack of nervous prostration. She suffered with headaches and her nerves were under severe strain. She became very low spirited and so weak she could only do a little work without resting. Her appetite was poor, and being so weak she could not get the proper rest at night. She decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, as we had heard it highly praised, and I am glad to state that Hood's Sarsaparilla has perfectly cured all her ailments." G. Dry time at the gold cure.

A large excursion from Chemong under the auspices of the Mud Lake Indian band came in on Saturday per Steamer Crandella.

Two of our promising youths have mysteriously disappeared.

One of the largest picnics of the season, will take place here on Sept. 9th, under the auspices of the North Dummer Lodge L.O.L., in conjunction, it is said, with the Lakefield Lodge.

It is quite evident that Mr. F. J. Senif of this place is one of the best exponents of the Izak Walton act on the lake. While bass fishing on Monday morning he hooked a 34-pound mud turtle and succeeded in landing it safely. But as it was of no commercial value he threw it back into the lake before anyone saw it.

IN MEMORY

OF CHARLES GILMOUR WHO DIED APRIL 15TH, 1898, ONLY SON OF THE LATE ALBERT GILMOUR.

A look of peace is on his brow,
His little hands are cold and still;
He's free from all his suffering now
And Charlie's safe from every ill.

Oh how we laboured night and day
To keep the precious little one,
His mother grieves in sad dismay
He was her darling only son.

We miss him, oh we miss him sore,
With all his happy childish ways;
He'll never run to greet us more,
Or cheer us with his merry plays.

Lord help us never to rebel,
But trust thy power that will sustain;
Thou lovest thy children far too well,
To send them any needless pain.

As gold with the refining fire
Is cleansed from every piece of dross,
So by Thy grace our hearts inspire
To bear this double weighted cross.

Dear sister raise your thoughts to Him,
Who blest the children while on earth;
And though earth's joys may now seem dim,
And silent is the voice of mirth.

Look up, look up to heaven above,
Your Charlie's in the Saviour's care;
And in that home of joy and love,
He's safe from every sin and snare.

AT NAPANEE.

Both Sides Hard at Work and Profess Readiness for Trial—A New Mackie Theory.

Napanee, July 27.—Both parties in the bank robbery case are hard at work. The Pinkertons are out each day looking up people to identify some of the prisoners. It is said that their chief object now is to identify Mackie as one of the tramps who hovered about here the week before the robbery. The theory is that Mackie some times came down from Belleville, spent the afternoon with Pare and Holden in the bush, and returned home in the evening. At the time that Holden was brought in on Saturday a family of four or five living not far from that grove were just coming out of the jail, where they had been on an identification mission. Their story is that the tramps came to the house for water and were generous to the children with chewing gum or candies, and one of the little girls remarked to Mackie in the cells: "Oh, you are the man who had the nice watch!" Another man, apparently an Indian, has been in to see them, but who he was expected to identify or what was the result is not known. The detectives have been busy every day, and it is now reported that they are all ready with their witnesses.

The lawyers for the prisoners also claim to be ready, that they have been ready and anxious for days. If these statements are correct, the chances are that the hearing will begin in real earnest on Friday morning.

No new prisoners have been brought in, but rumors are still flying about. One of these is that the jail authorities have notice to hold two cells in readiness at any moment, but for whom is not known.

It is said that Mr. Porter, Ponton's counsel, accompanied by Mr. Wilson, in behalf of Mackie, visited the cells late on Saturday evening and had an interview with their clients. Mr. Porter is reported to have given it out that he had some real good news about the case, but it does not appear what it is.

The prosecution now complain that these men should not be let in at such unseasonable hours. On the other hand, the defence complains that the detectives are allowed to run in all sorts of people at all sorts of hours on the pretext of identifying somebody. Between the two, the jail authorities are made pretty uncomfortable.

Mackie to Prove an Alibi.

Belleville, July 27.—Nothing new has transpired here regarding the Ponton case. Mr. Porter will go to Napanee today and thinks he will return with Ponton, who will be bailed. It is whispered that Mackie can prove a strong alibi.

DANGEROUS HOBO ARRESTED.

He Carried a Revolver and Attempted to Use It, But Failed.

Ingersoll, July 27.—For some weeks past a mysterious individual has been living in the woods in the vicinity of Ingersoll. So many petty thefts have been reported to Chief Skirving that he suspected the mysterious tramp and decided to arrest him. The Chief was warned that he had a revolver, and had threatened peaceable citizens. In company with Constable Cook, Dandy McCarty and George Uren, he proceeded to a patch of Farmer Uren's woods, and on the Grand Trunk Railway embankment lurked the hobo in the sun. While Mr. Uren and Mr. McCarty attracted his attention in front, Chief Skirving and Constable Cook stepped up to him from behind. Instantly his hand reached for his hip pocket, and he drew out a revolver and tried to press it against Cook's side. The Chief, however, quickly seized his hand, and he was immediately disarmed and handcuffed. The revolver was loaded, and he had nine spare cartridges, also a razor and jack-knife. These tramps area menace to the country at large.

JUDGMENT FOR THE DRUGGISTS.

Dr. England's Case Against Kerry, Watson & Co. Decided.

Montreal, July 27.—Messrs. Kerry, Watson & Co., wholesale druggists, this morning received a cable that the Privy Council had given judgment in their favor in the celebrated action which Dr. England took against them. The death of Mrs. England resulted from a dose of tartaric acid which the firm had delivered through a retailer by mistake for bismuth. Dr. England sued on behalf of his minor child, and was awarded $1,000 damages by the Superior Court. The Court of Review dismissed the case, but the Court of Appeal unanimously reversed that decision. Now the Privy Council has reversed the Court of Appeal decision.

The Chinese Ambassador at Berlin Sailed on the Steamer Lahn.

Berlin, July 27.—The sudden and unexplained departure from Berlin of the Chinese Ambassador here, Hsue, has caused a sensation. He embarked on board the North German Lloyd steamer Lahn at Bremen yesterday, bound for China by way of the United States. The members of the diplomatic corps believe Hsue has incurred the displeasure of the authorities at Pekin by alleged incapacity displayed during the recent negotiations between Germany and China on the subject of Kiao-Chon Bay and other matters.

FAST LINE CONTRACT.

The Influences Which Operated Against Petersen's Success.

THE ALL-POWERFUL ALLANS.

The Undertaking of Messrs. Petersen, Tate & Co. Was a Bona Fide One, But the Forces Against Them Were Too Great—History of the Fast Atlantic Line Project.

Ottawa, July 27.—The statement cabled from London that Petersen, Tate & Co. have been notified that their fast Atlantic contract must be regarded as at an end on account of the failure to comply with the time conditions is accepted as true. The result is unfortunate, because if Canada is to have a fast steamship service she cannot expect to secure it on terms more favorable than those embodied in the agreement with Mr. Petersen's company. The fact that Mr. Petersen has failed to negotiate the enterprise must not be accepted as proof that the conditions were too favorable to the country to tempt the investment of British capital. The circumstances under which the firm went before the capitalists of Great Britain are so extraordinary that the failure cannot fairly be attributed to ordinary causes. To begin with, the Allans, whose influence is all powerful, made an unsuccessful effort to secure the contract on terms more favorable to themselves than Mr. Petersen ever dreamt of demanding. Their tender, accepted by the Sir Charles Tupper Government, was rejected by the present Government, and that is believed to be one of the principal reasons for their hostility to the scheme as undertaken by Mr. Petersen. But they had another ground of opposition in common with the transatlantic steamship lines. They are in the ocean-carrying trade, and they are not anxious to share the business with a subsidized line of steamers faster and better than their own. It does not follow that a division of the present carrying trade would result from the inauguration of a new and up-to-date service under Government auspices. It is not unreasonable to suppose, so far as passenger travel goes, at any rate, that the new line would control the business via New York rather than that of via Montreal and Portland, and that as regards the carriage of bulky freight, where time is not a prime consideration, the business of the existing lines would not be prejudicially affected. Even if private interests were in some degree affected that fact should not be allowed to block a project of such immense national and Imperial importance as the establishment of a line of first-class steamers between Canada and Great Britain.

As First Mooted.

The original idea first mooted in 1888, but not put into an act of Parliament until 1896, contemplated an expenditure in annual subsidy of $750,000. Tenders were submitted in May, 1896, by James Huddart of London, who asked $1,125,000 for the service, and by the Allans of Montreal and Glasgow, who named as their price £225,000 sterling. The Allans proposed to furnish vessels of 8,000 tons displacement and capable of a speed of twenty knots an hour, but so many qualifications were attached to the tender and so few guarantees given that it is doubtful if the stipulations as to capacity and speed could have been enforced. The present Government, after assuming office, examined the tenders and came to the conclusion that it would not be in the public interest to accept them. In March, 1897, they entered into a contract with Petersen, Tate & Co. which was subsequently ratified by Parliament. The firm undertook to furnish faster and better vessels than Mr. Huddart or the Allans were prepared to put on and at far less money. They asked, for four vessels equal to the standard of the Lucania and Campania, 10,000 tons gross register, and having a speed of 21 knots an hour, £154,500 sterling annually, of which Canada's share was £103,000 and that of Great Britain £51,500. By the cancellation of existing subsidies the new service would have stood the country in round figures $300,000 a year, not an extravagant price to pay for a weekly service of liners equal to the fleetest and most luxurious of the ocean greyhounds. On the whole ten-year contract the subsidy was £500,000 less than the figures named by the Allans.

A Bona Fide Undertaking.

Mr. Huddart, the contractor, undertook to be ready to commence the service with two of the steamers by the end of May next year, and when they put their names to the paper they had every reason to believe that they would be able to fulfil their engagement. They were to complete the service in May 1900. They deposited £10,000 and gave a guarantee for a further sum of £10,000 that they would carry out their contract showing that they were in earnest and had no thought of exploiting the enterprise for what it might be worth. From the first they felt the hostile influence of those whose interest it was to oppose them. Publicly and secretly these influences were arrayed against them on the platform, in the press, even in the Times correspondence columns and in the banking houses of London. So great were the difficulties that the contractors found themselves unable to overcome them and forseeing that they would be unable to inaugurate a fortnightly service by May next they applied for an extension. The Government in view of the exceptionally favorable terms of the contract and having regard to the strike in the ship-building trades were willing to facilitate them in any way within reason and the result was a supplementary agreement entered into in April last and ratified by Parliament extending the time for the commencement of the service to May 1900, the contractors undertaking to have all four vessels ready by that time and to give a weekly service. The contractors bound themselves to have by May 30th last a company organized with a responsibly subscribed capital of £1,250,000, to have contracts made for four steamers and to have two of the steamers under construction. The failure to perform the contract has terminated the agreement and the contractors stand to lose their deposit of £10,000.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER.

Kidney Disease Man's Deadliest Foe Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, July 18.—"Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease," was the assertion of a prominent Toronto physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death-rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used, in every case of Kidney Disease, there would be no deaths from it.

A TUMBLE IN WHEAT.

New Ontario Article Falls Three Cents Per Bushel—July Down 4c. and Later Months 2c.

Tuesday Evening, July 26.

To-day was marked by a decided slump in American wheat. At Chicago July led the way with a straight decline of 4c per bushel, and the September and December options followed suit with losses or 2½c and 1⅝c per bushel respectively. The opening was weak, and the close was near the lowest points of the day. Large receipts and a poor foreign demand were responsible for the weakness.

On the Liverpool board the decline for the day amounted to ⅝d in the July delivery, 1¼d in the September and ⅞d in the December option. In Paris July wheat declined 20 centimes, but later deliveries rose 10 centimes per 100 kilograms.

There was a slump in new Ontario red wheat to day, owing to underselling by the American article. Toronto dealers reported offers of new wheat at Toledo and Detroit at prices equal to 65c north and west. This, therefore, is the quotation for such points. Old red wheat is quoted at 70c north and west, and No. 1 hard Manitoba at about 94c afloat at Fort William.

Decrease in World's Visible.

According to Bradstreet's the decrease in the world's visible supply of wheat last week was 4,493,000 bushels. The decrease east of the Rockies was 993,000 bushels, and the decrease in Europe and afloat 3,500,000 bushels. The same authority makes the decrease in the world's visible supply of corn 1,919,000 bushels; oats 1,549,000 bushels.

Toronto Grain and Produce.

Flour—Dull. Straight rollers in barrels, middle freights, are quoted at $3.80 to $3.90.

Wheat—New American wheat is underselling Canadian, and Toronto dealers are offering to-day only 65c north and west for new Ontario red. Old Ontario red 72c north and west, and No. 1 hard Manitoba 94c afloat at Fort William.

Oats—White quoted at 26c high freight.

Barley—Nothing doing and prices nominal.

Bran—Sells at $8.50 to $9 west and shorts at $14 west.

Corn—Canadian, 34c west and 41c on track here.

Peas—Quoted around 53c high freights.

Oatmeal—Car lots of rolled oats in bags on track at Toronto, $3.60; in bbls., $3.70.

Toronto St. Lawrence Market.

Receipts of grain were small to-day.

One load of new white wheat sold at 75c per bushel.

Oats steady; 400 bushels sold at 31c to 32c.

One load of peas sold at 55c per bushel.

Hay plentiful; four loads of old sold at $7 to $9 per ton, and 25 loads of new at $5.50 to $7 per ton.

Straw steady, at $5 to $6.50 per ton for two loads.

Dressed hogs sold at $6.75 per cwt.

New potatoes plentiful, at 60c to 70c per bushel.

Butter, eggs and poultry—prices firm, but unchanged.

Toronto Live Stock.

Receipts of live stock at the cattle market to-day were large—72 car loads, composed of 1400 cattle, 500 sheep and lambs, 2000 hogs and 75 calves. The fat stock offered to-day, generally, was of fair quality; but there were not as many buyers from outside markets, and prices for exporters declined from 15c to 20c per cwt. Butchers' cattle, in sympathy with the exporters, sold from 5c to 10c per cwt. lower.

Exporters sold all the way from $4.30 to $4.70, the bulk going from $4.40 to $4.60, with some choice picked lots at 10c to 20c more per cwt.

Loads of mixed butchers' and exporters sold at $4.10 to $4.25.

Choice butchers' stock in picked lots at $4.12½ to $4.25, loads of good $3.87½ to $4.25, medium $3.50 to $3.87½, common $3.25 to $3.40, inferior $3 to $3.25, and very inferior rough cows and bulls $2.75 to $3 per cwt.

There were about 12 milk cows, which sold at $32 to $42 each, the quality being a little more even than usual; a few good cows wanted.

Prices for heavy feeders and stockers were unchanged.

Calves sold from $3 to $6 each, with extras going at $7 to $8 each.

Prices for sheep and lambs were about the same as for Saturday's market; ewes sold from $3 to $3.15, bucks $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt. Spring lambs sold at $3 to $3.75 each, and $4.50 to $5 per cwt. live weight.

The market for hogs was firmer, best selections from 150 to 200 lbs. in weight, unfed and unwatered off cars, sold at $5.90 to $6, heavy fats $5, light fats $5.50, corn fed hogs, which are not wanted, $5.25 per cwt.

Dealers, to obtain the highest price, will need to have great care in selecting their hogs, if they are under 150 or over 200 and too fat, they will not get the top price. As an example of this W. H. Patterson had a car load of 93 hogs, only nine out of that number were culled, five for being under and four for being over weight, yet Mr. Patterson only got $5.87½ per cwt.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

East Buffalo, July 26.—Cattle—Receipts very light; market ruled about steady.

Veals and Calves—Few on sale; general tone of the trade was regarded as steady; top veals quoted at $5.70 to $5.85; others, $4.25 to $5.60.

Hogs—Market opened with fairly good demand for good Yorkers at full strong yesterday's closing prices and about steady for other grades. Good to choice Yorkers, $4.15 to $4.17; prime light do., $4.15; mixed packers, $4.17; mediums, $4.17 to $4.20; heavy hogs, $4.20; roughs, $3.50 to $3.70; stags, $2.75 to $3; pigs, $3.75 to $4.10.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts limited to a few loads of fresh arrivals. Market was dull and slow for lambs. Spring lambs, choice to extra ewes and wethers, $5.75 to $6.15; buckey and fair, $5 to $5.65; culls, fair to good, $4 to $5; common to choice yearlings, $4.25 to $5. Native clipped sheep, choice to selected wethers, $4.70 to $4.85; fair to choice mixed sheep, $4.25 to $4.65; culls and common ewe sheep, $2.25 to $3.75.

THE ONLY HOPE!

For Victims of Bright's Disease is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Not a day passes on which the newspapers do not record the death of one or more persons from Bright's Disease. Already its victims number hundreds of thousands. Day by day the awful total grows larger. No class is safe from this destroyer.

War and intemperance, with all their miseries and fatalities, are not responsible for as many deaths as have been caused by Bright's Disease. Yet, there is a way of resisting it; of drawing its poisoned fangs, and making it as harmless as a summer breeze. That great medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills, has cured thousands of the worst cases. It never fails to cure, hopeless as the case may seem.

Would you safely shield your loved ones from the fatal grip of this curse of mankind—Bright's Disease? Then use Dodd's Kidney Pills, the only cure on earth for this disease.

WEAKENING DIARRHŒA.

Promptly Checked and the Weakened System Strengthened by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Diarrhœa does not need to persist for any length of time until the whole system is weakened and debilitated. No other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a condition of prostration and often collapse.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not only prompt and effectual n checking the diarrhœa, but at the ame time it stimulates and strengthens he heart and braces up the system.

Mrs. Soshua Stevenson, Owen Sound, Ont., says that her little girl was weak and almost run to nothing through a severe attack of summer complaint. Nothing would check it till she gave her Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry which acted like a charm. She considers no household should be without this valuable remedy. Wise parents should take to heart this advice of Mrs. Stevenson's, as they do not know when they themselves or one of their children may be attacked by Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera, Colic or Cramps.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not an expensive remedy—only 35c. a bottle, and the doses are so small that it goes a long way.

Don't accept a substitute or imitation. Many of them are dangerous compounds.

Anxious Mothers find Dr. Low's Worm Syrup the best medicine to expel worms. Children like it—worms don't.

Rev. O. C. Elliott, pastor of the Park street Baptist church, wheeled up yesterday from his camp on the Otonabee side of the river. [illegible] with a number of the boys from [illegible] school he has put in several [illegible] very enjoyably on a little point near Hutchison's Island.

Rev. Fred Tapscott, formerly in charge of the Park street Baptist church, has made a great success of his work in Rat Portage, where he was sent by the Baptist Mission Board. Through his energy the congregation has erected a $7,000 church, which is now self-sustaining and not dependent on the Mission Board for any assistance whatever.

A number of citizens have expressed regret at learning that Mr. J. J. Hartley was not selected this year as one of the assessors. Mr. Hartley was not an applicant for the position on account of this being his busy season. Formerly the assessment was made in the winter months when there was no building going on. His time is now fully occupied, one of the big contracts on hand being the erection of the addition to the Ackerman Harness Factory, for which 200,000 brick are required.

They are now ready to begin directly the pretender gives the signal. All the Carlist leaders have gone to meet Don Carlos and his son, with a view to combining on a plan of campaign.

ANOTHER PAVEMENT.

Charlotte Street Wants a Go—A Petition Received Last Evening.

At a meeting of the Street and Bridge Committee last evening it was decided that a carload of crushed granite would have to be purchased at once to allow the pavement contractors to begin their work, without waiting until the council decides upon what make of stone crusher they will purchase.

Councillor Langford was authorized to attend, in the interests of the town, the meeting of the Wardens of Peterborough and Victoria counties, re the Pigeon Creek bridge.

A petition was received from the property owners on Charlotte street, between George and Bethune streets, asking for the construction of a granolithic pavement on the north side. The Town Engineer was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the work.

Mr. Andrew Macfarlane, who accompanied the deputation to Hamilton to view the rollers and stone crushers, gave his opinion as to the relative merits of the machines, but no recommendation was passed as to which one the council should purchase.

SAYS SHE WAS BEATEN.

A Wife Claims to Have Been Stoned Away From her Husband's Door.

A citizen whilst wheeling to Peterborough from Warkworth yesterday morning, encountered a woman sitting on a fence in great distress about nine miles from town down in Otonabee. On enquiring into the trouble he was told that her husband had stoned her away from his door, the trouble arising through the fact that a number of navies, who were working on the railroad track, came to the house too often for water, in the husband's opinion. The wife stated that she anticipated his jealousy and had warned the men away with a shot gun. This, she says, however, did not save her and she was turned from the door, being also beaten by her step children.

The case has been placed in the hands of Chief Rossel who is taking steps to investigate the matter. The names are suppressed as the family concerned is one of the most highly respected in the county.

IMPORTANT ITEMS.

The annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. will be held in the building on Tuesday evening next, Aug. 2nd, at 8 o'clock. An interesting meeting is expected. All members and subscribers are invited. Refreshments will be served.

Those who have not yet contributed to the Association work, and wish to do so, will kindly send in their subscriptions at once. A number of friends of the work have not been called on by the committee. Will these do as they have done in former years, and thus greatly assist the management.

Ill Temper

Is more rapidly improved by relief from physical suffering than in any other way. Step on your friend's corn, and the impulse to strike is strongest. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, by quickly and painlessly removing them, insures good nature. Fifty imitations prove its value. Beware of substitutes, "Putnam's," sure, safe, painless.

Weak Heart.

"For years I suffered from weak action of the heart, dizziness and a watery condition of the blood. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have made my heart strong and enrichened my blood so that now I am free from the troubles that formally distressed me." B. A. ROSS, Alisa Craig, Ont.

OUR CRICKETERS WIN

In a Match Played at Campbellford Yesterday.

The Peterborough Cricket Club journeyed to Campbellford yesterday. They had a right good day's cricket and enjoyed themselves very much. Peterborough won the toss and went to bat first. Everybody was out for the total of 95 runs. Cumberland's 18, Boucher's 13 and Hal Burnham's 28 were the principal scores of the inning.

The wicket had been watered too much and too late before the game, which made it play very slow.

Campbellford went to bat, but they could not make much of a stand against the bowling of Cumberland and Boucher, only two men reaching double figures—Hillan 15 and Platt 10.

Peterborough went to bat a second time and ran up the splendid score of 165 for seven wickets. Miles Hamilton made 83 in splendid form, his leg strokes being particularly fine. Cumberland, the pro., was not out for 37. The Campbellford spectators and players were loud in their praise of his fine display of batting. The score :—

HACKNEY PRIZE AT SPRING EXHIBITION.

Readers of the EXAMINER will no doubt remember that at the late stallion show held on the market square the first prize was awarded to Dr. Poole's high stepper Warley Toff. This horse, after the award was made, was protested by the owners of Holderness II. Three or four weeks had elapsed after the show and a notice was issued in the papers that the prize had been given over to the second horse, Holderness II. Since then the registered document relating to Warley Toff, which had been delayed unavoidably, has come to hand. Warley Toff won first place by his truly Hackney characteristics, and should have been given first without further comment, and now the other part of the difficulty having been cleared up the diploma should at once be handed over to its rightful owner.

JAMES D. KELLY INSTANTLY KILLED

By Contact With a Live Electric Wire.

HIS HAND AND LEG WERE BURNT.

It is Thought by the Physicians that he was Dead before he ever Touched the Ground—Leaves a Widow and Four Children.

Mr. James D. Kelly, a lineman in the employ of the Bell Telephone Company, lost his life this morning by a most shocking accident.

Word had been received at the Telephone Office that the fire alarm bell in Archie Moore's residence had suddenly burned out yesterday, and Kelly on looking into the matter found that one of the wires of the Peterborough Light and Power Company was responsible for the mischief, as, although strung over the telephone wires, it had sagged until it had touched the wire connected with Moore's house at a point just east of the residence of Mr. T. Fitzgerald on Charlotte street.

The Peterborough Light and Power Co. was notified by Kelly early this morning, and was asked to have the matter attended to. Shortly

BEFORE ELEVEN O'CLOCK

Mr. J. S. Knapman also notified the company and some men were then sent down to rectify the trouble. Mr. Kelly went with them to lend his assistance and mounted the pole just in front of Mr. Fitzgerald's residence, whilst one of the Power Company's linemen ascended the next pole just east of it. Hardly had Kelly reached the top of the pole, when the others heard him crashing through the branches of a maple tree which was beneath him and a second later he fell heavily on the sidewalk without a movement to indicate whether he lived or not.

The other linemen and a number of citizens who were passing hurried horror-stricken to the spot, but the unfortunate man was in all probability dead before any one reached him, as he never moved after he fell other than to spasmodically open and close his eyes several times.

On the arrival of a physician it was ascertained that no bones had been broken, but that the fingers of one hand and the calf of the left leg

WERE BADLY BURNED.

This was caused by the flesh coming in contact with the electric light wire, and it is supposed that the shock received at the same time was sufficient to instantly kill poor Kelly.

He was tenderly removed to Mr. Fitzgerald's verandah, but every effort to restore consciousness proved unavailing.

The victim of the accident was a well-built, dark complexioned man, of about 35 years of age, and had become a great favourite with the telephone subscribers, through his courtesy. He was also well and favourably known to many others of the citizens. The deceased resides on Reid street, just north of Charlotte, and leaves a wife and four small children. He has only been permanently connected with the local force of linemen since May last, when he was moved here from Kingston by the Company to take the position vacated by Mr. Bert Giroux.

The widow and family will have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in their sudden bereavement.

He spent the intervening time in a little village near Quebec.

CAN'T ENJOY LIFE

Because of nervousness, dyspepsia, heart trouble, etc. Lots of people just have to sit and look on while their healthy, vigorous friends have all the enjoyment of a strong and robust body. Dr. Ward's Pills will bring back health, strength, snap, vim and energy to even the weakest and weariest of suffering humankind.

A BAD INVESTMENT MADE GOOD.

I have half a gross of empty bottles upon my shelves. Everything my neighbors and friends would tell me to try I would go straight away to the drug store and purchase. I was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia and liver troubles and was getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged buying one medicine and the other and receiving no benefit that I was about giving up all hope of ever getting better, when my husband brought me home a box of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, which he said had been highly recommended to him. I began using them at once, when, to my great surprise, I felt better in a very short time and continued them for about two weeks more which cured me entirely. I have not the least sign of dyspepsia or liver troubles now, and have also gained several pounds in weight.

Signed, ANNIE E. GAUNTLEY,

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

DIAMONDS IN AMERICA.

Half a Billion Dollars' Worth Owned Here—Amount Rapidly Increasing.

In no country are there more diamonds to be found than in the United States, according to the population. It is estimated by a leading Maiden lane (New York) diamond dealer that there are upward of $500,000,000 worth of diamonds in this country. Moreover, this vast amount is increasing year by year.

Until quite recently diamonds were rarely cut in this country, but American inventers have developed a process for diamond cutting which is vastly superior to that done abroad.

The loss in weight through cutting is sometimes fully one-half, but the value is increased probably more than twofold.

The Dutch city of Amsterdam has been the great diamond cutting center of the world from time immemorial and up to a few years ago over 12,000 people in that place were directly or indirectly dependent upon this trade.

But it was not reasonable to suppose that Amsterdam should continue to hold a monopoly of diamond cutting. As one of the greatest importing cities of the world, New York gradually offered inducements to diamond cutters, and an industry has been gradually built up here that is now very flourishing and profitable. In 1858 Henry D. Morse of Boston invented a machine for cutting and polishing diamonds, and since then improvements have been made upon it that are very important. The foreigners continue to polish their stones by hand, but in this country machinery is largely used.

A famous gem expert places the total value of all the diamonds in the world at over $1,000,000,000, of which $350,000,000 worth are in the hands of dealers, carried as stock. All of the other diamonds are in the hands of private individuals, and the question naturally arises, who owns them? This is not so easily answered, except in the case of large and world famous gems.—Godey's Magazine.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping.

HOT BLOOD IN CAMP.

ARMY QUARRELS THAT ALMOST ENDED IN TRAGEDIES.

The Story of a Captain Who Had Murder in His Heart—A Fiery Lieutenant Colonel Who Wanted to Kill His Superior Officer—A Peacemaking Adjutant.

"Tragedies in our own camps, outside of battles, were more common than the public knows," said a distinguished soldier.

"The shooting of Major General Nelson at Louisville by Brigadier General Jeff C. Davis because Nelson in a fit of anger had called Davis a long string of hard names, is one of the few that came to the surface. You wouldn't think it probably, but I myself was once so close to a tragedy that it makes my gray hair rise up as I recall it.

"While a number of officers of the regiment were in the major's tent I said something that a captain took exceptions to, and a war of words followed. When he plumped out, 'You are a liar!' I struck out with my right and set him to bleeding. He came back at me like a tiger cat. We clinched and for three or four minutes had it hot and sharp; then the others separated us. He made all sorts of threats. I was adjutant. He ranked me, and I confess that for a time I did fear he would make me trouble in the way of court martial, but the matter seemed to blow over.

"One fall afternoon the captain invited me to take a walk with him. Thinking that our troubles had completely healed, I consented. On the way back to camp we passed through an orchard. I climbed a tree to get some apples. Just as I reached for an apple I saw the captain reach for his revolver and glare at me like a very fiend. Instantly I loosened my hold and dropped to the ground. Seizing a stake, I took my place by his side and said, 'Now, you cowardly dog, put up that gun or I'll brain you.' This time he was kept on a hot griddle for a month, though I made no threats and had no thought of reporting his attempt to assassinate me.

"The next fight we got into we made up for good and all and remained fast friends until the final round up, when General Joe Johnston had his men throw down their guns and go home to 'make a crox.' It happened in this way: The colonel had given the order to form line of battle. As adjutant it was my duty to see that each captain carried out the order. When I reached the would be assassin and had performed my duty and started to go away, he called out, 'Adjutant, come back.' When I complied, he took my hand, looked me squarely in the eye and said: 'Lieutenant, can you forgive me for all of my meanness to you? I hope so. I have never had a good hour since that incident in the orchard.'

"'With all my heart, captain. No one but you and myself knows anything about that little affair.'

"As I said, nothing else came up to separate us while in the army. We never met after being mustered out. He died three years ago. Of course I could have sent him out of the army in disgrace and placed him in the penitentiary after he was out, but I've always been glad I did not. He was a good soldier in battle, as brave as they made them, but a bulldog in camp. He left the army a major. His name? Never mind that. It is a true story. I wish it were not, for I cannot forget that at one time in my life I was in a fair way to be murdered."

"Report to your headquarters under arrest, sir."

The colonel of a western regiment hissed that remark to his lieutenant colonel as he dismissed the parade one evening in December, 1864, a few miles back of Petersburg.

"I refuse to go, d—— you," was the reply.

"Adjutant, see that Lieutenant Colonel Blank goes to his quarters at once," said the angry colonel, who was in the right, for the lieutenant colonel, who had been drinking, had disobeyed orders.

The adjutant knew both officers well, and that it would not do for them to come together that night. He had a merry time of it keeping them apart. The lieutenant colonel would jump up and start for the cabin door with a threat to go to the colonel's quarters and cut him down with his sword. He was a powerful man, able to carry out his threat unless the colonel should get the drop. Once the arrested officer got away and was half way to the colonel's cabin, with sword drawn. "Stop, man," said the adjutant. "Would you blot your record of three years by committing murder? Think of that. Think of your wife and children. Come back to your quarters. You shall not go a step farther in that direction until you have killed me."

"I don't want to kill you, but I'm going to kill the colonel."

"All right, kill him, but wait until tomorrow—until it is light. Don't shoot a man in the dark. That is no way for a brave man to do."

He went back to his bunk and slept until morning. When he awoke, he came to me and said:

"How can I get out of this scrape, adjutant?"

"Write the colonel an apology."

He wrote it, and the adjutant took it to the colonel, who read it, laughed and said, "Bring Colonel Blank to my quarters." They met like a pair of brothers, and to this day the adjutant believes that he prevented an army tragedy, and I guess he did.—Chicago Times-Herald.

PAYNE'S DESERTED TOMB.

Resting Place of the Author of "Home, Sweet Home."

The old Christian cemetery at Tunis is one of the strangest sights in that strange town. Just off a busy thoroughfare, under an ancient archway, is a heavy wooden gate, much worn by the lapse of time, thickly studded with fantastic nails and provided with a prodigious knocker. The latter, however, is not needed, for the gate yields to an energetic push, and you find yourself in a large, walled inclosure, half garden, half graveyard, where an Italian woman is hanging out clothes among the gaunt white tombs. It is 12 years since any one was buried here, and the place is beginning to look neglected. The modern cemetery is now outside the walls, and its guardian told me that many people came to him to inquire for the monument of "an American poet" or "an American consul," and he had to send them to the old graveyard. The monument in question is that of the author of "Home, Sweet Home," and it bears the following inscription upon its sides:

"In memory of John Howard Payn, author of 'Home, Sweet Home.' Born June 9, 1791; died April 9, 1852. Erected A. D. 1855."

[American Arms—eagle surmounted by motto "E Pluribus Unum."] "Died at the American consulate in Tunis. Aged 60 years and 10 months."

"In the tomb beneath this stone the poet's remains lay buried for 30 years. On Jan. 5, 1883, they were disinterred and taken away to his native land, where they received honor and final burial in the city of Washington June 9, 1883. 'Then be content, poor heart.'"

"Sure when thy gentle spirit fled
To realms beyond the azure dome
With arms outstretched God's angel said,
'Welcome to heaven's home, sweet home.'"

There is a certain appropriateness about the fact that the author of the exile's most pathetic anthem should have died so many thousand miles away from home.—London Sketch.

OFFICE OF W. A. MURRAY & CO., 17 to 27 King St., East, Toronto.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,008 00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	3,280 00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company. I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

SPAIN'S PROPOSALS

Now Being Debated by the Washington Cabinet.

PHILIPPINES THE DIFFICULTY.

President McKinley and His Administration Know Just What They Will Do With Cuba and Porto Rico. However—The Propositions Are an Absorbing Topic—War News in General.

Washington, July 28.—It is admitted by the principal members of the Administration that, were it not for the Philippines question, the United States would be ready to furnish immediately a statement of the terms on which it stands prepared to proceed to negotiate a treaty of peace with Spain. Porto Rico and Cuba have already been disposed of in the consideration given to the subject of peace proposals. Neither is to continue under Spanish rule. This Government will carry out the purposes of the resolution of Congress concerning Cuba, turning the island over to the inhabitants when it is apparent that a stable rule can be established. Whatever concessions this country is willing to make to Spain will not affect the two West Indian Islands; only the Philippines will be recognized as a basis for discussion in the settlement of peace terms. The overtures from the Spanish Ministry came with such suddenness that the Administration has not had time to come to a conclusion as to its policy on the Philippines question.

RIVAL PEACEMAKERS.

British and French Ambassadors at Madrid Wished for the Office on Behalf of Spain.

Washington, July 28.—In diplomatic quarters Spain's peace proposal, made through the French Ambassador, is the absorbing topic, and the answer of the President is awaited with keen interest. The diplomats showed their interest early yesterday by calling at the State Department and at the French Embassy to learn with more exactness the details of Spain's proposal. This developed several features of the proposition which had not been entirely clear before.

In the first place, no foreign Government, outside of France, had been consulted by Spain in this overture for peace. It can now be stated, however, that the formal proposition submitted had been under consideration at Madrid for five days previously, during which time the British as well as the French authorities were cognizant of the fact that Spain was about to sue for peace.

This being settled, it appears that a good-natured but keen rivalry sprang up between Sir Drummond Wolff, the British Ambassador at Madrid, and M. Patenotre, the French Ambassador there, as to which Government should have the honor of initiating the movement designed to restore the peace of the world. Owing to the cordiality existing between the Government of Great Britain and the United States, it was felt at first that Sir Drummond Wolff would be commissioned to approach the United States, acting at Washington through Sir Julian Pauncefote.

But Spain appears to have preferred the intermediation of the French Government, and as a result the negotiations finally were entrusted to the French Ambassador at Washington.

Another essential point is the exact proposition made by Spain. As a matter of fact, the Spanish proposition does not mention the word terms, and there is no request or suggestion in it that the President shall state terms of peace. The distinct enquiry made by Spain is as to whether the United States will open negotiations toward the settlement of the war and the arrangement of peace. It is based on the theory that if the President answers in the affirmative, then the negotiations for terms will be opened between commissioners or parties clothed with the responsibility of bringing about a settlement.

Neither does the Spanish proposition contain any reference to "armistice." At the same time, it is framed on the idea that if peace negotiations are entered upon, there will be a suspension of hostilities, pending an arrangement upon the exact terms of peace. In this connection there appears to be a distinction between the words "armistice" and "suspension of hostilities"; for while it is said the former is not asked or expected, it seems to be taken for granted that a suspension of hostilities will be essential to carrying forward the peace negotiations.

The Spanish proposition is clothed with all the solemnity and formality of a Government act, despite the cable report from Madrid that the peace proposal is of a "private" nature. The instructions to M. Cambon bear the official signature of Duke Almodovar de Rio, Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, and besides expressing the desire of the Cabinet and Government that the peace negotiations be opened, they are given the added solemnity of approval and earnest personal request by Queen Regent Maria Christina. These formalities dismiss all question in the minds of officials here as to the regularity of the Spanish proposition as expressive of the wishes of the Government of Spain. Aside from this, M. Cambon is too much of a veteran in diplomacy to have embarked on any private overtures toward peace.

Since the conference between the President and M. Cambon, both the French Government and the Spanish Government have been fully apprised of the action taken at Washington, and it is not improbable that Spain within the next two or three days will take another important step forward by voluntarily suggesting what terms of peace she will regard as consistent. These, of course, will be initiatory, and will be designed as a sort of opening wedge toward bringing the two Governments together on the final peace conditions. From the standpoint of the United States, it is for Spain to make the first definite tender of terms, as she is the one most interested in terminating the war. It will then be for the United States to say how far the terms are acceptable, and perhaps to suggest counter terms.

The yellow fever conditions are being suggested as one reason for both to conclude peace, for it is being urged that the material advantages which the United States will gain by continuing the war will be heavily offset by the inroads of the disease.

Another point being urged in favor of a peace settlement is that the aspect of the war will be even more glorious, more a tribute to the high aims of this Government, if it deals in a spirit of magnanimity with the conquered enemy.

It is said also that Spain is so completely humbled and so powerless to further continue the war, that the United States can secure through peace negotiations everything which a prolongation of the war would ultimately make possible.

U. S. and the Philippines.

London, July 28.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: The result of protracted negotiations initiated by Germany is that the powers have arrived at a formal agreement to oppose an American annexation of the Philippines, which must remain Spanish.

The King Has the Measles.

Madrid, July 28.—Inquiries made at the palace here yesterday confirm the report that the King is suffering from the measles. The attack is following its usual course.

Germany's Interest at Manila.

London, July 28.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times says: "The Cologne Gazette, in an article evidently inspired, says it would be difficult to claim compensation for the losses of German firms at Manila, because, though Spain is officially mistress of the Philippines, she has no voice there, but when a settled Government has been provided for the islands, then Germany will raise a claim. The Gazette says also that Germany has a fleet at Manila for no other purpose than to protect German interests while anarchy reigns."

War Notes.

Col. Ewers has received the surrender of the Spanish troops at Caimanera. They are a ragged and hungry lot.

A large expedition attempted to land on Cuban shores, just west of Havana, but were repulsed by a body of Spanish.

There was a big rise on the Madrid Bourse, owing to the talk of peace.

ANGLO-AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Britishers Will Await Action From the United States End.

London, July 28.—A private meeting of the Executive Council of the recently formed Anglo-American League for securing "cordial and constant co-operation on the part of the two nations" was held last evening.

The Duke of Sutherland, Earl Grey, the Earl of Jersey and other prominent members were present. Great satisfaction was expressed at the progress of the movement on both sides of the Atlantic, but it was decided to await the action of the projected committee in the United States.

Lord Herschell in America.

New York, July 28.—Lord Herschell, P.C., G.C.B., formerly Lord High Chancellor, the head of the British Commission to settle the differences between the United States and Canada, arrived in this country yesterday on the White Star liner Teutonic, from Liverpool. He was accompanied on the voyage by his son. Lord Herschell declined to speak of his mission on this side of the Atlantic.

A DRAMATIC SCENE.

W. H. Ponton Refuses to Allow Himself to Be Bailed Out.

WON'T LEAVE JAIL UNCLEARED.

A Scene in the Napanee Prison Which Its Annals Have Not the Counterpart—Thanks for the Kind Friends Who Provided the Bonds, But a Firm Refusal Nevertheless.

Napanee, July 28.—The Magistrate appeared at the parlor of Turnkey Clark's quarters at the jail at 1.30 yesterday afternoon to grant bail to the prisoner, W. H. Ponton. Messrs. Porter, W. N. Ponton and W. G. Wilson were present on behalf of the prisoner, with the two sureties, Messrs. Thomas McGinnis and James Cummins of Belleville, these bondsmen being accepted for $5,000 each. Mr. W. S. Herrington was present on behalf of the Crown, and H. M. Deroche for the bank. The bail bond was read to the two sureties and the prisoner.

A Dramatic Scene.

When this had been accomplished Ponton rose, and turning to Mr. McGinnis said in a trembling voice:

"My family and myself are under too great obligations to you already. I was brought in here by the authorities and I will never leave except as an innocent man."

Before this speech had been made Ponton, who was sitting on the opposite side of the table from his lawyers, had held an excited conversation, carried on in undertones with him. Mr. Porter appeared to be expostulating with his client, and when the latter rose to speak leaned back in his chair and gazed with an impatient expression at the ceiling. The words of the young prisoner had two effects. Without showing any surprise, Mr. Herrington reached forward quietly and gathered up the bail bonds preparatory to leaving as quickly as possible. The Magistrate half rose in his chair and he with almost everyone else in the room betrayed evidence of intense emotion. The young prisoner, still standing, spoke again:

"I told you, Mr. McGinnis, when we talked over the jail wall on Saturday night, that I would not accept bail."

"I know you did, Willie, but I thought you would change your mind," returned the merchant, slowly and sadly.

"Remember Your Mother."

"Remember your mother, my boy," urged Mr. Cummins. "She is waiting for you at the station."

"Don't you suppose that I don't think of my mother all the time?" said Ponton; "but I will never go to her with the shadow of guilt over me."

It was a painful scene, and Ponton seemed to wish to end it as quickly as possible. He rose and turned as if to go, and as he did so Magistrate Daly stood up and stretched out his hand. The young man and the old man stood for a moment with clasped hands, and then Ponton walked away between his guards. His head was bowed and he looked pale and worn with care, but he never flinched while the eyes of the Magistrate were on him. The group in the narrow little court filed out, and there were tears in the eyes of most of its members. Lieut.-Col. Ponton, the uncle, Mr. McGinnis, Mr. Cummins and Mr. Porter started for the railway station, where a message was sent to the mother, who was waiting at Belleville, telling her that her son would not arrive.

Lieut.-Col. Ponton said as he was sending the message: "Mrs. Ponton expressed the belief when we told her of the proceedings taken to secure bail that she did not think her boy would consent to be released except when the charge against him was withdrawn.

The Jail Will Be Duly Lighted.

There will soon be electric lights in Napanee Prison. Dr. Chamberlain reported to the Attorney-General, and yesterday sent a letter to the council here, informing them that it was advisable to have lights placed in the prison. In the case of a refusal on the part of the council the Government may either appoint an extra guard, who would cost more than the lights, or may have the lights placed and keep the expenses out of the pocket money of the town. Conceding that the authorities at Napanee are just as anxious to retain their prisoners as the provincial authorities, it is probable the six lights will be placed in the jail.

HUNTING FOR EVIDENCE.

Wilkes and Sills in Belleville Looking Up Mackie's Record.

Belleville, Ont., July 28.—Detective Wilkes and Constable Sills spent a lot of time here looking into Bob Mackie's record and hunting up evidence against him. They held a consultation with chief Newton and yesterday went after William Kimmerly, a former employe of Mackie's father. From him they wanted to know all about Mackie hiring rigs to drive out of town, and if he and Kimmerly had ever quarrelled. They did not get much satisfaction out of him. Heffernan, another Pinkerton man, has been here for some time, but left on Saturday. He came back yesterday, but does not talk. He is said to be the chief director of all the others. Ponton's friends express great surprise at his refusing to come out on bail.

It is strange to notice how many old classical expressions still survive in Tuscany. The people still swear "By Bacchus!" and "By Diana!" just as we do "By Jove!" but when they talk of "Tom, Dick and Harry" they say "Titus, Caius and Sempronius."

SPAIN'S PROPOSALS

Now Being Debated by the Washington Cabinet.

PHILIPPINES THE DIFFICULTY.

President McKinley and His Administration Know Just What They Will Do With Cuba and Porto Rico. However—The Propositions Are an Absorbing Topic—War News is General.

Washington, July 28.—It is admitted by the principal members of the Administration that, were it not for the Philippines question, the United States would be ready to furnish immediately a statement of the terms on which it stands prepared to proceed to negotiate a treaty of peace with Spain. Porto Rico and Cuba have already been disposed of in the consideration given to the subject of peace proposals. Neither is to continue under Spanish rule. This Government will carry out the purposes of the resolution of Congress concerning Cuba, turning the island over to the inhabitants when it is apparent that a stable rule can be established. Whatever concessions this country is willing to make to Spain will not affect the two West Indian Islands; only the Philippines will be recognized as a basis for discussion in the settlement of peace terms. The overtures from the Spanish Ministry came with such suddenness that the Administration has not had time to come to a conclusion as to its policy on the Philippines question.

RIVAL PEACEMAKERS.

British and French Ambassadors at Madrid Wished for the Office on Behalf of Spain.

Washington, July 28.—In diplomatic quarters Spain's peace proposal, made through the French Ambassador, is the absorbing topic, and the answer of the President is awaited with keen interest. The diplomats showed their interest early yesterday by calling at the State Department and at the French Embassy to learn with more exactness the details of Spain's proposal. This developed several features of the proposition which had not been entirely clear before.

In the first place, no foreign Government, outside of France, had been consulted by Spain in this overture for peace. It can now be stated, however, that the formal proposition submitted had been under consideration at Madrid for five days previously, during which time the British as well as the French authorities were cognizant of the fact that Spain was about to sue for peace.

This being settled, it appears that a good-natured but keen rivalry sprang up between Sir Drummond Wolff, the British Ambassador at Madrid, and M. Patenotre, the French Ambassador there, as to which Government should have the honor of initiating the movement designed to restore the peace of the world. Owing to the cordiality existing between the Government of Great Britain and the United States, it was felt at first that Sir Drummond Wolff would be commissioned to approach the United States, acting at Washington through Sir Julian Pauncefote.

But Spain appears to have preferred the intermediation of the French Government, and as a result the negotiations finally were entrusted to the French Ambassador at Washington.

Another essential point is the exact proposition made by Spain. As a matter of fact, the Spanish proposition does not mention the word terms, and there is no request or suggestion in it that the President shall state terms of peace. The distinct enquiry made by Spain is as to whether the United States will open negotiations toward the settlement of the war and the arrangement of peace. It is based on the theory that if the President answers in the affirmative, then the negotiations for terms will be opened between commissioners or parties clothed with the responsibility of bringing about a settlement.

Neither does the Spanish proposition contain any reference to "armistice." At the same time, it is framed on the idea that if peace negotiations are entered upon, there will be a suspension of hostilities, pending an arrangement upon the exact terms of peace. In this connection there appears to be a distinction between the words "armistce" and "suspension of hostilities"; for while it is said the former is not asked or expected, it seems to be taken for granted that a suspension of hostilities will be essential to carrying forward the peace negotiations.

The Spanish proposition is clothed with all the solemnity and formality of a Government act, despite the cable report from Madrid that the peace proposal is of a "private" nature. The instructions to M. Cambon bear the official signature of Duke Almodovar de Rio, Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, and besides expressing the desire of the Cabinet and Government that the peace negotiations be opened, they are given the added solemnity of approval and earnest personal request by Queen Regent Maria Christina. These formalities dismiss all question in the minds of officials here as to the regularity of the Spanish proposition as expressive of the wishes of the Government of Spain. Aside from this, M. Cambon is too much of a veteran in diplomacy to have embarked on any private overtures toward peace.

Since the conference between the President and M. Cambon, both the French Government and the Spanish Government have been fully apprised of the action taken at Washington, and it is not improbable that Spain within the next two or three days will take another important step forward by voluntarily suggesting what terms of peace she will regard as consistent. These, of course, will be initiatory, and will be designed as a sort of opening wedge toward bringing the two Governments together on the final peace conditions. From the standpoint of the United States, it is for Spain to make the first definite tender of terms, as she is the one most interested in terminating the war. It will then be for the United States to say how far the terms are acceptable, and perhaps to suggest counter terms.

The yellow fever conditions are being suggested as one reason for both to conclude peace, for it is being urged that the material advantages which the United States will gain by continuing the war will be heavily offset by the inroads of the disease.

Another point being urged in favor of a peace settlement is that the aspect of the war will be even more glorious, more a tribute to the high aims of this Government, if it deals in a spirit of magnanimity with the conquered enemy.

It is said also that Spain is so completely humbled and so powerless to further continue the war, that the United States can secure through peace negotiations everything which a prolongation of the war would ultimately make possible.

U. S. and the Philippines.

London, July 28.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: The result of protracted negotiations initiated by Germany is that the powers have arrived at a formal agreement to oppose an American annexation of the Philippines, which must remain Spanish.

The King Has the Measles.

Madrid, July 28.—Inquiries made at the palace here yesterday confirm the report that the King is suffering from the measles. The attack is following its usual course.

Germany's Interest at Manila.

London, July 28.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times says: "The Cologne Gazette, in an article evidently inspired, says it would be difficult to claim compensation for the losses of German firms at Manila, because, though Spain is officially mistress of the Philippines, she has no voice there, but when a settled Government has been provided for the islands, then Germany will raise a claim. The Gazette says also that Germany has a fleet at Manila for no other purpose than to protect German interests while anarchy reigns."

War Notes.

Col. Ewers has received the surrender of the Spanish troops at Caimanera. They are a ragged and hungry lot.

A large expedition attempted to land on Cuban shores, just west of Havana, but were repulsed by a body of Spanish.

There was a big rise on the Madrid Bourse, owing to the talk of peace.

ANGLO-AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Britishers Will Await Action From the United States End.

London, July 28.—A private meeting of the Executive Council of the recently formed Anglo-American League for securing "cordial and constant cooperation on the part of the two nations" was held last evening.

The Duke of Sutherland, Earl Grey, the Earl of Jersey and other prominent members were present. Great satisfaction was expressed at the progress of the movement on both sides of the Atlantic, but it was decided to await the action of the projected committee in the United States.

Lord Herschell in America.

New York, July 28.—Lord Herschell, P.C., G.C.B., formerly Lord High Chancellor, the head of the British Commission to settle the differences between the United States and Canada, arrived in this country yesterday on the White Star liner Teutonic, from Liverpool. He was accompanied on the voyage by his son. Lord Herschell declined to speak of his mission on this side of the Atlantic.

A DRAMATIC SCENE.

W. H. Ponton Refuses to Allow Himself to Be Bailed Out.

WON'T LEAVE JAIL UNCLEARED.

A Scene in the Napanee Prison Which Its Annals Have Not the Counterpart—Thanks for the Kind Friends Who Provided the Bonds, But a Firm Refusal Nevertheless.

Napanee, July 28.—The Magistrate appeared at the parlor of Turnkey Clark's quarters at the jail at 1.30 yesterday afternoon to grant bail to the prisoner, W. H. Ponton. Messrs. Porter, W. N. Ponton and W. G. Wilson were present on behalf of the prisoner, with the two sureties, Messrs. Thomas McGinnis and James Cummins of Belleville, these bondsmen being accepted for $5,000 each. Mr. W. S. Herrington was present on behalf of the Crown, and H. M. Deroche for the bank. The bail bond was read to the two sureties and the prisoner.

A Dramatic Scene.

When this had been accomplished Ponton rose, and turning to Mr. McGinnis said in a trembling voice:

"My family and myself are under too great obligations to you already. I was brought in here by the authorities and I will never leave except as an innocent man."

Before this speech had been made Ponton, who was sitting on the opposite side of the table from his lawyers, had held an excited conversation, carried on in undertones with him. Mr. Porter appeared to be expostulating with his client, and when the latter rose to speak leaned back in his chair and gazed with an impatient expression at the ceiling. The words of the young prisoner had two effects. Without showing any surprise, Mr. Herrington reached forward quietly and gathered up the bail bonds preparatory to leaving as quickly as possible. The Magistrate half rose in his chair and he with almost everyone else in the room betrayed evidence of intense emotion. The young prisoner, still standing, spoke again:

"I told you, Mr. McGinnis, when we talked over the jail wall on Saturday night, that I would not accept bail."

"I know you did, Willie, but I thought you would change your mind," returned the merchant, slowly and sadly.

"Remember Your Mother."

"Remember your mother, my boy," urged Mr. Cummins. "She is waiting for you at the station."

"Don't you suppose that I don't think of my mother all the time?" said Ponton; "but I will never go to her with the shadow of guilt over me."

It was a painful scene, and Ponton seemed to wish to end it as quickly as possible. He rose and turned as if to go, and as he did so Magistrate Daly stood up and stretched out his hand. The young man and the old man stood for a moment with clasped hands, and then Ponton walked away between his guards. His head was bowed and he looked pale and worn with care, but he never flinched while the eyes of the Magistrate were on him. The group in the narrow little court filed out, and there were tears in the eyes of most of its members. Lieut.-Col. Ponton, the uncle, Mr. McGinnis, Mr. Cummins and Mr. Porter started for the railway station, where a message was sent to the mother, who was waiting at Belleville, telling her that her son would not arrive.

Lieut.-Col. Ponton said as he was sending the message: "Mrs. Ponton expressed the belief when we told her of the proceedings taken to secure bail that she did not think her boy would consent to be released except when the charge against him was withdrawn.

The Jail Will Be Duly Lighted.

There will soon be electric lights in Napanee Prison. Dr. Chamberlain reported to the Attorney-General, and yesterday sent a letter to the council here, informing them that it was advisable to have lights placed in the prison. In the case of a refusal on the part of the council the Government may either appoint an extra guard, who would cost more than the lights, or may have the lights placed and keep the expenses out of the pocket money of the town. Conceding that the authorities at Napanee are just as anxious to retain their prisoners as the provincial authorities, it is probable the six lights will be placed in the jail.

HUNTING FOR EVIDENCE.

Wilkes and Sills in Belleville Looking Up Mackie's Record.

Belleville, Ont., July 28.—Detective Wilkes and Constable Sills spent a lot of time here looking into Bob Mackie's record and hunting up evidence against him. They held a consultation with chief Newton and yesterday went after William Kimmerly, a former employe of Mackie's father. From him they wanted to know all about Mackie hiring rigs to drive out of town, and if he and Kimmerly had ever quarrelled. They did not get much satisfaction out of him. Heffernan, another Pinkerton man, has been here for some time, but left on Saturday. He came back yesterday, but does not talk. He is said to be the chief director of all the others. Ponton's friends express great surprise at his refusing to come out on bail.

It is strange to notice how many old classical expressions still survive in Tuscany. The people still swear "By Bacchus!" and "By Diana!" just as we do "By Jove!" but when they talk of "Tom, Dick and Harry" they say "Titus, Caius and Sempronius."

Acute Rheumatism

Pains in the Foot and Limb—A Complete Cure Accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"For a number of years I was afflicted with acute rheumatism in my left side and all the way down my limb into my foot. I live five blocks from my work and had to stop and rest several times in going and coming. I could get no relief from my trouble and was on the point of giving up my job when I happened to hear of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I purchased a bottle of this medicine and a vial of Hood's Pills and began taking them. Before I had half finished them I was relieved and it was not long before I was completely cured. I never lose an opportunity to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla, for my cure meant a great deal to me, as I have a family and must always be at my post." WILLIAM HASKETT, yardman, Grand Trunk Railroad depot, Brantford, Ontario.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

LAST week there were recorded seventeen business failures as against twenty-eight during the corresponding week of last year. Another evidence of prosperous times.

IF, says the London News, we must have lawyers, why should the profession be closed to all but the sons of the rich? As a matter of fact there is a good deal of rubbish talked about law. There is no lawyer who know the law, or who can say positively in advance what will be the result of any suit. Judges differ. The Attorney-General might reasonably be supposed to know what is the law, but even he has to call the Legislature together to make a declaration as soon as a certain oint is raised.

THE Tory papers, remarks the Ottawa Free Press, cannot get over the vexation caused by Mr. Mulock's success in connection with the two cent postal rate. There is no getting over the fact that a two cent rate is now an accomplished fact, so the Tories damn it with qualified praise and anticipate great loss from the change. The swindling Tory mail contracts cancelled by the Government will go far to make up any loss that may result. If the Tory papers will kindly present their readers with a list of these remarkable agreements as given in the Postmaster-General's report, they will readily see how much can be accomplished in this respect.

MR. TURNER, the premier of British Columbia is a "stayer." Though he has only 18 supporters in a house of 38 members, and is in a minority of 1500 in the general electoral vote, he still clings to office and declares his intention of meeting the Legislature. Here is a Conservative Government clinging to office with desperate determination. Yet we find Conservatives in Ontario declaring that Mr. Hardy has lost the confidence of the country and that Mr. Whitney is the people's choice, though Mr. Hardy has a majority of eight members and a majority of the popular vote over the Conservatives of 7,208. This popular majority would be increased greatly if independents supporting the Government were included.

CONSTABLES VOTING.

Is it right or just that men who have voted for thirty years should now be disqualified through a possible technical flaw in the law?—St. Thomas Journal.

That is a point we think the judges should decide, not the men who will lose or hold their seats by the decision.—Toronto News.

But surely, the Journal gets back, the makers of the law are best qualified to interpret it. The Legislature has the power, as it has a perfect right to deal with this matter, and they are exercising good judgment when they decide to do so. They have the opinion of the people behind them, and they have the precedent of 1887. No doubt the members and press of the Conservative party are terribly annoyed that Sir John should have left such a heritage as this. The Federal Parliament eleven years ago, under the leadership of Sir John A. Macdonald, did just what the Ontario Legislature proposes to do—make perfectly clear the position of those who have voted in good faith for the past thirty years. Why was not exception taken to the same votes by the Conservative party in years gone by?

INSULTING A MEMORY.

The Conservatives of New Brunswick have been holding a convention at which to counsel how they can help the party in the Dominion back into power. George Eulas Foster was the great, the dominating, spirit. He has been fittingly described as the ablest man in the party, yet the least popular, the most impracticable. He said several things, meant to be catching, but he failed to make his mark.

It was left to Dr. Weldon to get off the bright idea of the convention. It was to the effect that the Liberals had stolen the old flag and old policy of their opponents, and were now trying to steal the old man, having reference to Mr. Hardy's quotations of Sir John Macdonald's election law precedents. It is regarded as a remarkable phrase, and it is remarkable, but only for its indirectness and inappropriateness.

Stealing the old flag! When did it become the property of the Conservative party? When was it entrusted to their keeping? It was the habit of some Tories to imagine that they were so loyal that it would be sad for the country and for its flag should their opponents get into power. It required the occason only to demonstrate how hollow was this pretension. Who was it that said that if the National Policy injured British connection so much the worse for British connection? The man who metaphorically wrapped himself in the colours of the nation and sang the National Anthem daily. The old flag became to him like the suit of old clothes which he was ready to shed on very short notice.

Stealing the old policy! Of making the tariff to suit the party, and to milk the manufacturers for election funds? Of creating conditions irrespective of their effect on British imports? Of letting the favoured few define the taxes, and accepting their brief in its entirety? Of "soaking" these British imports even more than the American imports in order to show how little was thought of Imperial trade? Is this the Liberal policy? Not much. It was the policy of the Conservative party, and it is as dead as the man, politically, who espoused it. The Liberals have a policy that, if stolen at all, is stolen from the mother country—the policy of lower taxation, increased revenue and increased trade, and it is challenging the attention and study of our neighbors, whose high protective tariff the Canadian Conservatives copied.

Stealing the old man! How some men do trifle with the memories that ought to be held sacred. In life Sir John Macdonald was the infallible pride of his party. He was not declared to be such at any conference or consistory of conservatives, but he exercised the power of dictating to the party, "Follow me and ask no questions." He anticipated a ruling in election cases which was contrary to his idea of common sense and fair-play, and he had an act of parliament passed disposing of it. That act was, then regarded as the highest evidence of statesmanship. Now, when repeated by Mr. Hardy, under very similar circumstances, it is pronounced a fraud, an abomination, an outrage, and Dr. Weldon, at a political convention, in the very thin shadow of Mr. Foster, declares, cynically, that the Liberals are trying to steal the old man!—Whig.

BARLEY AND THE TARIFF.

A despatch came from Buffalo on Saturday, the tenor of which might afford a good deal of thought to those who take an ultra position either as Free Traders or Protectionists. It was to the effect that the grain men who make a specialty of barley are waiting for reports as to the condition of the crop in the great barley centres of the Northwest. Most all of the barley that is handled in Buffalo is grown in the American Northwest. New York State used to raise a lot of barley, but the acreage devoted to this crop has fallen off of late years. The cause is said to be the tariff on barley, which is now 30 per cent. This tariff operates against the barley grown in Canada, and practically shuts it out of the markets of the United States. It gives the home government absolutely the whole option of home grown barley, but this is said by the dealers to be a bad thing for the home growers. They say the tariff takes money out of the pockets of the New York farmers, and the dealers point to the steady fall in the price of barley since the McKinley law went into effect. Barley before the tariff was sold for 90c and $1 for a bushel, sold last year for 30c a bushel in Buffalo. Mr. O. G. Spann, of the Board of Trade, was asked to explain the effect of the barley tariff upon the industry in the United States. He said: The Republican orators and speakers told the farmers that a tariff on barley would shut the Canada barley out of the country and they would have the market all to themselves. With a home market, it was explained the farmers would get good prices for their barley. They certainly got the home market. The Canadian barley was shut out of the United States by the McKinley tariff of 30 per cent. What happened then? Why all the farmers began raising barley. They wanted to get the benefit of the 30 per cent. tariff and the home market, and where previously they had raised ten acres of barley they now raised hundreds of acres. Then the law of supply and demand resumed business at the old stand and knocked the bottom out of prices. The markets were flooded with barley that poured in from the Northwest where the big farmers were raising it on a large scale. And down went the price. In New York State the acreage has been falling off year by year. Now there is very little barley grown in Western New York. The effect of the tariff has been that the farmers there have been driven out of the barley raising business.

"The Canadian barley is better than that grown in the United States for malting purposes. The latter does not have the flavour of the Canadian grain." In Buffalo the barley business is an important one. There were received at that port last year by lake 14,548,100 bushels. The railroads brought in over a million bushels.

EVENING PAPERS.

Four-fifths of all newspaper reading is done in the evening—whether the paper read is published in the morning or in the evening.

In every large Eastern city in the United States the evening newspaper carries more advertising of dry goods, cloaks, suits, gloves, millinery and things which women use than the morning papers do.

Women always read a newspaper in the evening; they only glance at it in the morning. Ask your women customers about this.

INFECTION BY BREATH.

The London Hospital, a medical journal, draws a practical lesson from watching the smoke of a cigar. It points out that the fumes do but make visible what is happening all the day whether we smoke or not. Each of the tiny particles of carbon or condensed vapor, which in their millions make up a wreath of smoke, does but indicate the track taken by a corresponding particle of expired air, which, if it carry the visible carbon, can still more easily carry the invisible microbe. Thus a whiff of smoke entering our nostrils and penetrating our lungs does but show the course which might be taken just as easily by a swarm of microbes, and serves to demonstrate one at least of the ways in which a crowded life passed in close community with our fellows leads to mischief. The passage of a whiff of smoke from mouth to mouth does, in fact, but illustrates the modes in which the well-recognised evils of rebreathing expired air are produced. It is not the air, but what the air carries with it, that does the harm. What is illustrated by tobacco smoke is sometimes proved in another way. In the bright sunbeams motes are said to dance, and by careful watching one may see not only how numerous these motes are, but of what nasty stuff they are not infrequently composed. The wheezy flower-seller coughing over his tray of violets, the loud-voiced hawker shouting over his barrow of strawberries, the sniffling child sneezing at the street corner, the panting person who will shake out his handkerchief in the 'bus before using it, even polite people talking to each other, are all doing things which on a dull day seem innocent enough. Let the sun shine, however, and the tell-tale sunbeams soon display the showers of saliva and the clouds of dust which are thus scattered in the air and can almost be traced from mouth to mouth. This is esthetically abominable, but in the vast majority of cases probably does no harm. Here and there, however, those particles come from people who are diseased, and carry disease to those who are healthy. The rebreathing of expired air is certainly one cause of disease, especially to those who live in towns and in close dwellings; and how real is the risk, and how readily the passage of solid particles from man to man and from mouth to mouth is accomplished, is made manifest every time a whiff of tobacco makes us cough.

A REAL GOOD THING.

During the last few years, largely owing to the great reduction in the price of iron and steel and improved methods of construction, the cost of railroad building has been greatly reduced. A civil engineer in the Southern States estimates that the cost of constructing a railroad there ready for rolling stock is $4,400 per mile. The cost of constructing a railroad through broken country is no doubt greater. But there seems to be no reason why the cost of constructing a railroad in level country in Canada should be greater than in the South. As the promoters here get a subsidy of $3,200 per mile from the Dominion government and $3,000 from the province, in all $6,200 per mile, and then bond and stock the road for all the money they can raise, it will readily be seen what a "good thing" they have.

The dyspeptic suffers more than his usual share of agony, during these sweltering hot days.

The languor and sluggishness caused by the heat, affect the digestive system, causing more than ordinary defects.

The blood is thin, watery and weak. It is feverishly hot. The heart beats more rapidly, causing greater strain on every portion of the human machinery.

Dizziness, fainting spells, sudden and severe attacks of diarrhoea follow.

The condition of the victim is deplorable.

Nevertheless, it is very easily remedied.

All that is needed is a short course of treatment with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

This will positively cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia—because Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food themselves.

The smaller brown tablets that go with every box, act on the liver and bowels, giving a perfect opening and stimulating treatment.

Thus the digestive system is put in perfect working condition. The blood is made pure and cool; the waste material is promptly carried off by the bowels, instead of being retained in the system, to rot and fester and poison the blood.

Health, strength and vigour follow the use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

You can distinguish the people who use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets from those who don't. Those who do, look robust, healthy and vigourous. Those who don't, look weak, sallow and languid.

RAILWAY CO. ON TOP.

By Good Organization and Hard Work They Gained the Day.

Hamilton, July 28.—About 2,500 persons out of the thousands of electors, and not more than three-eighths of the ratepayers, yesterday decided at the polls that it would be the proper and prudent thing to grant the Street Railway Company an extension of its franchise for 15 years. They also concluded by a large majority that they did not desire the Street Railway as a municipal concern, nor did they favor the spending of $50,000 on four new sewers.

The voting was as follows:

For the city purchasing the railway, 265; against, 2,048.

For the extension of the company's franchise, 1,658; against, 938.

Sewer bylaw, for 766; against, 1,725.

Bismarck Cannot Eat or Sleep.

Hamburg, July 28.—The health of Prince Bismarck is again causing his friends uneasiness. He has been confined to his bed for three days and suffers from insomnia. He has been absolutely without sleep for three nights and is unable to eat or drink. Besides his physician, Dr. Schweninger, Counts Herbert and William Bismarck with their wives are now at Friedrichsruhe.

Later reports confirm the statement that the Prince's illness is serious.

Canadians Willing to Oblige.

Detriot, Mich., July 28.—The Canadian locks at the "Soo" are being used almost entirely by some masters, as they claim that they get much better treatment there than they do on the American side. Masters say that the officials of the American locks refuse to take a line from them, while the Canadian officials are always ready and willing to help them.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? In Death. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

THE INTERCOLONIAL.

A Reorganization of Its Traffic Department Impending.

THE VISIT OF HIGH OFFICIALS.

Harvesting Operations at the Experimental Farm—Good Crops, Especially of Hay—Ministers and the International Conference — Crown Wins the Sugar Case and $30,000 Duty.

Ottawa, July 28.—More than ordinary interest attaches to the projected visit of General Manager Pottinger and General Freight Agent Wallace of the Intercolonial Railway to Montreal on Saturday. A reorganization of the traffic department of the road is impending, and it is believed that this is the special business that will bring these high officials west. Since the resignation of General Traffic Manager Harris on July 1 last the traffic offices in the Board of Trade have been closed. The staff were notified that their services would not be further required and their pay will cease on August 8. Some of these officials will most probably be retained in the service of the reorganized traffic department. Division Freight Agent Hardwell and District Passenger Agent Lambkin have continued to perform their duties, but otherwise matters are at a standstill at the Montreal end of the traffic department.

Crown Wins the Suit.

A private despatch was received by Deputy Minister of Justice Newcombe yesterday announcing the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in favor of the Crown in the case of the Canada Sugar Refining Co. This means that the company will have to pay $30,000 duty to the Government on a cargo of sugar imported in 1895.

Phenomenal Returns.

Harvesting operations are in progress at the Central Experimental Farm. The hay has all been saved well, and the crop has been very satisfactory, 68¾ acres have given 128½ tons, an average of nearly two tons per acre. The heaviest yield was obtained from a field of 17 acres of first crop, which gave 53 tons, being an acreage of more than three tons per acre.

The fall wheat plots have all been cut and the barley harvest now in progress. Fifteen acres of this grain have been cut, most of which will be ready to house in the course of two or three days.

The other grain crops on the Experimental Farm are looking well; their growth has been vigorous and rapid; they are all standing well, and there has been comparatively little rust. With the favorable weather which has prevailed, it is expected that the grain will be unusually heavy, and the returns highly satisfactory. Corn, roots and potatoes have made wonderful progress during the past two weeks.

International Conference.

The International Conference at Quebec promises to be the topic of interest in political circes for the next few days. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Louis Davies, Sir Richard Cartwright and Mr. John Charlton are expected here to-day or Friday, and on their meeting arrangements will be made to receive Lord Herschell and Sir Julian Pauncefote. The Canadian delegates to the conference will hold several meetings before proceeding to Quebec.

BOURGOGNE CALAMITY.

French Government Report Defends the Sailors.

Paris, July 28.—The Compagnie Generale Trans-Atlantique has given to the press the report of Captain Aubert, who was charged by M. Edouard Lockroy, Minister of Marine, with the inquiry into the disaster of La Bourgogne.

It goes very fully into details and is accompanied by proofs completely vindicating the crew of La Bourgogne of the charge of having attempted to assume their own safety regardless of that of the passengers. The report says: The crew of La Bourgogne did all that was humanly possible to organize a rescue. If outrages were committed they were committed by foreign sailors among the steerage passengers.

Canadian Decision To-Day.

Halifax, July 28.—The decision of Capt. W. H. Smith, R.N., who investigated the La Bourgogne-Cromartyshire disaster, will be delivered to-day.

THE FORTHCOMING SESSION.

The Mover and Seconder of the Speech From the Throne.

Toronto, July 28.—A newcomer, Mr. H. J Pettypiece, member-elect for East Lambton, will move the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne at the coming session of the Legislature.

Mr. S. Clarke, M.P.P. for West Northumberland, will, it is said, be the seconder.

To make one payment of $600 suffice for both the summer and winter sessions, it is proposed to adjourn the House immediately after the business of the session has been completed and meet again in January.

Zola's Name Struck Off.

Paris, July 28.—The Courier De Soir says that the council of the Legion of Honor has erased the name of M Zola, the novelist, now under sentence of a year's imprisonment and a heavy fine after conviction of the alleged libel of the members of the Esterhazy court-martial, and who is now understood to be in Switzerland.

Cheese Markets.

Peterboro, July 27.—At the cheese sale, held here to-day, about 5700 cheese were offered, the first half of July make. All the factories boarding sold for the same price. This was peculiar, as some factories are worth more than others. It was, however, satisfactory to the salesmen. They can all say they got the highest board price. The following sales were made: Whitton took in round numbers 1200 boxes, Hodgson 800, Jones 800, Cook 1500, Robins 800, Bailey 148, all at 7 9-16c. The board adjourned for two weeks. WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER.

Kidney Disease Man's Deadliest Foe Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, July 18.—"Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease," was the assertion of a prominent Toronto physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death-rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used, in every case of Kidney Disease, there would be no deaths from it.

A Fish Story Au Lait

The Lethbridge, N.W.T. News contains the following: A Cranbrook cow has developed a wonderful peculiarity, it being no less than giving sweet milk from one side and sour from the other. The owner accounts for it by the fact that the cow grazes mostly on a side hill, where the sun shines almost continuously on the side of the bag from which the sour milk is drawn. The Cranbrook Herald vouches for the truth of this wonderful story.

SPANISH VOLUNTEERS ATTACK AMERICANS.

7,000 of Them Charge the United States Forces

AND CAUSE THEM TO RETREAT.

The Bishop of Havana States That War is Justifiable Under Certain Circumstances.

Special 8 p. m. despatches to the Examiner.

Question of Compensation.

Berlin, July 28.—The National Gazette says: Although the Americans haste to obtain a footing in Porto Rico is rather contrary to the strict canons of military usuages, it is perhaps justified by the assumption that its conquest will place America in a better position to dictate terms of peace. As Spain is unable to pay indemnity America has a right to demand an enforced compensation.

War is Justifiable.

Havana, July 28—The Bishop of Havana, Mons. Manuel Santander y Fruitas, has published a pastoral, in which he says there are times when war is justifiable. The pastoral proceeds: The war which Spain is sustaining against the United States is a just war. Spain is doing nothing but defending her rights.

Americans Have to Retreat.

Madrid, July 28.—An official despatch from San Juan de Porto Rico says that 7000 volunteers compelled an American force advancing on Yanko to retreat.

France Made the First Overtures.

Washington, July 28—It can be stated on the authority of the State Department and the foreign ambassadors here, that there were no overtures in behalf of Spain for peace or a cessation of hostilities until the French Ambassador, late Tuesday afternoon, presented his note to the President. This statement is made with full knowledge of European denials, and must be accepted as that of the government of the United States. Therefore all the talk about bad faith shown by the U. S. government in pressing the Porto Rican campaign during the last few days is absolutely without foundation. Our government has done nothing that can subject it to criticism on this score. The alleged charges of bad faith against the United States, attributed to Premier Sagasta, are discredited as inventions designed to

PREJUDICE THE SUCCESSFUL PROGRESS

of the present peace movement. It could not be comprehended a moment that any more personal exchange of views between persons in Europe could be construed as overtures for peace. Some of this back door gossip, as it is denominated at the State Department, it can be again affirmed, the U. S. Government has not been a party to it. Moreover, so far as Ambassador Cambon is concerned, it can be stated that he made overtures direct or indirect, official or unofficial, relating to peace prior to 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. In general international law writers agree that military operations stop only when a truce is actually concluded, and the truce must be in writing. Until then the mere preliminary overture towards a suspension of hostilities is not regarded as any warrant for stopping the war.

BISMARK IMPROVING.

He Slept Fairly Well Last Night and Smoked This Morning.

Special to the Examiner.

Hamburg, July 28.—Prince Bismarck has somewhat improved since yesterday evening. His condition might be described as fairly good. But for violent pains in his feet and face he would have passed a good night. As it was he passed a good night, sleeping fairly well. This morning the Prince read the newspapers and smoked his pipe in bed.

KING'S MESSENGER WINS.

The Goodwood Cup Goes to Lord Penryhn's Colt.

(Special to The Examiner.)

London, July 28—The third day's racing at the Goodwood 1898 meeting to-day Lord Penryhn's three-year-old bay colt, King's Messenger, won the Goodwood Cup. Pie Powder was second and St. Cloud third.

EXPLANATORY.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Your account of the circumstances of the deplorable accident yesterday seems to have been founded, in one respect at least, upon information that was a little at variance with the real circumstances. Previous to the accident yesterday our company had been informed that one of our wires was crossed with the fire alarm wire. This matter was promptly attended to, but the trouble with the fire alarm wires continuing, the employee of the Bell Telephone Company is searching for another cause met with the terrible accident. We wish to point out that as soon as our attention was called to the crossing of the wires the matter was attended to, and some other cause, yet unknown to us, was the origin of the deplorable accident.

Yours truly,

DROWNED AT HANLAN'S.

MISS MAY ROBERTSON, OF PETERBOROUGH, LOSES HER LIFE.

Her Sister Marian Rescued by Wilkes Steward, Who Jumped From a Steamer—Upset in a Canoe.

Toronto bay claimed another victim last night, and had it not been for the heroic action of a young man named Wilkes Steward, who pluckily swam to the rescue, there would have been a double fatality. The young lady who lost her life was May Robertson, about twenty years of age, and her sister, who was saved, was Marian Robertson, who is about twenty-five years old. Both are daughters of Mr. John McAllister Robertson, a carpenter, of Peterborough.

At 8.20 p.m., just as darkness was drawing down, the steamer Primrose left the city for Hanlan's Point, where it arrived at 8.35. The two young ladies, who had hired a canoe at John Hanlan's boathouse, were paddling about, enjoying the cool breezes on the water. As the steamer approached they waited and allowed her to pass some distance in front of them, and then, as she was drawing into the slip, they started to paddle across her swells. May Robertson was in the stern, and it is presumed that she was not very expert in the management of a canoe. The craft was soon in the trough of the waves, and in a trice upset. Their cries immediately attracted attention, and Mr. Wilkes Steward, who was standing on the upper deck of the Primrose, hastened downstairs and discarding his coat leaped over the railing and swam to their aid. About 75 yards separated him from the struggling girls, and before he could reach them May had already gone down. He succeeded in reaching Marian Robertson, however, and seized her by the back of the neck. The young lady made frantic efforts to save herself by clutching her rescuer, and greatly endangered his life. Mr. Stewart, however, soon gained complete control of her, and swimming to the upturned canoe, raised her and placed her across the keel. In this perilous position he remained for some minutes until a row boat reached the scene and brought them safely ashore.

At the time of the accident a row boat with a lady and gentleman in it was quite near the scene, and it is stated by eye witnesses that they passed within a boat's length of the two young ladies but instead of offering assistance they turned quickly around and rowed off toward the city.

The ferry company's employees reached the scene in row boats shortly after the upset, and with members of the Toronto Swimming Club sought for the body for 40 minutes. Grappling irons and pike poles were used to no avail, until at last a swimmer located the body and after some effort brought it to the surface. Constable Johnston and Inspector Stephen, who were present, took charge of the body, and, together with Dr. O'Reilly, endeavoured by means of artificial respiration to resuscitate the body. For over an hour they worked, but it was of no avail, for the poor girl had been under water 40 minutes and the last spark of life was gone. The body was afterwards removed to B. D. Humphrey's undertaking establishment, and Coroner Johnston was notified of the accident. The father was telegraphed to last night and made aware of the sad occurrence.

The two young ladies were both employed as housemaids upon the Island. May was working at the residence of Mrs. Rattan, who lives on the lake shore, and Marian is employed by Mrs. Obanessor, who keeps a boarding house on the Island.

Mr. Wilkes Steward, who effected the rescue of the elder girl, is an actor who has frequently appeared at the Bijou Theatre. He was brought up in Toronto and is passing a few days visiting his friends here.

Mr. Stewart was interviewed by a Mail and Empire reporter last night. "I was on the Primrose," said he, "and saw the accident. I waited a few minutes to see the girls picked up by one of the half dozen pleasure boats which were near at hand. Seeing, however, no attempt rescue, I ran downstairs, threw off my coat and hat, and jumped in after the girls. I swam as fast as I could to where the girls were, and got there just in time to pull up one as she was sinking for the third time. I grasped her dress just above the waist and held her at arm's length, telling her to keep still and she would be all right. There was a row boat near and I pulled the girl up to the gunwale, telling the people in the boat to pull her in. I swam round to the other side to balance it, and climbed in. I then pulled the girl in. The lady in the boat was very much afraid that I would upset them, and the man did not seem to know what to do. I was pretty angry, and told them so. Finally I had to take hold and row myself. I rowed north first, but could find no place to land, and so I put about and landed on a shelving place near the boathouses. That's what occurred so far as I can remember it."

It was stated last night that the girl who was drowned was able to swim, while her sister, who was saved, could not. A watch on the dead girl's body stopped at 8.45 p.m.

A telephone message was received at the Croft House at midnight relative to the drowning and Mr. Sam Campbell walked down to Mr. Robertson's, on the corner of Hunter and Sheridan streets, to break the sad news to him. Mr. Robertson went to Toronto on the 7.10 a. m. train and is expected to bring the remains home this evening. The deceased has four sisters and two brothers, Walter and Alex., the latter being an employee of the Canadian Canoe Co.

TAKEN TO MURVALE.

J. D. Kelly's Remains to be Interred at His Old Home.

The remains of the late James D. Kelly, who met such an awful death yesterday through coming in contact with the electric wires on Charlotte street, were taken to his former home in Murvale, near Kingston, on the 12.12 a.m, C.P.R. express at midnight.

Messrs. J. P. Bryson and John O'Brien, of Court St. Peter, Catholic Order of Foresters, accompanied the body to Murvale as a last mark of esteem to one of the most highly esteemed members of the Court. Fully a score of brother Foresters turned out and marched to the station. Many of them expressed the sympathy they felt for the widow as she entered the train accompanied by the representatives of the Court.

GRADES OF STONE.

As Turned Out From a Crusher—Their Various Uses.

Five different samples of the stone crushed by the Massey-Sawyer crusher were received at the town clerk's office this morning. Beginning at the granite dust the size of the pieces grew larger in each sample until they attained the size of a robin's egg, which grade is considered the most suited for macadamizing. The dust makes a good top dressing to fill in the interstices, and the intermediate grades are used for granolithic pavement work.

M'NICOLL SAYS NO.

DOES NOT LOOK FOR A SETTLEMENT OF THE RATE WAR.

Opinion of the General Passenger Agent of the Canadian Pacific—That Line Drops one of its Cut Rates.

The Globe says:—Rumours of a settlement of the rate war were again revived by the presence in the city yesterday of Mr. D. McNicoll, General Passenger Agent of the Canadian Pacific, and Mr. W. R. Callaway, General Passenger Agent of the Soo Line, which is a Canadian Pacific road. Both these gentlemen, however, were at Buffalo attending the meeting of General Freight Agents, and their presence here is said not to be in connection with the rate war at all.

If the remarks of some of the chief officers of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk are well founded the rate war will not be settled without a further struggle. General Manager Hayes of the Grand Trunk is reported as saying that he did not look for any immediate settlement either of trans-continental or local rates, and Mr. D. McNicoll made practically the same statement to a Globe reporter yesterday morning. It might appear from this that the negotiations between the two companies for a settlement of local rates had fallen through, but railroad men still appear hopeful of a settlement.

Mr. McNicoll, in reply to a question by a Globe reporter, said emphatically:—"I do not see any possibility of a settlement of the rate war."

"Are local rates likely to be restored?"

"No, both the local and transcontinental rates hang together, and one will not be restored unless the other is. The Grand Trunk started all this thing by allowing the American lines to use its line for through traffic at below tariff rates. I have been summoned to appear before the Interstate Commerce Commission at Chicago on Monday and will represent the Canadian Pacific Railway there." Mr. McNicol left for Montreal last night.

However, the first practical step towards a withdrawal of any of the cut rates locally has been made by the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is a small matter on the face of it, but the Grand Trunk people are chuckling because the Canadian Pacific made the first move. When the rate war extended to local points the Canadian Pacific made cuts of 50 per cent., and more to points on the Grand Trunk Railway where the Canadian Pacific did not touch. The Canadian Pacific sold the passenger a through ticket to these points, the passenger going to the nearest Canadian Pacific junction point, and then a ticket over the Grand Trunk to his destination being purchased for him by the Canadian Pacific. This morning the latter line withdrew its cut rate between Toronto and Whitby, which has been 60 cents. Passengers between these two points went by Canadian Pacific to Myrtle, thence Grand Trunk to Whitby, being given the money to purchase the ticket from Myrtle to Whitby. The regular rate from Toronto to Myrtle itself by the C. P. R. was $1.15, and passengers who wanted to get ahead of the road adopted the following plan: If they wanted to go merely to Myrtle they purchased a through ticket to Whitby for 60 cents. At Myrtle the Canadian Pacific agent gave them the money to purchase their ticket to Whitby, 25 cents, which the passenger simply put in his pocket, so that he made the trip between Toronto and Whitby for only 35 cents. The Canadian Pacific became aware of this and dropped the rate altogether. It is expected that the cut rates to a number of other junction points will be cut off at once.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

There was a big turn-out of senior players on the field last night, and at the conclusion of practice the following strong team was selected to play against Beaverton: Goal, Dobbin; point, Lynch; cover point, Brown; defence field, Glover, Mein and Jim McCabe; centre, King; 3rd home, Hogarth; 2nd home, Jack McCabe; 3rd home, Phelan; outside home, Lipsett; inside home, Mooney; field captain, Bert Dolan.

This is the first time that the home field players has been composed of the men who will play on it to-morrow, and as the Beaverton defence is very strong, those interested in the local team and its work will await the result with interest.

The Peterboroughs will put into practice an entirely new mode of attack to-morrow, which will also be something worth observing closely.

The team which plays on Friday is in great shape, and the order has gone forth that the game is to be played out to the last minute. The Executive will watch every play in order to ascertain the weak and strong points, to assist them in picking out the strongest team possible to play in the final matches.

Another communication was received from the Tecumsehs this morning and there is hardly a doubt but that this fast Toronto team will play here on August 8th. The splendid match which they gave the Peterborough's last year is fresh in the memories of all, and a big crowd should greet the visitors.

A Toronto Exchange says:—The Judiciary Committee of the C. L. A. rose up last night and cut somewhat of a swath and now two clubs are out of the game, and many players have no right or privilege in the Canadian Lacrosse Association.

Parkhill is in the Western Intermediate League and Dundalk is in the Grey District. They are both ambitious and as Brampton has a lot of men who play good lacrosse, each team secured their assistance. The Excelsior men played under assumed names.

The Judiciary Committee suspended both teams from the Association for the rest of the season.

The A. A. A. of C. were advised to look into the amateur standing of the men.

The members of the Judiciary were pleased to be able to state that, from what they could learn, the management of the Brampton Club were innocent. The President of the C. L. A. stated that he was indebted to three of the members of the Brampton Club for information they had given him in connection with the violation of the constitution by the six Brampton players.

THE WHEEL.

Yesterday morning a leading chemist in our town took it into his head that he could beat anything that ever rode a bicycle for money or marbles. He ran across a leading tailor who took up the gauntlet. They proceeded to East Nicholls Park together with a gentleman from Rochester who was to hold the stakes ($50 a side), start them and hold the watch. They stripped and appeared in tights (just swimming trunks) and went at it. It was to be just two rounds. The chemist won hands down by about 400 yards; time, six minutes and twenty seconds. After the stakes were handed over and the racers well rubbed down, the druggist challenged the stakeholder for the stakes ($100) just for one lap, as he was rather fatigued. The challenge was accepted. The race was run, when, behold you, the Rochester flyer beat the druggist by as much as he beat the tailor and in about the same time, although the distance was but half. Both tailor and druggist were then rolled in cotton and oil and brought home and the next race is between the druggist and Rochester gentlemen.

RULES FOR HUNTERS.

A Representative Meeting Held at Brockville—Resolutions Passed Embodying Their Ideas.

Brockville, July 27—In view of the queries sent out by Mr. E. Tinsley, chief game warden for Ontario, the deer hunters of this section met yesterday at the St. Lawrence Hall to discuss the present game laws and to suggest changes. The gathering was a representative one of those who make an annual hunting tour. After some discussion a resolution was passed embodying their ideas. It expresses approval of the $2 fee charged hunters and the limitation of the number of deer allowed each hunter to two. The number being limited, the resolution was that the clause permitting the use of hounds be left as it is, and that the clause prohibiting the killing of deer in the water be repealed. The greatest slaughter the huntsmen attribute to pot hunters out of season, and they recommend that the money received from licenses be expended in engaging at good salaries, efficient inspectors to watch the hunting grounds during the season. At the request of the hunters there were present G. P. Graham, M.P.P., R. L. Joynt, M.P.P., and G. A. Dana, Ex-M.P.P.

CAN'T ENJOY LIFE

Because of nervousness, dyspepsia, heart trouble, etc. Lots of people just have to sit and look on while their healthy, vigorous friends have all the enjoyment of a strong and robust body. Dr. Ward's Pills will bring back health, strength, snap, vim and energy to even the weakest and weariest of suffering humankind.

A BAD INVESTMENT MADE GOOD.

I have half a gross of empty bottles upon my shelves. Everything my neighbors and friends would tell me to try I would go straight away to the drug store and purchase. I was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia and liver troubles and was getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged buying one medicine and the other and receiving no benefit that I was about giving up all hope of ever getting better, when my husband brought me home a box of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, which he said had been highly recommended to him. I began using them at once, when, to my great surprise, I felt better in a very short time and continued them for about two weeks more which cured me entirely. I have not the least sign of dyspepsia or liver troubles now, and have also gained several pounds in weight.

Signed, ANNIE E. GAUNTLEY,
King Street, Berlin, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

HE WAS WELL MADE UP.

The Cause of a Wonderful Hit Made by the Late Bill Nye.

James Whitcomb Riley tells a quaint story of his former lecturing partner, Bill Nye. It was the opening of their joint season. They had both been rusticating during the vacation and were brown as berries. Nye looked much like an Othello in his sunburned make up, and Riley suggested to him the application of some "liquid white," a cosmetic much affected by the gentler sex of the profession.

Nye sent for the preparation, and never having used anything of the kind before he filled the palm of his hand with it and carefully smeared it over his countenance. There was no mirror in his primitive dressing room, and Riley was beautifying himself on the other side of the stage.

The "liquid white" dries out somewhat like whitewash, and when Nye appeared before the audience he was a sight to behold. His head looked like a frosted top piece on a wedding cake. His face, white as the driven snow, was expressionless and blank. The audience shrieked, and when he came off from his first selection they demanded his reappearance. He obliged them to howls of laughter. Again he made his exit, and again was redemanded by the uproarious audience.

Believing he had made a hit, he was about to return to the stage when he was caught by the arm by Mrs. Nye, who cried, "William Edgar Nye, what have you got on your face?"

"Nothing but its usual expression, my dear."

"Expression! Fiddlesticks! You're a fright," cried his wife, and leading him to where there was a piece of broken looking glass showed him how he looked.

Nye was mortified, and catching sight of Riley, just about going on the stage, he would have undoubtedly followed him on and been revenged but for the intervention of Mrs. Nye.

His head was scraped, combed and washed, and his next selection was read without "a hand" from the audience. Moreover, the story is a fact and not a press agent's production.—Detroit Free Press.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping.

TYMPANITIS.

A Disease From Which Hundreds of Cattle and Horses Die.

Every year, says The American Cultivator, there are hundreds of cattle and some horses die from the trouble known as tympanitis, hoven or bloat, which last name conveys a good idea of the nature of the disease, which is an accumulation of gas in the stomach or paunch. The cause may be eating too much green clover, growing grain or grass, particularly when wet with dew or fog or frost or by such fodder cut down and partly wilted and in some cases by having eaten too much meal, brewers' grains or distillery slops, as when an animal gets to the bin and greedily eats its fill. Partially decayed roots may cause it, or the presence of some obstruction in the gullet, that causes partial choking.

The breathing is hard, with moans as if choking, the eyes bloodshot and staring, and the body swollen, most especially in the left flank, and death will result in a few hours or sometimes in less than one.

If choking is the cause, the obstacle may be removed, either by finding some one with hand and arm small enough to reach down the gullet after it and take it out, often not very difficult, if it is an apple or root, or it may be removed by pushing it down with a probang, for which a whip handle if stout enough is not a bad substitute; by crushing it between a block and mallet or calling a surgeon to open the gullet and take it out.

If it is caused by food fermenting in the stomach, place the animal so that the fore feet are the highest, to take the weight of the stomach off the lungs. Put a bit or stick in its mouth, stretching it open well and pour buckets of cold water on the back, from some height, to cool her and check fermentation. Very likely the shock may start the gas upward, and even some of the food with it, and the open mouth will enable it to be discharged, giving relief quickly. A dose, two ounces of baking soda dissolved in a pint of warm water and turned down, will check fermentation, and it will be better if a half ounce of ginger or of carbonate of ammonia is added, or even two fluid ounces of extract of peppermint. These doses may be given once an hour if the bloating continues, but if they fail to result in an escape of the gas and no relief comes it will be necessary to puncture the paunch, using a trocar about one-quarter to half inch in diameter if it can be had, although we have seen it done, and well done, with a common jackknife.

Shropshire Sire.

The first and most important point to be achieved is early maturity; secondly, close, dense fleece of a medium length and fine staple. If the ewes are of a large, coarse character, the ram should be the reverse—fine in his bone, but stylish and attractive in appearance—but if, on the other hand, the ewes are small and fine, then a larger and heavier ram will be required. It is not the ambition of Shropshire breeders to get their pet breed to the size of an Oxford or Hampshire or as small as a Southdown.

However, in either case the ram should have a straight back, wide loin, well sprung ribs, shoulders well put on, with the tail set on a level with his loin; neck short and thick, head masculine in appearance and well supplied with wool down the nose and no tendency to grow horn; wide between the ears, which should not be heavy and drooping, but small, fine and erect; wide nostrils and prominent eyes. The face should not be of too black a character, but a slight shade of brown. Legs should be well outside of the body, with wool from the toes. There should be a straight, gay carriage, an active walk, no tendency to peel about the jaws or belly and the skin of a cherrylike pinkness.—Mr. Ward.

Forestalling Evolution.

All breeders of pedigree stock, says an English correspondent of The Breeder's Gazette, take upon themselves a most onerous and responsible task. They undertake to forestall evolution and to determine which animals are the fittest to survive. I can remember in a comparatively short time vast changes brought about in the Shropshire, and I may venture to say that the alterations have been great improvements, but in trying to improve some points there is a danger of deterioration in other qualities. Therefore breeders individually and collectively have to be on their guard to avoid serious mistakes, for the improvements and mistakes they make are spread broadcast over the land to the advantage or disadvantage of agriculturists in general. That man is fortunate who has learned by experience the animal he requires—that is, what faults he must always avoid and what faults he is content occasionally to put up with—for it won't do to repeat any fault too often—and also what points are essential. When he has acquired this, he has learned the art of breeding.

No other preparation has ever done so many people so much good as Hood's Sarsaparilla, America's Greatest Medicine.

Nelson King of Carleton Place Suicided Outside the Town.

Carleton Place, Ont., July 27.—Nelson King, generally supposed to have been implicated in the Blair poisoning case, was found hanging to a tree on the outskirts of the town yesterday afternoon.

The New Governor-General.

London, July 27.—The Morning Strand, commenting upon the appointment of the Earl of Minto as Governor-General of Canada, says the announcement disappoints the calculations of political gossips. There is no reason to suppose, the Strand continues, that the Earl of Minto will prove unequal to the duties he is called upon to discharge.

The Daily News, referring to the appointment, says Lord Melgund will do well to follow in the footsteps of his immediate predecessor, the Earl of Aberdeen. The less the new Governor-General interferes in Canadian politics, the News further states, the better he will fill the position to which he has been appointed.

The Evening Globe says that from the Earl of Minto may be reasonably expected five years of vigorous rule.

The Austrians Released.

Havre, France, July 27.—In accordance with the orders of the public prosecutor, the six Austrian sailors of the wrecked French Line steamer La Bourgogne, were liberated yesterday and their prosecution was dropped, owing to lack of evidence.

Extradited for Alleged Burglary.

Detroit, Mich., July 27.—Frank Ozier, who served a term here for smuggling and who was ordered to be extradited to Canada on the charge of burglary, was delivered to the Canadian officers and taken across the river yesterday.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash	$5,006 00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for	8,280 00
3rd, or take the profits in cash	2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

In olden times mistaken enthusiasts used to inflict upon themselves all manner of painful and horrible tortures. Men scourged themselves with whips and hot irons, and rubbed vinegar into the wounds and wore hair-cloth next to their skin day and night.

Nowadays such cruel torture is discountenanced. Nevertheless, men and women go on torturing themselves, only in a different and more serious manner than of old. They neglect their health, and neglected health means physical torture of the worst description. It means slow starvation. Because a man forces food into a weak and impaired stomach, it does not follow that he feeds his body. The life-giving elements of the food taken into an impaired stomach are not assimilated into the blood. Instead, the impurities of the sluggish liver and bowels are taken up and carried to all parts of the body. The consequence is that the body is not only starved but poisoned. The immediate result is physical suffering from which the old time zealot would have drawn back in horror. The final result is disease and death. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a scientific remedy that acts according to natural laws. It is not a violent spur to nature or a mere artificial appetiser. It gently, but surely and permanently, promotes the natural processes of secretion and excretion. It creates appetite, makes the assimilation of the food perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It builds up firm, muscular flesh. It cures nervous exhaustion, debility, sleeplessness and all the evils that follow in their train. Found at all medicine stores. Accept no substitute that may be represented as "just as good."

"I can heartily recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' to anyone troubled with indigestion and torpid liver," writes M. G. Crider, Esq., of Leonard, Harlan Co., Ky. "My disease was chronic. Our family physician could do nothing for me. I could not walk nor help myself. I could not eat anything but it caused a horrible distress and gnawing in my stomach. I have taken four bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one vial of your 'Pellets' and can work all day."

LIFE IN A WARDROOM

THE OFFICERS' QUARTERS ON BOARD A MAN-OF-WAR.

Where All Except the Commander Eat, Live and Have Their Social Being—Naval Etiquette Isolates the Man Whom All Others on Board Must Obey.

The wardroom on a man-of-war is the living place of all the older officers of the ship, with one exception, the commanding officer. He lives by himself, has his own cabins, his own mess, his own servants. Naval etiquette and custom have established this habit of isolation for the man on the ship who has command of all the rest. The reason is undoubtedly to be found in the very fact that he represents extraordinary power. Under these circumstances any attempt to forget the superiority of his rank by means of a common cabin or messroom for him and his subordinates would only result in embarrassment on both sides.

This does not mean that he may not be sociable, for much depends upon the man. But it is safe to say that any show of effusiveness among those who live abaft the mast must come from his side, if he wishes it to be general. The situation is a delicate one.

In the freer air of the wardroom we find from 10 to 20 officers living together, the number varying with the size of the ship. Their ages may range from 25 to 50, and they are of all ranks above that of naval cadet, and of all corps. Engineer officers, line officers, medical officers, marine officers, one pay officer and one chaplain, may all be included in the wardroom of a large ship. These men live in staterooms arranged about a common space, which is known as the "wardroom country." This assumption of a space of prairielike dimensions is comparatively truthful in the cramped quarters of a ship. In this "country" exists the social life of the wardroom. Here these men of varied callings, yet all of the sea's following, live, move and have their social being.

A day spent in a wardroom by a landlubber would reveal many interesting differences between naval officers and their brethren on shore. To begin with, they are more cosmopolitan in their speech. The men in our wardrooms are gathered together from all parts of the Union. Local discussions find but an uninterested audience, or even a derisive one, so that a naval officer gets accustomed to speak and think of all the 45 states as belonging equally to him. Outside of his own country he is so great a traveler that very few civilians can keep up with the way he skips in conversation from China to Peru or to Tasmania. Other characteristics that are quickly noticeable are his simplicity, his cheerfulness and his heartiness. The wardroom is constantly resounding with laughter. The men in it are healthier than men who live in houses. They get up earlier in the morning and go to bed earlier at night. Most of our wardrooms are bustling with officers at 7 o'clock in the morning.

A glance at the breakfast table shows the senior line officer presiding, and the other officers placed near him according to rank. At the other end of the table is the man who has been elected by his messmates to direct the catering of the mess. Between this early meal and the breakfast proper, which comes at half past 11 or 12 o'clock, there is not much life in the wardroom, for the daily military routine is full of drills and exercises which keep most of the officers on deck. There are drills with great guns and with small arms, drills in clearing ship for action, drills in handling ammunition and many others—all of them rooted in the one idea that you must preserve your own life by destroying that of your enemy.

As soon as an officer returns to the wardroom from one drill and begins a conversation or perhaps hums a song he is interrupted by the bugles on deck and must buckle on his sword and return to another drill.

At every call to quarters all officers must report themselves ready for duty. The chaplain and paymaster, having much less to do with drills than the other officers, are usually the first to be back in the wardroom, where there is other work for them. The medical officer has gone forward to the sick bay to look after his patients.

When the midday breakfast comes, there is the first breathing space for a little leisure and relaxation. But the drills for the day are not yet over, and at 1 o'clock the bustle is resumed throughout the ship. A sudden call may come for collision drill, or fire drill, or battalion drill. If at sea, a floating target may be dropped overboard, and for an hour the ship be shaken from stem to stern by the discharge of guns. From 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon there is generally a respite from work, and the wardroom begins to show signs of being a home. Some in it are reading or writing, others are smoking or playing games or loafing. Still others are in their rooms taking the seaman's afternoon nap. But at 5 o'clock the drills and exercises come again.

By 6:30 o'clock there is a feeling that one can sit down and dine without fear of interruption. The mess as a whole is now gathered together, and the meal is generally a thoroughly enjoyable and delightful affair. After it is over there are cigars, games, music, or the right to withdraw within oneself without exciting remark. By 10 o'clock most of these sailors are in bed, but even now the drills may not be over. At midnight the bugles may sound, and in two minutes all the ship's company be rapidly making ready for an enemy.—New York Post.

Dodd's Kidney Pills the Only Cure on Earth for Bright's Disease.

Toronto, July 25.—Bright's Disease has once again been conquered in Toronto. And in this case, as in every other that has been cured, Dodd's Kidney Pills effected the cure.

Here is what the person most deeply concerned says about the matter:

"I suffered with Bright's Disease and impure blood for some time, and all my efforts to find relief or cure were fruitless.

"I was persuaded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I had only used two boxes when my cure was complete." Fred Borland, 677 Markham street, Toronto.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured every case of Bright's Disease for which they have been used. They never fail.

Rough on Solomon.

The following incident happened at one of the "catecheesms" which are held periodically in Scotland for all the members of the kirk of a certain district.

"The lesson was in Ecclesiastes," says Mr. Johnston, "and one day they had been discussing the verse in which Solomon says, 'Among a thousand men I have found one, but among a thousand women have I found not one,' meaning one just and good and upright. And an old Scotchwoman, when she had listened in silence and heard the rest accept it as present and gospel truth, got her dander up and rose to her feet.

"'Hoot!' she said indignantly, her eyes blazing. 'Do you find why that was? It was because nae dacent woman wad be seen in his company.'"—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

How, Indeed?

She—Do you believe in platonic love?

He—I hardly know. Do you?

She—Well, of course there may be such a thing, but—but—well, between two such people as you and—and—

He—No, not between you and me. Ah, Helen, platonic love would not do for me! I must speak. Can you—can you—

She—Oh, Alfred, how did you guess my secret?—Chicago News.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

The Cost of War.

The result of the Crimean war gave to the British nation not one single foot of foreign soil nor any pecuniary compensation whatsoever. The only benefit derived from the war, which lasted two years, was to keep Russia out of Constantinople and give the English a way to India and the east that was undisputed. For this end the British lost 23,744 men killed in action or died from wounds, cholera or other diseases. The loss to the French allies in the same campaign has been estimated at 63,500 and the Russians as high as 500,000. The war also cost the British $205,205,000. War is a costly as well as a dangerous business. It is the court of last resort with nations nowadays as it was the first in ancient times.

CANADIAN HOGS LEAD.

Armours Say they are Far Ahead of the American—Some Hints on the Best Method of Hog Raising.

Mr. F. W. Hodson, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, has received a letter from the Armour Packing Company in reference to a small trial shipment of Canadian hogs recently slaughtered by them. They say: "The shipment consisted entirely of Yorkshires. The meat produced by them is of excellent quality, very firm and the fat perfectly white. The appearance of this lot of hogs was splendid, and we anticipated at the time we slaughtered them that we should be able to get sufficient premium on account of the excellent quality of the meat to quite repay us for the extra expense to which we went, paying duty, etc. We slaughtered the Canadian hogs along with an equal number of carefully selected light Missouri hogs, gave the goods exactly the same care and shipped them at the same time. Unfortunately, however, the English market for Wiltshires, into which out the hogs were made, had declined considerably since we put the goods down, and they therefore showed a rather smart loss, so that from a financial standpoint, our experience was not a success. It was, however, a revelation to us to see the splendid condition and fine appearance of the Canadian hogs, and we feel very sure that the Canadian system of careful breeding is the correct one. We have come to the conclusion that the best breed of hogs for the fancy export trade is a cross of a Tamworth boar and Yorkshire sow. The food for the first four months of the pig's existence would make really very little difference whether it be corn or smaller grains. However, from four months up to the time it is marketed, say for six months, we are of the opinion that the use of corn should be discontinued entirely and the animal fed on peas, barley or crushed oats, with a fair proportion of green vegetable food. We are also of the opinion that the weight of the hogs should not exceed 200 pounds, nor do we think that more than six hogs should be fed together in a pen, then there is crowding among them at feed-time, and it is necessary that the animal should be given all the comfort possible.

"We have seen some very fine hogs raised in dairy districts, and we believe that Ontario is singularly fortunate in this respect, having such a large number of dairy farms. These always bring good, healthy pigs, with a fine quality of meat. The Canadian hog-raiser is away ahead of the American at present, at least in so far as the English market is concerned. The Canadian signed Wiltshires command a very high premium, and rank almost equal with the finest Danish bacon on the London market."

PLEBISCITE POINTERS.

Toronto prohibitionists are distributing campaign literature at the rate of 50,000 leaflets per week.

The Government has ceased to issue permits for the sale of liquor in the Klondyke.

When General Wolseley was in command of the militia in Canada he said to his officers, "Gentlemen, I am going to do without liquor, and I hope you will do the same," and he gained his wish.

At the annual meeting of the American Medical Temperance Association held recently on Staten Island, nearly all the papers were read by their writers, and the discussions were of much interest, especially to medical men. Patent medicine nostrums were vigorously handled, particularly such concoctions as 'Coca Wine,' and 'Vin Mariana, which not only contain large percentages of alcohol, but liberal quantities of cocaine as well.

In the United States the liquor journals are all tooting the same tune just now. "Give the liquor men a chance," they say, "and they will put Uncle Sam on his feet in a short time." This suggests the story of a doctor who had amputated both legs of a patient, and on being asked how the patient was getting along, said, "Splendidly, I will have him on his feet in a very few weeks." Give the liquor men their way and it will not be long before Uncle Sam will not have so much as one foot to stand on.

Says the Washington Liquor-Dealer:—"The horrible spasms of some of the temperance papers over the alleged dissipation of college youths did not prevent the winning of the race by Cornell." In connection with this it may be worth while to remember the fact that in one respect Cornell is strictly a prohibitory college. "Coach" Courtney will not allow any man who pulls an oar in the Cornell crew to drink. And it also may be worth while remembering that Columbia, whose crew is said by the daily papers to have been the only one that used liquor during their training, did not win at Saratoga, but suffered a very humiliating defeat."—'Voice.'

The president of the Oxford County Plebiscite Association, the Rev. W. A. Mackay, D.D., of Woodstock, gives the following methods of that association for the benefit of residents in counties where the problem of raising a campaign fund and of effecting a complete organization of the municipalities has not been solved.

The Rev. Dr. Mackay says:—'I was asked to explain to the large convention at the Horticultural Pavilion our methods, but there was so much work before the convention that it was not possible. Our methods are very simple, but they are very successful. We secure two or three men on a salary who are well known in religious and temperance circles. We have them make a complete canvass of every house in the territory allotted to them, going up and down each concession and talking to the people in their homes in a plain, friendly way. They are also instructed, at every house where the people are friendly to prohibition to solicit a subscription, be it only five cents. The work pays for itself, as the collections thus made invariably cover the expenses of the canvasser, while it is much more complete than if left to mere voluntary effort. The canvassers' books show a very large majority for prohibition, such as to indicate that Oxford county will again be the banner prohibition county of Ontario.

PEERS CAME HIGH.

Mr. Ernest Terah Hooley Tells the Prices He Paid for Their Acquaintance—A Frank Promoter.

London, July 28.—The public examination in the Bankruptcy Court yesterday into the affairs of Ernest Terah Hooley, the company promoter, for whose property, on his own application, a receiver was appointed on July 23, attracted a big crowd of people. The debtor attributed his failure chiefly to his partner, a man named Rucker, crippling the business by drawing out £500,000 within two months. In detailing the floating of the Dunlop Tire Company, Mr. Hooley said the names of the directorate cost from £80,000 to £100,000, including Lord Albemarle £12,500, and Lord De la Warr £25,000.

In connection with his flotation, Mr. Hooley also said he lost £63,000 on "press calls," there being charges intended for people connected with newspapers whose names have not been divulged thus far, though it is expected they will be made public in due course of time.

Later during the course of his testimony, Mr. Hooley detailed the payments he had made to newspapers, including, it appears, the Pall Mall Gazette, the Financial Post and a number of smaller papers.

When Mr. Hooley was questioned about £10,000 paid to Harry Marks, editor of the Financial News, Mr. Hooley denied that it was connected with the insertion of "puffs" in that paper.

As a matter of fact, the supposed profit on the floating of the Dunlop Tire Company, amounting to £1,700,000, had been "sweated away to under £200,000."

Mr. Hooley further asserted that he paid many thousands of pounds for introductions to Lords Ashburton, Warwick, Norbury and others, and he testified that the Earl of Winchelsea received £10,000 for acting as chairman on one of the bicycle tube manufacturing concerns.

The testimony is creating even more of a flutter in the west of London than in the city proper. The revelations concerning such men as the Earl of De la Warr and the Earl of Albemarle have been received with astonishment. Numerous instances were disclosed by Mr. Hooley in which a peer bearing a proud title would charge the promoter a sum ranging from £500 to £2,000 for an introduction to another peer. Thus Mr. Hooley said the Earl of Delaware received £2,000 for an introduction to Lord Greville, while Lord Deerhurst, who married Miss Bonygne of San Francisco, was paid £2,000 for an introduction to Lord Ashburton.

One Carried, Two Defeated.

New York, July 28.—The presidents of the Anthracite coal roads, at a meeting held yesterday at 143 Liberty street, decided to raise the prices of coal to full schedule rates and to reduce the output for August to the lowest point the trade has ever known. The miners, who now work on an average two days a week, will work during August perhaps only one day each week.

London, July 28.—The Prince of Wales is progressing so favorably that it has been definitely settled to remove him to Cowes on Saturday.

The Teacher.

One cause of the low standing of the teacher's calling is lack of extended professional training. Professions easily entered are not usually highly respected. The medical profession has been cited as an illustration. Not long ago, when one could be a physician without special training, the profession was not very highly esteemed. Now, when extended training is demanded both by public opinion and by law, the profession is respected as one of the highest. In like manner the teaching profession would undoubtedly increase in favor were training of a high order demanded. In fact, we find the respect for the profession varying in different countries and in different grades of the school system almost in direct ratio to the education and professional training required of candidates.—Forum.

Didn't Call Her Mary.

It is said that the native servants in Hawaii used to call their mistresses by their first names. An English woman of strong will determined on her arrival in Honolulu that her servants should never call her Mary and instructed them carefully in the presence of her husband. One day, when she had visitors, her cook put his head in at the drawing room door and politely inquired:

"What vegetables for dinner today, my love?"

He had heard her called that and seemed proud of remembering not to say Mary.—New York Tribune.

THE PEACE PROBLEM

Complicated by Increasing Land Hunger in the U. S.

THE PHILIPPINES RETENTION.

Peace Terms Outlined, But Not Officially Promulgated As Spain Now Understands McKinley Terms Are Acceptable If No Indemnity Is Asked and the Philippines Are Left Them.

Washington, July 28.—Secretary of State Day was closeted with President McKinley for less than a half-hour yesterday afternoon over the response to Spain's note, suing for peace. When he left the White House Mr. Day announced that the reply of this Government would be given to Spain Friday or Saturday. Meantime, its tenor, so far as the Administration is able to do so, is to be closely guarded from the public. Many persons who called on the President yesterday on political matters made enquiry as to the peace situation, but gathered little important information. Several, however, who have talked with the President and Secretary Day, say the Administration is prepared to meet any steps the Spanish Government may take.

"Our terms will be such as to meet the approval of the entire world," one of the Cabinet Ministers is quoted as saying to-day, but farther than that he would not go.

It has been suggested in some quarters that Spain has been disingenuous in making the advance of last Tuesday, and that her real purpose was to develop the position of the United States respecting the Philippines, hoping in this way to secure the active support of some European powers that have so far held al of from her. While this belief is not seriously entertained at the State Department, the Government, without regard to its soundness, will proceed in a plain, straightforward way to let Spain know what is expected of her, if she desires peace.

Meeting the Spanish overtures with frankness, the United States will demand that it should be treated in the same spirit.

The present disposition of the American Government is to demand no money indemnity from Spain, although it might fairly be questioned whether the small proposed territorial acquisition of Porto Rico and a couple of coaling stations is anything like an adequate recompense for the half billion dollars' expense that the war has imposed upon the United States. From this time on, however, the Spaniards are to be held to good faith by imposing upon them any further and additional charges to which the United States is put.

About the only point that seems to be open to an amendment of an extensive character is the disposition of the Philippines. While the Administration has not failed to take notice of the extent of the demand for their acquisition by the United States, as exhibited in certain sections of the country, it can be stated that the conclusion has been reached to abide by the first decision on this point, namely to relinquish the islands, retaining a coaling station there surrounded by a sufficient zone of land to make it self-supporting. This decision, it is possible though not probable, may be again changed before the Cabinet disposes of the matter to-day, as strong influences are at work to induce the President to insist upon the substitution of at least an independent government over the Philippines for Spanish rule. If this point shall be difficult of settlement the answer to Spain may not be rendered, but may have to wait upon another Cabinet meeting next Tuesday. The report from Madrid toward the close of the day that the newspapers there had given their approval to the terms of peace described by the President, went toward relieving a certain feeling of discouragement that was manifested at the opening of the day, for it was patent that members of the Administration apprehended a rejection of her demands by Spain at the beginning.

It may be pointed out in this connection that if we are really as near to peace as many people suppose, it will become necessary to issue a call for an extra session of the Senate to act promptly upon the peace treaty.

No word came from General Miles yesterday, and the War Department assumes that he is pursuing his advance across the Island of Porto Rico toward San Juan.

THE PROBABLE TERMS.

At First Sight They Seem Rather Onerous—May Yet Be Modified.

Washington, July 29.—The independence of Cuba under the protection of the United States; the assumption of the Cuban debt by Spain; the cession to the United States of Porto Rico; assumption of the Porto Rican debt by Spain; the retention by the United States of Ladrone Islands; the permanent cession to the United States of a coaling station in the Philippines, with some castiron agreement which will bind Spain to a form of government which will be satisfactory to the people of the islands in case she is allowed to retain sovereignty; coaling station in the Carolines; coaling station in the Ladrones; payment by Spain of all just claims of American citizens; payment by Spain of a comparatively small indemnity. The above are the principal features in the rough draft of the reply that President McKinley will make to the message of the Queen Regent of Spain, which Secretary of State Day is formulating to be read at the Cabinet meeting to-day. These general features are the extreme limit of terms which the Administration will concede, and which Spain must accept before there can be any further peace negotiations.

TERMS OF PEACE ACCEPTABLE.

Providing Spanish Sovereignty in the Philippines Is Recognized.

Madrid, July 29.—With the understanding that no indemnity will be demanded and that Spanish sovereignty in the Philippine Islands will be [illegible], the newspapers here consider the terms of peace, attributed to President McKinley, as being acceptable. The papers, however, protest against the continuance of hostilities by the United States after Spain has sued for peace. The Minister of War, General Correa, is arranging for the reception to Spanish troops which surrendered at Santiago de Cuba, and is preparing sanitary stations in order to prevent the introduction of diseases into Spain.

MANY HAVE YELLOW JACK.

Being of a Mild Type Hope Is That the Death Rate Will Be Small.

Washington, July 29.—The report of General Shafter, showing that there was a total of 3,770 cases of sickness in the army in Cuba, has given the officials of the War Department considerable concern, but the reports heretofore made that the yellow fever cases were of a mild type encourages the hope that the death rate will be small. The large number of fever cases reported, 2,924, shows that not only yellow fever, but typhoid and other kinds are numerous.

The Record for Wednesday.

Conditions for the 27th: Total sick, 4,122; total fever, 3,198; new cases fever, 822; cases fever returned to duty, 542; deaths, 8. Shafter, Major-General.

Shafter's Army to Come Home.

Secretary Alger has given orders for the removal of all of General Shafter's army as soon as the men, in the discretion of the commanding officer, may be safely brought back to a camp on Montauk Point, L.I.

Camara Is at Cadiz.

Madrid, July 29.—Capt. Aunon, Minister of Marine, has received a despatch from Admiral Camara announcing that his fleet has cast anchor at Cadiz.

VILLAGE WIPED OUT.

Quebec Lumbering Town at the Mercy of the Fire Fiend—Help From Quebec City.

Roberval, Que., July 29.—About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon fire declared itself in a stable belonging to Mr. B. A. Scott of the Roberval Saw Mills. In the space of two hours about 15 houses fell a prey to the flames and, as a result, about 35 families, all employed by Mr Scott, were last night without shelter. A great number lost most of their household effects.

Last night the fire raged on the wharves about 300 or 400 feet from the saw mills, and there is great danger of it spreading to them. A steam engine left Quebec by special train, and a special train also left Chicoutimi with about 75 men, who will render all possible assistance. The amount of loss and insurance cannot be ascertained.

GOING OVER TO THE YANKEES.

C. P. R. Steamships Tartar and Athenian to Become U. S. Transports.

San Francisco, July 29.—The Canadian Pacific steamships Tartar and Athenian are anchored in Vancouver harbor, having been taken off the Klondike route. Their stores are being removed and they are to become United States transports. As they are British naval reserve boats, they cannot be transferred to the American Government directly, so they will pass through the hands of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, being converted into troopships by Uncle Sam.

The Athenian is registered at 4,600 tons and is constructed to carry 1,500 men, and the Tartar is a 4,000-ton ship, built to accommodate 1,200. Both ships

LESSONS FROM LA BOURGOGNE.

Captain Smith's Report on Disaster to French Liner—Capt. Henderson Exonerated—Racing in a Fog—Steamers Leave Regular Course, Too, and Contribute to Ocean's Dangers.

Halifax, July 28.—A decision was rendered yesterday in the matter of ocean steamship travel by the Government wreck commissioner, Capt. W. H. Smith, R.N.R., on the causes of the collision between the French steamer La Bourgogne and the British ship Cromartyshire.

Associated with Capt. Smith in the Court of Inquiry were Capt. Bloomfield Douglass, R.N.R., and Capt. Lewis Anderson, assessors, both of whom concur in the decision.

Captain Henderson and the officers of the Cromartyshire are declared free from responsibility for the disaster, and their conduct after the collision is pronounced to have been most praiseworthy. The evidence, it is asserted, was clear that the ship had been properly navigated, while the steamer, instead of endeavoring to avoid meeting the Cromartyshire, had apparently made no effort to do so though it seemed certain that the ship's fog horn was heard by the French officers.

The Bourgogne, it is stated, was running at a very high rate of speed, whereas she should have maintained only moderate speed on account of the thick fog through which she was racing. Besides this she was a long distance out of the course laid down in the Atlantic pilot chart. The captain of the Cromartyshire considered the steamer to be 160 miles north out of her course, but Capt. Smith is of opinion that the distance was not so far.

Capt. Smith says the Bourgogne's average speed from the time of leaving port was between [illegible] kn. The crew of the ship are given credit for doing all that was possible in the direction of searching for survivors. It is of much importance to all concerned, says the commission, that steamers carrying a large number of passengers between New York and European ports should, if practicable, traverse the Atlantic upon such safe courses that in all probability would take them clear of the most dangerous localities. These routes should be established by law and adopted by the Governments of the various nationalities, and they should be laid down where the least amount of fog would be met. If these steamers would adhere to the routes laid down for their benefit, and not deviate any more from them than the state of the weather would compel them to do, danger would be minimized.

It is well known that many steamers do not follow prescribed routes, but when they think proper deviate from them for the purpose best known to themselves. There is good reason to suspect that this very important arrangement receives only a spurious kind of adherence, and many of those who, it is thought, approved of them do not seem to consider there is any meaning in the notice. I desire to suggest to the various shipping companies and the Government a safer route for trans-Atlantic steamers which, if adopted and followed, would take vessels entirely clear of fog, and probably would not be the means of much time being lost. The distance would not be very materially lengthened, and on the eastern passage ships would have the benefit of the Gulf Stream and no detention in slowing the engines in fog. The route I propose is as follows: Leaving New York, a course direct from Sandy Hook to longitude 70 west and latitude 40 north, and follow that parallel of latitude until longitude 47 west is reached, then each ship pursue the great circle course, either to Fastnet Rock lighthouse, coast of Ireland, or the Scilly Islands, as the case may be. On the westerly or outward passage steamers should go 30 miles to the northward of this route. Upon such a route probably no fog or icebergs would be encountered.

So far as a number of the large Atlantic liners of all nationalities are concerned, proceeding at a moderate speed with their vessels in a fog seems to be a thing of the past, and the article compelling it might just as well be expunged from the rules altogether. Officers of some steamers persist in going at full speed in fog, even upon the coast, and passengers who have crossed in them state that the speed of the ships is seldom reduced, even when at times the fog is so dense that one end of the ship cannot be seen from the other, or sometimes the flagstaff at the taffrail aft is not in sight of the officer upon the bridge. Although such vessels have hitherto escaped a casualty, the officers sailing in them know perfectly well that they must be prepared for an accident to happen at any moment, which may possibly result in a serious loss of life.

A Fresh Inquiry Ordered.

Paris, July 29.—M. Edouard Lockroy, Minister of Marine, has decided to order a fresh inquiry into the loss of La Bourgogne. If it is found that any of the crew failed of their duty, they will be punished. M. Lockroy has also decided to submit to the Chamber of Deputies a bill providing measures for the better safeguarding of ocean navigation.

His suffering from Ulcerating Piles Cured.

He says:—I was troubled with itching piles for five years, and was badly ulcerated. They were very painful, so much so that I could not sleep. I tried almost every remedy heard of, and was recommended to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. I purchased a box, and from the first application got such relief that I was satisfied a cure would be made, I used in all two boxes, and am now completely cured.

Every remedy given by Dr. Chase cost years of study and research, and with an eye single to its adaptation for the ailments for which it was intended. Dr. Chase detested cure-alls, and it has been proven ten thousand times that not one of his formulas leave a bad after-effect. Dr. Chase's Ointment is based on lanoline, and the best physicians prescribe it.

WORKS BOTH WAYS.

The Opposition journals are continually ringing the changes on the "constable-elected members," and at last we are confronted with pictures of the seven Conservatives who have been deprived of seats in the Legislature by these terrible constables. All that is really involved in this, says the Globe, is that the elections were close, and that the constables probably voted for the Liberal candidate, as they had a perfect right to do, and as they would have done if they had not been constables. It would be easy to make up in the same way a list of "constable-elected" Conservative members of the Dominion House of Commons:

Assiniboia West—Davin—(by returning officer's vote	1
Beauharnois—Bergeron	48
Bothwell—Clancy	59
Bruce, N.—McNeill	31
Dundas—Broder	62
King's, P.E.I.—Macdonald	15
Marquette, Man.—Roche	67
Montmorency—Casgrain	50
Perth, N.—McLaren	46
Restigouche, N.B.—McAllister	44
Richmond, N. S.—Gillies	22
Westmoreland, N. B.,—Powell	15
East York—Maclean	3

We do not regard the fact of these members holding seats in the House as an outrage or a cause for rebellion. It is altogether probable that persons were made constables in these constituencies, that they voted for the Conservative candidate, and that without their votes the Conservative candidate would have been defeated. What of that? They would have been defeated if any other equal number of votes had been withheld from them. But it would be very silly to call them constable-elected members." The bulk of their votes were those of citizens who were not constables. The Ontario members are in precisely the same position.

It may be said that there was a difference in that the constables were clearly entitled to vote without special legislation. Very well, let us go back to the election of 1887. Then legislation was deemed necessary to legalize the votes not only of constables but of poll clerks and deputy returning officers. And the following Conservative members were elected by majorities so narrow that in all probability the votes of the officials turned the scale:

Algoma—Dawson	18
Grey, North—Masson	37
Haldimand—Montague	1
Huron, West—Porter	27
Kingston—Sir John Macdonald	17
Lennox—Wilson	23
London—Carling	39
Monck—Boyle	98
Muskoka—O'Brien	39
Norfolk, South—Tisdale	61
Northumberland, West—Guillet	37
Peel—McCulla	43
Peterborough, West—Stevenson	16
Victoria, South—Hudspeth	47

All these deputy-elected and poll clerk elected members of Parliament passed a law confirming the right of the officials to vote. One of them, Sir John Macdonald, himself introduced the bill. His own election had been protested on the ground, among others, that the officials had cast their votes for him.

WHEAT UP AGAIN.

The Big Drop of Wednesday at Chicago Followed by an Increase in Price at Liverpool.

Thursday Evening, July 28.

Liverpool's failure to respond to Wednesday's decline at Chicago caused the latter market to open weak this morning. New wheat receipts were not very heavy and the September and December options rose a cent over yesterday's final figures. The good demand for cash wheat sent the July delivery up 1½c. Though the market retained nearly all the advance at the close, the feeling was weak, owing to the outlook for big farmers' shipments.

On the Liverpool board the premium of July wheat over later deliveries continues to lessen. During to-day's session this month's article declined 1½d, while the September option advanced ½d and the December option ¼d per cental. Paris wheat closed 40 centimes lower to 5 centimes higher for the day. Antwerp wheat was 25 to 50c lower.

Ontario wheat was steadier at Toronto to-day.

Hay sold at $7 to $9 per ton for 7 loads of old and $5 to $6.50 for 20 loads of new.

Straw—Two loads sold at $6 per ton.

Toronto Live Stock.

Receipts of live stock at the Cattle Market to-day were large—77 loads, composed of 1350 cattle, 600 sheep and lambs, 1800 hogs and 125 calves.

The drought in many parts of the province is causing farmers to part with their fat cattle before they are finished, and to some extent this accounts for the large run here to-day, which in quality was not as good as usual.

Trade was slow, few buyers being on the market, and prices for exporters were 10c to 15c per cwt. lower than on Tuesday.

Export cattle sold at $4.25 to $4.60 for the general run, with 10c to 15c more for one or two extra choice loads.

Light export bulls sold at $3 to $3.50, and heavy export bulls at $3.80 to $4.12½.

Loads of good butchers and exporters, mixed, at $4 to $4.15.

Butchers' cattle—Choice picked lots sold at $4.12½ to $4.25, loads of good $3.75 to $4.12½, medium $3.50 to $3.75, common $3.25 to $3.40, inferior $3 to $3.25 and very inferior rough cows and bulls $2.75 to $3.

Heavy feeders and muffalo stockers, of which there was quite a number, were slow of sale at prices unchanged.

Milk cows sold at $28 to $46 each. There were about 18 on the market.

Calves were in fair demand at prices unchanged.

Prices for sheep are unchanged, but spring lambs being plentiful, prices for them were weaker, selling at $3 to $3.50 each and $4 to $4.75 per cwt.

Hogs were plentiful, 1800 being sold at $5.87½ to $6 for best selections off cars, heavy fats $5, light fats $5.50 and Essex and Kent corn-fed hogs worth $5.25 and not wanted at that.

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, July 28.—There were about 700 head of butchers' cattle, 300 calves and four sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The hot weather and the unusually large supplies had a very depressing effect on prices, and there was considerable decline all round, excepting for the best cattle, which are in demand for shipment to Britain. Prime beeves sold at from 4¾c to 4¾c per lb.; pretty good stock sold from 3½c to 4½c, and common stock at from 2½c to 3c per lb, while some of the leaner beasts and hard looking bulls would not bring much over 2c per lb. There was a drop of nearly $1 per head in the price of good calves, which sold at from $4.50 to $7.50 each; common calves sold at from $1.50 to $4 each. Good sheep sell at about 3¾c per lb; lambs are much lower in price; good lambs sell in lots at from $3 to $3.35 each, common lambs at from $2.35 to $2.75 each. Fat hogs sell at about 5½c per lb.; a good lot, just come off the cars, were sold yesterday at $5.65 per 100 lbs.

PETERSEN FORFEIT.

The Question Asked Whether It Will Be Exacted.

LORD HERSCHELL AT MONTREAL

Our Trade With Trinidad Will Be Much Encouraged by Our Preferential Tariff Deal With the Colony—The Long Service Medals—A Convenient One-Cent Stamped Envelope.

Ottawa, July 29.—Now that the firm of Petersen, Tate & Co. are out of the fast Atlantic contract, the question is being asked, Will the Government exact the £10,000 which, according to the agreement, they have forfeited to the Crown? The subject has not yet received the consideration of the Government, and it is not possible to indicate the decision, but there are many circumstances which lead to the supposition that the firm will not be harshly dealt with for a failure which is due to no fault of their own. From the inception of the negotiations Mr. Petersen's firm have given every evidence of a genuine desire to carry the contract to a successful conclusion, and the view has been presented that they should not be made to suffer unduly because, owing to circumstances beyond their control, the outcome has been a disappointment. They accepted the contract on conditions which were altogether favorable to the Government, and they could have unquestionably succeeded in the flotation of the enterprise had they not been impeded by hostile influences emanating from interior quarters. From the outset their plans were opposed by the Allans, who had tendered unsuccessfully and by rival transatlantic steamship companies which feared the competition of the subsidized line. They struggled bravely to overcome all these obstacles, and never relaxed their efforts until the expiration of the extended time limits. Having given such indubitable proofs of their good intentions, they will doubtless appeal to the Government to treat them generously, and not to add to the pangs of disappointment at their failure the exaction of this heavy penalty.

Lord Herschell at Montreal.

The Associated Press despatch from New York, announcing the departure of Lord Herschell for Ottawa, was apparently the result of a misunderstanding of his Lordship's plans. Hon. Mr. Scott, Secretary of State, the only Minister at present at the capital, and whose duty it would have been to receive the distinguished visitor, made inquiry of the New York Central, the Canada Atlantic, Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways as to the movements of Lord Herschell, but did not succeed in locating him at any point between Ottawa and New York. It was learned, however, late in the afternoon, that Lord Herschell had reached Montreal, and that he had been received by Sir Wilfrid Laurier there. American despatches mention August 10 as the date upon which the Quebec Conference will open. No definite time has been fixed by the Canadian Government, but the British and Canadian commissioners will be disposed to acquiesce in any arrangement that will suit the convenience of the United States representatives. At the Cabinet meeting, which it is expected will be held to-day, final arrangements for this important international event will be made.

The Stamped Envelope.

The one-cent stamped envelope shortly to be issued by the Postoffice Department has many features to commend it to the public. Its utility, convenience, cheapness and artistic appearance will combine to make it popular, particularly with the business community. The price in excess of the face value is ten cents per hundred less than that of the old stamped envelopes, so that 100 of the new one-cent stamped envelopes may be obtained at any postoffice for $1.90. The envelopes, apart from the stamp, cost only 20 cents per hundred. The paper is excellent and so is the makeup of the envelope, while the stamp embossed thereon is from a die wrought in the most finished style.

Long Service Medals.

Nothing is known here of the statement that the Imperial Government has decided to allow the Canadians a long-service medal.

Amongst officials in the department it is suspected that a confusion has arisen between the granting of the Veterans' medals and the application for the long-service medal. General Hutton, the new G.O.C., and Major Foster, the new Quartermaster-General, sail from England on Aug. 11, and will reach here towards the end of the month.

Our Trade With Trinidad.

The Department of Trade and Commerce yesterday received a lengthy report from Mr. E. Tripp, commercial agent at Trinidad, who states that the very warmest appreciation of the Canadian preferential tariff is felt in Trinidad, and that this feeling is enhanced as nothing is asked in exchange. As Trinidad is under a tariff for revenue only, they could not have enjoyed the preferential trade had a quid pro quo been demanded. They also feel relieved by the denunciation of the Belgian and German treaties. Mr. Tripp foretells largely increased trade, especially in cereals and dairy products.

Cardinal Taschereau's Successor.

There is considerable speculation in clerical circles with regard to the probable successor of the late Cardinal Taschereau. The diocese of Quebec has the honor to select a cardinal. On the other hand it is thought that the appointment of an English-speaking archbishop to the cardinalate would have a beneficial effect in drawing more closely together the French and English races. In this connection Archbishop Walsh of Toronto is spoken of. Another name as well has been whispered, and that is of the Archbishop of Ottawa, the Right Rev. J. T. Du Hamel.

Killed in an Upset.

Miss Christine Mitchell, housekeeper for Mrs. John Maclaren of Ottawa, was accidentally killed yesterday by the upsetting of a rig in which she was driving at a locality near Quyon, on the Ottawa river.

PERCY GIROUARD'S GOOD LUCK.

Secures a Position in Egypt Worth $3,000 Per Annum.

Montreal, July 29.—Percy Girouard, son of Hon. Judge Girouard, of the Supreme Court of Canada, has been appointed chief in the Egyptian railway system at a yearly salary of £3,000 sterling, by the Imperial Government. Mr. Girouard is now in London.

Thomas Foster, an employe of the Bell Telephone Company, lost his life by a shock while on a telegraph pole yesterday.

Peter Campbell of Toronto had placed a stone in position on top of the wall forming the approach to the Soulanges canal, and was stooping over to call out to a companion below, when his head came into violent contact with a higher portion of the wall. He started back and fell a distance of twenty feet, breaking his neck.

Lord Herschell, the British delegate to the Quebec conference, arrived here yesterday, being met at the depot by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The two proceeded to Ottawa. As in New York, his Lordship refused to be interviewed.

Decision Against the Chinaman.

Buffalo, July 29.—Collector Bradish has received a decision from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Howell, sustaining the action taken by Immigration Inspector De Barry in refusing to allow Lee Chun, a Chinaman, to enter this country from Bridgeburg, Ont. APPALLING DEATH

From Kidney Disease Prevented by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

"Kidney Disease." Do you know what it means? It means that the kidneys are either rotten, or rotting; the blood is full of poisonous, death-dealing corruption; that the Kidneys can't do their work; that the victim is a walking charnel-house; that his hours are numbered; that the victim MUST take Dodd's Kidney Pills if he does not want to die.

Have you Kidney Disease? Is your skin hot and dry; memory failing; breath short; urine, reddish, or pale colored; does it scald when passing; is your appetite changeable; do your ankles swell; have you bitter taste in the mouth on getting up mornings; is there a brick-dust deposit in your urine?

Any of these signs is proof positive of Kidney Disease. Will you be cured, or will you die? Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only means on earth that will cure you. They never fail.

A STRANGE SENTENCE.

Punishment For a Murder That Was More Cruel Than Death.

In 1801 a man died in the Catskills who had been condemned by one of the strangest sentences on record. Ralph Sutherland was born in 1701 and lived in a stone house near Leeds. He was a man of violent temper and morose disposition, shunned by his neighbors and generally disliked. Not being able to get an American servant, he imported a Scotchwoman, and, according to the usage of the times, virtually held her in bondage until her passage money had been refunded.

Unable to endure any longer the raging temper of her master, the girl ran away. Immediately upon discovering her absence the man set off in an angry chase upon his horse and soon overtook her. The poor woman never reached the house alive, and Sutherland was indicted and arrested on the charge of murder.

At the trial he tried to prove that his horse had taken fright, run away, pitched him out of the saddle and dashed the girl to death upon the rocks, but the jury did not accept the defense, and Sutherland was sentenced to die upon the scaffold.

Then came the plea of the insufficiency of circumstantial evidence and the efforts of influential relations. These so worked upon the court that the judge delayed the sentence of death until the prisoner should be 99 years old.

It was ordered that the culprit should be released on his own recognizance, and that, pending the final execution of his sentence, he should keep a hangman's noose about his neck and show himself before the judges of Catskill once a year to prove that he wore his badge of infamy and kept his crime in mind. It was a more cruel decision than the sentence of immediate death would have been, but it was no doubt in harmony with the spirit of the times.

Thus Ralph Sutherland lived. He always lived alone. He seldom spoke. His rough, imperious manner had gone. Years followed years. At each session of the court the broken man came before the bar of justice and silently showed the noose that circled his neck.

At last his ninety-ninth year came, the time when the court had ordered that the utmost penalty of the law should be executed. For the last time the man tottered before the judge's bench, but new judges had arisen in the land, new laws had been made, old crimes had been forgotten or forgiven, and there was none who would accuse him or execute sentence. Indeed the awful restriction that had bound his life so intimately to the expiation of his crime was now legally removed.

But the spirit of self punishment continued, and when Sutherland, after he had passed his hundredth year, was discovered dead, alone in his house, his throat was found to be encircled by the rope which had been placed there nearly three-quarters of a century before.—Youth's Companion.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER.

Kidney Disease Man's Deadliest Foe Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, July 18.—"Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease," was the assertion of a prominent Toronto physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death-rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used, in every case of Kidney Disease, there would be no deaths from it.

UNITED STATES TERMS OF PEACE.

Surrender of Cuba and Cession of Porto Rico.

THE PHILIPPINES LEFT OPEN.

U. S. Citizens Want to Keep the Philippines.

SPAIN SICK OF THE BUSINESS.

Special 3 p. m. despatches to the Examiner.

Spain Gloomily Resigned.

New York, July 29—A Madrid despatch to the World says President McKinley can get peace within twenty-four hours, including the surrender of Manilla and Porto Rico if he will waive indemnity in money and not be too hard in his terms respecting the Philippines. The Spanish people are gloomily resigned to peace having lost confidence in all political parties, in their statesmen and in their generals.

London, July 29—The Daily Graphic this morning that there is a probability of an international question arising over the difficulty of dealing with Cuban debts since a majority of the Spanish bond holders are French.

General Corbin Ill.

New York, July 29.—Washington special says:—Much concern is manifested regarding the health of Adjt.-Gen. Corbin. Close attention day and night to his duties finally compelled him to take to his bed.

McKinley's Reply to Spain.

Speculation on the scope and contents of President McKinley's expected reply to Spain's recent overture for peace continues active, but so far no hint reached the public of the formal answer now in course of preparation. It would not be surprising if the delivery of the reply was delayed until next week.

Manilla Reported Surrendered.

Paris, July 29.—A despatch from Madrid to the Paris edition of the New York Herald says the Spanish Government has received a cable message announcing the surrender of Manilla to Rear Admiral Dewey.

In Favour of Holding Philippines.

San Francisco, July 29—The Merchants Association has adopted a resolution, petitioning the President to hold and retain the Phillipine Islands. Similar action will probably be taken within the next day or two by the Chamber of Commerce and other business organizations.

U. S. Terms of Peace.

Washington, July 29—Following are the general terms of United States conditions of peace: The absolute cession of Porto Rico; relinquishing of Spanish sovereignty in Cuba; the cession of several small islands near Cuba and Porto Rico to the United States; releasing the deposition of the Philippines subject to future negotiations.

A FATAL EXPEDITION.

Sisters of Charity Lost in the Woods.

Escanaba, Mich. July 29—Four Sisters of Charity of the Delta County Hospital are lost in the woods of East Maywood, eight miles north. The sisters went to pick berries, and up to a late hour last night a searching party had failed to locate them.

THE NEW CHAMPION.

Since the death of the famous Charles Fish, formerly champion bareback rider of the world, his only rival, young William Wallett, the English champion, now stands first. He accomplishes on bare horseback now what no one ever did before, the feat of standing on the horse's bare back, throwing somersaults, and alighting, not astride, but standing on his feet. He is with the Walter L. Main Shows, coming to Peterborough on Saturday, July 30th.

Ill Temper

Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, by quickly and painlessly removing them, insures good nature. Fifty imitations prove its value. Beware of substitutes, "Putnam's," sure, safe, painless.

BACK FROM CAMP.

Members of All Saints Co. Came up on Wednesday Last.

All Saints Co. No. 30, of the church Boys Brigade, returned from their summer outing on Wednesday last, after spending several weeks camping at Jubilee Point, where they were treated with the utmost kindness and courtesy by the hotel authorities.

The camp was a most successful one from every point of view, there being no trouble of any kind, and the discipline and order most satisfactory. The appended curriculum was drawn up at the opening of the camp and rigidly adhered to:

Reveille, 5.30 a.m.
Breakfast, 6 30 a.m.
Inspection tents, 7 a.m.
Prayers, 7.15 a.m.
Drill, 7.30 a.m.
Orderly room, 9 a.m.
Dinner, 12 a.m.
Tea, 6 p.m.
Prayers, 8 15 p.m.
1st Post, 9 p.m.
Tatoo, 9.30 p.m.
Lights out, 9.45 p.m.

Sergt. Ringer, with Mr. Harry Sherwood to assist him, was in charge of the boys, and Rev. W. L. Armitage went down on Monday, remaining until the close, when on behalf of the boys he presented Sergt. Ringer with a set of gold cuff links and Mr. Sherwood with a pretty scarf pin, as mementos of the outing and as an evidence that the boys had appreciated the trouble which had been taken for their benefit.

The boys had their plans all laid for a "hot time" on the night previous to breaking up camp, and as the last night is generally given over to skylarking a lot of fun was anticipated, but the lads enjoyed themselves so thoroughly at the Sons of England picnic during the day that they were quite played out and ready for bed at their usual hour.

OBITUARY.

The Pioneers Fast Passing Away—The Late Eleanor Ingram Chamberlain—The Late Mrs. Michael Condon.

On Friday, July 29th, 1898, Eleanor Ingram, relict of the late Wm. Chamberlain, of Otonabee, passed away at the age of 80 years and 9 months, death resulting from bronchitis, complicated with an affection of the heart. The deceased, who was a sister of Mr. Evans Ingram, was a native of Belfast, Ireland, where she was born in 1818. She came to Canada with her mother 66 years ago, and settled in Otonabee, where she has since resided continuously, with the exception of a few years spent in Peterborough at the time of her marriage. At the time of her settlement in Otonabee there were only two or three houses on the present site of the Town of Peterborough. The first place of settlement was the Wm. Harris farm, about three miles from town, yet to reach town a circuit of eight miles was required, the detour having to be made to avoid the numerous creeks that intersected the country when it was covered with forest. The deceased was married 56 years ago, and 50 years later her husband died. The result of the marriage was a family of ten, of whom eight are living—Mrs. Francis Frankish, of Douro; Mrs. James A. Fife, of Smith; Mrs. Jos. H. Taylor, of Otonabee; Mrs. Daniel Kelly, of Otonabee; Mrs. Fred Reynolds, of Douro; Mrs. John Dixon, of Otonabee, and Messrs. W. E. Ingram, of Douro, Mr. Thomas Ingram, of Otonabee. The deceased members of the family were Mrs. Geo. Esson, of Otonabee and Edmund Ingram.

Mrs. Ingram enjoyed good health during her life, coming of a long lived family, her mother dying at the great age of 104 years. Mr. Evans Ingram is the only surviving member of the family of five that settled among the first in the county. She was a member of the Methodist church, and was well known for her many excellent qualities as a friend and neighbour.

Funeral from the family residence, lot 28, in the 8 h concession of Otonabee, on Sunday at 3 o'clock.

THE LATE MRS. MICHAEL CONDON.

Last night about nine o'clock Mrs Margaret Condon, relict of the late Michael Condon, passed away at the family residence, 174 Aylmer street, at the age of 86 years. She was only ill since Monday, having succumbed to summer complaint. The deceased lady was a native of Cork County, Ireland. She came to Canada in 1825 with the first of Hon. Peter Robinson's immigration parties and with her family settled in Douro, where she married and lived till about ten years ago, when the family removed to Peterborough. The family at one time consisted of five daughters and six sons. Rev. Father Patrick W. Condon, of the church of the Sacred Heart, Canal street, New Orleans, is the only one of the sons known to be living. Of the daughters three are living at home and the two married are Mrs. James Tighe, of Nebraska, and Mrs. John McManus of Douro.

Funeral from the family residence, 174 Aylmer street, to-morrow morning at eight o'clock, to the family burial plot, St. Joseph's church, Douro.

LISSOME LOUISE.

The Tumbling Nun.

Girls seldom graduate from convents to become professional athletes, but such it seems has been the experience of lissome Louise Eddy, of historic old Gran Pre of Evangeline fame. After a happy little girlhood up to the age of twelve, attending in the fall and winter months the school of the Sacred Heart at her home, and in summer months touring foreign countries with her parents and her handsome big brother Jean, it was in her twelfth year, while sojourning in Paris, that her parents were induced to have her complete her education in the convent of Marseilles, France. It was a lonesome three years to the petite, pretty brunette, yet within three years she graduated with honours, and joyfully returned to America and her family. Her three years' association with those pure-souled women of the convent had indelibly stamped upon her heart the only course she felt she must pursue through life to be always content and happy. Then she commenced, child-like, to reform the family, not, however, in religious matters. It was only a fancy of Louise's, this prudishness, so they termed it. The family (as had been Louise) are the celebrated Eddys, of acrobatic fame, commanding a combined salary as big as a bank president's. Louise didn't think it proper, so she said, to turn flip-flaps in tights, and she made such a fuss over it that finally just to please the baby tumbler (aged seventeen) the family undertook to bring out the act in full evening dress for the gentlemen and ball room dress for the ladies, resulting (at the end of a year's secret rehearsals, many falls and narrow escapes from death) in developing the greatest and most refined acrobatic act the world has ever seen. Lissome Louise, just as petite and saucy as ever, but a refined, pure young girl, a convent graduate, holds now, by unanimous vote of the whole profession, the proud title of Queen of the Acrobatic world. The family are touring this country this season. They are with The New Great Walter L. Main Shows, coming to Peterborough on Saturday, July 30.

RASPBERRY PULP.

An English Firm Seeking a Product Which Canada Might Furnish—How it is Made.

The following letter has just been received at the Ontario Department of Agriculture from Anderson & Coltman, of 5 Philpot Lane, London, E. C., and Liverpool, Eng. It is forwarded through Mr Harrison Watson, Canadian Curator of the Imperial Institute:

"Referring to raspberry pulp, about which we spoke to you this afternoon. This is an article in very large consumption here, and this is a particular season in which we think your friends (if large quantities are grown in Canada) would do well to make a trial shipment. We have had considerable quantities from Australia. Some three years ago we had several tons, but since then, owing to the dry weather, etc., their crops have not been large enough to enable them to ship. The form that this is put up in Australia is either in cases of two square tins of eleven pounds each, gross weight. The Australians have generally packed in the square tins, as it makes a little difference in the freight in consequence of round tins taking up more room, but the bulk of the pulp which we receive from the continent, which is mainly apricots, is generally shipped in the round tins, and these, we think, are more suitable for carrying, as the square tin is very apt to crack at the edges and corners, which creates leakage. We cannot tell you how long the raspberry is cooked in the process, but no additional water must be used, the fruit only being put into the tin, and we think only sufficiently cooked to complete the necessary vacuum. The great object for this article, of course, is colour and firmness of of fruit, and you will understand that no sugar must be added, but only the fruit itself packed. We should estimate that value to-day would be roughly about £30 per ton gross in tin, ex wharf, London. As it is now getting late into the year there is not much chance of any of your friends packing any this season, as they would not probably have the tins ready for use, but if any of them would like to pack a small quantity, we could very soon advise them as to whether the article was of the right nature, and, then, matters, could be ready for another season. In a year like the present, when rather a short crop is expected here, and that following an exceptionally short crop here last year, we could probably very easily dispose of four to five hundred tons. Last year the crops were so light that in January and February last if we had any pulp here, we might have made £50 to £60 per ton for it.

HAVELOCK.

Combined Picnic of Two Prominent Fraternal Societies.

A splendid success was the combined picnic of the A. O. U. W. and Independent Oddfellows of Havelock. These societies believe in fraternity and live up to their belief, and the happy way in which they fraternized on July 27th, will be long remembered by those who enjoyed the occasion.

The combined picnic was held in the beautiful Mathieson picnic grounds, and the usual picnic festivities were heartily enjoyed by a large number of the friends of the two societies.

In addition to the ordinary programme there was a baseball match for a purse of $5, between the home team and a Trent Bridge nine. The visitors did not have very brilliant success, the score standing at the end of the game, Havelock 25, Trent Bridge 1.

In the turf events that enlivened the picnic the Green Trot was won by J. McDermott's Dixie, in the 2nd, 3rd and 4th heats, from Cole's chestnut. These started in the 2.40 trot, which went in straight heats to McAsley's Ginger, McDermott's Dixie and Cole's chestnut coming next in order.

In the five mile handicap bicycle road race there were a score of entries. The scratch man were Fred Davidson, town, and John Huston, Tweed. Davidson was the winner of first place, with Johnston of Gananoque, second. The other prizes won by Havelock riders went in order to P. Haig, John Barlow, John Archer and Wm. Mathieson. The 100 yards dash, the next event, was won in order by W. Burns, Havelock; H. Devine, Marmora; D. Walker, Toronto; and H. Rattan, Trent Bridge.

Other racing events were won as follows:

Girls under 17—Misses L Wilson, R Copp and L Campbell.

Boys under 17—T Childs, B Chambers and J Murdie.

Girls under 10—B Hardy, L Childs and B Rose.

Boys under 10—C Colquhon, E Burnet and F Esson.

The lacrosse match between Hasting and Marmora teams did not come into action though both teams were on the grounds. Hastings refused to play for some reason and the cup, which was the prize, went to Marmora by default.

The day's festivities came to a conclusion by a hop, which crowned the splendid enjoyment of a most successful annual picnic, whose success reflects great credit upon the managers of both societies.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Class in Machine Drawing—Results of Examinations and List of Prizemen.

At the recent examinations for students of the class in machine drawing of the Public Library, held by the Class Committee and by the Education Department of Ontario, the following gentlemen obtained prizes:

T. G. Anderson, 1st prize, the gift of the Canadian General Electric Co., $10.

A. J. Hamilton, 2nd prize, the gift of Geo. Burnham, Esq., M.D.

George Burnham, 3rd prize, the gift of the Board.

R. D. Collins, 4th prize, the gift of the Board.

C. Mathias, 5th prize, the gift of the Board.

Wm. Watt, special prize, the gift of the class instructor, Mr. Walter J. Francis, Graduate S.P.S.; A. M. Can. Soc. C.E.

Certificates were also granted by the honourable, the Minister of Education, to the first five students in the order named for having obtained 50 per cent. and over in the Departmental examination.

The standing in order of merit in the local examination is as follows: 1st. T. G. Anderson; 2nd, Geo. Burnham; 3rd, J Hanna; 4th, C. Mathias; 4th, A. J. Hamilton, 6th, Wm. Watt.

In the extra examination in Practical Geometry for the special prize, Mr. Wm. Watt took first place.

It should also be mentioned, to the credit of both himself and the class, that Mr. J. A. Fife, B.A., who attended the classes, took first place in Machine Drawing in his recent examination in mining engineering at Queen's University, Kingston.

It is to be regretted that the number of students in the class had to be considerably reduced after having commenced the course, several being employees of one of the large industrial institutions, and the pressure of work necessitating all hands being on for night work, they were obliged to give up the course after having got fairly into it. If the heads of such institutions were to pause for a moment and consider how much benefit classes for technical education are, not only to their employees, but to themselves, they might be induced to spare their men at least one evening in the week.

The Board of Management of the Public Library, and the class committee in particular, are to be commended for their energy in conducting a class where the young men of the town may obtain so much advantage at a cost of practically nothing, and it is hoped that next session more will be able to avail themselves of the opportunity presented, and that the class of 1898-9 will be even more successful than that which recently closed.

The management of the Institute take a great interest in these classes. A special committee is appointed to promote their interests. These classes afford exceptionally excellent instruction, and the fees are absurdly low. A special membership fee of $1 for mechanics, gives all the privileges of the institution—library, reading room, etc., and an additional fee of $1 gives the great advantages of a course of forty lessons.

The nature and importance of these lessons cannot be over-estimated. By them employees in industrial establishments are far better fitted for their duties and give their employers better value—taking, as they do, a greater interest in their work. For these reasons it is to the interest of employers of industrial labour to give employees moral as well as practical encouragement to attend these classes.

So far the Canadian General Electric Company has been the only local establishment to extend the encouragement represented by the offer of a prize.

A SENSE OF HUMOR.

It Is a Precious Gift and Helps to Lighten Life's Way.

I regard a sense of humor as one of the most precious gifts that can be vouchsafed to a human being. He is not necessarily a better man for having it, but he is a happier one. It renders him indifferent to good or bad fortune. It enables him to enjoy his own discomfiture.

Blessed with this sense he is never unduly elated or cast down. No one can ruffle his temper. No abuse disturbs his equanimity. Bores do not bore him. Humbugs do not humbug him. Solemn airs do not impose on him. Sentimental gush does not influence him. The follies of the moment have no hold on him. Titles and decorations are but childish baubles in his eyes. Prejudice does not warp his judgment. He is never in conceit or out of conceit with himself. He abhors all dogmatism. The world is a stage on which actors strut and fret for his edification and amusement, and he pursues the even current of his way, invulnerable, doing what is right and proper according to his lights, but utterly indifferent whether what he does finds approval or disapproval from others.

If Hamlet had had any sense of humor, he would not have been a nuisance to himself and to all surrounding him.—London Truth.

Spending Money.

It is an excellent thing to give children as soon as they arrive at about 12 years, or even before, a little allowance for spending money and an account book. Show them how to keep an account of small expenditures and make it a condition that they do so if they wish to receive their allowance. There is no instruction more necessary to children than instruction in the wise management of money. Children should be taught early what true economy is and to exercise their judgment—not their fancy—in making purchases. A little instruction now, and experience if need be, of the genuine discomforts of extravagance may save them from much suffering in after years.—New York Ledger.

PEOPLE GETTING OLD.

As age advances, vitality retreats. Old people find themselves tired, listless, dyspeptic and lacking in strength. They lose interest in the active affairs of life, and may either become chronic complainers, burdening their friends, or they may, by using Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills be made bright, cheery, happy and healthy, as witness the following interesting example. The words of those who have lived many years carry wisdom with them. Why not profit by them?

WISE WORDS.

Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these Pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished, and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Yours very truly,
Signed, MR. & MRS. CLARK, Victoria St.,
Glencoe, Ont.

MARRIAGE OF OFFICERS.

The Armies of Europe Have Various Rules Regulating It.

The restrictive conditions at present in force with regard to the marriage of officers in the Russian army forbid this privilege under any circumstance in the case of officers under the age of 23. Between the ages of 23 and 28 years the dot of an officer's wife must amount to a sum representing the minimum income of 250 rubles yearly.

On comparison of these conditions with those regulating the same question in other European armies it may be noted that in the Austria-Hungarian army the number of officers authorized to contract marriage is limited by a fixed proportion assigned to each grade, and, these totals being reached, all further marriages must be deferred pending the occurrence of vacancies in the married establishments.

The Italian army regulations, which fix the income of the fiances at a minimum of from 1,200 to 2,000 lire, would appear to be more rational in their operation. Italian officers, however, apply a somewhat liberal interpretation to this law, with the result that the number of marriages occurring under actual provisions does not exceed more than an eighth of the total number, seven-eighths of the officers being united under the conditions of the religious ceremony only, and thus exposing themselves to all the inconveniences which attend a marriage not recognized by civil law.

Similar disabilities would now appear to be incurred by Russian officers, and suggestions have been made by the press in Russia that a general revision of the law is becoming necessary. The question is assuming some importance from the fact that Russian officers, reaching a total number of nearly 40,000, represent one of the most important classes in the state.—Brooklyn Citizen.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. SUBSTANTIAL HORSES.

Stallions of Size and Style In More Demand Than Mongrels.

A stallion that is attracting much attention in America is Washington (1361), the property of Messrs. Thomson & Bland, Crawfordsville, Ind. Washington was sired by Adonis (12) and has for dam Trixie (347). The London Live Stock Journal thus referred to this horse: "He is a beautiful black, 16 hands, and as he is seen coming down the road he reminds one of old Fashion's way of going, but has more weight and substance and is another of the sort the Americans seem to fancy."

Speaking of American taste, it is gratifying to see that farmers are inquiring for stallions of more size and style than are found in the usual mongrels with a dash of trotting blood. L.

HACKNEY STALLION WASHINGTON.

N. Bonham in The Breeder's Gazette very aptly says that there are two horses a farmer with horse sense can raise—the draft horse and coacher. Either of them can be made of enough service on the farm before old enough to sell to help pay the cost of keep. There will be misfits enough to keep the farmer supplied with serviceable, level headed horses suitable for farm work and to be used in training the youngsters. If the farmer intends to breed draft horses, he must secure mares of that type and not expect success from breeding his light mongrel mares to the nearest monster he can find. The progeny of such a cross lacks in so many points that are required in a salable draft horse that they will always be low sellers and unprofitable. There are farmers who love a good, stylish horse and that take enough pride in their teams to give them the care and training that improve the youngsters. We know of some such farmers who always have a nice team in good order, and when on the farm or road to town their teams attract attention because of their style and good behavior. Their owner takes pride in them and looks to their comfort and harness and sees that the horse responds by prompt work done in good style.

A slouchy driver soon has a team of slouchy ways and bad habits. A dealer that buys a horse from such a man discounts his price heavily because he knows it will take a deal of handling to bring the horse into marketable shape. Such a man had better grow steers and let the farmer grow horses who knows how to handle them to keep them improving while he owns them. By the time such a farmer offers a horse for sale it will be an extra good horseman who can add enough to his horse's manner and appearance to pay for the attempt.

The horse that has been raised and trained by such a farmer is handy and reliable wherever he may go. His mouth and disposition have not been ruined, his wind and stomach have not been injured by excess of work or feed. He is a well trained, faithful servant. Now, if he is the offspring of sire and dam of the right sort such a horse will go in any company and be a satisfaction to his owner.

Shelter For Cattle.

The London Farmer thinks that "in England few subjects of equal importance to the farmer have occupied less attention than the provision of proper shelter for live stock in the fields. The average English farmer has a great deal to learn. If he could but appreciate the enormous loss which is caused every year on this score alone, we are sure it would hasten a better era in live stock management out of doors. Not a little of the success which has attended the rearing and feeding of Scotch cattle is due to the infinite care which is taken to prevent loss of flesh, owing to the miserable conditions which so frequently pertain during the pasturage season. The motto of every feeder who desires to turn a good profit yearly must be to keep all the flesh with which food has clad the stock of the farm, and, above everything, always keep the animals growing. Every pound of flesh lost during cold weather goes to the debit side of the cashbook and every pound saved is so much gained."

It Required Genius to Do It, but He Was Equal to the Occasion.

"Talking about cows," said Andy Henderson, "I really think that I had one of the most peculiar experiences with the animals in question that ever befell a citizen of west Texas. It was soon after I went to El Paso, some ten years ago, and before I had got familiar with the vagaries of the El Paso climate.

"I had settled on a very pretty ranch some miles out of the progressive frontier city and was doing nicely until I decided to go into the butter business. I sent east for a dozen fine Jersey cows and began operations. Well, the cows came on, and I hustled the butter business from the jump. Things progressed nicely for a month, when the weather grew very warm and the atmosphere very dry. The Rio Grande dwindled until a roach could have waded across. Every bit of moisture disappeared, but this did not affect me, because I had a fine artesian well on the ranch and plenty of water. I observed, however, that my cows were losing milk day by day, until at last they were perfectly dry. I was astounded, for they had plenty of feed and lots of water from the well. I couldn't understand it and determined to investigate.

"I got up an hour before daylight and examined the cows, and, to my astonishment, I found the udders of the cows heavy with milk. I did not milk the the animals, but simply watched and waited developments. Day dawned and the cows lazily meandered into the pasture, and I followed. The sun came up, and with the sun came the terrible dryness, but it didn't feaze me in the least. What knocked me out was the sight of my cows' udders. They were growing smaller and smaller as I looked until they were as flaccid as a punctured tire. Then I tumbled. The dryness of the atmosphere simply evaporated the milk through the walls of the udder.

"What did I do? Why, I varnished the milking apparatus of the beasts and the milk couldn't ooze through the flesh. That stopped it."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A woman who takes chances with her health is simply gambling with the Black Devil of Disease. If she has any weakness or derangement of the delicate organism of her sex, to rely upon an unskilled, inexperienced, general practitioner is to risk her health upon a gambler's hazard. Her only real safety is in the careful well-digested advice of a physician who has had wide, special experience in diseases of this particular class.

The chief consulting physician of the famous Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. R. V. Pierce, has devoted thirty years of special study and practice to the weaknesses and diseases peculiar to women. His grand medicine, the "Favorite Prescription," has done more to restore perfect health and strength to women than any other medicine. It is the only proprietary medicine devised for this purpose by an educated, skilled specialist in woman's peculiar ailments.

A woman writing to Dr. Pierce regarding herself may feel absolute assurance of receiving, free of charge, the best professional advice by means of which the most obstinate of these delicate troubles may be promptly relieved and permanently cured.

Barbra A. Mudd, of Indian Creek, Monroe Co., Mo., writes: "I am very thankful for what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did for me. I was all broke down from nervous prostration, but since taking this medicine I have had more relief than from all the doctors. Your 'Favorite Prescription' did me a world of good."

THE ROSES OF SEATTLE.

O roses of Seattle,
That bloom in June and May,
You are perfect as the poet's dream,
Fair as the golden day;
You scatter waves of fragrance
On the sleeping air of night;
Your rainbow painted petals
Are the glory of the light!

Fair is Nile's storied lotus
And the rose of Gulistan,
And pleasant is the poppy seed
That lulls the soul of man,
Rare are the lights and shadows
In the pansy's purple eyes,
But the roses of Seattle
Are the flowers of paradise.

O roses of Seattle,
That bloom in May and June,
Deep hearts of gold and crimson
That light the summer noon,
The cottage of the lowly
You paint with God's own plan;
In the mansion of the lordly
You shame the art of man!

I hold them fast in memory
Wherever I may roam,
These blossoms from the garden
Of the gods, dropped down from home
The cruel years take from us
What years cannot restore,
But the roses of Seattle—
They bloom forevermore!

Our Cattle Abroad.

Our cattle are gaining in popularity with foreign customers, the exports of beef cattle having increased materially. On the other hand, those of beef, either fresh, canned or salted, have failed to show any increase. In most cases a decided falling off is noticeable. The exports of beef cattle during the first ten months of the fiscal year amounted to 379,663, against 310,478 in the corresponding months of last year. The value in the ten months of 1898 was $32,352,838, against $28,866,708 in the corresponding months of last year. Fresh beef in the same period fell from 242,168,084 pounds in ten months of 1897 to 227,434,878 pounds in the corresponding ten months of 1898, while salted beef showed a fall of 35 per cent for the year, and canned beef dropped from 46,349,006 pounds in the ten months of 1897 to 34,011,129 pounds in the ten months of 1898.—Breeder's Gazette.

Test the KIDNEYS

They are the Great Feeders of our Bodies

The Purity of the Blood is Dependent on their Cleansing Powers

There's a time to all, old and young, man or woman, when poor health brings trouble, anxiety, and burdens hard to stand up under, and one's efforts to rid himself or herself seem only to be baffled at every turn, and we are prone to grow discouraged.

That is not the time to give up—but the time for action, the time to seek out the seat of the trouble, and act as your best judgment and the experience of others will help you, guarding against mistakes in the treatment adapted for your particular ailment.

MACHINE MADE COLD.

Mechanical Refrigerating Plants Becoming Popular In Butter Factories.

We are of opinion that machines for lowering temperature and for making ice will come into general use. In the south where ice is not found naturally they are invaluable. We believe indeed that in not many years private houses will be cooled in summer by some of these refrigerating devices. By their use butter and cheese factories can regulate the temperature of rooms to a degree. The dry storage room which the mechanical refrigerating machine will enable the factory to possess is a great consideration.

The only objection to these cooling machines at present is their cost. Undoubtedly the manufacturers will in time be able to make them cheaper, so they can be enjoyed by common butter makers. If the machinery could be brought in price to a point where it would be cheaper to buy a refrigerating plant than to purchase natural ice, every creamery and milk dealer in the land would go in for it.

We have received from the manufacturers a catalogue with illustrations of several of the leading styles of cold producing machines. The picture here given shows a butter factory equipped with the mechanical refrigerating plant. After the machinery produces the cold air it is circulated where it is wanted by three different systems, called respectively direct expansion, storage and brine circulating systems.

The lowering of the temperature is produced by the evaporation and expansion of condensed ammonia. That is the principle of the plan.

As to the mechanical devices which bring about the result desired, the circular of the firm describes them as follows:

The operation of artificial refrigeration, therefore, consists ordinarily in the use of a liquid, such as ammonia, which is evaporated in pipes distributed in the room to be cooled, again condensed into liquid form and again evaporated, the process of evaporation and liquefaction following each other in regular order and being continuous. In ordinary practice this operation is performed by a system of apparatus consisting chiefly of ammonia receiver, evaporating coils, compressor and condenser. The ammonia receiver is a small cylindrical vessel, connected with the condenser coils, as described below, which serves for storage of the liquid ammonia used for operating the system. The ammonia in this cylinder is in liquid condition, to which it has been reduced by heavy pressure. From this receiver the ammonia passes into the evaporating coils. As it escapes from the heavy pressure of the receiver into the coils it is allowed to evaporate and expand to many times its original volume. These coils are placed in the room or box to be cooled. The evaporation of the ammonia within them cools the pipes to a very low temperature, which in turn cool the atmosphere surrounding them. The ammonia is drawn from these pipes by the means of a compressor or pump and is forced into a second series of coils or pipes under heavy pressure. A considerable heat is developed in the ammonia by this process of compression, as will be readily understood, and this heat is removed by submerging the condenser coils containing the compressed ammonia in a tank of water, or, better, by so arranging them that a stream of water can flow over them. The united action of the compressor and of the cooling by means of the water restores the ammonia to its original liquid form and delivers it a second time to the receiver, from which it passes a second time through the same process, and so on as long as the compressor is kept in operation.

BENTLEY BUTTER.

Product Made From Pasteurized Cream Finds a Ready Sale.

Much has been said of Mr. Bentley's system of making butter from pasteurized cream, throwing together various lots of cream, putting them through his process and bringing the whole out a first class finished product. John Gould of Ohio has visited the Bentley creamery and reports his observations in Hoard's Dairyman. They will interest our readers:

The machinery of the creamery is not unlike that found in other concerns that make 150,000 pounds of butter a season. Only two things attract especial notice, a peculiar "cooler" for the rapid cooling of the cream and the "germicide" or pasteurizer for heating the cream.

When I went into the establishment—8 p. m.—the cream wagons were just backing up to unload their cream weight. The jacketed cans were taken in at the cream room and two of the cans emptied into the cream vat. Then the pasteurizer was made conspicuous. Over the vat was an inverted T steam pipe and cross-piece, and on the two ends of the T were two short pieces of hose just reaching the top of the vat, one on each side. On the ends of these pieces of hose was a nickel plated steel three-fourths inch pipe, terminating at the bottom of the vat by being joined with another 2½ inch nickel plated pipe about 18 inches long, open at both ends.

The smaller pipe opens into the larger one some three or four inches from one end, with an elbow turn toward the opposite end. The steam is admitted to the small pipe at a pressure of 55 pounds. It "blows" out of the large pipe in one direction and at the same time draws a strong current of cream through the tube and heats it at the same time.

The two pasteurizers are placed in the vat, one on each side, and discharge in different directions, so that a strong and rapid current gives the cream a violent agitation, and I should say that the cream in the vats would each five minutes re-enter the pipes and so receive an additional increase of heat and slight increase of water, and the heat is increased about 6 degrees at each revolution or repassage through the pipes, or germicides. Additional cream was being strained into the vat, and at the end of about 20 minutes from the beginning the contents of the vat—now about 200 gallons—were at 155 degrees, with an estimated increase of about 7 per cent by the contact and condensation of the steam. It was observable that the acidity of the mixed cream on arrival, by the alkaline test, was close to 4 per cent, and after pasteurizing it was reduced about 1½ per cent.

One of the features that were marked was that the cream by being warmed up by the introduction of steam direct into its content did not have the usual cooked taste incident to cream that is warmed by being put into vessels and warmed up by outside heat. As soon as the 155 degrees were reached the cream was run through the cooler. A length of lead pipe 140 feet long is coiled on the inside walls of a box some four feet long and three feet high, and so leave as much interior space as possible. In this interior space is an agitator, run from a belt pulley, which keeps the ice water in constant agitation about the coil, so that the pipe is kept uniformly cool and a uniform coolness of cream when delivered from it. The cream is forced through this coil by a sort of steam jet and was being delivered at about 60 degrees, and the 200 gallons required about 30 minutes to go through the coil into the starter vat. Where ice and salt are used the cream is forced at a more rapid rate.

Mr. Bentley is emphatic that this cream shall be immediately cooled after heating, and is pretty sure that the germs which most do beset butter and cream are all killed in this process, the grain of the butter not injured and better keeping qualities given to it. In fact, he is pretty strong in his belief that souring cream and ripening it are two distinct conditions. The starter is added at once to the cream and the ripening is made the next "move." The cream is only collected twice a week, and some customers only furnish cream once per week, so that it is seen that Mr. Bentley must have bitter cream and some which must be positively stale, but when this mixed cream goes through the pasteurizing vats and has been cooled down it seems to have lost its individuality and its sour taste and become wonderfully homogeneous. The bad germs seem to have been all annihilated, and we are of the opinion that the contact of the live hot steam to the cream itself has much to do with this matter.

The flavor of the butter was pleasant, but not so active as very fine Elgin, though we would suspect that it would hold its flavor intact longer than Elgins would retain their bouquet aroma.

WESTWARD HO!

Many Manitoba People Being Cured of Heart and Nerve Troubles.

Mr. A. Wilson, of Clearwater, Relates His Experience.

Not only in the East, but also in the great Western provinces of the Dominion, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are steadily gaining the confidence of the people.

Wherever there is a weak heart or shattered nervous system they restore them to perfect vigor; run-down, worn-out constitutions they build up, strengthen and renew, and give new hope to downcast, despairing, sickly men and women.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

"I can recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as the best thing I know of for weak and nervous people. When I first commenced taking them I was in an extremely weak condition. I was nervous and easily startled, sometimes I would start in my sleep and it would be a long time before I could get asleep again.

"Shortness of breath and dizzy spells would come over me at times and often I thought my end was near.

"Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have changed all that. They have strengthened my nerves and built up my health so that I am a new man. I consider them simply wonderful." A. WILSON, Clearwater, Man.

OFFICE OF W. A. MURRAY & CO., 17 to 27 King St., East, Toronto.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash $5,038 00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for 8,280 00
3rd or take the profits in cash 2,050 25
and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company. I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

BACK FROM KLONDYKE.

MR. PATRICK ROONEY, OF MONTREAL, TELLS OF SEASON'S OUTPUT.

The Reports of Thirty Million Dollar Washings are Much Exaggerated —But the Country is Rich.

The Klondyke has been somewhat neglected of late, in the matter of news, and the war in the South has monopolized the columns once so freely given to tales from the Golden North. But the Klondyke still lives and plays its part, and long after the cruel war is over will still be a factor in the world's economy.

Mr. Patrick Rooney, well known in Montreal, has just returned to that city from a Klondyke expedition, and brings with him the latest and very interesting budget of northern news. Mr. Rooney also brought with him a little wallet full of gold nuggets which he had picked up in his travels. They sort of help Mr. Rooney out when he is at a loss for a word or an expression to adequately describe the wealth of the great Northern terra incognita.

One fiction which has found its way east promiscuously was given its quietus by Mr. Rooney, yesterday morning, in conversation with a reporter for the Montreal Star. Reports have been coming from all quarters of the thirty and forty million dollars' worth of gold dust that would be brought down from the Klondyke during the present summer. According to Mr. Rooney, these estimates are ridiculous. There will not be more than from of dollars in the output brought down this year.

This is no reflection on the mineral wealth of the country, which he describes as being quite as marvellous as it has been painted. It is simply the result of the great scarcity of provisions in the district during the past winter, and to the fact that the miners spent the greater portion of their time in locating and staking out new claims. Few if any of these new claims were worked at all, the development operations being almost entirely confined to the older creeks.

At the present time there are about 40,000 persons scattered over the Klondyke country, and with the ample supply of provisions, which are now being taken down the Yukon, the mining operations of the coming year will assume very large proportions. Next year the output will, as a consequence, without a doubt, be very large, exceeding by many millions the estimate of thirty millions placed by the over-sanguine of the output of the present year.

As showing the comparative abundance of supplies of all kinds in the Yukon at present, Mr. Rooney gave a few interesting figures. This spring at Dawson City he had been obliged to pay $38 for 28 pounds of beans. The flour, meat, and other articles of provisions he had bought had averaged from $1 a pound, and for eggs he had paid $18 a dozen. A "cheap" hat had cost him $14. Just before Mr. Rooney left the country on his present trip east, flour had fallen to $10 a hundred pounds, while eggs were a drug on the market at only $3 a dozen. If all the boats with provisions on their way up the Yukon in safety, the prices of provisions will fal still lower.

The facilities for reaching Dawson City are now, Mr. Rooney says, very greatly improved over last summer. The aerial tramway over the Chilcoot Pass is in continuous operation, and has very greatly reduced the trouble and cost of getting over the pass. Then from the head of the lakes to Dawson, a distance of some 600 miles, several small steamers now run, transporting supplies and passengers to the gold fields. One steamer runs clear to the canyon, and by means of a tramway around the White Horse rapids, connects with the other steamers below.

The waters now being mostly worked by prospectors and miners are the Eldorado, Bonanza, Hunker, Sulphur, Bear, French Gulch, Golden Gulch and Chief Gulch. Two prospectors named Dan Sanders and Martin Oldridge, both Scotchmen, struck it particularly rich at the mouth of Chief Gulch. In two box lengths at the mouth they took out $16,000 worth of gold, and their claim on the side of the hill at the mouth has yielded them $204,000. The two are now on a pleasure excursion to their Old Country home.

There was very little sickness in the gold country during the past winter. This spring there has been a good deal of fever in Dawson City, which is in a swampy district. There had, however, not been a single case of starvation or even want of food.

Mr. Rooney represents the Montreal Red Mountain Gold Fields Company, and it was in their interests that he had been in the Klondike. He says he has been particularly fortunate in locating claims for the company, and will return with a further force of men in about ten days. The claims which he has staked out are at the

and on the Rosebud and Harris creeks. Golden Gulch joins the Eldorado at Claim No. 42, owned by Mr. Healy, of the North American Transportation Company. On this Claim No. 42 there had been picked a nugget of gold off the dump worth $180. Both this claim and No. 41 Eldorado had had successful washups. Mr. Rooney's claim is at least equally wealthy, but no actual development work had yet been done on it.

The Rosebud river, on which one of the other claims is located, runs into the Yukon about six miles above Dawson City. Harris Creek runs into the Ophir Creek. On his return, Mr. Rooney will travel up the McQuesten Creek, which he has reason to believe is very rich, and after locating claims there, the work of developing the several locations will be commenced. During Mr. Rooney's absence experienced miners are actively developing the claims already owned by the company.

Mr. Rooney says that some of the men of the Mounted Police had made some lucky strikes. The Mounted Police are allowed to stake out claims for themselves, the same as other prospectors, but in order to hold them they have to take in somebody else with them who can spend the required three months in the year in actual settlement of the claim.

With regard to the obnoxious ten per cent. royalty of the Canadian Government, Mr. Rooney says the miners have now pretty generally accepted the inevitable, and are making no complaints. Most of the prospectors have been very successful and are accordingly the less disposed to grumble, and they also appreciate the advantages of the protection afforded them, and the law and order maintained by the Government through the Mounted Police.

Mr. Rooney returns to the Klondike early in August, taking with him a force of men to augment his present force, and with the expectation that the next time he visits Montreal he will have even larger and more valuable nuggets in his wallet than he displays on the present occasion.

KINGSTON NEWS.

Mr. Ruddick Declines the Offer to Go to New Zealand—Lansdowne Man Suicides.

Kingston, July 29.—J. A. Ruddick, superintendent of the Kingston Dairy School, at present performing the duties of Dairy Commissioner at Ottawa, during the absence of Prof. Robertson, has refused the offer submitted to him by the Government of New Zealand, to locate there as Dairy Commissioner. He will remain in charge of the Kingston Dairy School.

Bush fires in nearby townships are numerous and are creating great devastation. At Dead Creek Mr. Christopher Loyst lost his house by the fires on Tuesday. Lightning was very fierce at Vannachar. It entered the house of Samuel Ball, tore about the kitchen and struck Mrs. Hall, tearing her shoes and cutting her feet. Both were blackened on the bottom. A baby she held in her arms had a black spot on the bottom of one foot. Mr. Ball was shocked, but not injured.

A despatch from Lansdowne yesterday afternoon says that Charles S. Montfort shot himself last night through the brain, causing instant death. The supposition is he was disappointed in love. He was an only son, popular and well-to-do.

A convict employed in the sewage works at the penitentiary made his escape yesterday afternoon, but was recaptured a few minutes later. His name was Frank Connors from Toronto, and his capturer Guard George Sullivan.

HOLDEN COMBATIVE.

Latest Notes About Napanee Bank Robbery—Surprises Will Not Be All on the Crown Side.

Napanee, July 2.—The report that Holden recognized Mackie when brought to jail is not true. The formal remand to-day will take place at 10 a.m., when all the prisoners will be remanded until Monday at 2 p.m., when the hearing will begin.

A report is current that Holden has sent out for counsel and purposes fighting the case.

Detective Wilkes and Constable Sills have returned to town from Belleville.

It is given out as coming from the Crown authorities that Pare was present in the court room during the last investigation and heard all the evidence. If this be true, it is surprising that none of the local authorities recognized him as the tramp that had been recently arrested and brought before the magistrate and given an hour to leave town.

It is pretty generally understood that at the approaching investigation all the surprises will not be on the Crown's side.

DOESN'T BELIEVE PARE.

Ex-Chief Detective Cullen of Montreal Tells a Story About Him.

Montreal, July 29.—Ex-Chief Detective Cullen of the Montreal force has very little faith in Pare's story implicating Ponton in Napanee. Here is Mr. Cullen's story:

"About twelve years ago Pare was serving a term in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary for a burglary in Quebec, I had known him for years, and he had known me. One day I received a message to go out to St. Vincent de Paul; a prisoner wanted to see me on a very important matter. I went out, and found it was Pare who wanted me. After beating about the bush for a while, evidently feeling as to how his story would be received, he told me a remarkable tale about his having entered into a partnership with a well-known banker of this city. The banker was to clear out the money of the bank, and he (Pare) was to open the outside door and safe door in burglar fashion, so that people would think a burglary had taken place. It was practically the same story that he has told about young Ponton, except that in Ponton's case he was not to handle any of the money. I know criminals too well to believe that if Ponton was bad enough to enter into the scheme he was too shrewd to take such big chances, and then depend upon the honesty of the rascals for his share of the spoils."

A HEROIC RESISTANCE.

A Galt Hotel Proprietor Keeps an Army of Officials at Bay.

Galt, July 29.—Yesterday morning John C. Caldwell, proprietor of the Central Hotel, and his son, A. C. Caldwell, the noted sprinter, defied the Mayor, the town foreman and his men, and the entire police force. Caldwell had been ordered by the town to remove his verandah, which projects over the street. A week's grace was given, at the expiration of which the town would take down the structure. Caldwell ignored the mandate, and at 7 o'clock yesterday morning the town foreman and his men attempted to carry out the Council's instructions. Caldwell and his son resisted, and in the face of the Chief of Police, constables and the authorities cast off the ladder put against the verandah and dared the town to proceed. A second onslaught was made, with the result that Constable Cromarty's head missed by six inches a heavy flower basket thrown from the top of the verandah by young Caldwell. Cromarty was next drenched with water from the same source. The defenders of the hotel had clubs, and things looked more tragic than comic when Caldwell's solicitor appeared with an injunction granted by Justice McMahon. The police were ordered repeatedly by the Mayor to arrest the Caldwells, but they didn't obey. The motion pertaining to the injunction will be argued at Toronto on August 2, and in the interim young Caldwell and a boarder will have to answer to a charge of aggravated assault

DEATH OF ARCHBISHOP WALSH.

A Sudden Call That Was Preceded by Only a Slight Indisposition—The Archbishop Recognized the Messenger and Enjoyed the Last Rites of the Church—His Grace's Career.

Toronto, Aug. 1.—Catholicism in Ontario has suffered a heavy loss in the death of Archbishop Walsh of Toronto, who suddenly passed away shortly before 11 o'clock last night. Three weeks ago, on Saturday, July 9th, the Archbishop, in company with Sir Frank Smith and some other gentlemen, was inspecting the new cemetery, Mount Hope, in Eglinton, when his foot caught in an inequality of the ground and he stumbled, wrenching his knee and fracturing one of the ligaments. The Archbishop's advanced years caused the accident to tell heavily upon him, and he was confined to his room, Dr. Dwyer and Dr. Novitt attending him; but no danger was anticipated, and he apparently made good progress toward recovery. At 10.30 last night, however, heart failure suddenly asserted itself and faintness set in. The Archbishop was helped from his armchair to his bed and made as easy as possible, while the physicians were summoned.

"I Am Going to Die."

He recognized, however, that the end was approaching. "I am going to die," he said, and he expressed a wish that the last rites of the church be administered to him. At the same time he appointed Very Rev. Vicar General McCann to be administrator of the diocese until the appointment of his successor. The last rites were then administered to the dying prelate, his nephew, Rev. Father Walsh, officiating, and he passed peacefully away at twenty minutes to 11. His niece, Miss Helen MacMahon, of St. Catharines, and the servants of the household were also present. Immediately after the Archbishop had passed away the doctors and a number of the clergy, including Vicar-General McCann, Rev. Dr. Teefy, Father Hand, Father Tracy, Father Mungovan and Father Cline, arrived at his bedside.

Funeral Arrangements.

At his own request, made last winter, the Archbishop's remains will be buried on Thursday in St. Michael's Cathedral, under the altar of the Blessed Virgin. The body will be in state in the Cathedral Wednesday and Wednesday night. Bishop Dowling of Hamilton, as senior Bishop of Ontario, will preach the funeral sermon.

Brief Biography.

The deceased Archbishop was the son of the late James Walsh, by his wife, Ellen Macdonald, and was born in the parish of Mooncoin, County Kilkenny, Ireland, May 23, 1830, his preparatory studies being conducted at St. John's College, Waterford, where he also took one year in theology.

Coming to Canada April, 1852, he entered the Grand Seminary, Montreal, and in the following year received tonsure from Bishop La Roque, and minor orders from Bishop Bourget. On Oct. 22, 1854, Bishop de Charbonnel of Toronto ordained him sub-deacon, and deacon on Oct. 29, and, on Nov. 1, following the Feast of All Saints, he was raised by the same prelate to the priesthood in St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto.

In 1855 he was appointed to the Brock Mission on Lake Simcoe, of which parish he was the first resident pastor, and where, removed from all society, the young priest had ample opportunity to pursue undisturbed the studies to which he was devoted—frequently conducted by the light of a tallow candle, or of the log fire in the shanties of the "settlers" in the backwoods.

In 1857 he was placed in charge of the more important parish of St. Mary's, Toronto, and shortly after the consecration of Dr. Lynch as Bishop of Toronto, 1859, he was appointed rector of St. Michael's Cathedral, and on Easter Sunday, 1862, was nominated vicar-general of the diocese.

In May, 1863, he attended the 3rd Provincial Council of Quebec as theologian to the Bishop of Toronto, and, the following year, visited Rome for the first time, being received with marked distinction by Pope Pius IX. The health of Dr. Pinsonneault, Bishop of Sandwich, becoming impaired, the hierarchy of the ecclesiastical Province of Quebec unanimously nominated Vicar-General Walsh as future bishop; the choice in due time being ratified by bulls from the Holy See, the consecration taking place in St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, and being conducted by Mgr. Baillargeon, then Archbishop of Quebec, assisted by Bishop Bourget of Montreal and Bishop Lynch of Toronto.

In January 1868, Bishop Walsh removed the episcopal residence from Sandwich to London, to which city the See was transferred by a decree from the Propaganda, dated Nov. 15, 1869. Here unlimited scope was afforded His Lordship for the exercise of his administrative and executive abilities. A large and pressing debt upon the diocese had to be liquidated, the re-organization of the clergy and missions was urgent, a number of priests had to be provided, in many parishes churches and presbyteries had to be built or restored and enlarged, the interests of education demanded earnest and immediate attention, and asylums for the orphan and the infirm had to be established.

Within three years the entire debt of the diocese was paid off, and, in 1876, upon paying his official visit as bishop to Rome, he was able to report 28 new churches built, many of them splendid and costly structures, and 17 presbyteries for the accommodation of the parochial clergy. An episcopal residence second to none in the province had been constructed and was absolutely free of debt. Three convents had been built, Mount Hope purchased and paid for, and a splendid new orphanage erected on it, in addition to which a handsome new college had been built for the Basilian fathers at Sandwich; 29 priests had been ordained and over 10,000 children confirmed. In May, 1881, the corner-stone of the new cathedral in London was laid, and St. Peter's was dedicated, June 28, 1885, by Bishop Walsh in the presence of a number of distinguished prelates.

In 1882, when visiting Ireland, he took part in the ceremony of the unveiling of the O'Connell monument in Dublin, having previously, in 1864, assisted at the laying of its corner-stone. At the close of the 20th year of his episcopate, Nov., 1887, he again repaired to Rome, and assisted at the Jubilee of Pope Leo XIII. in St. Peter's. While Bishop Walsh was on his return to Canada from this official visit, Archbishop Lynch of Toronto laid down in death the crozier which for 28 years he had carried with so much zeal, and, by a brief from Rome, dated Aug. 27, 1889, Bishop Walsh's eventful career as Bishop of London closed, and he was appointed to the Archbishopric of Toronto, the ceremonies of the installation taking place with great pomp on Nov. 27. To the duties of his new charge he applied himself with the same zeal which had characterized his administration of the London Diocese, with results which are apparent upon all sides, the most conspicuous perhaps being the renovation of St. Michael's Cathedral, which, in its interior decoration, is now one of the chief ornaments of Toronto, while the constant visitation of the archdiocese and the encouragement of students in greatly increased numbers for the priesthood, testify to the activity of His Grace in those important branches.

Archbishop Walsh has throughout his career given much attention to the affairs of his native country. In a letter addressed to the Hon. Edward Blake, M.P., he formulated a scheme for the holding of a great convention in Dublin to restore unity in the Irish party. This convention was held in Dublin in 1898, and was attended by Rev. Father Ryan, S.J., as the Archbishop's representative, along with many other Canadians.

EXPULSION OF ZOLA

Promises to Create Trouble in the Ranks of the Legion of Honor.

Paris, Aug. 1.—The expulsion of M. Emile Zola from the Legion of Honor promises to create a serious division in the ranks of that organization. The well-known author, M. Jules Barbier, resigned on Friday no account of M. Zola's expulsion, and Saturday M. Depressense, the distinguished editor of the Temps, took a similar course, saying it is "repugnant to wear a decoration which still ornaments the breast of a man like Esterhazy, while it has been removed from that of a great writer, simply because he demands that the most elementary principles of the law and justice be respected."

DEATH OF PROF. CAIRD.

One of the Most Prominent Educators of Britain Is Gone.

In 1868 he was appointed professor of divinity in the University of Glasgow, and 11 years later he became principal and vice-chancellor of the same institution. For a time he held the office of one of Her Majesty's chaplains for Scotland.

DEATH OF PRINCE BISMARCK.

The Man of Blood and Iron—Story of How He Raised Germany From a Group of Petty States to the Chief Position in Europe—The Statesman's Last Hours.

Berlin, July 30.—Prince Bismarck died shortly after 11 o'clock this evening. The end was very peaceful. Details of the death of Prince Bismarck are obtained with difficulty, because of the lateness of the hour, the isolation of the castle and the strenuous endeavors of the attendants and of the family to prevent publicity. The death of the ex-Chancellor comes as a surprise to all.

BISMARCK'S LAST MOMENTS.

The Prince's Last Words Were "Thanks, My Child," Addressed to His Daughter.

London, Aug. 1.—A special despatch to the Associated Press says the news of Prince Bismarck's death reached Berlin at a late hour and was only generally known Sunday morning. A number of papers, including the Post, the Voorwaerts and the Deutsche Zeitung, did not contain the news of the Prince's demise. The Kreuz Zeitung had only a brief notice.

PRINCE BISMARCK.

The Nachrichten gives the fullest details of the last days and death of Bismarck. It says:

"On Thursday evening an improvement set in in the Prince's condition, in which repeated changes for the worse had occurred since October last, and he was able to appear at the table and take part in the conversation, drinking champagne and afterwards smoking several pipes, which he had not done lately.

"His condition was so satisfactory that Dr. Schweninger, after the Prince had gone to bed, left with the intention of returning Saturday. His condition was comparatively satisfactory throughout Friday and Saturday morning. He read the papers and conversed on politics, particularly referring to Russian affairs. In the forenoon he took luncheon, grumbling jocularly at the small proportion of spirits in his drinking water. Then a sudden change for the worse occurred, in consequence of an acute attack of pulmonary oedema, and in the course of the afternoon he frequently became unconscious.

"Recently, besides periods of unusual mental clearness, the Prince had had intervals of drowsiness, falling into long, sound and beneficial sleep, on awakening from which he would be completely refreshed.

"On Saturday evening grave symptoms appeared. Death came easily and painlessly. Dr. Schweninger was able to some extent to lighten the last moments.

"The last words Prince Bismarck uttered were addressed to his daughter, Countess Von Rantzau, who wiped away the perspiration from his forehead. They were: 'Thanks, my child.'

"The whole family were assembled at the bedside at the time of his death; Dr. Schweninger, Dr. Chrysander and Baron and Baroness Merck were also present. As no breathing movement or pulse was perceptible for three minutes, Dr. Schweninger declared quietly and simply that the Prince was dead.

"Dr. Schweninger telegraphed the news to Emperor William in Norway.

"The Prince lies as he used to sleep, in an easy position, with his head slightly inclined to the left. The expression on his face is mild and peaceful.

"In accordance with Prince Bismarck's wish he will be buried upon the hill opposite the Castle in the vicinity of Hirschgruppe."

The Emperor Deeply Affected.

Bergen, Norway, Aug. 1.—When Emperor William was informed of the Prince's death early Sunday morning he was deeply affected and ordered his yacht to return immediately. The Hohenzollern, with the Emperor on board, will reach Keil to day. The flag on the yacht is flying at half-mast.

Germany's Profound Sorrow.

Berlin, Aug. 1.—The news of Prince Bismarck's death, which became generally known only through special editions of the papers, produced profound sorrow, as so sudden a realization of the fears of his demise was not expected. Several papers Sunday morning published special articles, with mourning borders, expressing in feeling terms the national sorrow, and dwelling on the brilliant and im-

EDITORIAL NOTES.

We have been requested to draw attention to the circular recently issued by the Postmaster General with reference to the desireability of sending of letters having their names and address written or printed on the "upper left hand corner" of the envelope or wrapper, so that as the postal authorities say, "in case there may be any deficiency in the postage or address, the article may be returned or the sender communicated with by the local Postmaster and further trouble and delay thus avoided." The advantage of following this course is at once obvious and it will not only cause a saving of time but also, owing to the letter being returned direct to the sender, save the charge of three cents which would otherwise have to be paid to the dead letter office.

ALCOHOLISM AND LIFE ASSURANCE.

The habitual use of any spirituous liquor seems to be now generally accepted as a factor affecting the mortality rate. Of course, very marked discrimination by assurance companies against those who choose to drink in moderation may not be necessary; but experience and statistics are convincing, and they serve to show that the total abstainer is a more desirable risk than the man who "froths his bumpers to the brim," and finds in October ale, peat reek, or goblets of soulful champagne, a daily source of exhilaration. Depressing as the facts may be to men with seasoned heads and sanguine temperament, the British Blue Book, lately published, would seem to show that the consequences of conviviality warrant the growing caution of life assurance companies in the selection of risks even from the ranks of so-called moderate drinkers. The British Blue Book says:—

"Statistics are given of twenty-four diseases or causes of death, and five of these, viz., phthsis, diseases of the nervous system, diseases of the circulatory system, bronchitis and pneumonia cause more than half of the entire mortality. Cancer kills more than influenza, while suicide is directly responsible for more deaths than alcoholism. It is, however, expressly pointed out that alcoholism contributes to many deaths that are put down to other causes. 'In certifying the cause of death of inebriates it is the habit of some medical men to state only the pathological condition of the organ or organs chiefly affected. The experience of this office shows that cirrhosis of the liver, for instance (the liver is the organ which more than any other is affected prejudicially by intemperance), is frequently returned as the sole cause of death in such circumstances, the fact that abuse of alcohol had induced the cirrhosis, or other morbid condition, being omitted from the certificate.'

A NEW POLITICAL PARTY.

IT IS CALLED THE "CANADIAN COMPATRIOTS."

Its Aims, Its Objects, and its Aspirations.

A new political organization, bearing the title of the Canadian Compatriots, has arisen in Ontario, with headquarters in Toronto, and has its eyes set upon future victories in the next Dominion election. The formation of this party has been going on quietly for several months, and although it is still in an early stage of development, those posted in the movement believe that it will be powerful factor when the time comes for the votes to be cast. The organization is in reality a phoenix arising from the ashes of the defunct Patron party. While the Patron element in it is the strongest at present, labour unions and other independent parties are gradually becoming absorbed in the movement. The Socialists are another prominent feature of the organization, especially in Toronto, where they are supposed to be numerous. To effect reforms, the purpose of the Canadian Compatriots is the bringing about of general political reforms. Direct legislation is the most important of these. Proportional representation is another feature of the new platform. The other planks are Government control of telegraph, telephone, and railway services, taxation of land values, Government issue of money, and prohibition of the liquor traffic. The promoters of the new party state that it was only when they realized the futility of inducing either of the existing parties to adopt these reforms that the organization was commenced. As it is, the party would be willing to co-operate with any politicians who would actively endorse these ideas.—Mail and Empire.

The interested stranger looked up at the steel framework that rose, story after story, toward the sky.

"I suppose this is going to be one of those skyscrapers," he said. "Don't such buildings as these expand considerably in hot weather?"

"I don't see how they can," replied the dejected citizen sitting on a pile of boards and chewing tobacco. "They're built on the contract plan."—Chicago Tribune.

WHEAT WEAK FOR WEEK.

Movements on Both Sides of the Atlantic—Effect of New Crops on the Markets—Prices.

Saturday Evening, July 30.

The week ending to-day has been marked by a decided depreciation in wheat values. On the Chicago market the July article has slumped about 10c a bushel, while the more remote options for September and December delivery have lost about 4c during the past seven days. The chief cause of the loss has been the prospect of big crops on the other side of the Atlantic, resulting in weak British and continental markets; and another source of the heavy feeling is, of course, to be found in the approach of a bountiful harvest in Canada and the United States. Farmers' shipments have been light so far as compared with some previous years, but immense receipts are looked for in the immediate future.

UNIFIER OF GERMANY.

mortal services of the Prince to the Fatherland, his heroic greatness and his truly German character.

HISTORY OF HIS LIFE.

The Various Steps Upward Till He Became "The Iron Chancellor."

The deceased statesman was created Count September 16, 1865, and Prince March, 1871. He was born of an old noble family at Schonhausen April 1, 1815. He led a somewhat tempestuous youth, in the course of which he studied and fought duels at the Universities of Gottingen and Greifswald, spent some time in the army, and subsequently settled down as a country gentleman, managing the family estates and discharging the office of inspector of dykes.

Brought up in the political faith of the Junkers, or Prussian Tory squirarchy, he became in 1846 a member of the Provincial Diet of Saxony and of the Prussian Diet, in which he first attracted attention by his fiery speeches in defiance of the old Monarchical party. During the revolutionary period of 1848 the services he rendered in the public debates to the Conservative cause so impressed the Prussian Ministry that he suddenly found a diplomatic career opened to him. The representation of Prussia in the Diet of the old German Bund at Frankfort falling vacant, the Premier introduced Herr von Bismarck to the King, who appointed him to that important post. Here he remained for several years, discharging the arduous duties of his office with an ability that won for him the admiration of the Prussian court. The remarkable series of private despatches which he addressed to the Prussian Premier are models of diplomatic skill and statecraft.

Austria was then all-powerful in the German Bund, and, supported by nearly all the other German States, had systematically prevented Prussia from exercising that influence in the councils of the Confederation to which from her position as far the greatest of the purely German States, she was justly entitled. From the time of Bismarck's appearance, however, the voice of Prussia began to have increasing weight. The successful audacity with which he checkmated Austrian intrigue at Frankfort was the source of constant irritation at Vienna, and naturally tended to produce some estrangement between the Austrian and Prussian courts. Bismarck was sent as Ambassador to St. Petersburg (1859-62).

In May, 1862, he was promoted to the then most difficult and important post in the diplomatic service—that of Prussian Ambassador at Paris, where Napoleon III. was then in the plenitude of his power. Five months later he was summoned to Berlin and made First Minister of the Prussian Crown.

The first ten years after Herr von Bismarck assumed power are amongst the most remarkable in modern European history. Within that brief period he had humbled the Austrian empire, destroyed the French empire, and created the new German empire. He remodelled the map of Europe, dismembering Denmark and France. He enlarged the frontiers of Prussia by the annexation of various provinces, including the dominions of three dethroned German princes; and succeeded in placing Germany, which had previously been the weakest and least respected of the great powers, at the head of all the states of Europe.

His first task as Minister-President was, however, one from which a statesman of less resolution and of less firm belief in the rights of the Crown might well have recoiled. The Chamber of Deputies had refused to pass the military budget, as it demanded increased grants, which were required to carry out the reorganization of the army in accordance with the ideas of the King. The House uniformly refused these supplies, and for several sessions heated debates and violent scenes, in which the Minister-President and the Liberal leaders were the principal antagonists, were of constant occurrance. In spite of the rejection of the budget by the Chamber the Government spent the money, and the House threatened Von Bismarck with impeachment for violating the constitution.

In the midst of this quarrel a congress of all the Princes of Germany was invited to meet at Frankfort to reorganize the German Bund; but the King of Prussia, by advice of his Minister refused to appear; and the project, although discussed and approved by five-sixths of the German sovereigns, came to nothing.

The German Bund having, at Herr von Bismarck's instigation, resolved to invade the Elbe duchies in support of the claims of the Duke of Augustenburg, Austria, Prussia and Saxony were intrusted with the execution of the task; and a war broke out in 1864 with Denmark, resulting in the loss to her of the duchies of Schleswig-Holstein and Lauenburg. Instead of giving them up to the Duke, Bismarck determined if possible to annex them to Prussia. The Austrian and Saxon troops were recalled, and the quarrel eventually led (in 1866) to a war between Prussia and Austria, who was joined by Bavaria, Hanover, Hesse-Cassel, Hesse-Darmstadt and Nassau. The arms of Prussia were victorious; Austria suffered a crushing defeat at Sadowa (Koniggratz), in Bohemia. Hanover and the South German States were likewise vanquished; and the war, which was over in seven weeks, led to the treaty of Nikolsburg, by which Austria was permanently excluded from the German Bund, and Hanover, Nassau, Hesse-Cassel and Frankfort, as well as Schleswig-Holstein and Lauenburg, were annexed to Prussia.

The North German Confederation, with Prussia at its head, was established in place of the old Bund, while with the South German States an offensive and defensive alliance was concluded, giving the King of Prussia supreme command of all their troops in time of war. Of the North German Bund Count von Bismarck was created Chancellor and President of the Federal Council.

In addition to these successes, in consideration of which the Prussian House of Deputies passed a bill of indemnity, forgiving his former breaches of the constitution, Count von Bismarck obtained great popularity for creating a representative branch of the new Federal Government, on the basis of manhood suffrage.

Napoleon III. jealous of the growing power of Prussia, attempted to obtain some compensation for France by the annexation of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, which Holland had consented to cede to him. But in this scheme the French Emperor was thwarted, chiefly by the energetic attitude of Bismarck; and in the end the duchy was declared neutral territory, and the fortifications of the capital were demolished.

Great as were the events through which Bismarck had conducted Germany, he was destined to lead her shortly through greater events still; notably by the defeat of the French in 1870, the dispute growing out of the offer of the crown of Spain to Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern. The King of Prussia, as the head of the family, had consented to the acceptance of the honor afterwards revoked. After a campaign consisting of an unbroken series of victories, largely due to the strategic genius of Count von Moltke, King William was able, through his Chancellor, to dictate terms of peace to his helpless assailant.

Of the events in Prince Bismarck's life subsequent to the Franco-German war, it may be mentioned that he presided at the Congress of Berlin (1878), the Berlin Conference (1880), and the Congo or Colonial Conference (1884). In his domestic legislation Prince Bismarck has been far less fortunate than in his diplomatic negotiations. In his economical policy, after beginning as a Free Trader, he became a Protectionist. He first largely reduced the customs tariff, and ten years later imposed heavier duties than ever. While he thus alienated the Liberals, his May Laws, interfering to an unwise extent with the religious liberty of the Catholic priesthood, led to a long and bitter struggle with the Roman Church, and made all its adherents his bitter enemies. He had previously (December 31, 1885) received the decoration of the Order of Christ from the Pope.

Prince Bismarck was called the man of "iron and blood," because in one of the first speeches he delivered as Minister-President, in 1862, he said that "it was not by speeches and majority votes that the great questions of the time would be settled, but by iron and blood." The Danish, the Austro-German and the Franco-German wars form a significant commentary on this expression. Other phrases attributed to him are that "Might goes before right," the definition of a journalist as "a man who has failed in his profession in life," and many others. Prince Bismarck's name was very prominently before the public mind in connection with the triple alliance between Germany, Austria and Italy.

The Queen, in August, 1889, presented Prince Bismarck with a full length protrait of herself. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by the University of Glasgow in December, 1888.

Two attempts have been made on Bismarck's life; the first by a lunatic named Blind on May 7 1866, at Berlin; the second on July 13, 1874, by Kullmann at Kissingen. A Bismarck museum, containing all sorts of objects relative to the Chancellor's career, has been founded at Berlin.

The resignation of the Prince as Prussian Prime Minister as well as Chancellor was announced in February, 1890, but did not actually occur till March 17, when divergences of opinion between him and the Emperor caused a rupture. Prince Bismarck left Friedrichsruhe for Vienna on June 14, 1892, in order to be present at the marriage of his son. He was given a magnificent reception at Dresden, where, in his reply, he announced that he would never again hold an official position. There were no manifestations at Berlin, but at Vienna the greatest enthusiasm was evinced.

After this visit the papers for a while were full of Bismarck and his criticisms on the Government, but animadversions and retorts upon him from the social and semi-official organs of the Government were few till the Reichsanzeiger published the circular instructions sent to the Imperial representatives abroad in May, 1890, just after the Prince had retired. This document stated that "His Majesty discriminates between Prince Bismarck of former times and of to-day," and deprecated the attachment of "any practical importance to the press publications claiming to reproduce Prince Bismarck's views." A despatch to Prince Reuss, the German Ambassador at Vienna, just before Prince Bismarck's Vienna journey, was still more emphatic. It stated that any rapprochement between the Emperor and his fomer Chancellor lacked the indispensable condition that the latter should be willing to take first steps. But even if that condition were fulfilled, the Prince "would never again regain any influence in the conduct of public affairs."

Some political significance was attached to the welcome given by enthusiastic thousands to the Prince when he visited Jena in July. During the year 1890 the Prince broke out occasionally in criticism of the Government, and in November he made a particularly violent assault on the new Army Bill.

Since 1890 Prince Bismarck has resided at his country seat. Especially in the earlier months, after his retirement, considerable friction existed between him and the Emperor. In 1893, however, the Prince fell seriously ill and the Emperor sent him a telegram of sympathy and offered him use of one of his castles to assist his convalescence. This offer the Prince declined, but the exchange of courtesies between him and the Emperor served to make very manifest the desire of the German people for a reconciliation.

This was finally accomplished upon the Emperor sending him presents of wine and congratulating him upon a recovery from an attack of influenza.

TOO WEAK TO WORK.

A Collingwood, Ont., painter tells how Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills strengthened his heart, invigorated his nerves, and restored his health.

Weak heart and weak nerves mean weak body. No one can be strong and vigorous with the heart and nerves disordered or diseased. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills not only overcome all danger due to irregularity of the heart beat, but through regulating that organ, strengthening the nerves and enriching the blood they give new vitality and energy to the whole system.

Mr. Geo. Gray, the well-known painter, corner of Napier and Simcoe Sts., Collingwood, Ont., says: "For fifteen years past I have been afflicted with very weak nerves and heart trouble. I never could obtain sufficient sleep and felt as tired when I got up in the morning as when I went to bed. In addition to this I suffered much from palpitation of the heart and shortness of breath. My blood was thin and watery and I soon lost flesh and became debilitated. It was a great task for me to walk any distance or follow my usual occupation.

"In March last I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they did me so much good that I bought another box. The great change for the better they have worked on me is wonderful. My nervous system is now as strong as ever, my blood has been enriched and my heart beats strong and natural. I now walk and work as well as ever I did and am only too glad to recommend these pills to all who suffer as I did."

A HAMILTON EPISODE.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure a Popular Hotel Clerk, of Bright's Disease.

Hamilton, Aug. 1.—Every Hamiltonian, and thousands of persons who travel to and from this city, knows Mr. C. E. Atkins, clerk at one of our principal hotels.

Mr. Atkins is deservedly popular, and is eminently fitted for the position he holds.

His hundreds of friends are rejoicing over the fact that he has fully recovered from the attack of Bright's Disease, that for two years past made his life miserable.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Mr. Atkins says: "I have tried many remedies, but they all failed utterly, except Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes of Dodd's made me a new man."

Every person who has used Dodd's Kidney Pills for any form of Kidney Disease, has the same to say; "They cured me."

A Burmese School.

The uproar was like that of a runaway engine tearing through a tunnel. The floor was littered with youngsters lying on their stomachs, and all bawling with an energy indicative that somebody was hurting them. Long, slim, scratched upon slips of palm leaf, the equivalent of books in Burma, were spread before the scholars. Making the lads shout is the approved method of elementary instruction. When the master discovers any lagging in lung exercise, a long switch begins to sing through the air. Quiet, serious study is exploded. The Burmese educationists argue that so long as a boy is shouting his mind is occupied. When he is silent, he is certain to be scheming mischief. Therefore the best shouters are the best pupils.—Travel.

Cruel Spaniards.

Spanish officers as well as men generally incline to cruelty and treachery. Here is a story in point, told by an excellent authority:

"In Alcala, the Guardia Civil—that is, one of the crack troops—was after a robber band. One of the robbers was caught. Being promised a full pardon, he gave away his comrades. This man had no sooner signed the paper that served as his death warrant for his late friends when the officer in charge said, 'We will begin with him.' The robber was immediately shot in the back of his head."

In 1870 Japan was visited by a terrible epidemic of smallpox, which almost decimated Yokohama. Vaccination was made compulsory in 1896. The Japanese are said to have been struck with the fact that pockmarked foreigners were rarely seen in Japan.

In the Bank of England there are many silver ingots which have lain untouched for nearly 200 years.

The best medicine you can take is that which builds a solid foundation for health is pure, rich blood—Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A Baptist Minister.

Rev. M. P. Campbell, the highly esteemed Pastor of the Baptist Church, Essex, Ont., says:—"From my personal use of Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are an excellent remedy for all kidney troubles."

Main's Menagerie and Circus.

At its two splendid exhibitions here on Saturday Walter L. Main's menagerie and circus did more than most of us common clay Christians do, lived up to its professions—that is, gave all it advertised and the programme was a splendid one. The point with the Main people is, what they say they do; what they do they do well.

Saturday's Fire.

Fire started in the roof of the Peterborough Canoe Co.'s factory on Water street, Saturday evening, but the promptness with which the brigade responded to the alarm and the celerity with which a stream of water was playing on the blaze checked the flames before they had an opportunity of getting well under way. The damage will not amount to over a couple of hundred dollars.

The Brave Volunteers

Endured the severe marching of the Northwest campaign with admirable fortitude. The Government should have supplied them with a quantity of the celebrated Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It never fails to remove corns painlessly, and the volunteers and everybody else should have it. Beware of substitutes. Get Putnam's Extractor and take no other.

Jimmy's Luck With the Line.

Mr. Jas. A. Tully, manager in Gough Bros. store, Peterborough, wheeled to Omemee Tuesday morning, and he had not been long here before he knocked out some of the local sports in catching fish. He with the assistance of Mr. Wm. Bradburn, of the People's Grocery, that evening succeeded in catching seven fine bass averaging 2½ lbs. each, and a nice sized lunge. As Mr. Tully is staying with the fishing, we expect to report something larger. Omemee as a fishing resort cannot be excelled. On Mr. Tully's arrival home, we expect to be visited by more of the Peterborough holiday seekers.—Omemee Mirror.

A RIFLE SHOOTING ACCIDENT

Accidental Shooting of Miss Essie Thornton, Harvey Street—Probability That her Injuries Will not Result Seriously.

Saturday evening Miss Essie Thornton, Harvey street, daughter of the late Mr. Wm. Thornton, had a narrow escape from death from a stray rifle bullet. The back yard of the Thornton family, who reside on Harvey street, abut upon that of Mr. Seymour, on Water street. On Saturday evening, about 7.30, Archie Seymour was practising rifle shooting. He had hung a tomato tin upon a clothes line and was firing at it from a twenty-two calibre rifle. A high board fence separates the two yards, and it is impossible to see from one what is going on in the other. At the time mentioned Miss Thornton happened to be in the back yard with another young lady. It appears that the lad Seymour missed the tin at which he had aimed, and the bullet passing through the boards of the fence, struck Miss Thornton in the neck, entering in close proximity to important blood vessels. Miss Thornton was at once removed to the house and Dr. Young summoned who took the necessary steps to attend to the injuries, not, however, thinking it advisable at that time to remove the bullet.

Yesterday evening Miss Thornton was placed in the Nicholls' Hospital.

Miss Thornton's injuries are not considered necessarily fatal by Dr. Young. The bullet entered the right side of the neck a little below the ear. The bullet has not yet been found, the patient's condition of collapse forbidding any attempt to discover its locality. She is recovering from the shock of the accident.

IS HE THE THIEF?

A Man Captured in Lindsay With the Wheel Which Was Stolen From Mr. Norman Williams.

Chief Rossel returned from Lindsay this morning with Israel Cornelius, who was arrested in Lindsay on Sunday charged with the theft of a wheel from the Morgan House on the first of July.

The owner of the wheel is Mr. Norman Williams, of Cobourg, whose evidence was taken this afternoon. Mr. Williams recognises the wheel which was found with Cornelius, although since it was in his possession the rims have been painted and the saddle repaired. An unsuccessful attempt had also been made to erase the number of the the wheel from the saddle post, it being scraped and painted over.

The description of the man who was seen making off with the wheel tallies to a nicety with that of the prisoner. The case has been enlarged until Friday.

Mr. Geo. Matthews, of Lindsay, Mr. Albert E. and Mrs. Matthews, of Ottawa, and Miss Lucy Matthews, of Birmingham, arrived in town from England this morning and went on to Lindsay. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Matthews have been in England since January, Mr. Matthews a few weeks, while Miss Matthews is paying her first visit to Canada.

Mr. Michael Donovan, brother of Mrs. Dash Holmes, of town, who is now the manager of a flourishing dry goods business in the thriving city of Casopolis, Mich., has returned home after spending the last four weeks visiting friends and relatives here. After an absence of thirty four years, Mr. Donovan was greatly delighted and astonished with the progress Peterborough has made in his absence. He intends hereafter to make an annual visit to his old home to renew his friendship with the large circle of acquaintances amongst whom he became so popular during his stay in town.

The Essex Free Press says:—"Mr. Wm. A. Shaw, of Peterborough, eastern representative for the Newcombe Piano Co., of Toronto, has been spending the week with his father, Rev. W. H. Shaw, at the Parsonage. On Sunday evening, Mr. Shaw, jr., occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church here and preached an excellent temperance sermon, taking his text from Habakkuk 2:15—'Woe be unto him that giveth his neighbour drink.' Mr. Shaw also addressed the Epworth League on Tuesday evening, comparing the Christian religion with the other religions of the world."

Mr. T. G. Kells, of Messrs. Wood & Kells, Millbrook, is in town to-day the guest of his nephew, Mr. R. H. Kells. Mr. Kells has been in Manitoba for the past two months looking after the interests of the firm in Manitoba, particularly in the Souris District, where they own a very large block of land and where they deal largely in the buying and selling of farm property. Mr. Kells informs the EXAMINER that Manitoba had a very large crop of wheat sown and it is difficult yet to say whether the harvest will be more than an ordinary one or not. After the grain was sown there was no rain for two months but now it is heading out wonderfully. Last year it had four rows in the head and this year it looks as if it would have six, unless some unforseen occurrence intervenes. Mr. Kells says that there are a great many going into Manitoba and he speaks with great hopefulness for its future. The Manitoba and Northern Pacific, the Great Northern and Canadian Pacific Railways are extending their lines in various directions, giving the farmers the increased accommodation they require. Mr. Kells will return to Manitoba in about six weeks.

JACKSON PARK LAKE CLAIMS A VICTIM.

Mr. Fred Foote Accidentally Drowned There.

HE COULD NOT SWIM A STROKE.

When Thrown From His Bicycle From the Bank he Could not Make an Effort to Save Himself, and Drowned in Water Only a Little Over his Depth.

The tragic drowning of Mr. Fred. Foote, one of Peterborough's prominent citizens, this morning at an early hour greatly demoralized business in Peterborough for the day, and the sad event was discussed in every home.

Mr. Foote rose early, and shortly after six o'clock left his home on McDonel street to wheel up to Jackson Park and enjoy a morning bath in the pond.

As Mr. Ben Yelland was coming out of the eastern entrance to the park at about half past six he met Mr. Foote going in and asked him if he wasn't up rather early, and Mr. Foote laughingly replied that he was going to take a bath.

Mr. Yelland was the last person known to have SEEN MR. FOOTE ALIVE.

At a quarter after seven Mr. Wm. Lang, caretaker of the park, saw a bicycle lying half in the water at the foot of the steep bank just north of that portion of the little lake, which is spanned by the footbridge. Hurrying down the bank he was able to descry the form of a man in the water at a distance of about ten feet from the shore. He appeared to be in a stooping position and the tails of his coat floated on the water.

Mr. Lang immediately telephoned to the police and then went to the tool house to look up a long pole which is used to break up the ice in the spring.

Constable Adams responded to the call for assistance, and he and Mr. Lang into the shore by degrees, finally being able to thrust the pole into the loose portion of the coat and draw the remains up on the bank. The body was identified as being that of Mr. Foote, after some difficulty on account of the discolouration of the face. As stated, he was in a stooping position and his hands were tightly clenched.

WORKED THE BODY

The bicycle was found to be intact in every portion, although the seat was slightly twisted. The mark made by the wheels cutting deeply into the bank was plainly seen, and the theory is that while descending the winding roadway, the the wheel must have attained a and Mr. Foote losing control of it at the bend, went dashing over the bank to his death in the lake.

He was unable to swim a stroke and after being probably thrown over the handle bars and stunned, was unable to get back to the shore and was drowned in water a little over six feet in depth.

On one occasion, earlier in the summer, Mr. Foote went for a bathe in the pond at Jackson Park and on a number of occasions since has mentioned the pleasure which the morning dip gave him. No surprise was therefore felt by the family when he left this morning to repeat the pleasant experience. At about eight o'clock, as he had not returned to breakfast, his daughter, Miss Lillie Foote, walked down to the store and asked if he had been there yet. His partner in business, Mr. McWhinnie, stated that he had but surmised that he must have gone to the station with another daughter, Miss Mamie, who intended going out to Stony Lake this morning. Miss Lillie went on to the station, where she met her sister, who had not, however, seen anything of the father. Thoroughly alarmed, the two young ladies started for Jackson Park and had just reached the gate when they were fortunately met by Mr. J. S. Knapman in time to prevent them coming suddenly on the scene of the accident, where by this time a large crowd had collected.

NOT SEEN HIM,

Constable Adams notified the coroner of the circumstances connected with the affair and Dr. Bell decided that an inquest

WAS NOT NECESSARY.

The deceased was a native of Shaftsbury, Dorsetshire, England, being born there in 1846. Together with his wife and two children he came out to Canada in 1871, and entered the employ of Mr. Samuel White, who at that time conducted a large boot and shoe business in Peterborough. After remaining with Mr. White for eighteen years, Mr. Foote went into business for himself with Mr. McWhinnie, his present partner, who was then also employed by Mr. White. Since that time he has been a partner in the firm of Foote & McWhinnie, and has built up a prosperous business.

Mr. Foote was a past president of Landsdowne Lodge, Sons of England, an active and valued member of Court Peterborough, Canadian Order of Foresters, and was a Past Grand of Peterborough Lodge of Independent Oddfellows.

Arrangements have not, as yet, been completed regarding the funeral. During the day the family residence, 246 McDonel street, has been crowded by the many friends of the family calling to express their sympathy. The surviving children are Harry, Mamie, Blanche Lillie, Maude, Vida and Alma.

LIABILITY OF A MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

In December, 1897, a team of horses driven by a son of N. H. Stevens, who was accompanied by Miss Atkinson, ran away in the city of Chatham. The sleigh was upset, Miss Atkinson's leg broken, the horses and sleigh injured. Action was brought by three plaintiffs against the town to recover expenses and damages. Mr. Stevens, Miss Atkinson and her father, Mr. Geo. R. Atkinson, were plaintiffs, and their plea was negligence of defendants in not keeping King street in proper repair. Mr. Justice Ferguson has decided against the city. He finds that the street was out of repair by reason of a certain pole or post planted in it, and that the corporation had notice and knowledge of it, and that it was the cause of upsetting the sleigh. The municipality claimed relief over against the Bell Telephone Company, who had placed the pole, but the learned judge held that they were not entitled to such indemnity, because the pole was planted under the superintendence and with the sanction of the corporation. The defendants are to pay the plaintiff, George R. Atkinson, $120 damages, the plaintiff Nathan H. Stevens $125 damages, and the plaintiff Mary Louisa Atkinson $750 damages. They are also to pay the costs of the plaintiffs and of the Bell Telephone Company. The decision is a warning to corporations that they are responsible for the roadway and for the poles on it, and that they should secure bonds of indemnity from the companies using the streets.—Monetary Times.

THE WORK BEGUN.

Messrs. Sheehy & Dolan Begin Work on the George Street Pavement.

Messrs. Sheehy & Dolan began work on their contract for paving George street this morning. The start was made on the east side at the corner of Brock street. Gangs of men and teams are excavating and removing the earth, which is to be replaced by the substratum of field stone and ground granite and cement. The earth is being removed for filling purposes to the "goose pond."

The EXAMINER has previously called attention to the necessity of seeing that the earth filling recently put in sewer trenches is completely packed before the pavement is placed. If this is not done the pavement above these spots will certainly subside as the sun will set. It is understood that in this event the loss will be to the town. The contractors are subject to no responsibility, except what arises from bad workmanship or bad material. Even removing the greater part of the earth from these excavations and ramming the soil under a flow of water, to effectively compact the earth will be cheaper than ripping up the finished pavement and replacing it.

There are two or three fresh sewer trenches on the block on which work is going on, and if the earth is to be settled it must be done speedily.

DEWEY SEEMS TO BE IN DIFFICULTIES

He Has Both Insurgents and Spaniards on His Hands.

DISQUIETING DESPATCHES RECEIVED.

General Merritt Will Need all the Troops Available.

MERRITT MAY ATTACK AGUIGALDO.

Washington, July 31.—Whether or not Spain accepts the terms laid down by President McKinley as imperative to peace, the United States is now in a position to carry out whatever course may be decided on as to the Philippines, although there are many indications that trouble is to be expected from General Aguinaldo.

Major-General Wesley Merritt, commanding the army in the Philippines, arrived at Cavite on July 25. He reported that he expected the rest of the third expedition to arrive within four days. If his expectations were realized he has now under his command about eleven thousand men.

AGUINALDO DEFIANT.

In regard to the statement of General Merritt that all troops assigned to him would probably be needed, the authorities at Washington were also enlightened by advices from Rear-Admiral Dewey. The commander of the Asiatic squadron announced that Aguinaldo, the leader of the Philippine rebels, had assumed a bold attitude of defiance, and that a large force of the United States soldiers would be needed to subdue the insurgents.

The third expedition includes 5,000 officers and men. The first expedition carried 2,501 men, and the second carried 3,515 men, so that General Merritt now has under his command 11,016 men.

From the despatches received, Aguinaldo and his insurgent Government in the Philippines may give Admiral Dewey more trouble than the Spanish Governor-General and his forces.

When Admiral Dewey first took possession of Manilla bay he and Aguinaldo seemed to be working in harmony and with a perfect understanding. The insurgent leader won some advantages over the Spanish troops, and then reports began to come from Manilla indicating that he was not content to co-operate with the American admiral, without whose assistance he could have done nothing. He declared himself a dictator, and indicated in other ways that he proposed to assert his right to sole authority in the Philippines.

SITUATION COMPLICATED.

While the Cabinet was in session yesterday considering the answer to the Spanish peace proposals, the cablegram was received from Admiral Dewey which was more disquieting than any that had previously come from him. It indicated that Aquinaldo had assumed an attitude of defiance toward the American forces that might make it necessary to fight him as well as the Spaniards if the Philippines were to be taken. The contents of this despatch were carefully guarded, and nothing can be learned as to the details of Aguinaldo's act, which prompted the admiral to send his despatch.

In some quarters the information received from the admiral was urged as an additional reason for the United States withdrawing from the Philippines entirely, but on the other hand it is urged that there is all the more reason for this Government, which is now the dominant force in the islands, asserting its power against both the Spaniards and the insurgents if necessary.

It is urged that if the United States should withdraw, the condition of affairs in Manilla would justify European powers in landing men from their fleets, and in view of the anxiety of the powers to obtain additional territory in the Orient, there would be danger of a general European war starting in the streets of Manilla.

MAY ATTACK AGUINALDO.

In view of General Merritt's despatch saying that he would need all the troops that had been assigned to him, and of Admiral Dewey's despatch telling of Aguinaldo's attitude and saying that the situation is critical, it is probable that 4,000 troops under orders for the Philippines, who are still in this country, will be hurried forward as rapidly as possible.

Aguinaldo was under a promise to Admiral Dewey not to attack the city of Manilla before the Americans were ready to occupy it. Officials of the Administration believe that he will now attempt to take it. It is not believed that General Merritt and Admiral Dewey will permit this, and it may be necessary to turn the guns of the fleet upon the insurgents.

THE BAND.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—The announcement is made that Mr. Miller has severed his connection of 24 years' standing with the Fire Brigade Band. It is an open secret that the cause is rather internal dissension than a quarrel with Mr. Miller, but it is not my intention to discuss that phase of the matter; the result is that we are practically without a band. The present crisis is not without its compensation. In the first place we get rid of the anomaly of the chief musical organization of the town taking its name from the Fire Brigade, then the opportunity is presented of forming a new band upon an entirely different basis. Peterborough, if its importance is to be maintained, should have one of the best bands in the country; this can only be accomplished by united effort and support. I submit that the rallying point must be the battalion; its officers and the citizens must co-operate. I understand that most of the bandsmen are already enlisted in the 57th, and no doubt they are still quite willing to continue their allegiance to that corps. But the Government grant and the officers' subscriptions (which I am told are very liberal) are not sufficient to make the band what it should be, and I contend that inasmuch as the battalion band is in every sense enjoyed by and a benefit to all citizens alike, it should receive its main support from the municipal council and not be compelled every Christmas, like a band of strolling musicians, to go from door to door asking for alms. There should be a conference between the council and the Battalion officers for the purpose of arriving at a modus vivendi and I am sure our worthy mayor, who appreciates music at its true value, will not be slow to give the subject the attention it deserves.

I cannot close without paying a tribute to Mr. Miller's untiring and able efforts in connection with the band, which entitle him to the highest ecomium. It is a notorious fact that the susceptibilities of musical people require very delicate treatment. That Mr. Miller has been able to keep his band together for so many years speaks volumes for his good temper and tact.

Yours, etc.,
MUSICUS.

CHURCH CHIMES.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

There were a very large congregation at the Murray street Baptist church yesterday. This was especially the case in the evening, for at the morning service Rev. A. T. Dykeman who has been the well beloved pastor of the church for about two years, announced that in the evening he would preach the last sermon of his pastorate, which concludes according to the terms, of his resignation on Aug. 15th. The sermon was not however of a farewell character, but a straight, plain, direct and forcible gospel sermon, founded on the text, I Cor. xvi-22 "If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ let him be Anathema Maranatha." Only incidentallily was reference made to the preacher's departure from the post of pastor. It is understood the congregation generally feel the deepest regret at Mr. Rev. Dykeman retirement from the pastorate of the church. He has faithfully discharged his duty and as a pastor has won their love and regard. He is very highly esteemed by his brother pastors in the town and in the community generally he has earned and enjoys a high measure of respect.

The rite of baptism was administered at the close of the evening service.

At the morning service the anthem was "Saviour, source of every Blessing," and at the evening service the solo was taken by Mrs. (Dr.) Scott.

Complaint is being made that a couple of hundred pounds of bass are shipped away every day and sold.

The "Kuban" camp at Eaglemount broke up this morning, and Messrs. H. Bradshaw, C. Butcher, A. Milliken and J. Howland, all came down on the "Golden City." The boys have a great joke on Jack Howland who followed a farmer's waggon seven miles into the country to find out where a pretty girl lived. A standing joke exists on Harry Bradshaw and his "big red wheel."

Mr. R. J. Colville, formerly General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Peterborough, conducted the services in the Juniper Island pavilion yesterday. He based his sermon on the 19th Psalm. Rev. Orr Bennett assisted in the service and Miss Sara Robinson presided at the piano. The attendance was very large.

LOUISIANA UNDER SPAIN.

How the Office of Hangman In the Colony Went Begging.

When the court martial that Don Alessandro O'Reilly, the second Spanish governor of Louisiana, in 1769, had organized to convict brought in a verdict of death against Lafreniere and six of his companions as the leaders of the Louisiana revolutionists against the authority of Spain, to which country Louis XV of France had ceded the colony, O'Reilly sought in vain among whites and blacks in Louisiana for a man who would perform the abhorrent work of serving as hangman at the execution of the patriots. Not a man of the colony would answer the call. In this emergency O'Reilly was compelled to assign the congenial task of slaughtering the helpless creoles and Frenchmen to regular Spanish soldiers whom he had brought with him from Spain, and, instead of being hanged, Lafreniere and the others were shot to death by a platoon of grenadiers in a space of ground near the site of the present United States mint in New Orleans, which at that time was in the rear of the military garrison of the post.

The failure of O'Reilly to secure a hangman in the case of these unfortunate men recalled to old French residents of New Orleans of that day the interesting story of Jeannot, an African slave of the Mississippi company, or Company of the West, which 50 years previously had control of the colony of Louisiana under a charter granted by the regent of Orleans. The company offered Jeannot his freedom on condition that he would serve as public hangman of the colony. Jeannot appeared to agree to the proposition, but he afterward repaired to a secluded place and cut off his right arm with a hatchet. By this self inflicted mutilation Jeannot avoided the repulsive duties of hangman for the colony, but he also lost his opportunity for freedom. However, the agents of the company, not knowing in what way to utilize Jeannot as a laborer, appointed him overseer of all the slaves belonging to it. Poor Jeannot was rewarded for his sense of humanity and conscientiousness by receiving the respect and esteem of all the inhabitants of the colony during the rest of his life.—New Orleans Picayune.

Women and Foreign Travel.

The matter of sex need not affect in the slightest the question of foreign travel. If an American girl wants to study art, music or languages and has the means, there is not the least reason why she should not go alone to Paris or Berlin or Vienna to do it. There is no greater fear of insult abroad than at home. The only difference I have ever heard of is that in Europe unmarried women with regard for their reputations do not go out in the evening without escort, but the same thing is true of the larger cities here.

In the mere matter of travel Europe offers far more comfort and convenience than America to women journeying alone or in parties without men. They need never touch their luggage unless they choose. At hotels and railway stations they will always be more courteously treated than men, and that is saying a good deal. And the "unprotected female" needs no protection. English women think nothing of taking their vacations on the continent, and a journey from New York to Los Angeles presents more terrors than one from London to Constantinople or Cairo.—Robert Luce in "Going Abroad."

Oak or Squash.

A student asked the president of Oberlin college if he could not take a shorter course than that prescribed by the institution.

"Oh, yes," was the reply, "but that depends upon what you want to make of yourself. When God wants to make an oak he takes 100 years, but when he wants to make a squash he takes six months."—New York Tribune.

CAN'T EAT.

FOOD is the fuel that feeds the fires of life. Digestion is the process that turns the fuel into energy. Few possess perfect digestion. If your digestion is imperfect, if you cannot eat what you like without discomfort, if you cannot eat when you ought to eat, the time has come when you should take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Hunger is the best Sauce. Take these Pills and get hungry. You may eat what you want if you take Dr. Ward's Pills.

WHAT THEIR MERITS ARE:

My system was entirely rejuvenated by the use of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I consider them a marvellous strength and nerve builder for dyspepsia. I was so sick and miserable that I seemed to have no life or energy left in me. I suffered so at times that I thought death would be better for me. I had tried Doctors and different kinds of medicines, but all failed to do me any good. I am in every way now a well woman, and have been for months. Before using these Pills I was so sick that I could not keep anything in my stomach. I was under the opinion that dyspepsia could not be cured, but now I am satisfied it can be cured, for I am able to eat like any healthy woman and feel better in every way. They have built me up also,—I now weigh several pounds more than I ever did before. In conclusion, I would advise every woman afflicted with poor digestion to give Dr. Ward's Pills a trial.

MRS. L. E. WATSON, Port Colborne, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

BLOOMERS IN EUROPE.

What They Mean In Paris and How Regarded In Other Cities.

In Paris there are but two styles of bicycle dress—long, narrow skirts and bloomers. The bloomers are very numerous—one sees little clouds of them on the Bois de Boulogne of a Sunday afternoon and in the morning and evening they trickle through all the other streets as their wearers go to or from the Bois. But never is a pair of bloomers worn by a virtuous woman, except it be an American, who sees so many and adopts the costume in ignorance of the fact that they are in reality the badges of the cocottes and demi-mondaines of the poorest, brazenest sort in the capital.

In Vienna the same is true. Bloomers are few and those who wear them know that they throw away respectability with the casting off of their skirts. In Berlin—I don't know. One does not think of fashion or dress in Berlin. It's too ridiculous. It is like thinking of quiet and repose in Chicago. There are bloomer girls in Berlin, but they look like a hard faced lot.

In London there are very many pairs of bloomers—thousands worn every Saturday afternoon and Sunday, and not on other days of the week. They are, it seems to me, all worn by good women, but they are women of strong minded tendencies and reforming aspirations. They are nearly all of the middle lower class—workwomen, radical and independent thinkers. They are so often rude and coarse and loud and noisy that the Dorking innkeeper had doubtless noticed their manners more than their trousers before he decided to refuse them the comforts of his inn.

Very many of them go through the streets in bloomers, but a greater number wear skirts in town and take them off and tie them to the handle bars of their machines as soon as they come to the green fields. They make bloomers a profession. They belong to the National Dress league or to clubs whose members are pledged to popularize pantaloon displays. They divide up their neighborhoods, and either visit from house to house, begging the women to wear the trousers, or they pepper whole neighborhoods with proselytizing printed matter. They promise to go out biking in their breeches with whoever will put on the same garments until the novelty wears off and until, as their circulars say, "a lady in rational dress is accorded the same respect that is shown to a lady in silks."

The ladies of London who ride bicycles all wear long skirts and bloomers underneath. Those who wear regular bicycle suits made with a saddle seat and a skirt which hangs in a straight plait on either side of the saddle are the most graceful and birdlike figures in Europe. Far too many wear the usual walking dress of thin material, with high boots, no underskirts, but bloomers in their place, and on windy days these well meaning women make such sorry spectacles of themselves as to give the bloomerites a good chance to say that the rational dress is the more modest. —Providence Journal.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping.

MODERN SHRAPNEL.

DEADLY EFFECT OF THIS FEARFUL IMPLEMENT OF WAR.

What Happens When a Single Projectile Suddenly Bursts Into Two Hundred Separate Messengers of Death—Shells and Solid Shot.

The improvements in modern guns have embraced all calibers, from that of the small arm firing a projectile only one-third of an inch in diameter to the monster which sends a solid piece of steel 12 inches through and weighing over half a ton. Not only have the guns improved, but also all their accessories, especially powder and projectiles. The smokeless powder of the present has changed the conditions of war almost as much as modern armament.

Keeping step with these advances have been those made in the various classes of projectiles. Even the smallest of these, with its case hardened bullet, is far ahead of the old fashioned lead bullet used in the small arms of 30 years ago.

One of the most effective of modern projectiles is the shrapnel. It is one of the forms of case shot. The others were the old fashioned grape and canister. A case shot may be said to be a collection of missiles in a case, which breaks up either in the gun or at some point in flight, thus setting free its death dealing particles.

As soon as the case is broken each of these particles goes on a separate path, and it's a sorry day for the man struck by one of them. All of these falling upon a piece of level ground would mark out an irregular oval, whose area varies with differing conditions. It has been found that the best point to burst the shrapnel is about six yards above and 50 in front of the enemy.

Colonel Shrapnel of the British service first invented shrapnel in 1803. This early form consisted simply of a spherical shell filled with bullets and a bursting charge of powder in the spaces between. This was a crude invention, which scattered the fragments too much and was liable to go off when not expected and not do so when desired. This form was improved upon during our civil war, and the modern shrapnel can be considered the most dangerous of all life destroying projectiles. It consists of three parts—the tube, the base and the head. The powder charge is in the base, which is firmly attached to the body either by electric welding or by screwing. Leading from the base through the center of the body is a tube which is also filled with powder, which is ignited by the fuse at the point of the shrapnel and carries the fire to the main charge. Between 200 and 300 bullets rest upon a diaphragm just over the powder charge. These are held in place by a matrix of rosin which is melted and poured upon the bullets when in place. A skeleton case of cast iron containing receptacles for each bullet is sometimes used instead of the rosin.

The head is put on in the same manner as the base, and when the fuse is inserted the projectile is ready for use. Some shrapnels have the bursting charge in the head instead of the base. The fuse used is rather complicated, but the United States has as good a one as there is. It is a time fuse and in actual test has shown its reliability.

It can readily be seen that one great objection to the shrapnel is its high cost. The fuse alone costs about $2.50. The same gun is usually supplied with three styles of ammunition—the solid shot, the shell and the shrapnel. Some batteries are also supplied with canister for use at close quarters. The bullets in the canister have a wider dispersion, because the case breaks up in the gun. Canister was used to repel the famous charge led by the Confederate general Pickett at Gettysburg. A perfect hail of missiles swept the slope leading up to Cemetery Hill, against whose destructive effects human valor was of no avail.

The shell is used to destroy inanimate objects as well as animate ones. It consists of a hollow cast iron shell, with a fuse and bursting charge of powder. The famous shot fired during the cutting of the cables at Cienfuegos is a good example of its use. The Spaniards having taken refuge in and behind a lighthouse, a shell was fired by one of our ships, which, striking it fairly, burst and utterly destroyed the structure, killing many of the soldiers.

But against men in battle formation the shrapnel is the more effective. It sends a perfect shower of missiles which, falling in the midst of a company, would almost annihilate it. Many tests have been made to show this.

Shrapnels fired from a gun a mile away in one instance and a mile and two-thirds in the other were made to strike a board target one inch thick. The fuses were set off by the contact and burst the projectile into 200 or 300 parts, each of which was capable of dealing death to any living thing in its path. Screens were placed at indicated distances behind the target. These may be considered as representing a battalion of infantry in column of companies. From the number of hits upon all of them the efficiency of shrapnel fire against close order formation may be judged.

In one shot 152 hits were made by a single shrapnel. In another 215 hits are recorded, but these are not so well scattered. Imagine, then, the effect of a well placed shrapnel upon a group of men such as is here represented.

The reader can readily understand why wars are now waged at greater distances and why hand to hand conflicts are almost unheard of.—New York Herald.

PLEA FOR SINGLE BEDS.

Were They More In Use There Would Be Less Sickness.

If single beds were more numerous than they are, a great many people would be better off. When one is tired, sick, cross, restless, out of sorts, he or she ought to sleep alone and not communicate by proximity the maladies that affect her. The brute creatures when sick go away by themselves till they die or get over their troubles, and this instinct a great many human beings have. Those that have it are best if indulged in it—not to the slightest degree neglected, however.

Left to themselves, they can compose their internal dissensions, recover their lost equilibrium and get back their habitual rate of "vibration," whereas if continually disturbed and "crossed" and interrupted they are a long time in getting back to the normal.

Where two children in a family must share the same room in a great many cases they would be better off to have two single beds rather than one wide double bed. We can share a great many things with those we love, but solitude clings to us from birth to death. We came into the world alone, we must go out of it alone, and we live in it alone in a certain important sense, and to get and keep our "bearings" we must sometimes be left alone. It is good that we should be.

He who has his bed to himself may be essentially alone for a portion of the 24 hours, may have himself to himself and adjust his internal mechanism to his own satisfaction. For a great many woes and ills solitude is a balm—what we call solitude—for when alone the immaterial asserts itself, the actual fades, the real is present with us.—Taggart's Times.

Colored People and Suicide.

Suicide is said to be an extremely rare occurrence among colored people. It is so very rare that it can be said that it never occurs. The statistics of suicide, which are now very carefully reported, show that the most intellectual races and those who are the most subject to their emotions are most prone to suicide. The Germans lead in the matter of suicide, the French coming next. The Irish and the Americans are about the same, the latter being slightly in the lead.—Washington Star.

Men Who Suffer From Land Sickness.

The sea is really always the same to a sailor whether at rest or in angry commotion, and its monotony at times becomes simply terrible. Occasionally one is a martyr to that terrible disease known as land sickness, which is common among men who spend months at sea, far from home, far from the refining influence of women, far from land, with its changing pictures.

The malady comes on insidiously in dreams, when one's sleeping ears catch the rippling music or rivulets between their grassy banks, the rustling of June leaves and the music of birds. Then the dreamer wakes and hears but the steady swash of water six inches from his head, and what he saw and heard in his sleep begets an uncontrollable desire to step once more upon dry land, to smell the earth, to fill the lungs with other than salt air, to stretch himself out once more upon some green bank and watch the thick foliage overhead.

Now and then this becomes a real disease, and the victim must get away or his mental poise will be overcome. More than once during a long term of service, lasting more than six months at the time, the surgeons of the fleet have been compelled to invalid men and send them home without any discernible cause except this.—Pearson's Weekly.

APPALLING DEATH

From Kidney Disease Prevented by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

"Kidney Disease." Do you know what it means? Have you Kidney Disease? Is your skin hot and dry; memory failing; breath short; urine, reddish, or pale colored; does it scald when passing; is your appetite changeable; do your ankles swell; have you bitter taste in the mouth on getting up mornings; is there a brick-dust deposit in your urine?

Any of these signs is proof positive of Kidney Disease. Will you be cured, or will you die? Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only means on earth that will cure you. They never fail.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash..... $6,038 00

2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for..... 8,280 00

3rd or take the profits in cash 2,060 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

Nearly all women look forward to the ordeal of motherhood with so much dread and anxiety that only after the baby has safely arrived and made a warm little place for himself in the mother's heart, does she fairly realize that it was indeed a good angel who brought this wee nestling to brighten and sweeten her life.

Women who are approaching motherhood with a sense of fear and solicitude, or in a weakened physical condition, need the help of that marvelous "Favorite Prescription," invented by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and designed expressly to restore healthy vigor to the delicate feminine structure involved in motherhood. It takes away all of the danger and most of the pain attendant upon motherhood, and confers on the baby that lusty hardihood which is a joy to a mother's heart.

An Ohio lady, Mrs. Lefa Hoffmire, of Clarington, Monroe Co., in a letter to Dr. Pierce, says: "I had always been healthy until four years ago. Before the birth of my child I suffered almost death a dozen times. Had what we call milk leg for four years. Could not stand it to be on my feet long at a time without swelling dreadfully. Before my last baby was born, I had every symptom of a return of the trouble. My leg swelled badly. I read of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and thought I would try it. I took six bottles, and when my baby was born I was not sick at all after I was out of labor, which lasted only a short time. In times previous, labor had lasted twelve to fifteen hours. I am a well woman to-day, and have been since I got out of bed, when my little boy was nine days old. I give the credit all to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I will never do without it during such a time."

A PYGMY ALLIGATOR

THE FLORIDA CHAMELEON IS A QUEER LITTLE ANIMAL.

It Changes Its Color at Will, Is Unsurpassed Among Quadrupeds as a Fly-catcher and Can Be Easily Tamed and Made a House Pet.

One of the most characteristic creatures in Florida is the so called chameleon or pygmy lizard (Anolis principalis), which is found in all parts of the state. Although called a chameleon, it bears no resemblance to its namesake in Asia and Africa, except the power to change its hue, and that change is due to a desire to procure food or to protect itself from foes by assuming the color of its immediate surroundings.

If placed on a piece of white paper, it becomes of a snowy hue in appearance in a few moments. Transferred to a bush, it becomes a pale green, and placed on the ground it assumes the color of the soil very rapidly.

Its ordinary hue on the ground is a brownish black, and it may retain that for some time after climbing a tree, but on the approach of a foe its "transformation scene" takes place with magical rapidity.

Tranquillity or anger, sunshine or shadow, hunger or plenty of food, affects its color, which seems to change with the state of its feelings.

Few persons would consider that this graceful and active little creature bore any relationship to such ungainly brutes as the crocodile and alligator, yet it is a member of the same family and one of the connecting links between the saurians and ophidians, or snakes.

It is merely a pygmy alligator adapted to living entirely on land and modified in form and character by its mode of life. Among its kindred are the gavials, skinks, crocodiles, geckoes and iguanas. All are carnivorous, the smaller feeding on insects and the larger on whatever they can capture. One of the nearest living relatives of the chameleon in the United States is the Gila monster of Arizona, yet no two allied creatures can be more dissimilar in character, the former being active, graceful and gentle, the latter ill tempered, moody and sluggish and secreting a poison so venomous that it is dangerous even to man and the higher quadrupeds. The Gila monster is a foot in length and the chameleon about six inches.

All lizards present the phenomenon of being able to renew their tails after they have been cut off, and the tails retain life for a considerable time after being severed from the body.

The caudal of a lizard, being brittle and easily snapped off, gave rise to the tales in circulation among old farmers concerning the glass snake, which could fall to pieces on being hit and then reunite, no matter how far apart the pieces might be.

The chameleon's tail is three inches long and tapers to a threadlike point. The head is flat and somewhat pyriform; the eyes are gentle in appearance, bright and alert; the teeth sharp, fine and numerous and the body long and slender.

It has four legs, and the hind pair are specially fitted for rapid running and long jumping, being widely set and elongated. The feet are large, compared to the size of the body, and the toes broad spreading. These characteristics enable it to jump very high and to travel over ground with a celerity which fully entitles it to the name of swift. I have seen it jump two feet into the air after a fly and outrun a cat in a distance of 60 feet.

The chameleon is unsurpassed among quadrupeds as a flycatcher and is as effective in this way on trees as the toad is on the ground. It wanders over a tree for hours together, closely scanning the foliage and promptly gobbling down all the edible insects it meets.

The dainty manner in which it holds an insect in its mouth before devouring it is rather amusing, for it looks as if it were reveling in anticipation. It may carry a fly in this manner for several minutes before eating it, just as a cat carries a mouse, then gulp it suddenly.

Some of the negroes think the creature is poisonous and try to kill it, but they never repeat the effort in my presence, for I consider it one of the best friends of the farmer.

Like every other creature on this planet, the chameleon has faults that are more apparent than real, considering its mode of life.

It will, for instance, rapidly reduce the number of the inhabitants of an apiary if it can force an entrance, yet it is not as bad in that way as a toad, because it cannot eat so much and is not so quick in catching insects. Beehives should therefore be protected from its ravages.

The most ruthless enemy of the chameleon is the strike, or butcher bird, because it pounces upon it suddenly and, taking it to a convenient tree or bush, fastens it on a thorn with mice, beetles and other creatures and leaves it suspended until it is needed for food. This bird destroys far more than it requires, many being left on the thorns until they fall to pieces from decomposition.

The chameleon, being of a fearless disposition, is easily tamed by kindness, and if given the run of the house soon becomes familiar with the human inmates and takes flies from their hands. After eating it cocks its little brown eyes first on one side, then on the other, as much as to ask if there are any more dainties, and when it does not get them it scuttles away to some favorite retreat, generally a sunny nook near the window.

The chameleon puffs out its little throat occasionally, as if it were very angry and ready to attack everything, but that is all mere demonstration, for it never assails anything fiercer than a lively fly or a fat caterpillar. This trick of enlarging its dimensions is a trait inherited from remote ancestors, which frequently used it to "bluff" hungry but cautious foes, who looked upon size as an indication of strength and ferocity. The saurians of the present day make a similar display when approached on land and exhale a strong, musky smell, as if they depended on their ferocious mien and pungent odor to frighten their enemies.

The conditions of the chameleon are such that it will exist long after alligators have disappeared from the living fauna.—Florida Times-Union and Citizen.

The Catarrh Clutch

This Disgusting Malady is at the Throat of 900 of every 1,000 of our Country's Population.

This Is Not Hearsay. It is Borne Out by Carefully Compiled Statistics of Diseases Most Prevalent. Its Development is Watched Carefully Because it is so Sure a forerunner of Consumption if Neglected. Most Catarrh Cures Contain Cocaine, which is a Dangerous Narcotic, and Prof Heys, of the Ontario School of Chemistry and Pharmacy, says:—

"After an examination made from samples procured on the open market, I declare that there is no COCAINE contained in the preparation of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure." Most astonishing results are daily coming into Dr. Chase's office of the cures made. Here are a few in condensed form. We ask you to call or write to the following parties if at all sceptical:

OSWALD BURKHARDT, 150 PORTLAND STREET, TORONTO, suffered from Catarrh for nine years, and was cured by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

MR. J. PALMER, HAIR DRESSER, 673 QUEEN STREET WEST, TORONTO, could not sleep for years on account of the mucus dropping into the throat; cured by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

MR. WHITCOMBE, OF THE METHODIST BOOK ROOM, TORONTO, suffered for two years; cured by one box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

MRS. COWLE, 467 QUEEN STREET EAST, TORONTO, thirteen years ago was attacked with Hay Fever. Never knew what it was to have any relief until she used Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. If anyone troubled with Catarrh calls on Mrs. Cowle she will give her endorsation as to her cure.

Dodd's Kidney Pills the Only Cure on Earth for Bright's Disease.

Toronto, July 25.—Bright's Disease has once again been conquered in Toronto.

And in this case, as in every other that has been cured, Dodd's Kidney Pills effected the cure.

Here is what the person most deeply concerned says about the matter:

"I suffered with Bright's Disease and impure blood for some time, and all my efforts to find relief or cure were fruitless.

"I was persuaded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I had only used two boxes when my cure was complete." Fred Borland, 677 Markham street, Toronto.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured every case of Bright's Disease for which they have been used. They never fail.

Millions of Them.

Of course they were discussing the war. Nothing else is discussed now.

"Well, they've cut another cable," said one.

"So I see," returned the other. "Do you know that's an awfully puzzling thing to me?"

"What is?"

"Why, when I read of the number of cables that have been cut and then hear of messages still being sent I can't help wondering how the troops ever got ashore anywhere without tripping over them."—Chicago Post.

A Victim.

This war has left me somewhat in the damp
And threatens me with wreck.
(I'd pay that bill, but having not a stamp
I cannot draw a check.)

It seems to strike me in a thousand ways
And burdens all men's backs.
(I cannot make a note for thirty days,
Being minus of the tax!)

There's no escape—no sunny avenue
For a poor soul—alas!
(If only these red trading stamps will do, Perhaps my checks will pass!)
—Atlanta Constitution.

As Logical as a Woman.

Mr. Wiggles—What is that queer looking musical instrument over there?

Mr. Waggles (promptly)—That is a hewgag.

Mr. Wiggles—How do you know it is a hewgag?

Mr. Waggles—Because I don't know what a hewgag is, and I don't know what that is, and so it must be a hewgag.—Sommerville Journal.

Knew His Position.

Commercial Traveler (to boy who has answered the bell)—I want the boots. You're not the boots surely?

Boy—No, sir. I'm the socks.

Commercial Traveler—Socks! You impudent young rascal, what do you mean?

Boy—Why, you see, sir, I'm under the boots.—Exchange.

Safe Guardian.

"Do you like candy, mamma?" asked 4-year-old Bessie.

"No, dear," was the reply. "It always makes me sick."

"I'm awful glad of it," said the little miss. "You're just the woman I want to hold my candy while I dress dolly."—Chicago News.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

Plugging the Piano.

"It is a familiar fact," said Mr. Gozzleby, "or it is a fact familiar at least to all fond parents, that children without exception like to play the piano with the hard pedal on all the time. All children like to make all the noise they can, in playing the piano as in everything else. Playing upon the piano without the heavy pedal does not disturb me at all, but the minute the heavy pedal is put on I am greatly disturbed, and the continued resounding of the notes fairly racks me.

"Of course I can't be forever saying 'don't,' and it's ungracious to say it at all, I suppose, for why shouldn't the children have their fun, and so I hit upon the desperate expedient of blocking the heavy pedal. I have whittled out a nice little piece of soft white pine into a plug that just fits into the space under the pedal in the opening in which it works, so that the pedal cannot be depressed.

"It has only been there two days now, but it has been two days of blessed relief. It can't last much longer, because the children are liable to ask me any minute what's the matter—I wonder they haven't asked me long ago—and of course I'll have to tell 'em, but I am grateful for the rest I have had, and the respite has given me strength the better to withstand, for a time at least, the uproar that will surely come when the children discover the plug."—New York Sun.

If She Were a Man.

"Oh," she suddenly exclaimed, "I wish I were a man."

"What would you do?" he asked.

"I'll not say what I would do, but there is one thing I will confess that I wouldn't do."

"And that is?"

"I wouldn't sit around as if I had handcuffs on when I happened to be alone with a girl."—Cleveland Leader

A Feminine Mania.

"They tell me that Blakely is not rich, and yet there is not a day but what the wagon from the jewelers and the merchants stops there."

"That's so. She's one of these women that have things sent home on disapproval."—Detroit Free Press.

Method In His Madness.

"Why did Briggs try to cover his entire lot with his new house?"

"So he wouldn't have any grass to cut."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He Had Changed.

A widow once called upon an artist and asked him to paint a portrait of her husband. "When can he sit?" inquired the artist. "He can't sit at all," said the widow, "he's dead." "Then you will have to furnish me with his photograph," said the artist. "He never had his picture taken," said the widow. Nevertheless the artist undertook the job, and when he had finished the work he asked the widow to come and see it.

"It's a fine picture," said she, "and you'll please send it to my home—but how the old man has changed."—Boston Herald.

He Saw the Play.

They were giving "She Stoops to Conquer" in a small provincial town. A penniless individual, anxious to see the play, stalked past the ticket office in a careless, independent sort of way. When stopped and asked by what right he went in without paying, he replied:

"By what right! I am Oliver Goldsmith, the author of the piece they are going to perform!"

"Ah, beg pardon, sir," said the check taker, making a bow.

And Goldsmith walked in to see his play.—London Answers.

Why Is It Ever Thus?

So she was, just as they had said.
But one man did not think so.

Teething Babies

Thousands of them die every summer of Cholera Infantum who could be saved by the timely use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

There is not a mother who loves her infant but should keep on hand during the hot weather a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Thousands of babies in Canada are sacrificed every year owing to neglect of this simple precaution.

There is no remedy so safe and so effective for the diarrhœa of infants as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. No remedy has the endorsation of so many Canadian mothers who have proved its merits, and therefore speak with confidence. One of these is Mrs. Peter Jones, Warkworth, Ont., who says: "I can give Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry great praise, for it saved my baby's life. She was cutting her teeth and was taken with diarrhœa very bad. My sister advised me to get Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I got a bottle and it cured the baby almost at once."

There can be no doubt about it. Over forty years experience has proved Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry to be the best remedy for Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Cramps, Cholera Infantum and Summer Complaint. Sold by medicine dealers at 35c a bottle. Always insist on the genuine. Many of the imitations sold are positively dangerous, as they often check the diarrhœa too suddenly and cause inflammation.

RACCOON RITES.

Their Immersion of Infant Coons and Their Washing of Food.

The coon home at the Cincinnati zoo consists simply of a plot of ground about as large as a barn door of extra generous size would cover. This is surrounded by a wire fence four feet high, topped with a broad up curving tin rail, which prevents the little clownlike creatures from escaping. In the center of this yard is a tree 20 feet high and having many and heavy limbs. Near the base of the tree is a several foot square pool of water. This pool marks two very exclusive, very notable characteristics that distinguish the coon from any other animal. The pool is the coon's christening and food cleansing place.

When a coon gives birth to young, almost the first thing she does is to take her babies one by one in her mouth, and, accompanied by the father coon, proceed slowly and solemnly to the pool. Arriving at its brink and while the dad coon stands thoughtfully by the mother baptizes the little one beneath the wave with all the decorum and solicitude of a Baptist clergyman immersing a candidate for church membership. After lowering it gently down beneath the surface and lifting it up again, Mrs. Coon and her husband wend their way back again to their family corner of the yard. This service, solemn and staid, is continued by Mr. and Mrs. Coon until every mother's son of their just arrived offspring has been duly christened. Viewed soberly, it is really one of the most unique, impressive processional performances imaginable. But the indescribable drollness of the picture made by the wee husband and wife as they go through with the performance is inimitable, and smiles, if not laughter, come to almost every one who witnesses the serio comic bit of drama.

Almost any hour any day in the year you can find a group of people tossing bits of goodies to the coons. Upon picking up one of these Mr. or Mrs. Coon instantly, with the "goody" held daintily in its teeth, trots over to the pool and swashes the morsel back and forth in the water two or three times. Then, returning to its favorite corner or up to its favorite crotch in the tree, the little chap sets to devouring it in a way so dainty and sedate as to put food gulping humans to the blush.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

GRAVE OF PATRICK HENRY.

Not In Richmond, but In Charlotte, Where He Lived.

Every now and then we see in some newspaper the query, "Where is Patrick Henry buried?" and tourists in Richmond constantly ask to be shown his grave, with the mistaken idea that it is in that city, where much of his public career was passed. Few people comparatively know that the man who acquired the title of "The Tongue of the Revolution" lies in a quiet grave on the estate in Charlotte county where he formerly lived. Over it is a marble slab inscribed with one line, "His fame his best epitaph."

The estate lies on Staunton river, 88 miles from the town of Lynchburg, near the border line which separates Charlotte and Campbell counties. It derived its name of Red Hill from the peculiar color of the soil in that vicinity. When Patrick Henry bought the place, it comprised about 3,500 acres. The land is rich—there was a saying in the neighborhood that poor land and Henry could never be mentioned together—corn grows there as high as a man on horseback; there is a general air of smiling fields and abundant prosperity. Its situation in early times was very remote. Neighbors were few, one of the nearest being the celebrated John Randolph of Roanoke, who lived in his chosen solitude 15 miles away.

Red Hill is now owned by Henry's grandson, William Wirt Henry, a clever, cultivated gentleman of the "old school." He has in his possession some most interesting relics of his celebrated grandfather, including the desk he always used, which still contains his letters from Lafayette, Washington, Madison and other great men of early days; the large, round backed chair in which Patrick Henry died and a portrait of him by the elder Sully, under which hangs a yellowed slip of paper, signed by Chief Justice John Marshall and several others of his friends, testifying to the faithfulness of the likeness.—Philadelphia Press.

READING SEALED LETTERS.

A German Scientist Shows How This May Be Accomplished.

It is not generally known that sealed letters may in many cases be read without opening the envelopes or doing them the least injury. It was discovered by a German physiologist by the use of an embryoscope, or egg glass, that the shells of eggs were of very unequal thickness.

It occurred to him to make experiments in order to ascertain how many leaves of ordinary letter or official paper must be laid above and below a written leaf in order to make it illegible to a highly sensitive eye in the direct sunlight. He found that after he had rested his eye in a dark room for 10 or 15 minutes he cold read a piece of writing over the mirror of the embryoscope that had been covered with eight layers of paper.

He called in other observers to confirm this. The letters, however, that could thus be deciphered were written in dark ink on one side of the paper only. If four written sides were folded together, and especially if there had been crossing, it was hard to make out the drift of the writing, and there are some kinds of writing which, when folded twice or thrice, admit too little light for the purpose of decipherment.

In this way possibly many of the performances of "clairvoyants" may be explained. By means of the egg glass it is, as a rule, easier to make out the contents of letter or telegram without the slightest tampering with the envelope than it is to detect the movements of the embryo in the egg.

Suppose the writer of a billet, the contents of which are known only to himself, lets it out of his hand and loses sight of it for five minutes. It may be readily carried either into the direct sunlight or into electric or magnesium light and be read by the aid of the egg glass. The placing of a piece of cartridge paper in the envelope or the coloring of it black is a means of defense at hand.

PEACE IS PROBABLE.

Portentous Discussion at Washington on Saturday.

M. CAMBON WAS SPAIN'S ENVOY

Rapid Advance in the Peace Negotiations - Due to the French Minister's Extraordinary Instructions From Spain—He Has Already Won One Concession From President McKinley.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 1.—Events of the most momentous character occurred at the conference at the White House Saturday afternoon between the President, Ambassador Cambon of France and Secretary Day, carrying the peace negotiations far beyond the mere submission of terms of peace by the United States, and reaching the point of a preliminary basis of peace between the Government of Spain and the Government of the United States, needing only the ratification of the Madrid Cabinet of what was done to bring the war to an end. This was accomplished on the part of Spain when Ambassador Cambon presented to the President credentials he had received from the Spanish Government, appointing him Envoy Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary, with complete instructions as to the matter of acting upon every one of the peace conditions presented by the United States, including the disposition of Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines, the Ladrones, indemnity, armistice, and all other questions likely to arise in the course of the negotiations.

With these credentials authorizing him to speak as plenipotentiary for the Government of Spain and with full instructions on every point at issue, Ambassador Cambon in behalf of Spain not only received the peace conditions laid down by the American Cabinet earlier in the day, but thereupon entered upon their full discussion with a view to reaching a final and complete agreement.

One Modification Agreed To.

After strong argument, the President and Secretary Day consented to a modification of the American terms in one particular. What that modification relates to is not disclosed, but it is not believed it applies to the independence of Cuba, the cession of Porto Rico, or the granting of adequate coal stations to the United States in the Pacific, nor to diminish any vital particular the terms on which peace will be restored. The modification brought about practical unanimity between the President and Ambassador Cambon, as plenipotentiary for Spain, and the latter has transmitted the result of the conference to Madrid for approval, which, if given, will end the war.

The profoundly important results developed Saturday came about most unexpectedly. Since the original proposition of Spain was presented last Tuesday, M. Cambon has prepared himself to speak with authority on the questions which were to arise. The President himself had preferred this course, though outside of himself and the Ambassador few were aware that the latter would come ready to treat as the envoy of Spain. The first instructions to M. Cambon made him merely a medium of communicating Spain's first note, but now he appeared with all the attributes of the direct diplomatic officer of Spain, empowered to act for the Government within his very complete instructions.

A Meeting on Which Much Pends.

The meeting was held in the President's library and both in the subjects discussed and the impressive manner in which the argument proceeded it was a conference to become memorable. After M. Cambon had presented his credentials as plenipotentiary and they had been examined and his status recognized as the envoy of Spain, the first business was the presentation of the terms laid down by the United States. Secretary Day read the terms, pausing at the end of each sentence to allow M. Thiebaut to interpret into French, as the Ambassador's knowledge of English is limited. This reading by Secretary Day and interpreting by M. Thiebaut took but 15 minutes. Then began the discussion. The President and Ambassador addressed each other direct with the greatest freedom and frankness, each stoutly maintaining the justice of his position on the several points involved.

When at last, after an eloquent plea by the Ambassador, it was agreed to modify the conditions in one particular, Secretary Day withdrew for half an hour and attended to the drafting of the modification.

What Is the Modification?

What the modification is that has been agreed on can be only conjectured, but there is reason to believe that it relates either to the time when actual hostilities will be suspended, or else to the extent of America's interest in the Philippines. It is now for the Madrid Government to give final approval to what was partially accomplished Saturday. It is even possible that this approval may come very speedily, for there is no need of extended conferences or correspondence. All that was accomplished when M. Cambon acted as plenipotentiary. From the fact that he acted under instructions, the prospect would seem to be hopeful for Spain's ratifying what has been done. But it is for Spain herself to determine between peace and war as now presented.

THE WAR NEWS.

From Porto Rico the reports are that General Miles is taking matters easy and having no fighting. Indeed, the latest account is that the volunteers are surrendering in thousands and volunteering to join the American soldiers. Business is said to be reviving and the outlook is cheerful.

From Manila the report is that Captain-General Augusti, finding he can get no relief from Spain, will surrender as soon as Merritt and Dewey send their ultimatum. Four thousand American troops are now camped within a mile of the city.

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Summer Sale. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customer's gain.

Thursday will be a red letter day with us, marking the beginning of the Great August Sale of Summer Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes.

KAISER'S GRATITUDE

To "A Faithful Servant of Emperor William I."

EPITAPH OF PRINCE BISMARCK.

Written by Himself It Will Be Inscribed on the Mausoleum Which Will Be Built on a Spot Chosen by Himself - Emperor Orders Gorgeous Funeral Obsequies at Berlin.

Berlin, Aug. 3.—A despatch from Friedrichsruhe to the Hamburg Nachrichten says it has been definitely decided that the remains of Prince Bismarck are to be interred at the spot selected by himself, where a simple mausoleum will be built, and to which the remains of his wife will be transferred from Varsino. Until the mausoleum is completed the Federal rites will be confined to the simple ceremony of blessing the remains, which will be performed by the local pastor of the village of Brunstorf.

Bismarck's final written instructions, signed by himself, express his desire to be buried in a secluded spot in the Sachsenwold, and conclude:

"For an epitaph I wish 'Prince von Bismarck, born April 1, 1816, died ——' with the addition of 'A faithful servant of Emperor William I.'"

After remarking that Prince Bismarck was not only the unifier, but also the educator of his people, the Reichsanzeiger says:

"If it is true that states are maintained by the spirit and power in which they are created, then the name of Bismarck will remain for us a device and a revelation at all times. As Bismarck once declared at Frankfort, Prussia, which could renounce the inheritance of the great Frederick, does not exist in Europe. In the same way the German Empire could not exist at any future time unless it holds fast to the legacy of its founders, the first Hohenzollern Kaiser and his great Chancellor."

The Coffin Closed.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—Prince von Hohenlohe, the Imperial Chancellor, and Count von Shoenborn, arrived at Friedrichsruhe last night. In the presence of the Chancellor, the coffin was closed, after which Prince von Hohenlohe left Friedrichsruhe.

Emperor William, accompanied by the Empress, who wore a mourning costume, arrived at Kiel last evening. Baron von Buelow, the Foreign Minister, and Dr. von Lucanus, chief of the Empress' Civil Cabinet, are also at Kiel.

The Emperor has ordered that gorgeous funeral obsequies be held in Berlin, on the square in front of the Reichstag Building.

The famous German artist, Herr Franz von Lonbach, has been commanded to paint a portrait of the dead statesman.

THE FITNESS OF THINGS.

Emperor William Would Have Prince Bismarck's Remains Lie Beside Those of His Grandfather.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—Thus far Emperor William has telegraphed twice to Friedrichsruhe. A despatch sent on Sunday morning was addressed to Count Herbert Bismarck, and set forth in the most cordial terms the merits of the late Prince, and expressing His Majesty's undying gratitude to the deceased, "who has been a model of the most faithful performance of duty."

The Emperor also mentioned Prince Bismarck's domestic life, "which has been his greatest joy," and assures the family of his most sincere sympathy.

Another telegram begs for the family's consent to bury the Prince's remains in the Charlottenburg Mausoleum, where the body of Emperor William I. reposes. This, however, is declined, because of Prince Bismarck's clearly expressed wish to be buried near the Schloss.

Prince Hohenlohe, the Imperial Chancellor, took a special train for Friedrichsruhe yesterday afternoon, in order to convey to the family the condolence of the Prussian Ministry of State, and to place a wreath upon the former Chancellor's bier. The city councils of Berlin and Munich will hold special sessions on Tuesday, the late Prince Bismarck having had the honorary freedom of these cities.

His Title Descends.

In regard to Prince Bismarck's testament, it is known that Friedrichsruhe, with the title of Prince, descends to Count Herbert Bismarck, the eldest son, the family of Count Von Rantzau, the husband of Prince Bismarck's daughter, remaining there temporarily. Schoenhausen goes to Count William Bismarck, the second son.

The late Prince's money, which is estimated to amount to several million marks, a larger amount than was generally supposed, is divided among the three children and the young Rantzaus. This money is partly in the Bank of England and partly in the Bleichroeders Bank. The decorations, diamonds and art objects of the deceased, valued at about a million marks, are deposited at a Berlin jeweller's.

Immediate Cause of Death.

Dr. Schweninger, the Prince's physician, now says that the immediate cause of death was effusion of blood on the brain.

The remains of the great Chancellor have been dressed in the uniform of the Halberstadt Cuirassiers.

An enormous number of wreaths and other floral tributes have already arrived at Friedrichsruhe.

The Official Reichsanzieger, which appeared yesterday with the black borders, publishes the telegram which Emperor William sent Sunday to Prince Herbert Bismarck. It is as follows:

"In deep sorrow, and sympathizing with the grief which has struck us all, for your beloved, great dead, I learn the loss of Germany's great son, whose faithful co-operation in the work of reuniting the Fatherland won him the lifelong friendship of my grandfather, resting in God, and the undying thanks of the whole German people for all time. I shall prepare a last abode for his remains in the Cathedral by the side of my ancestors."

Court, Army and Navy in Mourning.

The Emperor has ordered the court to go into mourning for ten days, and has ordered the army to go into mourning for eight days. The same will obtain with regard to the navy. The flags on all the Imperial and State buildings will be half-masted until after the funeral.

The Reichsanzieger published a long leading article yesterday, extolling Prince Bismarck's immortal services and declaring the Fatherland has lost her greatest son.

Uncle Sam's Condolence.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—The United States Ambassador, Mr. Andrew White, has received the following cable message from Washington: The President charges you to express in the proper official quarter, to the bereaved German nation and to the family of the deceased statesman, the sorrow which the Government and people of the United States feel in the passing away of the great Chancellor, whose memory will be ever associated with the greatness of the German Empire.

Toronto Resolution of Condolence.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—The Board of Directors of the Liederkranz Club, Mr. Carl Zeidler presiding, after discussion last night instructed their secretary, Mr. S. Weichart, to engross the following resolution and have it forwarded:

"Notwithstanding being three thousand miles away, separated by land and sea, it is with feelings of the very deepest regret that we hear of the demise of Prince Bismarck, and wherever Germans are, no other feeling but that of deepest sympathy prevails, remembering the great services rendered the old Fatherland by him, without whose aid Germany would not have attained the heights of prosperity she now has."

HIS GRACE'S OBSEQUIES.

The Program as Prepared by the Clergy of the Diocese.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—Arrangements were made yesterday for the obsequies of the late Archbishop Walsh at a meeting of the clergy of the diocese.

The body will remain at St. John's Grove until 7.30 o'clock this evening.

It will be then removed to the Cathedral, escorted by the Catholic societies and the religious bodies of the city on foot.

The route of the funeral procession will be from Sherbourne to Wellesley, along Wellesley to Jarvis, down Jarvis to Shuter, along Shuter to Bond.

The clergy will act as pall bearers.

The remains will lie in state in the Cathedral, with a guard of the uniformed Knights of St. John, from Tuesday night till Thursday, and during that time the church will be open to the public.

At 10.30 on Thursday there will be a funeral mass, Bishop Dowling of Hamilton officiating.

Bishop McQuaid of Rochester has been invited to preach.

The remains of the late Archbishop will be then interred in the Cathedral itself, beneath the altar dedicated to the Blessed Virgin.

The funeral ceremonies will be the most impressive of any ever seen in Toronto.

Misunderstood.

Doctor—I just met your wife. That medicine I sent her by you seems to have benefited her greatly.

Dunley—Sent her? Why, doctor, I thought you said that was for me, and I was in the hospital a week after I took it.—Richmond Dispatch.

INQUIRY AT NAPANEE.

Ponton, Mackie and Holden Before Magistrate Daly.

PARE AS QUEEN'S EVIDENCE.

This Is What Is Claimed in the Town of Napanee, and the Fact That He Was Not Arraigned Seems to Bear Out the Contention—Others Pleaded "Not Guilty."

Napanee, Aug. 2.—"Pare has rounded and intends to stay rounded" was the general expression in Napanee last night. The French-Canadian prisoner, the man who is charged by the friends of Ponton, Mackie and Holden with having planned the famous bank burglary, has agreed to turn Queen's evidence. Napanee's good people were wild with rage yesterday.

Magistrate Daly opened the proceedings sharp at 2 p.m. Prisoners Holden, Mackie and Ponton were present.

W. S. Herrington, acting County Crown Attorney, took the case for the prosecution. W. B. Northrup, Q. C., ex-M.P., E. Gus Porter and Col. Ponton, the prisoner's uncle, were counsel for William Hamilton Ponton. Lawyer Wilson, Napanee, looked after the interests of Mackie, while Barrister D. H. Preston appeared for Holden. Lawyer Deroche, Napanee, was present on behalf of the Dominion Bank. Sheriff Hawley, with the aid of Chief Adams, County Constable Sills and Constable Huff, preserved the proper stillness in the room.

Nelson R. Butcher of Toronto was appointed official stenographer.

The prisoners all looked well, and stood while Magistrate Daly read the charge in a clear voice. It was to the effect that the three prisoners were charged with breaking into the Dominion Bank at Napanee on or about Aug. 27, 1897, and taking therefrom about $38,000.

W. S. Herrington arose and said: "I am counsel for the Crown. As intimated to all the counsel for the defence, only formal evidence will be taken to-day, but this will consist of a plan locating the building and the rooms around and above the bank." He said the reason of this delay in the investigation was that B. B. Osler, Q.C., whom the Attorney-General had appointed to conduct the prosecution, was in Collingwood, and could not reach Napanee till this evening, which statement turned out to be correct, as the famous lawyer came in on the 6.18 train.

When the Magistrate asked Prisoner Ponton if he would elect to be tried summarily or by a jury, E. Gus Porter arose and said that he had intended to act as he had last year, but now, desiring to clear his client once for all of all suspicion in this matter, and having the utmost confidence in the Magistrate, he elected "to be tried before Your Worship."

A similar choice was made by Lawyer Wilson, on behalf of his client.

Lawyer Preston, acting for Holden, said: "I desire to make no election."

The question being asked of Ponton and Mackie, "Are you guilty or not guilty?" in both cases came back the answer, clear and strong, "Not guilty." Holden did not say a word.

The choice of the prisoners was a surprise to the court, and before the magistrate could make a statement Lawyer Herrington jumped up and said: "This is a very important matter, and needs due deliberation."

Magistrate Daly said he would not give his decision till to-day at 10 o'clock, when the arguments of counsel might be heard upon this point. He intimated that he thought Mr. Osler would like to have something to say upon the matter.

The first witness, Surveyor F. F. Miller, Napanee, was called, and produced a plan of the Dominion Bank and adjoining properties.

Mr. Porter indicated several needed amendments, which were promised, and the witness withdrew.

The whole town clamors for a free and full investigation, and puts the utmost confidence in the ability and judgment of Magistrate Daly, whose thorough acquaintance with the case is considered the best evidence of his fitness to conduct the present trial. His decision as to whether he will try the case or not is looked for anxiously. If he refuses to try it, it must go over to the County Court, of which Judge Wilkinson is head. But the Judge would not try the case. The judge who would is Judge Price of Kingston. It is thought that the decision of Mr. Osler on this question will show the magistrate which course to pursue.

When the prisoners were brought into court Holden and Mackie had handcuffs, but Ponton walked free. When they went back to the jail Lawyer Wilson protested successfully against his client being manacled.

Messrs. Durand and Greene of British Columbia, former clerks in the bank here, are expected in town at midnight. They will be used as witnesses for the Crown.

Mrs. Holden, wife of the elderly prisoner, is on her way from Boston, and may reach here this morning. She will be accompanied by several witnesses in Holden's behalf.

Persons are being taken daily to the jail to identify the prisoners.

Mackie, as well as Holden, is expected to try and establish an alibi. Mackie is said to have half a dozen witnesses who will swear that on the night of the robbery he was in Belleville. Holden's line of defence is not so clearly defined, but that he will put up a strong fight may be confidently expected.

Weak and Run Down, With Heart and Kidneys in Bad Condition—Restored by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I was very much run down, having been sick for several months. I had been trying different remedies which did me no good. I would have severe spells of coughing that would leave me prostrate. I was told that my lungs were affected, and my heart and kidneys were in a bad condition. In fact, it seemed as though every organ was out of order. I felt that something must be done and my brother advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I procured a bottle and began taking it. Before it was half gone I felt that it was helping me. I continued its use and it has made me a new woman. I cannot praise it too highly." MRS. SUMMERVILLE, 217 Ossington Avenue, Toronto, Ontario. Get only Hood's, because

DEATH BUSY WITH THE GREAT.

THIS has been a great year for the death of great men. Gladstone first and then Bismark—the two great men of the century—have not long been separated in death. Apart from the fact of their death occurring in the same year, there is little common in these two great men—both great in their respective, but widely different, spheres. One lived and wrought to uplift mankind, to better his condition, to make men better and freer; the other lived to restrict the liberty of the masses, to subdue the democracy and bring about the triumph of militarism. Gladstone worked for the triumph of constitutionalism; Bismark's fight was against it. One was the man of peace and progress; the other the man of "blood and iron." Gladstone kept step with the advancement of the enfranchisement of the human race. Bismark fell far behind—the world advanced; Bismark stood still; and thus he fell. He was a great man and a patriot in his love for the advancement of the fatherland; but his patriotism involved the triumph of her military schemes, not the welfare of the real country—the people.

Death has been busy in Canada, too. Whilst in Europe he selected politicians, here he chose prelates. This year four distinguished prelates of the Roman Catholic Church have passed away—Cardinal Taschereau and Bishop Lafleche in Quebec, and Archbishops Cleary and Walsh in Ontario. Men eminent in ecclesiastical circles, of great piety and learning, their death means the withdrawal of tremendous influences for good, from the sum total of the country. That the death of the two latter prelates will represent great changes, there is no doubt, and in these changes doubtless Peterborough will be affected. Their places will have to be filled, and their successors will doubtless be chosen from the ranks of the present prelates, to supply whose places promotion will, in all probability, be made from the ranks of the veteran priesthood. In this matter this diocese cannot expect to escape the effects of the changes, which in due course, will ensue.

THE despatches tell us that the tears of the Queen Regent of Spain fall plenteously at the meetings of her Cabinet. This is of course very sad; but while she is afflicted by the possible loss of her crown, the humiliation of her country and the sufferings of her subjects, what is her grief to that of many a mother both in Spain and the United States, who has perhaps lost an only son and perhaps the breadwinner at that, or that of many a wife who has lost the head of her home, leaving her destitute and widowed and her children orphans? We see most of the pomp and circumstance of war, and when the curtain is lifted revealing all the grim reality, the squalor and suffering of the men in the ranks we can partly imagine but can never realize what are the horrors of war. If the jingoes and other criminals who for selfish motives of material profit, promote war, could be made to suffer in concentrated form the sufferings they inflict upon others that go to the field and do the fighting there would not be many of them left to embroil nations in war.

THE PROHIBITION PLEBISCITE.

Thursday, September 29th the Date of the Voting.

The prohibition plebiscite will be taken on Thursday, September 29. This is the date that the Government have decided upon for ascertaining the will of the people of Canada on the liquor question, and it is expected that the time will suit the convenience of all parties to the issue. The temperance organizations have intimated their wish that the vote should take place at the earliest possible day, and, as the merits of the abstract question need no further elucidation, there is nothing to be gained by an undue prolongation of the campaign. The debatable points of the issue, but which will not form a part of the plebiscite question, will be those having reference to the enforcement of a prohibitory law and the restoration of the revenue which will be lost from its adoption.

The form of the ballot paper and of the question to be submitted is as follows:

Are you in favour of the passing of an act prohibiting the importation, manufacture or sale of spirits, wine, ale, beer, cider and all other alcoholic liquors for use as beverages? Yes. No.

The persons entitled to vote shall be those who have the right of the Provincial franchise or those who under the Dominion franchise act passed last session would have the right to vote in a Federal election. For the purposes of this vote the same proceedings, as nearly as may be, will be had as in the case of a general Dominion election. The ballot papers will be printed at Ottawa and will be forwarded with the writ by Major Chapleau, the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, to returning officers. Every returning officer will appoint two agents to attend at each polling station on behalf of those desiring an affirmative answer to the question, and two on behalf of those desiring a negative answer. These agents will not be entitled to remuneration from the public treasury. In the absence of such agents two electors representing each interests will be admitted to the booth to watch the final summing up of the voter.

ZORRA'S TREASURERS.

Another Case of Faulty Bookkeeping and Shortage in the Cash—A Provincial Audit.

Woodstock, Aug. 2.—A sensation has been caused here and throughout the whole of the County of Oxford, by the report of the provincial auditor in regard to an investigation into the financial affairs of the Township of West Zorra.

The report was handed down yesterday, and it shows that the period covered by the audit is six years, from Jan. 1, 1892, to Dec. 31, 1897.

From Jan., 1892, to March, 1894, George Innes, now of Woodstock, was clerk and treasurer. He was succeeded in both offices by E. L. Sutherland.

The auditor, referring to the method of bookkeeping followed by both these men, affirms that neither of them kept a cash book. They had made entries from the papers held as vouchers directly from the ledger. Where no vouchers were available the entries, especially the receipts, had been apparently made from memory. As a result there are, to put it as mildly as possible, irregularities.

When Mr. Innes was in office the auditor finds errors chiefly against the township, making a total now due to the municipality of $460.21. The auditor, however, is inclined to the belief that the bookkeeping and carelessness on the part of Mr. Innes in keeping his own funds and those of the township, are the causes of the mistakes. He does not think there was any fraudulent intent, and it is understood that Mr. Innes is quite willing to make the deficiency good.

E. L. Sutherland, the present clerk and treasurer, who assumed the offices in 1894, has, the report says, had errors each year, chiefly against the township, until the amount of the deficiency at the end of 1897, about which time the investigation began, was $977.94, more than was reported by the treasurer. Some of the items will require considerable explanation.

Since Jan. 1 a statement has been prepared up to June 1, 1898, from which it appears that the amount of the deficiency has been reduced to $280.09.

Some of the errors may have been the result of bad bookkeeping, and may afford reasonable ground for dispute.

The auditor's report also contains some interesting reading regarding the purchase of a road roller, and it practically charges Mr. Sutherland with getting $50 commission from the Sawyer-Massey Company of Hamilton. Another interesting item is the letting of a printing contract, on which it is also alleged that Mr. Sutherland received a commission.

The matter has created the most widespread interest throughout the district, and it is possible that similar investigations will be made in other townships, if only to institute a regular system of keeping the books.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY

Employed With Great Success at Dublin Yacht Races.

London, Aug. 2.—An important and successful experiment in wireless telegraphy has just been made at Dublin. Wireless messages, containing descriptions of the yacht races there, were sent from distances varying from five to ten miles, and were published in the Evening Mail at London. The yachting expert of the newspaper stood on the bridge of one of the vessels and dictated his account of the races, which was taken to Signor Marconi, the inventor of the system, seated in the cabin, who operated the transmitter. These messages were sent without wire to land, and thence transmitted by telephone to the newspaper offices.

Millions of Englishmen Thrown Into a Panic by Revelations.

London, Aug. 2.—Mr. Ernest Hooley's revelations of the rottenness of London financiering have thrown into a panic millions of Englishmen who have invested their savings in the stock of companies.

An exodus of aristocrats on foreign tours is expected, and a crop of investigations is sure to result.

The testimony given yesterday implicated many well-known Londoners, whose names would not be recognized in America, smirching some in the business world hitherto untarnished by suspicion. Hooley is the popular hero, and he is tremendously applauded every time he touches off a nobleman.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N.A.L.:

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash..... $5,003 00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for..... 3,280 00
3rd, or take the profits in cash 2,050 26
and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

AUGUSTI WILL GIVE UP

Dewey Will Probably Get Manila Without Losing a Man.

TERMS OF THE CAPITULATION.

A Manila Correspondent Writes U. S. Consul Wildman Congratulating Him Upon His Discrimination Regarding Aguinaldo—The Philippines in the British House of Commons—War News.

London, Aug. 2.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Hong-Kong, dated Aug. 1, says:

News has been received here from Manila that the American troops went to the assistance of the rebels, who had been expelled from their trenches by the Spanish troops. The latter retired before the American advance. The rebels have been shelling Manila from four guns on the south side of the city.

Admiral Dewey has received word from Captain-General Augusti that he is willing to surrender as soon as he can do so honorably. It is believed that he will make only a show of resistance. Admiral Dewey expects to take the city without losing a single man. Should Dewey and Merritt begin the attack, Augusti will propose to capitulate on the following terms:

Spanish troops to march out with the honors of war; the soldiers and officials to be permitted to return on parole to Spain, and on assurance that the lives and property of Spaniards will be protected from native attack.

The Rebel Leader's Success.

Concerning Aguinaldo, a Manila correspondent has written to United States Consul Wildman here as follows:

"I have not yet seen any reason to regret your prompt action in sending Aguinaldo here. Your wisdom in doing so was contested at the time. But the remarkable success of the rebel leader has proved that you were a good judge of human nature, when you sized up Aguinaldo's capabilities."

The friction between Aguinaldo and his officers has reappeared, the latter taking offence at his assumption of the role of dictation.

The Philippines in the Commons.

London, Aug. 2.—In the House of Commons yesterday, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, Mr. George N. Curzon, answering a question, said there were no negotiations in progress between Great Britain and the United States in regard to the Philippine Islands, and that no information had reached Her Majesty's Government in support of the statement that Germany had made, or was making, an attempt to acquire the Island of Luzon.

Continuing, Mr. Curzon said the Government was aware that the future of the Philippine Islands was causing anxiety in Australia, and, he further remarked, the matter will, of course, receive the Government's close attention.

Stars and Stripes at Juan Diaz.

Ponce, Porto Rico, July 31, 10 p.m., via St. Thomas, D.W.I., Aug. 1.—Col. Hulings, with ten companies of the 16th Pennsylvania, has occupied Juan Diaz, about 8 miles northeast of Ponce, on the road to San Juan. The American flag was raised and greeted with great enthusiasm by the populace. The protected cruiser Columbia went ashore while attempting to enter the harbor of Ponce, but it is hoped she will be floated to-morrow. General Brooke arrived this evening. During the afternoon seven companies of the regular infantry arrived on the Cherokee.

Cable communication was opened to-night, but the line will not be in full operation for several days.

ANOTHER WAR PRIZE.

The Dolores Is Added to the Dolorous List of Captures.

Key West, Fla., Aug. 2.—The Spanish schooner Dolores, of 60 tons, loaded with corn and provisions, and bound from Progreso, Mexico, for Batabano, has been added to the list of war prizes. She was captured by the gunboat Eagle, near Corrientes Bay a week ago yesterday, and was brought in yesterday by Ensign Craven.

The Dixie Fired at Morro.

St. Thomas, D.W.I., Aug. 1.—The United States auxiliary cruiser Dixie, formerly El Sud, left here Saturday morning for Ponce. She scouted along the north coast of Porto Rico, spoke the Prairie, Montgomery, Puritan, New Orleans and four transports, overhauled an English barque and, passing in close to San Juan, fired a defiant six-pounder, striking the base of El Morro.

The Spaniards made no reply. In the entrance to San Juan harbor the Dixie saw two masts and a funnel, evidently a steamer sunk by the Spaniards to block the passage.

SUN OF AMERICA SHINES.

The Mayor of Yuaco Appears to Be Warm Towards the Conquerors.

Ponce, Porto Rico, Aug. 2.—The following is the text of the Mayor's proclamation, issued at Yuaco, as a United States city: "Citizens: To-day the citizens of Porto Rico assist in one of her most beautiful feasts. The sun of America shines upon our mountains and valley this day of July, 1898. It is a day of glorious remembrance for each son of this beloved isle, because for the first time there waves over it the flag of the stars, planted in the name of the Government of the United States of America by the Major-General of the American army, Senor Miles.

"Porto Ricans, we are, by the miraculous intervention of the God of the just, given back to the bosom of our mother America, in whose waters nature placed us as people of America. To her we are given back in the name of her Government by General Miles, and we must send her our most expressive salutation of generous affection through our conduct towards the valiant troops represented by distinguished officers and commanded by the illustrious General Miles.

"Citizens: Long live the Government of the United States of America! Hail to their valiant troops! Hail to Porto Rico, always American!

"Yuaco, Porto Rico, United States of America.

"El Alcalde, Francisco Magia."

TERRIBLE HEADACHE

Accompanies Each of These Sweltering Hot Summer Days.

It is Caused by Imperfect Digestion Which Makes the Nerves Weak and Shaky—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the Cure.

These hot, sweltering days are blamed by many people for making their heads ache.

The accusation is unjust.

The heat does not cause headaches.

This is how they are caused, in the great majority of cases.

The stomach is "out of order."

The food is not properly digested, consequently, the nourishment supplied to the blood, muscles, tissues and nerves, is thin, weak and impure.

Now, you cannot be healthy if you eat unwholesome food.

Neither can your nerves.

They break down and you are laid up with a "splitting headache."

If, in the first place, the stomach had been in proper order, it would have digested the food perfectly.

Then the nerves would have been nourished on pure, cool, rich blood, and would have had strength and health to do their work.

The way to cure this splitting headache is to put the stomach in condition to digest the food properly.

There is one way to do this. There is one remedy that can be absolutely and confidently depended upon to do this.

That remedy is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do more than this.

They digest the food, while the stomach is being restored to health.

They cure headache by ensuring strength, force of vitality to the nerves. They do this by making digestion perfect and so feeling the nerves on pure, rich, cool blood.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 50 cents a box, six boxes $2 50, or sent on receipt of price, by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A Baptist Minister.

Rev. M. P. Campbell, the highly esteemed Pastor of the Baptist Church, Essex, Ont., says:—"From my personal use of Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are an excellent remedy for all kidney troubles."

STEADIED WHEAT AGAIN.

Monday Evening, Aug. 1.

The fact that the Liverpool and London grain markets were closed to-day had a curtailing effect upon the trading on the Chicago Board. Early in the session wheat showed heaviness, owing to the large receipts in the West, inducing selling from the Northwest. Later the decrease in the visible supply seemed to change the situation, and all deliveries at the close were about half a cent higher than at the close on Saturday.

MISS THORNTON DIES.

The Victim of an Accidental Shooting on Saturday.

Miss Essie Thornton, of Harvey street, who was accidentally shot on Saturday evening by Archie Seymour, died this morning at three o'clock in the Nicholls Hospital as a result of the collapse incidental to the shock.

Dr. Young intended probing for the bullet this afternoon if the patient was strong enough to stand the operation, but shortly before three o'clock alarming symptoms were apparent and Dr. Clarke, who was in the hospital at the time, endeavoured in vain to revive the fluttering pulse, and at about three o'clock life was extinct.

A consultation was held this afternoon to consider the advisability of locating the bullet.

Miss Thornton was twenty years of age, and her relatives have been fearing that she was about to go into consumption for some time, as she was in very delicate health. Her mother was with her all last night, and this morning she was resting very comfortably, but a second collapse of her nervous system took place during the afternoon, as stated, and resulted in her death.

The sorrowing relatives will receive the sympathy of the entire community, as will the unfortunate lad who fired the fatal shot.

A BRAVE STRONG HEART.

Talks That are True.

Mrs. S. F. Bull, St. Lawrence street, Madoc, Ont., is enthusiastic in her praise of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. She writes as follows:

"Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are a splendid pill. When I began taking them I was in a terrible nervous condition and physically very weak. My heart was very weak, beating unnaturally and spasmodically causing me great suffering and sleepless nights. I felt so ill and weak all the time that I could hardly do light house work. After taking three boxes of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills I feel like a different woman. My nerves are strong. Physical weakness has been replaced by strength. My heart is strong and healthy, so that it is able to fulfil its functions and beats naturally. In consequence I sleep and rest well. If I had not experienced this great change from extreme physical and nervous weakness to perfect strength of body and nerves I would not have believed such a quick and radical cure possible. I cannot say too much in favour of this great medicine. They do everything that they claim to do and more. In my opinion they have no equal as a cure for nerve and heart trouble, weakness and general debility."—Signed, MRS. S. F. BULL, St. Lawrence street, Madoc, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2 00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DR. WARD CO., 71 Victoria street, Toronto. Book of information free.

THAT ASSAULT CASE.

The Magistrate Thinks That Leplante Got What he Deserved but the Assault was an Unlawful One.

Judgment was given this morning in the case of Leplante vs. Welsh, in which the complainant charged Mr. E. Welsh with inflicting grievious bodily harm on him on Saturday, July 23rd. It appears from evidence that for some time Leplante has been exasperating Welsh and his employees by decrying his fish on all occasions. Saturday before last Leplante, it appears, kept near Welsh's fish wagon on the market and publicly stated that the fish was rotten. He also laid information to this effect before the Chief of Police, who inspected the fish and found them sound. During the day a great many people had seen Welsh and kept irritating him by repeating the tales told by Leplante about the rotten fish he was selling. When he met Leplante in the evening he was angry and gave him a sound thrashing. Leplante laid information against him with the result that Welsh was fined $20 and costs this morning, although the magistrate expressed his opinion that Leplante had got no more than he deserved for trying to injure the business of another by maligning his wares. Welsh, he stated, could have made Leplante pay dearly for his statements had he chosen to go another way about it.

PROHIBITION COMMITTEE.

It has Been Decided to ask the Co-operation of the W.C.T.U. and Y.P.S. of C.E.

At a meeting of the Central Committee of the Prohibition Plebiscite, held Monday evening it was decided to ask the co-operation of the different Y.P.S., Temperance societies and W.C.T.U., to assist in the distribution of temperance literature throughout the town and country.

It was also decided to ask for voluntary contributions in behalf of the campaign work. Before a public canvas can be made by the friends of the Prohibition movement funds are required for the carrying on of the work. The Central Plebiscite Committee kindly request that all friends of Prohibition hand their contributions for campaign work at once to ex-Mayor Yelland, president; G. W. Powell, treasurer; or leave at the secretary's office, 430 Water street. The committee trusts that any who may be waited on in behalf of this fund will respond liberally.

The Brave Volunteers

Endured the severe marching of the North-west campaign with admirable fortitude. The Government should have supplied them with a quantity of the celebrated Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It never fails to remove corns painlessly, and the volunteers and everybody else should have it. Beware of substitutes. Get Putnam's Extractor and take no other.

A RETROGRADE COUNCIL.

The council of the town of Peterborough does not represent the people. The action of one half the town council, in refusing to carry out the will of the people as deliberately and emphatically expressed at the polls, in regard to the council reform project, is perhaps unique in the history of municipal institutions. The people, by a majority of almost two to one, approved of the bylaw. It may be claimed that the vote was not large, but for all that, it reflected the will of the vast majority of the electors. It was an expression of the will of the people in favour of a reform that represented a distinct step in advance. It was thus regarded all over the country. Peterborough was the first town to take the forward step in the direction of improving her municipal representation. This was commented upon by the press generally, and the step was regarded as of a piece with the progressive and go-ahead character the town bears in the whole province. That this good impression is destroyed by last night's action of the council is decidedly unfortunate, to put it in the mildest form. We are not proud of the fact that we have a council that can do violence to the will of the people, and trample upon all recognized principles of municipal government. It simply come to this, that the representatives, who voted against the third reading of the bylaw, have set themselves above the people, set back the hands on the dial of progress and at the same time defied the popular will and delayed a reform which is imperatively demanded; even more so in view of the action of councillors, who have shown that the time for a change in the mode of electing councillors and in the attitude of representatives towards the people and in progressive action, is overdue. In this matter the servants—the councillors—have presumed to dictate to their masters—the people. The only redeeming feature of this ill-considered action is that thereby the issue is directly raised, as to whether the people or their so called representatives, who defy their expressed wishes, shall rule. There can be no doubt that the people will gain their point in the end. Purely obstructive tactics can have but a short triumph. The merits of the technical questions raised to justify the course of a section of the council, really do not enter into the real question, which is, shall the people have what they want? Those Councillors, who have taken it upon themselves to defy the people, will have abundant and speedy opportunity to show, if they can, that the people have no right to decide how their affairs shall be conducted. This country is not Russia and autocratic defiance of the popular will will not be permitted.

PROVINCIAL SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Annual Gathering in Peterborough Oct. 25th, 26th and 27th.

The Provincial Sunday School Convention of Ontario will be held in Peterborough on Oct. 25th, 26th and 27th, and the enthusiasm apparent among those who are in charge of the details promises a great gathering and splendid entertainment. The Programme Committee is made up of Dr. J. J. Maclaren, Q.C., chairman, Mr. John A. Paterson, Mr. Frank Yeigh, Mr. A. Day, general secretary, and Rev. J. Campbell Tibb. Among the speakers enlisted are: Rev. John Potts, D.D., Rev. James Henderson, D.D., of Toronto; Rev. Dr. Rose, Ottawa, and Rev. R. Johnston, London. The committee in charge are making the home department the principal feature of the convention, and have proved this desire by appointing six active missionaries to work in the remotest past of Ontario during August and September. They are: Rainy River and Thunder Bay Districts, Mr. Alfred Day, general secretary; Algoma and Georgian Bay districts, Rev. T. Albert Moore and Rev. Robert Burns, of Hamilton; Nipissing and Parry Sound districts, Mr. A. S. McGregor, London; Parry Sound, South Nipissing and Renfrew North, Rev. W. Gribble, Staffordville, and Rev. J. Campbell Tibb, D.D., Toronto.

PROTECTING CANADIAN GOODS.

This issue of the Adelaide (South Australia) Advertiser for June 14th, just received, gives the particulars of a trial which proves that even in that far away country the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. is as active in defending its rights and protecting the public against the schemes of the substituters and counterfeiters, as it is here at home in Canada. In the trial in question Frank Ashley and William Smith were shown to have been engaged in offering a substitute for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, claiming that the substitute was the same as that justly celebrated medicine. Both men were placed under arrest on a charge of obtaining money under false pretence and conspiring to defraud the public and evidence was heard before the Chief Justice of the Criminal Court. The defendant's lawyer made a strong fight in their behalf, but in spite of this the jury, after a short absence from the court, returned a verdict of guilty in both cases. The Chief Justice deferred sentence until the close of the sittings. In addressing the jury, however, the learned judge spoke very strongly concerning the evils of substitution and the dangers to the victim that may ensue from this nefarious and too common practice.—Toronto Globe.

AN OUTRAGE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR,—Six members of the Town Council have thought proper to veto the will of the people respecting the proposed reduction of the council: but for the unfortunate absence of Councillor Allen the result might have been different, but possibly his vote would have gone with the six. This is, I believe, the first instance on record where, when the law requires a plebiscite, the council has failed to carry out the popular expression; it has always been considered that when the people have voted in favour of a by-law, the third reading is carried nem. con. That any other course should be pursued is a travesty and outrage upon the institutions of the country, and the men who had the hardihood to champion such a proceeding will do well to expect the reprobation of the citizens generally and hereafter to be consigned to the obscurity they so richly deserve.

Yours, etc.,

WHARFAGE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

SIR—Now that the Trent Valley Canal is nearing completion, steps should be taken to provide a commodious public wharf, for storage and trans-shipment of forest and mineral products, which, we have reason to anticipate, will be brought in very large quantities to the town. In fact, as soon as navigation from Lakefield is established, it cannot be doubted that barge traffic from the upper lakes will become so extensive, that greatly increased wharf room will be a positive necessity, so that the duty now devolves upon the council and Board of Trade to take the necessary steps in preparation for the event.

It has always been contended, and rightly, that one of the particular advantages which will follow the opening of the T. V. C. is the sale of supplies to the numerous crews, who will make Peterborough their stopping place, and if we are to encourage that state of things as we should, there must be no lack of convenience to those whom we desire to bring to our town. It happens that we have a considerable water-front already provided along a public highway, at a point in every way suitable for the purpose referred to, namely, on George Street, at the Spalding's Bay bridge, which is the best possible site that can be found. A wharf, extending north-westerly from the west side of Point St. Charles to a point some distance south of the bridge, and then north along George street as far as Townsend street, would not only give the desired area, but would also vastly improve that unsightly portion of our main street. The government provided a magnificent wharf at Lakefield; Why should it not do the same for us? Let the authorities take the matter in hand promptly, and there can be but one result. Don't procrastinate; don't wait until the need is immediate. The work suggested will take time, and should be in progress while the last stages of the canal are nearing completion.

Yours etc.

THE STREET AND BRIDGE

committee, through its chairman, Councillor Dawson, reported as appended:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee having considered the question of the contract of Messrs. Dolan and Sneehy for the construction and maintenance of sidewalks recommend that the provisions in the said contract and in clause 5 of the general conditions be held to cover and include only responsibility for defects arising from imperfect or faulty workmanship or materials.

2. Your committee ordered a carload of cut-best granite from the Forsyth Granite and Marble Company of Montreal for the granolithic sidewalks at $5 a ton, and recommend that if any more be needed that it be ordered and that it be paid for on the certificate of the Town Engineer.

3. Your committee recommend that Councillor Langford be appointed to visit the Pigeon Creek bridge on August 2nd to meet representatives of the County of Peterborough and County of Victoria in reference to repairs needed on the bridge.

4. Your committee also recommend that Mr. S. Belcher be instructed to prepare specifications for a sidewalk on Charlotte street as soon as the necessary papers are signed by the property owners of the street.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
ADAM DAWSON,
Chairman.

The report was adopted with the exception of the first clause, which was referred to a Committee of the Whole Council for further consideration.

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS

reported through Mr. J. B. McWilliams, as appended:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN.—Your Committee on Appointments beg leave to report and recommend that F. Barlett be appointed Inspector of the construction of the granolithic sidewalks at $2.00 per day and that he be paid on the certificate of town engineer.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
J. B. McWILLIAMS.
Chairman

The report was adopted.

BYLAWS.

Councillor Denne introduced a by-law relating to the manner of disposing of petitions for local improvements. It received its several readings and was passed.

Councillor Hamilton introduced a bylaw amending the bylaw relating to the licensing of hawkers and pedlars. The new bylaw provides for the payment of $20 for a wagon license, $15 for a push cart license and $1.00 for a person carrying goods in baskets, etc. The bylaw was read three times and passed.

Councillors Langford and Meldrum moved the third reading of the bylaw relating to the election of councillors by the popular vote instead of by the ward system, which bylaw was recently voted upon and approved by the ratepayers.

Councillor Best asked if the vote had been taken in accord with the act. He claimed that the ratepayers were deprived of one option, as they had not been asked if they were in favour of reduced ward representation. On this ground he was opposed to the passage of the by-law.

Councillor Langford was sure that there had been no mistake. It was not necessary to submit all three of the options. The act did not call for this. The matter lay in the hands of the council.

The Mayor understood that the privilege of submitting one or all of the options to the people as it decided best.—Rested with the council.

Councillor Meldrum had never heard the question raised before. It was simply a straight vote as to whether to retain the ward system or do away with it. He thought everyone understood this and was prepared to endorse what the ratepayers had ratified by their votes. He considered that it would be a breach of trust to vote against the by-law now.

Councillor Robertson claimed that the opinion of the people should be asked in January. The vote had been taken at the wrong time of year and the expression of opinion was not a fair one.

Councillor Langford thought that the same might be said of the money by-law. It was voted on at the same time and it might therefore be held that the vote on this had been secured by unfair means.

The vote was then called for and the by-law was defeated on its third reading on a tie vote.

Councillor Langford desired that the citizens might know the names of the Councillors who had thwarted their wishes in refusing to pass a by-law which had been sanctioned by the ratepayers. He asked that the yeas and nays by taken. The vote stood:

YEAS.—Councillors Denne, Hamilton, McWilliams, Meldrum, Langford and Mayor Davis.—6.

NAYS.—Councillors Best, W. H. White, Robertson, Dawson, Cobb and J. M. White.—6.

Councillors Dawson and Cobb objected to the vote of the mayor being taken, the former stating that the mayor had never voted, except in case of a tie, in the last twenty years.

The clause in the bylaws was read empowering the mayor to vote on any question.

RESOLUTIONS.

On motion of Councillors W. H. White and Robertson, any assistance that James English requires for flushing sewers will be paid for on the certification of the chairman of the Sewerage Committee.

Councillors W. H. White and Robertson moved that a hydrant be placed by the Water Company at once on Water street, between Sherbrooke and King streets.—Carried.

On motion of Councillors Robertson and Denne, the cattle pens on the market will be floored with cement and connected with the sewer.

The broken stone in the gaolyard will be placed on Water street between Brock and Murray streets.

Councillors Denne and McWilliams moved "That the thanks of this council be tendered to Mayor Calquhon and the aldermen of the city of Hamilton for the exceedingly cordial reception they gave this council in Hamilton on July 21st and for the trouble and pains they took to enable them to obtain the knowledge they sought regarding the steam roller, rock crusher and other municipal matters."—Carried.

Councillor Langford asked the Mayor to write to the Engineer of the city of London and thank him for the attention he gave the delegation from the council which went to that city to examine the rock crushers. The Mayor expressed his willingness to comply with the request, after which the council adjourned.

I trust this may be of benefit to others."

READY FOR CAMP.

Members of the American Canoe Association Leaving for Stave Island on the St. Lawrence.

Gananoque, Aug. 2—(Special.)—The American Canoe Associations annual meet, which is to be held this year on Stave Island, 5 miles from here will be opened on Thursday the 4th inst. Already active preparations are being made in laying out the grounds, erecting tents, building wharves and doing everything to make this year's meet the most successful in the history of the association. Capt. F. D. Thorn, of the Buffalo Canoe Club, chairman of the camp committee, has arrived, with other members of the committee, and are working like Trojans to get every detail in readiness for the opening on Friday. Mr. D. McIlveny, the camp caterer, has also arrived from Albany and is sparing no pains to have the culinary department better than ever this year. The situation of the camp is a beautiful one, and the island one of the finest on the St. Lawrence river. The main camp, which will be on either side of headquarters, is on the western end of the island, directly facing Halstead's Bay, a fine expanse of water. Not far from the main camp is to be Squaw Point, the ladies' camp, which this year is to receive more than usual attention. The committee who will see that this is done are Mr. and Mrs. T. Bennett, of the Atlantic division; Mrs. C. W. Lansing, of the Central division; Mrs. L. S. Drake, of the Eastern division; and Miss Cartwright, of the Northern division. The commodore and secretary of the association are expected to arrive to-day and other prominent officials will follow. The camp is easily reached from here, being such a short distance. The steamer Valeria will begin to-day to call their on regular trips to and from Clayton twice daily, and may possibly make extra trips after the camp is in progress. During the first week there will be very little of interest to outsiders, but the second week will be one continuous string of events, including sailing and paddling canoe races, camp fires and other social functions. This is the nineteenth annual meet of the association, divided between Lake Champlain, Lake St. George and the St. Lawrence river, several of which have been held on Stave Island, which is in Canadian water. It is needless to say that such a meet is looked forward to with pleasant anticipation by the members, as it is a most delightful and exhilarating outing. A large contingent of Canadians from Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston, Peterborough and other canoeing centres is assured.

PRESENTED WITH A PURSE.

Mr. McLeod, the Pastor of the Selwyn Baptist Church Remembered by his Selwyn Congregation.

Selwyn, Aug 2nd, 1898.—On Thursday evening, July 28th, in the neighbourhood of forty guests assembled at the residence of Mr. Wm. Bell, sr., near Selwyn, to spend a social evening with their pastor, Rev. C. E. McLeod, and also in some tangible way to show their appreciation of him for the energetic, never-ceasing interest he has taken in the welfare of his flock in this station for the past few years.

About nine o'clock all sat down to a sumptuous spread, and having done credit to this part of the evening's sociability, the more direct object of the gathering was announced.

Mr. Ephraim McIlmoyl was asked to make a few remarks, and, on behalf of the assembled guests, he, in touching words, referred to Mr. McLeod's zealous work in our midst. He had not only been an appreciated worker in his church, but his geniality and uprightness had endeared him to the majority of the community. As a minister of the Gospel, as an individual among fellowmen and as a citizen of our prosperous borough, he had always shown that God's interests were his interests.

Mr. McLeod was asked to take a seat at the end of the room, and Mr. Matthew Bell was called on by the speaker to make the presentation, which consisted of a purse containing a handsome sum, which was presented in a suitable manner by Mr. Bell in a few pointed remarks, on behalf of the donors.

Though taken wholly by surprise, the honoured guest of the evening made a very suitable reply, thanking the people for their generosity and especially for their Christian attitude towards him.

After the singing of a hymn Mr. McLeod led in prayer, and thus brought to a close a very friendly and social gathering.

Mr. William Bell and his family are to be heartily thanked for the generous hospitality extended in every way, to all the guests.

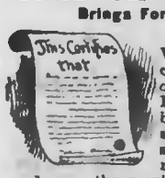
THIS CERTIFICATE

Brings Forth a Story.



BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

We, the undersigned, certify that the health of the Rev. R. A. Bilkey has for months been deteriorating, and that he is now suffering from severe nervous prostration, and urgently requires immediate and prolonged rest. J. W. McLaughlin, M.D., A. Beith, M.D., L. Holland Reid, M.R.C.S., etc.

THIS INTERVIEW TELLS IT.

A reporter called on the Rev. R. A. Bilkey, rector St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Bowmanville, Ontario, during a church function, and on congratulating him on the great change for the better in his appearance, the reverend gentleman said, "It is due entirely to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

"I suffered for over three years from extreme nervousness, weakness and prostration, and could not obtain relief. A few months ago it became only too apparent that extreme nervous prostration had set in, as I lost flesh and appetite rapidly. Three of our four medical men pronounced me in urgent need of immediate and prolonged rest in order to build up my nervous system, giving me a certificate to that effect. About this time, by pure accident, Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills were brought to my notice. I decided to try them, and on doing so a decided change for the better took place at once. I have since continued taking the pills, with continued and marked benefit and improvement. My appetite has returned. I am gaining in flesh steadily, and my general health is now good. Further, I am sure that these results are due to the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I have every confidence that they will do for others all that they have done for me."

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 6 boxes for $2, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by the Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

BOILING WATER WITHOUT FIRE.

The Only Trick About It Is to Stir It Long and Hard Enough.

It is possible to make a pail of water boil without putting it on the fire and without applying external heat to it in any way. In fact, you can make a pail of water boil by simply stirring it with a wooden paddle. The feat was performed in the physical laboratory of Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore, and any one may do it with a little trouble and perseverance.

All you have to do is to place your water in a pail—it may be ice water if necessary—and stir it with a wooden paddle. If you keep at it long enough, it will certainly boil. Five hours of constant and rapid stirring are sufficient to perform the feat successfully. The water will after a time grow warm, and then it will grow hot—so hot, in fact, that you cannot hold your hand in it, and finally it will boil. Professor Ames of Johns Hopkins annually illustrates some of the phenomena of heat by having one of his students perform the trick in front of his class. It is a tiresome job, but it is perfectly feasible.

The point which Professor Ames wishes to illustrate is what is known as the mechanical equivalent of heat. It requires just so many foot pounds of work to develop a given quantity of heat. By turning the paddle in the water at a regular speed it is possible to find out just how much work is required to raise the temperature of water one degree. The best measurement so far made, and in fact the one which is accepted as the standard of the world, is that which was measured in Johns Hopkins university.

Heat is developed in almost any substance which is subjected to continuous or very violent action. It is an old trick for a blacksmith to forge without fire. Long continued and violent hammering on two pieces of wire will heat them to such an extent that they can be welded together. A lead bullet, if shot directly at a stone wall, will develop heat enough by the contact to melt and fall to the ground a molten mass. There are many other occasions wherein this mechanical development of heat becomes manifest.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes and a sallow complexion will defy the best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

Authorities differ as to the rate of growth of the human hair, and it is said to be very dissimilar in different individuals. The most usually accepted calculation gives 6½ inches per annum.

Many a French mother buries her own hair and a favorite toy with her dead child "that it may not feel quite alone."

Elongated rifle bullets are made from leaden rods. A machine cuts them into the required lengths, stamps them into shape by means of steel dies and drops them finished into a box at the rate of 7,000 an hour.

Birds of prey are able to look at the sun without being dazzled, because there is a membrane under their eyelids which they can pull down at will.

Impure blood is an enemy to health, and may lead to serious disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla conquers this enemy and averts danger.

Dizzy Spells

And feelings of faintness that comes over you are only nature warning you of the weak condition of your heart. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills make the heart strong, then all feelings of faintness disappear.

ANIMALS THAT COUNT.

Instances That Prove Their Possession of the Computing Faculty.

Several years ago there lived in Cincinnati a mule which was employed by a street railway company in hauling cars up a steep incline. This animal was hitched in front of the regular team and unhitched as soon as the car arrived at the top of the hill. It made a certain number of trips in the forenoon (I have forgotten the number, but will say 50 for the sake of convenience) and a like number in the afternoon, resting for an hour at noon. As soon as the mule completed its fiftieth trip it marched away to its stable without orders from its driver.

To show that it was not influenced by the sound of the factory whistles and bells the following remarkable action on the part of this animal is vouched for by the superintendent of the line, who gave me these data: On a certain occasion, during a musical festival, this mule was transferred to the night shift, and the very instant it completed its fiftieth trip it started for the stables. It took the combined efforts of several men to make it return to its duty. At night there were no bells or whistles to inform the creature that "quitting time" had come. It had counted the trips, and having finished its full quota of 50 it thought that the time for rest and food had arrived.

Some monkeys give unmistakable evidences of the possession by them of the computing faculty. In 1889 I made the acquaintance of a very intelligent chimpanzee which could count as high as three. That this was not a trick suggested by sensual impulses I had ample opportunity of satisfying myself. The owner of the animal would leave the room, no one being present but myself, and when I would call for two marbles or one marble or three marbles, as the case might be, the monkey would gravely hand over the required number. Romanes mentions an ape which could count three, the material used in his experiment being straws from the animal's cage. Wolff, Darwin, Forbes and Hartman also give instances of the computing faculty in apes and monkeys.—James Weir in Lippincott's Magazine.

DEWEY AS A DISCIPLINARIAN.

His Method of Subduing Some Refractory Sailors.

"I was with Commodore Dowey when he was the executive officer of the Colorado," said a financier, "and I remember one incident which shows the manner of man he is. We had a fine crew, some of them as powerful men as I ever saw. Four or five of them went ashore one day and came back fighting drunk.

"Three of them were men who would singly have been more than a match in strength for John L. Sullivan. The order was given to put them in irons, and it was found impossible to carry out the order, for the men were dangerous. Dewey was notified of the situation. He was writing a letter in his room at the time.

"He went to the place where these giants were and he told them to come out and submit to the irons. They did not stir. Then Dewey said quietly to an orderly, 'Bring me my revolvers,' and when he had his pistols he again called upon the men to come out, but they did not move. Then he said, 'I am going to count three. If you are not out here with your hands held up on the third count, you won't come out of that place alive.'

"He counted one, then he cocked the revolvers, and he counted two. We all expected to hear the report, for we knew that Dewey meant what he said. The men knew it too. They stepped out just in time to save their lives and held up their hands, and they had been partially sobered by their fright and the moral effect of Dewey's glance.

"One of them said afterward that when he saw Dewey's eyes he knew that he would either be a dead Jackie in a moment or he would have to yield, and when the irons were put upon him he was as sober as he ever was in his life. Dewey went back to his room and finished the letter he was writing."—Philadelphia Press.

"The Lucky Duffs."

"The Lucky Duffs" is the title of an article in The English Illustrated Magazine in which Mr. J. M. Bullock traces the rise of the Duke of Fife, like a prince in a fairy tale, from a little farmer in the north of Scotland 200 years ago. One good woman of the house used to ride to market with a huge pile of plaiding, which she had spun from her sheep, in the crouper beside her and duly brought back its value in merks. These she hoarded in bags. On one occasion she banked her savings in a leather bag in the ceiling, but the rats got at it, so that the family dined amid a downpour of ducatoons. The family flourished so well that each of her three sons got an estate of his own—Patrick, the youngest, bringing 36 children into the world, while William became the father of the first Earl of Fife.

Queen Wilhelmina.

There is no longer any doubt that Wilhelmina, queen of the Netherlands, is engaged to marry Prince Bernhard of Saxe-Weimar, who is now 20 years of age and the second son of the late hereditary Prince of Weimar. The young queen has lately been in Paris seeing the sights and selecting a trousseau. Her dresses, rides in the Bois and goodness of face and character have been items of interest in the Paris journals. They deem it significant that she shops in Paris instead of Berlin and believe the future queen a valuable person to cultivate.

Ethics and Business Clashed.

"I first began my practice," the doctor remarked between the puffs of a cigar, "down in a little town in Georgia. Business came pretty slow, and I had made up my mind that I should not advertise, and I want to tell you how it came out. The proprietor of one of the little papers came to me one day with the remark:

"'Doctor, I want a little ad from you for The Weekly Razoo.'

"'I couldn't do it, my good friend,' I replied, 'for it would be a flagrant violation of professional ethics.'

"'What's them?'

"'Why, the rules of the profession.'

"'Oh, I see! Well, couldn't you let me use your name in cases where you are called?'

"'Yes, no objection to that.'

"'And you'll pay me for it?'

"'Not a cent,' I replied, perhaps a little harshly, for I thought the editor was trying to work me.

"Out he went, apparently angry, but I paid no attention to it. One day I was looking at The Razoo, and in it was the notice of the recovery of a little girl in the town, and at the conclusion was the brief but flattering compliment, 'Dr. Gannt in attendance.' I confess I thought better of the fellow and was pleased. The next week, however, one of my patients died, and at the conclusion of a very pathetic obituary notice was that same line, 'Dr. Gannt in attendance.' You ought to have seen me get to the office and get an advertisement in The Razoo."—Denver Times.

IF THOU HADST NEVER SMILED.

If thou hadst never smiled on me
Or fondness for me shown,
Despair's dark shadows would not now
Around my heart be thrown.

The hopes I cherished long ago,
In happy boyhood's years,
Have perished—have been washed away
By many bitter tears.

Yet still my heart in secret shall
With fond affection beat,
Although we never more on earth
Again in love may meet.

So fare thee well; the die is cast,
Death soon shall close the scene,
But you and I shall never be
The same as we have been.

Furniture Polish.

One of the best homemade floor and furniture polishes comes to us from the Japanese. It consists of one pint each of linseed oil and cold strong tea, the whites of two eggs and two ounces of spirits of salt. Shake well before using. Put a few drops on a pad of soft silk and rub hard, then polish with an old piece of silk. The work is tedious and fatiguing, but the effect is almost equal to new.

Oak Poisoning.

Before exposure to poison oak or immediately after poisoning may be avoided by a hot bath in which has been dissolved two tablets of bichloride of mercury. Relief may be obtained after poisoning has occurred by washing the inflamed part frequently with a strong solution of green soap. After bathing dust with formalin.

War and intemperance, with all their miseries and fatalities, are not responsible for as many deaths as have been caused by Bright's Disease. Yet, there is a way of resisting it; of drawing its poisoned fangs, and making it as harmless as a summer breeze. That great medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills, has cured thousands of the worst cases. It never fails to cure, hopeless as the case may seem.

Would you safely shield your loved ones from the fatal grip of this curse of mankind—Bright's Disease? Then use Dodd's Kidney Pills, the only cure on earth for this disease.

When a man is struck down by a poisoned arrow tipped with the venom of the deadliest of serpents, he knows that his time has come. Death is only a question of moments; but not one man in a thousand realizes that when a little extra bile gets into his blood his whole system is being poisond just as truly as if a venom-tipped arrow was sticking in his vitals.

Rattlesnake poison is a good deal quicker than bile-poison but the latter will do just as deadly work if it keeps on accumulating in the system. Probably two-thirds of the cases that end in consumption begin with "liver complaint" and indigestion. These troubles would never get as far as consumption if Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was used before the bile-poisoning got fairly under way. This remarkable "Discovery" invigorates the torpid liver and gives it power to filter the poisons out of the system rapidly and thoroughly.

It strengthens the digestive fluids and enables them to make rich red nourishing blood; it builds up healthy muscle, steady nerve force and enduring strength.

The experience of Mr. Val Burkard, living at 65 Mohr Ave., Buffalo, N. Y., is given in his own words: "Five weeks ago I followed your advice and took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and also two bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' I consider myself entirely cured, as there have been no eruptions since I finished the last bottle. I think it is the greatest remedy on the globe for blood and digestive disorders. My appetite increased wonderfully and I have also gained flesh. I would like everybody to know the true value of Dr. Pierce's medicines as I am confident by persistent use they cure all ailments for which they are recommended."

No household should be without a reliable doctor's book. Send 31 one-cent stamps for Dr. Pierce's 1000-page "Medical Adviser" to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. A heavier cloth-bound volume 50 stamps.

Robert T. Lincoln, Norman B. Ream and Marshall Field are credited with being the triumvirate which at present decides the policy of the Pullman company. The two former are the executors of the late George M. Pullman, whose large holdings of stock in the company he founded are intact in the hands of his representatives.

W. W. Astor's reported purpose of selling his estate, Cliveden, near Taplow-on-Thames, would not cause much sorrow among the gentry of the neighborhood. Adjoining Cliveden is kept the West Berkshire pack of hounds, which is maintained by subscription, and Mr. Astor is the only nonsubscriber among the gentry of the district.

Women's Worst Enemy

Some hesitate before giving an answer, but those who know best will immediately say HEADACHE.

Thousands of women live in misery day after day, and week after week, suffering untold agony from these dreadful headaches. Husbands are disheartened, children neglected, and happy homes ruined. Most women strive to bear in patience the suffering which they consider part of life without looking into the cause or searching for relief. Food cannot digest without the bile which the liver supplies and hence the necessity of keeping the liver in good working order. To cure the headaches you must cure the liver and thus remove the cause of disease.

Dr. Chase spent years of his life in perfecting a medicine which acts directly on the kidneys and liver. Thousands of grateful women have testified during the past ten years to the effectiveness of this remedy for sick headaches. Many a home has been restored to happiness as a result.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the greatest discovery of this great scientist, are put up to sell 25 doses for 25c. All dealers.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER.

Kidney Disease Man's Deadliest Foe

Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, July 18.—"Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease," was the assertion of a prominent Toronto physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death-rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used in every case of Kidney Disease, there would be no deaths from it.

DYING BY INCHES!

But Dodd's Kidney Pills will Yet Renew Life.

Thousands of persons die in the prime of life because doctors think Bright's Disease and Diabetes incurable. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cure them both. They have cured thousands of cases.

These diseases and other Kidney complaints are as common as ordinary colds. But people don't realize that they are afflicted till the disease has eaten deep into the system. Even then, Dodd's Kidney Pills will positively cure.

Thousands of people are dying on their feet, but do not realize it. They notice one or more of these symptoms: shortness of breath, loss of memory, failing sight, ravenous appetite, pale or reddish urine, with brick-colored deposit, scalding when urinating, constipation, nervousness, pains in the loins. ECHOES FROM EGYPT.

The present khedive of Egypt was under the control of British nurses and govern esses until his tenth year.

What is known as the great pyramid was erected nearly 3,600 years B. C., and it is computed that fully 100,000 men were employed for 30 years on the work.

A large convict prison for offenders undergoing long terms of imprisonment and for "life" sentences is maintained at Tura, a settlement in the desert, within easy distance of the banks of the Nile.

Eye Language.

No part of the human countenance engages our attention so frequently as the eyes. When face to face in conversation, we do not look at the lips—although, as a rule, the attention is very quickly taken by any movement—but at the eyes of the person with whom we are speaking. In fact, one usually feels that there is a sense of incompleteness in the association of mind with mind by means of conversation if there is not a continual interchange of glances, making a kind of running commentary on the words spoken.

Now, why is there this continual meeting of eyes accompanying all kinds of human intercourse? Partly no doubt it is attributable to certain habits of comparatively recent date. The eye, "the window of the soul," is a more truthful exponent of the inward thoughts than the tongue, and, seeing that speech is very frequently used not to tell the thoughts, but to conceal them, we look to the eye for confirmation or the reverse for what our ears are taking in.—Louis Robinson in Popular Science Monthly.

All these and a thousand other ailments result, and make life full of suffering.

Mr. George Prowse, of 24 Chatham street, Brantford, Ont., experienced the beneficial action of Doan's Kidney Pills in a severe case of Sciatica. Here is what he says:

"For the past six years I have suffered with kidney disease and sciatica. The pain was so intense that frequently I had to have hypodermic injections of morphine to relieve it.

"I had constant pain in my back and all the dangers and distressing symptoms of kidney disease as well. I have taken three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and am now, much to my joy, cured of all kidney trouble.

"To my wonder the sciatica also disappeared. These pills have made me strong and well, and I cannot recommend them too highly."

Meeting of the Ashburnham Council Last Evening—Communications and Accounts Received.

At the regular meeting of the Ashburnham village council last evening there were present Reeve Adams and Councillors Johnston, Rutherford, Craig and Morgan.

The County Clerk wrote stating that the levy for the county on Ashburnham would be $814.82. He also wrote conveying the information that $25 had been granted towards repairing the Douro and Ashburnham bridge, and asked that the village make a like appropriation. Both communications were received.

A committee composed of the Reeve and Councillors Craig and Johnston will examine the roadway in front of the premises occupied by Mrs. James O'Connell with the object of seeing what can be done to prevent the water from flooding her premises.

LINDSAY CHEESE BOARD.

Over 2,100 Boxes Boarded and all Sold at a Good Figure.

An adjourned meeting of the Lindsay Cheese Board was held yesterday morning, when the cheese boarded and withdrawn last week was offered. President Robertson and the other officers were on hand and the buyers present were Messrs. Whitton, Flavelle, Fitzgerald and Bailey —the latter paying his first visit.

The following factories boarded the number of cheese placed opposite :

Star	124
Lorneville	50
Cameron	100
Dunsford	104
Mariposa	99
Cambray	110
Janetville	90
Omemee	182

Palestine	125
Red Rock	127
Oakwood	70
Little Britain	—
Sutton	55
Ingoldsby	—
Manchester	—
Derryville	—
	2,144

Derryville, Ingoldsby, Little Britain and Manchester factories were not represented.

Mr. Flavelle set the ball rolling by offering 7½c for selections, but before the bid was chalked Mr. Whitton went 7 3 16c. Mr. Flavelle bettered by offering 7⅞c., but Mr. Whitton was after cheese and promptly jumped the price to 7 7-16c. At this juncture Mr. Bailey, the new buyer, created a diversion by calling 7½c., but Whitton was still in the ring and proved it by raising to 7 9-16c. This was not bettered, and he selected Lorneville, Janetville, Omemee, Valenta, Pine Grove, Reaboro and Oakwood, numbering in all 802 boxes.

There being lots of good cheese still on the board Mr. Fitzgerald offered 7 9 16c for a further selection, and took Star, Mariposa, Cambray, North Ops and Bobcaygeon—536 boxes in all.

Mr. Flavelle then took his innings and offered 7½c for a further selection, but was finally induced to give that for the remaining factories—Cameron, Fenelon Falls, Leakdale, Palestine, Red Rock, Dunsford, North Verulam and Sutton ; Minden sold to him by consent at last board meeting.

The board then adjourned, the salesmen expressing great satisfaction with the prices obtained.

MARTIN THORN EXECUTED.

The Cold-Blooded Assassin Dies in the Electric Chair—Nerve Unshaken.

Sing Sing, N.Y., Aug. 2.—Martin Thorn was executed at 11.17 o'clock yesterday forenoon.

The warden talked with Thorn for a little time, and when he came out said: "Thorn told me he was not nervous, and would die bravely. He said he was perfectly reconciled to his fate, and that he had made his peace with God."

All the witnesses assembled in the warden's office at 11 a.m. to witness the execution. Thorn stepped firmly and kept his head erect. Without hesitating the condemned man walked to the chair, which was in the center of the room. He sat down on it and was quickly strapped. While waiting for the current to be turned on he prayed with his spiritual adviser. Everything was in readiness at 11.17 o'clock, and Warden Sage gave the signal to turn on the current, and 1,950 volts were at once thrown into the body of Thorn. The force sent his body hard against the straps. The body was electrified to a degree of 10 amperes by the current. The 1,950 volts were kept on for five seconds, after which the current was allowed to fall to 400 volts and 4 amperes, the reduced current remaining on for 55 seconds, when Thorn was pronounced dead.

TOM CARLYLE HIT HARD.

The Jail Breaker Gets Twelve Years at Kingston.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—For attempting to shoot Detectives Porter and Slemin, who were endeavoring to place him under arrest, Tom Carlyle, the notorious convict who escaped from the Central Prison on July 15 last, was sentenced by Magistrate Denison yesterday to ten years in Kingston Penitentiary. For the escape from the Prison he received a sentence of two years in prison, so that the next twelve years will be spent by him inside prison walls, unless he makes another attempt to escape, in which case he will probably succeed or be shot. Prison officials will take no further chances with Tom Carlyle.

The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customer's gain.

Thursday will be a red letter day with us, marking the beginning of the Great August Sale of Summer Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes.

Dangers From Violent Exercise.

There is considerable diversity of opinion as to the safety with which women may indulge in violent exercise in view of possible injury. As regard the heart, there appears to be but one opinion—namely, that that organ, accustomed to a quiet life, may be dangerously and permanently crippled by the excessive strain in athletic sports. Experience in medical practice, says an eminent authority, teaches that the patient with a weak heart must be extremely cautious in his exercises, and the demonstration of a dilatation of the healthy heart under sudden, violent, exhausting effort which has been made was of a surprising nature. Many clinical observers in Germany and in this country have detected by percussion and observation of the changes in the heart beats that there is under strain and exertion considerable dilatation, which continues for a shorter or longer time after the exertion is over. Ocular proof of this has been afforded by the Roentgen rays. This shows not only the need of caution by those in good health, but more particularly so in the case of those who suffer from any weakness, constitutional or otherwise, in this organ.—New York Ledger.

CROWN WITNESS PARE

Gives a Circumstantial Account of Robbing the Bank.

PONTON—THE MAN IN THE BANK

Originally the Plot to Rob the Dominion Bank at Napanee Contained Seven Conspirators—Method Pursued by the Criminals—The Final Division of the Spoils—Cross-Examination to Come.

Napanee, Ont., Aug. 3.—Yesterday was really the opening day of the trial. The town is filled with visitors, come to witness the proceedings. The court room is crowded to the doors, and many are turned mourning away. The Crown's chief witness, Prisoner Pare, gave his evidence yesterday, being on the stand for nearly five hours. To-day he will be vigorously cross-examined by Mr. Porter, who was too indisposed to pursue him yesterday. Following that cross-examination the Crown will produce corroborative evidence to dovetail into Pare's story. Upon the latter's confessions the case of the Crown is planned.

As soon as the court opened, W. S. Herrington asked to be allowed to substitute a new information for the one upon which the prisoners were arraigned Monday. The new information was read, and arraigned the prisoners upon a joint charge.

Mr. Porter, for his client Ponton, objected to this course as irregular.

The magistrate reserved his decision upon the question of his trying the case or not until later in the proceedings. The defence claimed the proceedings would go on under protest from them.

The Crown called its first witness, E. H. Baines, ex-Manager of the Dominion Bank, Napanee. The witness gave his evidence in a straightforward manner, and he reiterated his statements made last year regarding his position in the bank. He and Durand knew the safe combination of nine numbers, and Clerks Ponton and Green knew the vault door combination of three numbers. About $39,000, of which $10,000 was in unsigned bills, was stolen, and there was $2,300 in gold, chiefly American, about $3,000 American bills, and there was $600 in silver; there was also a bag of rare coins taken.

PARE—CROWN WITNESS.

The Story He Told Under Oath of the Napanee Bank Robbery.

The prisoner Pare was then called by Mr. Osler. Pare kissed the book incorrectly at first, and was ordered by the Magistrate to do it in orthodox style, which he did. He said: "My name is George Edward Pare. I am here to say what I know about the Napanee bank robbery, in which I am charged with complicity. When I was arrested in Manchester, N. H., I had some of the stolen goods in my possession, and I told the authorities all I knew about the matter. I am giving Crown evidence. This is not the first time I have been connected with such matters. In May, 1897, I was going from Cleveland to Montreal, when I got a letter from John Roach of Toronto. I came to Belleville to inquire for John Roach at the Dominion House, Belleville, or for Robert Mackie."

"Is that one of the prisoners?" asked Mr. Osler.

After a long pause Pare said "Yes; but I did not find either of them there. I then went straight to Montreal, when, in the afternoon, I met John Roach, with whom I never had any dealings before, but whom I knew was crooked. In the evening, by appointment, I met at Victoria square John Roach and Henry Holden, and the subject of the Napanee job was discussed and we decided to get after the game.

"Holden and I came up to Kingston. Roach went on to Belleville to see Mackie. The next day Holden and I came to Napanee and arrived there between 8 and 9 in the morning, and Roach came down from Belleville in the afternoon. He had not seen Mackie. Then Holden, Roach and I went up to Belleville after a few days and lodged in an empty house near the east limits of the G.T.R. yard. Roach went up town and brought Mackie over. It was arranged that the four should come to Napanee the next night. We came, and this was the first time I ever saw Mackie.

"The hold up was spoken of. It was understood that a man in the bank was favorable. This man was to get a party of fellows playing cards in the bank, when Holden, Mackie, Roach and I were to rush in and hold up the party, get the combination, open the safe and get the money. We had a key to get into the bank building from the door opening on the market square. Mackie had it and I saw it. We had ropes, gags and masks all ready to use, and we concealed them in a house on the Bay of Quinte road. I was against the hold up, because I thought there was too much danger of violence being used, besides there was too much risk of being captured.

"While the job was being arranged, Holden, Roach and I lived out in the woods. Mackie took the late train to Belleville every night and came down again in the afternoon. At this time I heard that an attempt had been made upon the safe in the winter. Holden, Roach and Mackie had bored a hole in the side of the safe and tried to punch off the bolts, but could not.

"They got into the vault by the combination of the vault lock being left on the day lock by a man in the bank. This job was done one night when the three fellows came up from Belleville in a rig, and on going back they had a smash up that demolished the rig, so they stayed at an Indian's place. Mackie and Holden were in this trip, and I heard that there were $10,000 in Government bonds in the safe. We discussed what could be done with them, and it was suggested by Mackie that he knew a lawyer in Belleville who could turn them into money. I was one of the last to enter the gang. There were myself, Holden, Roach, Mackie and the man in the bank. We waited for a favorable time to do the hold up, but it did not come, so we thought of another scheme. The man in the bank was to take the man who knew the combination out for a wheel, and Holden, Mackie and I were to run out of the cemetery and kidnap both of them and extort the combination. The man in the bank was to give the signal from the Paisley House by lifting his hat when the scheme was all ready, and we went to the cemetery one night, but the bicyclists did not come. I objected to this plan, as it was too risky, then the other scheme was adopted."

The court here rose for adjournment.

PARE IDENTIFIES PONTON.

In the afternoon Pare continued his evidence. He said: "All schemes having failed, I held that I should be put in touch with the man inside the bank. It was agreed that Holden should tell this man that I wanted to meet him. I met this man."

Here Mr. Osler asked: "Look at the prisoners. Do you see the man you met?"

"Yes, the man in the middle."

It was Ponton. There was a perceptible stir among the spectators.

"I tried to post him about the combination," continued Pare, "but he didn't grasp what I was driving at."

Here the witness went into an extended description of the mechanism of the safe lock, showing that he was a thorough master mechanic. He said that Ponton got an impression of key hole of the safe door from which Pare had made a key. He said that Ponton tried to get the combination by applying the suggestions of Pare, but could not get the combination. Then Pare, Holden and Mackie determined to enter the bank. Holden stood at the passage door and Mackie stood outside holding the string and Pare went inside and opened the vault door, which he found still on the day lock. He found the safe also set on the day lock and opened it. Then he unscrewed the cap and looked at the numbers, put the cap on again, ran out the bolts and got the combination. On going out he took coppers out of the box in the vault. He left the safe set on the day lock. He testified that he often visited Ponton in his room, and advised him to keep the robbers informed as to the amount of money in the safe. He declared on the first days of the week the money came in, and on Friday and Saturday it was paid out.

"We got reports every night," said Pare.

The witness told of one night that $78,000 was in the bank, but because the details were not complete he did not advise a robbery.

Continuing, Pare declared he made another visit to the bank after he had seen Mr. Baines tinkering with the combination. He first told Ponton to see if the combination would work. Ponton tried twice the figures given him by Pare, but without success. He said the figures he gave Ponton were 53, 73, 98, 58. It was not the right combination, but would have worked just the same if he, Pare, had been there. Ponton's failure to work the safe caused Pare to enter, and he took off the cap of the safe, which was set on the day lock, and filed down the centre pivot so that the combination would work easily. "The lock really needed it, and it would aid those opening the safe," said Pare, and the court smiled. He again took $2 in pennies and the next day he and Holden were arrested as vagrants. On their persons were found coppers. No coppers in cartridges were found upon Pare, though the court seemed to think that was what Pare would say. He said the job was not finished that night, because Mackie was away, and Roach had been barred out because he was no good, and it required at least three men to do it.

But we were only two, and Jack Roach was not there, and we had barred him out in the first part of July. The reason the swag was not taken then was that the details of getting away had not been worked out. The hole in the side of the safe had to be brightened up, the money counted, the train caught, and Ponton knew we were going in. He was prepared for it the night before, and Ponton would know we were in by the condition of things around the safe the next morning.

The next night Pare and Holden were arrested on the bridge and brought before Magistrate Daly, and on Pare were found loose coppers, and the Crown tried to get him to say the coppers were done up in cartridges, but Pare stuck to the loose ones, and after getting one hour to leave town Pare and Holden went over to the other side of the river.

Pare testified that he knew of two watchmen in the town, and had studied their movements so as to tell where each was at a given moment. He had often seen a woman who had rooms over Ponton's, and some nights he could not go to Ponton's room because she was at her window. One night he met her face to face on the stairs, and on Saturday, Aug. 23, Mackie went up to Ponton's rooms at 9 o'clock or later, and asked all manner of questions about the money that was in the safe. Pare and Holden were present and wanted to know if any of the unsigned bills had been put into circulation, and Ponton was advised to put some into circulation, and the same night Pare, Holden and Mackie went over to the Grand Trunk Railway tracks to the half-mile post. Mackie had a box. Holden and Pare buried the box. The place was marked and then they came back to the meeting and continued the discussion re the circulation of the unsigned bills, and the same night these three went to Belleville and stayed at the Dominion House, kept by John Mackie, Prisoner Mackie's brother; they stayed there till Wednesday.

Mackie was sent down to Napanee on Monday to get news. On Wednesday or Thursday the three came back to town and Pare went to Ponton's rooms. The question of putting the unsigned bills into circulation came up, and Ponton said again that he would put some into circulation on the morrow.

"I had talked to Ponton about registered bonds. He said they must be in Mr. Baines' compartment. I wanted to know if they were registered. Thursday night we came back with the intention of robbing the bank. Ponton said they expected some more in and it might yet come up to $20,000, but it did not. Was in Ponton's rooms that night. We waited till Friday night. We all went to Ponton's rooms that night about 10.30, Holden, Mackie and Pare. We went one at a time up the stairs. We sat down and pulled down the curtains to within three or four inches, so we could watch for Perry, the watchman. We had found out that George Hinch was on vacation and Perry was alone. When the clock struck 11, Perry came down from the station. We picked up our tools, went out of the window over the back roof and down the steps.

"Ponton was in his rooms and we told him to go to bed and have a good sleep. We sent him out for a pitcher of water. He told us there was then about $32,000 good money in the bank then, and $10,000 in unsigned and $10,000 in Government bonds. We went into the shed and next prepared some pieces of wood to show they had been used some time. People are always sitting out around there till 3 o'clock. We proposed to cut a couple of bolts in Blewett's shed, so that we would not be seen going into the bank. We cut the partition that night with a brace and auger bit; cut three holes first towards the sidewalk in the partition; only took out two boards and squeezed through. Holden bored the holes, I watched and Mackie was watching over on the roof. I was then to take the telegraph and go in and work and when all was arranged Holden was to come in and help.

"Mackie was to stand at the hole in the shed outside and keep watch. I wore some old stockings and moccasins found in Ponton's room; left my boots in his rooms. Mackie held the string and we two went in. I opened the vault door; it was on the day lock. I opened the out fire doors with the key and went to work and opened the safe. That night I had Ponton's key to open his compartment. I got it out of his drawer in his room. He told me it was there. I opened his compartment and took the tin cash box and looked around for anything else; got a bag of silver and gold coins. There was nothing else in that compartment. I put that out and placed it on the floor in the vault, and Holden came in with his tools and commenced to brighten up the hole that had been made the winter before.

"I then went to pry Mr. Baines' compartment open. The upper compartment was open and by prying on it with one of the tools, I put the tool in at the upper part. Found a bag of silver and a bag of gold there, old coins, two bags of them, three or four wallets with papers and notes. We looked through the papers for the bonds, but found the package of unsigned notes. We put all the money in a bag, put it all in two parcels. We then broke off the locks of the compartments to show that both had been treated alike. We then closed the doors and I took off the cap of the safe and changed the last number of the combination so that it could not be opened. While I was doing this Holden was putting coppers in Ponton's tin box.

"I changed the combination on the vault door also and locked it. We telegraphed Mackie with the string. If all was right he was to pull on the string. We went out in the passage and heard some noise. We found Mackie had pulled too strong and made a noise. We went out in the shed. Saw someone looking out of the window. We buried our tools —(tools shown: Jimmy, bit, brace, file, badly rusted).

"Then we went back into the bedroom and told Ponton to get up and get ready to count the money. He put a blanket on the window and we sat around the table. He (Ponton) always counted on

"I was very much run down, having been sick for several months. I had been trying different remedies which did me no good. I would have severe spells of coughing that would leave me prostrate. I was told that my lungs were affected, and my heart and kidneys were in a bad condition. In fact, it seemed as though every organ was out of order. I felt that something must be done and my brother advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I procured a bottle and began taking it. Before it was half gone I felt that it was helping me. OTTAWA LETTER.

Items of Interest from the Dominion Capital.

Ottawa, July 29.—In a few days, or at most a week or two, the Quebec Conference will be in Session, and it is difficult to estimate the extent of the benefits that may reasonably be expected to accure to those participating in this most imporant convention. Not only will the occasion be a very gratifying one, as indicating the vast improvement in the feeling between the British Empire and the States, which has made such a gathering possible, but it is also of more than ordinary home interest to Canada, as the preliminary discussion upon the action of the Government which led to the meeting being arranged, has produced less partisan cavilling than perhaps any other act of the present administration. It would be pleasant to believe that in all matters, where it is to the advantage of Canada that her people should present a united front, this demeanor of the Opposition should be set as the standard.

THE PERSONNEL AND THE PROGRAMME.

The importance of the gathering may be seen at a glance from its personnel. On behalf of the Motherland, the Imperial Government has sent Lord Herschell, twice Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain; Canada will be represented by her Premier (Sir Wilfrid Laurier), Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Louis Davies, and Mr. John Charlton, and Newfoundland by her Premier (Sir James Winter) or Receiver General A. B. W. Foster, John A. Kasson, Nelson Dingley, Senator Gray, Senator Chas. W. Fairbanks, and Thomas J. Coolidge.

The list of questions which will in all probability will be considered, also gives one the idea of the tremendous importance of the gathering. The trade relations, the Behring Sea dispute, the Atlantic fisheries, the definition of International boundaries, the bonding privilege, the Alien labour law—these are some of the items on the bill of fare. More than one of these has created trouble, and been a perennial source of irritation since the declaration of idependence and all of them have for many years occupied the best efforts of the keenest and most trained statesmen of both Empires, but never before have these questions been approached in the spirit of mutual good will and reciprocal confidence with which they will now be treated; and as the sentiments must always be the strongest influences in the settling of disputes, there is better hope to-day than ever in the past, that the Quebec conference of 1898 will go down in history as one of the grandest epoch making events of the century. That it will accomplish all that is hoped of it it is scarcely reasonable to expect, but the very fact that our Government has been able to bring about such a meeting entitles them to the gratitude, not only of Canada but of the Empire at large, and evidences are not wanting that this fact is appreciated, both at home and abroad.

THE STORY BEARS REPEATING.

The story of Manitoba's splendid progress is becoming almost monotonous in its unvarying completeness, but it is a pleasant page to dwell upon. Mr. W. D. Scott, Provincial Immigration Agent in Ontario, for the Prairie Province, who has just returned from a trip to the West, corroborates everything that has been said of the magnificent outlook. "Crops are going to be heavy." "Business is active in all lines." "Land is selling well." "There is work for all who want it." "Everybody seems to have money." "It has been a great year for settlers," and so on. Such is the epitome of his report. Settlers are coming from everywhere, he says. New districts recently opened up are filling rapidly. The class of settlers is all that can be desired—even the poor Galicians are going to turn out all right.

CANADA'S FRUIT COMMISSIONER.

A better selection than that made by the Department of Agriculture of Mr. A. McD. Allan, "The Fruit King" of Goderich, as Fruit Commissioner at the Paris Exposition in 1900, could not possibly have been made Mr. Allan's life work has been the study and culture of fruit, and both in practical and theoretical knowledge of horticulture Mr. Allan is probably without a peer in Canada, and without a superior in the world. His past services to Canada warrant the present recognition. In 1886 he was Fruit Commissioner to the London Colonial Exhibition, and as the result of his work 100,000 bushels were placed in the old country; besides which he secured orders in many parts of Europe and even in India As president and director of various organizations having for their object the improvement of Canadian fruit and the development of trade, Mr. Allan has done yeoman service, not only to his native Province of Ontario, but in other parts of the Dominion. the Provincial Fruit Growers' Association of British Columbia being one outcome of his efforts. The opportunity was never more favourable for splendid development in the fruit trade between Canada and the old country, and in no better hands could it have been placed.

NOTES.

One of the smaller but at the same time most useful reforms introduced into the postal service by Mr. Mulock is now in full running order, viz: The special delivery scheme; and there has been quite a demand for the special stamp which has been prepared in connection therewith. It should be pointed out that to avail themselves of this arrangement, the public must use the special ten cent delivery stamp, which is in addition to the regular postage. It is not sufficient to use ten cents worth of ordinary stamps, as the great purpose of the special stamp is to readily attract the attention of the officials and thereby secure the prompt attention which the new arrangement contemplates.

The announcement that the Earl of Minto has been chosen as Lord Aberdeen's successor, receives additional interest from the fact that, as Lord Melgund he came to Canada with the Marquis of Lansdowne and served under General Middleton as chief of his staff in the Northwest Rebellion. During his previous residence here Lord Melgund gained golden opinions both in civil and military circles, and he therefore comes back to fill the gubernatorial position with all the prestige and advantage then obtained.

Prof. Saunders, Director of Experimental Farms, has left on his annual tour of inspection through the West. He goes from here to Brandon and then on to Agassiz where he will meet Prof. Fletcher Dominion Entomologist. Dr. Saunders will be away five weeks.

Ex-Finance Minister Foster has gone West and expects to address public meetings at all important points en route to the coast. It is rumored that his chief topic will be "The Fulfillment of my Prophecy that Grit rule meant inevitable ruin."

Great reports are coming in of the tremendous shipping business being done this season by Canadian liners. All the Montreal boats report congested traffic both in passenger and freight. Halifax, St. John and Victoria are having similar experience and the various lake ports were never busier.

Excellent progress has been made in putting in the additional fire protective service in the Parliament Buildings and when completed the magnificent blocks on Parliament Hill will be fully prepared to withstand any future visitation from the fire fiend. An electric engine, capable of pumping 750 gallons a minute, has been placed in each of the four blocks and there will be eight or twelve hydrants on each flat; special instruction is being given to the attachees of the departments, that will enable them to intelligently use the applicances effectively and without loss of time.

THE POET MACCOLL.

Death has removed one of the sweetest poets of the Dominion, in the person of Evan MacColl, who died in Toronto last week, at at the age of ninety years. Though perhaps not as well known to the general reading public as many another, he was beloved and revered by Scotchmen, not only in Canada but throughout the world. Many have been the honours conferred upon him by Scotch organizations, and he was on the honorary membership roll of nearly every Gaelic and Caledonian society in Canada and in the United States. When the Royal Society of Canada was organized his name was placed on the charter list at the request of the Marquis of Lorne, then Governor-General, in recognition of his literary work. So highly are the products of his pen esteemed that at the present time his poems are out of print, though they have run through several editions. He was a native of Kenmore, Lochfyneside, Argyleshire, and came to Canada nearly half a century ago.

THE ANSWER OF SPAIN

Has Reached M. Cambon, French Ambassador at Washington.

SPAIN ACCEPTS THE U.S. TERMS

Translated Cipher Reply to M. Cambon Will Be Presented Early in the Day to President McKinley—The Peace News Comes From Madrid and London and Is Believed.

Washington, Aug. 3.—1.50 a.m.—The French Ambassador at a late hour last evening received the reply to the terms proposed by the United States in response to Spain's request for a statement of terms. The Secretaries of the Embassy were at the Embassy waiting for the message, and immediately set to work on the translation. This was a difficult task, as it has to be translated from the cipher in which it was sent into Spanish and then into English, and, being a very difficult piece of work, it requires great care, as the changing of a word might be a great diplomatic blunder. M. Thibault, the First Secretary of the Embassy, sent word to the press representatives at 2 o'clock this morning that the Ambassador had nothing so far to communicate to the press. The Secretaries hope to complete the translation before daybreak, and the reply will be sent to the White House at an early hour in the morning. M. Cambon himself will probably convey it to President McKinley. Nothing about the contents of the reply will be made public at the French Embassy until the paper is placed in the hands of President McKinley.

Spain Accepts the Conditions.

New York, Aug. 3.—A special cable to the Evening Journal from Madrid, published in a late extra edition of that paper, says:

"Spain accepts the principal conditions of peace as set forth by the American Government, and only the peace details are needed to cause all hostilities to cease at once.

"A peace delegation will be chosen at once to confer with the representatives of the United States. The peace conditions set forth by President McKinley were discussed at some length yesterday by Minister Sagasta, and at the conclusion it was given out officially that the terms of the United States would be accepted. There are one or two amendments in the proposition of the United States that Spain will ask to be made, and if this is done peace will be declared at once."

The News Confirmed From London.

London, Aug. 3.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says:

"The Government has accepted the principle of the American conditions, but the acceptance will not be made public until enquiries to Washington on matters of detail have been settled, thus rounding off the preliminary basis."

Will Not Be Signed Before September.

London, Aug. 3.—The Gibraltar correspondent of the Daily News, telegraphing Monday night, says:

"A commission will be appointed to determine the basis of peace. The chief difficulty, it is asserted in official circles, is as to the date and manner of the evacuation of the Spanish possessions.

"There is also the question of the disposal of the war material in Cuba. The treaty will not be signed before September."

WAR BRIEFS.

The amount of claims against Spain in behalf of American citizens who suffered in Cuba was $15,000,000 at the date of the destruction of the Maine. It is estimated that this has been increased to $20,000,000.

General Merritt has asked to have his command increased from 20,000 to 50,000 troops in order to be able to meet any emergency which may arise on account of the hostile attitude of Aguinaldo and the insurgent forces.

ASSURANCE CO.

OFFICE OF W. A. MURRAY & Co., 17 to 27 King St, East, Toronto.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash $5,008 00
2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for 3,280 00
3rd, or take the profits in cash 2,080 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, each policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company. I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

$5,000 as his share; if over that he was to get his even share. There were seven at this time immediately concerned in the division of the money. Roach was out of it; $1,100 was to be given to James Mackie for services rendered on his part before I came. Agreed to give Roach as much as Jim Mackie, $1,100; Ponton to get $3,000; $15,900 was left after Ponton and Mackie got their share; that was to be divided in four equal parts, Pare, Holden, Mackie and Roach. Roach and Holden were to get their board and lodging during the winter and pay Jim Mackie $200 for the same. Roach was only to get $1,100 and Pare and Holden were to get the balance. It was agreed at 1 o'clock, when we came out of the bank, and we wanted to take the east train and Mackie the westbound, and we had to be on the track Ponton's share was all tied up during the day by Ponton, and he took that Pare and Holden said they would take the silver and gold.

"When all was divided Ponton said he wanted some money for his own private use. We said: 'Don't disturb your money, but take some of ours.' He took a roll of $155. Holden took charge of Ponton's money, as we did not want him to be discovered or suspected. We took our own shares and went over the swing bridge down to the river and up to the road; there we left Mackie and we went east on the track and put Ponton's money in a tin box in a hole and $2,000 in unsigned notes. Mackie took the other shares. The unsigned bills were divided in 10 parts, Holden 3, Mackie 3, Pare 3, Ponton 1.

"Ponton told me he had received a letter from Roach to hold him $3,000 for his share if successful. We agreed to fine Roach $100 for sending that letter, and deducted it. Roach really got $900, as he was to pay Mackie $100 for board. Then came our train, but we missed it and again waited until the 4 o'clock train.

"At 4 o'clock the engine was a compound one and did not stop at Napanee for water. We could not get it and footed it for Kingston; got there in time for the noon train; had the money with us; had lunch at Kingston and bought tickets for Vaudreuil. At Montreal I left Holden, having divided the money. I went to my sister's, Mrs. Saucier; stayed there Sunday, and went to Manchester, N.H., on Monday. I put $1,100 in gold in the Merrimac River Bank. Was arrested in Manchester Saturday, July 9. Unsigned $10 bills were found on my premises. I got them as part of my share. also deposited some of the rest."

Witness here described Ponton's rooms. There were three rooms. The first room had a window, and in a box outside in the passage were some tin boxes. The first room was not furnished, but there was a curtain on the window; in the second room were a carpet, rocking chair and another lounge or sofa, one window, and a door leading into the bedroom. They divided the money in the bedroom, which contained a bed, a bureau, washstand, table and carpet.

Pare was asked about Mackie's trip last winter. He said that Mackie and Holden had talked about the breaking down of the rig, and joked; he heard there was a law suit over the smashing of the rig; came back to Canada last spring, April 18 or 20, and visited the place where Ponton's money was. "Holden was with me. The night of the robbery, while I was putting the money in the bag, I counted a small package of $50 bills. I put them in my pocket. Holden said what was that, and I told him. I then put them in the bag. I asked him if he remembered having any 50's, and he said no. Holden thought I had them in my pocket. Neither of us had them, so Holden said, 'Do you think Willie took them?' Holden was not satisfied. He said: 'We know where the money is,' and he proposed to go and see what was in the box. We came back to get it, and if not gone, to give it to him.

"Went to Dominion House, Belleville, and sent James Mackie to hunt up Ponton to come and see us. Ponton asked how we had got along, and I asked him about the $50's; told him we wanted to know. He said, 'have one of them.' Told him where money was, and Ponton asked us to go and get it for him. That night we told him we would send James Mackie with the money from Napanee. We got return tickets for Deseronto. Missed the train; knew tickets would be good for another trip. On Tuesday came to Deseronto about dark, and walked to Napanee; went to the hiding place, got the money, divided it and each took half; walked back to Deseronto, and took train to Belleville. Went to the Dominion House, and told James Mackie to go after Ponton. Ponton gave us $65 each for expenses. I went into the room all alone by myself, and gave him my share, and Holden did the same; $3,000 was in unsigned bills. Holden and I took charge of it. He had just as much as he could do to make us plant $5,000, and had to be satisfied.

"We left that night and went home. I was here the day Ponton was discharged by the magistrate. In the evening I walked down town, saw the celebration; was on the way to Detroit, and heard people from Kingston on the train discussing it and dropped off. In April I came over from Boston through the tunnel, and to Charlotte, on the Resolute to Deseronto, Holden and I.

"About the time of getting the combination I tried to learn Ponton how to change the combination, he is no mechanic, and could not catch it. One day I made a combination out of wood to show him how it worked, and how to get the numbers. When the safe was left on the day lock, Ponton was in charge of the locking up, and Baines was out fishing. Durant was away, supposed to come back the following Monday. It was proposed to make an impression of the manager's key of the compartment in the vault. We got two or three impressions of Mr. Baines' key; don't know who got them for me, Holden or Roach; could make an impression on paper. Can make a key from such impression. I made one, but it would not work. Made the key before Mr. Baines went fishing. Ponton only told me when Baines was to go fishing; got all the details from Ponton. Had no communication whatever with Baines or Greene."

Mr. Porter had been ill, and asked for an adjournment of court until 9.30 to-day, which was granted.

LATE PRINCE BISMARCK.

Emperor William Pays Respect to the Dead Chancellor—First of the Funeral Services.

Friedrichsruhe, Aug. 3.—The Emperor and Empress of Germany arrived here at 6 o'clock last evening, accompanied by Baron von Buelow, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and their suites. His Majesty wore an admiral's uniform and the Empress was in mourning. The members of the late Prince Bismarck's family received the Imperial party, and the Emperor, on alighting, kissed Prince Herbert Bismarck on both cheeks and shook hands with Count William Bismarck. The party then entered the castle, passing through detachments of the 31st Regiment of Infantry, which were drawn up along the road, and up to the castle gate. The crowds on each side of the road were composed of Hamburgers, who are arriving by every train, foresters from all the Sachsenwald, villagers, bicyclists, children and travelers from foreign countries.

What took place in the death chamber is not known, though an official statement on the subject may be forthcoming. Pastor Westphal of Brunstorf officiated according to the rites of the Reformed Church. The text, in compliance with Prince Bismarck's desire, was from the First Epistle of Paul, the Apostle, to the Corinthians, chapter xv., verses 53 to 57, as follows:

"For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.

"So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, death is swallowed up in victory.

"O, death, where is thy sting? O, grave, where is thy victory?

"The sting of death is sin, and the strength of sin is the law.

"But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory, through our Lord Jesus Christ."

The funeral service will take place on Thursday morning in the Emperor William Memorial Church. The Federal Council, members of the Reichstag and of the Prussian Diet and the state and municipal authorities will be invited.

THE VISIBLE SUPPLY.

Wheat Has Continued to Rise—Small Decrease in That in Store and Afloat—The Prices.

Tuesday Evening, Aug. 2.

The speculative wheat market in Chicago to-day exhibited marked inactivity, but, despite the depressing effect of the absence of many buyers, wheat for all deliveries ran up ⅝c to ¾c per bushel. The August article closed at 66¼c, the top point of the day, and the September and December options wound up the session ⅝c and ½c, respectively, above yesterday's final figures. Reports of decreases in the world's wheat stocks and of damage to crop in some foreign countries, are considered bullish in their bearing on the situation.

The sentiment of the Liverpool Board has changed little over the holiday. Spot wheat is ½d per cental lower than Friday's last quotations, while future deliveries are ¼d higher. Paris wheat is lower to-day than yesterday.

At North and West Ontario points new wheat is offering freely around 66c, but, while odd cars are taken by millers at that figure, dealers say they are unable to pay over 66c for it.

Although the receipts of fat cattle to-day were small, compared with recent deliveries, prices for exporters remain unchanged, while butchers' stock were fairly firm at Friday's quotations.

Exporters sold at $4.25 to $4.50; light bulls, $3 to $3.50, and heavy bulls, $3.85 to $4.10 per cwt.

Spring lambs were also in better demand, with prices firmer, selling at $3.50 to $4 each, or, in other words, $4.80 to $5 per cwt.

Calves were in good demand, with prices firmer at $3 to $7 each, or $4.25 to $5 per cwt.

Hogs sold 10c per cwt. higher for very choice selections, which sold at $6 to $6.10 for hogs unfed and unwatered off cars, weighing from 150 to 200 lbs., but to get this the hogs must be just what we have described, "no less and no more," in weight, and not too fat.

Light fats sold at $5.50, and heavy fats at $5 per cwt. Essex and Kent corn-fed are worth from $5 to $5.50 per cwt., and none wanted even at these prices.

Put it on Your Slate.

The grand annual excursion of Court Little John, No. 92, C.O.F., which takes place regularly every year on the Civic Holiday, will be an unusually favourite and fascinating trip this year. The excursion is billed to go first to Toronto by C.P.R., then by steamers across to Queenstown, then up along the Niagara River by the Electric Railway on the Canadian side to Niagara Falls, and across on the American side to Buffalo. Be on the look out for large posters giving full particulars. Negotiations are in progress for reduced rates from all points, and you'll be wise not to arrange for your civic holiday trip until you know you hear all about this one.

A Beautiful Plot.

The grounds of the Nicholls Hospital show a condition of thrift that in its indication of intelligent care, also indicates that the Head gardener is a gardener with a Head. The turf and flower plots are in fine condition. The middle of the south lawn on the upper terrace contains a feature new this year, the lawn tennis grounds having given place to a magnificent circular bed, about 25 feet in diameter, consisting of a lofty yucca palm in the centre, surrounded by foliage cannas, followed by concentric circles of French cannas, caladiums and salsify, which, with its blaze of intense scarlet, forms the outer periphery of the bed, The caladiums are splendid plants, some of the leaves being nearly a yard in length. The bed is a beauty, an ornament to the grounds and a credit to Mr. Jas. Head.

Campbell for some weeks, has visited nearly all of the charming summer resorts and picnic spots on our chain of waters, and thinks they far excel those on Stony Lake or the Otonabee."

Miss Mary Agnes Fitzgibbon, of Toronto, the well-known authoress and, one may say, enthusiast in historical matters, was in town to-day in the interests of a historical work to be soon brought out relating to the local history of Oshawa and vicinity. Miss Fitzgibbon is the guest of Mrs. (Col. Brown) Chamberlain, Lakefield.

The Mail and Empire says: It is reported at the Legislative buildings yesterday afternoon that Mr. John Craig, member for East Wellington, who has been seriously ill from kidney trouble, was much improved, and that he would be brought down in a special car in the course of a day or two to Toronto, were special apartments at the Legislative building would be placed at his disposal. Late last night, however, the news came that the sick member had suffered a slight change for the worse.

FOUND IN OMEMEE.

A Bicycle Which was Stolen in Brockville Recovered.

The Brockville Recorder contains the following item in connection with a wheel which was stolen in that town and was recently recovered in Omemee:

"The Ideal bicycle stolen on Monday last from Fred Reutsch by a young man named McPherson, belonging to Omemee, who got the machine on the pretence of going out for a two hours' ride, was returned to its owner this morning. The chase instituted by the police seems to have got too warm for Mr. McPherson, and hence its recovery. It seems that among the notices sent out by Chief Rose was one directed to the postmaster at Omemee, a man named Grundy. The latter wrote back that McPherson had been there, but left before the notice arrived. Chief Bell, of Lindsay, however, informs our police that as soon as Grundy got the notice he notified McPherson's father, and when the thief turned up with the wheel he was ordered to tell all about it and where it was. This resulted in the wheel being returned here this morning. Reutsch is also in receipt of letters from both the thief and his father. The former says he will be around in a short time to settle all damages, and the father asks that no prosecutions be entered as he will pay the costs. The thief himself disappeared. Chief Rossel, of Peterborough, has also been heard in the matter. He says that McPherson shipped the wheel from Kingston to a friend in Peterborough. The tire had been punctured and one of the cranks was bent.

TO-DAY'S FIRE.

A Spark From a Locomotive is Thought to Have Been the Origin.

Fire broke out at noon to day in the grass along the Canadian Pacific Railway track, just at the rear of Mr. Harry Strickland's residence in Ashburnham. The alarm was sent in as it was feared that damage would be done to Mr. Strickland's property. Although the flames spread over an acre of ground most rapidly, the brigade was able to confine it to that space and no property was destroyed. It is thought that the fire started through a spark from a locomotive.

A CORONER'S INQUEST

INTO THE CAUSE OF ESSIE THORNTON'S DEATH.

Dr. Bell Empannels a Jury—Dr. Young Gives Evidence—The Jury Orders a Post Mortem Examination.

An inquest to ascertain the cause of the death of Miss Esther Thornton, was opened in one of the wards of the Nicholls' Hospital last night.

Dr. Bell, coroner, empanelled the following jury:

R. J. Winch, foreman.

W. J. Devlin,	Jas. Paton,
John Giles,	David Conroy,
C. B. Smith,	W. J. McCallum,
W. H. Bradburn,	J. G. Hutchison.
C. LeBrun,	W. E. Talbot,
T. C. Elliott,	Jas. Tully,

J. D. Baptie.

After the jury had viewed the body, lying in the hospital morgue, Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney who appeared for the Crown, said it would be necessary to briefly examine Dr. Young to ascertain if a post mortem were necessary.

Dr. Young was the first witness and testified that on Saturday last he was called to attend the deceased at her mother's residence, Harvey street. He found the patient bleeding from a wound in the neck. She was carried into the house and placed on a sofa. She was somewhat excited and sedatives were administered. She was semi-conscious. She was removed to the hospital on Sunday and died there this (Tuesday) afternoon. At the house he had probed tentatively for the bullet, which he was informed had been the cause of her injury. He did not try very much to reach the bullet on account of the patient's condition, and he could only cause the probe to enter the wound about an inch. He was unable to state the cause of her death and the only way to ascertain definitely was by a post mortem examination.

At this point Mr. Wood suggested that in view of the fact of counsel for the person implicated in the shooting, wishing to be present, and as it might be considered necessary to make a post mortem examination that that question and the question of adjournment be considered.

The jury directed that Drs. Young and Clarke perform a post mortem examination and the investigation was adjourned till to-night in the council chamber.

FELL FROM A WAGON.

Badly Cutting and Bruising his Face and Being Severely Shaken up.

Mr. Joseph Sedgwick, of Douro, whilst coming into town yesterday with a load of grain was jolted off the wagon, badly cutting and bruising his face and receiving a severe shaking up. He was brought in to the Nicholls Hospital, where he is now progressing favourably towards recovery.

THOMAS HENDREN'S BODY.

It Was Found Just in the Mouth of Mississauga Creek.

The body has been recovered of Thomas Hendren, who was drowned in Gull Lake Last fall whilst hunting. The remains, which were forwarded to Norwood for interment, were hardly recognizable through decay. The body was found just at the mouth of Mississauga Creek by the Dickson Company river drivers.

ON THE ROCKS.

The North Star Gets Into Shoal Water at the Yankee Bonnet.

Good Templars are proverbially fond of cold water, but the City lodge and its friends had more than they wanted of it last night, as when on the return journey from a trip down the river, they grounded in the shoal water at the Yankee Bonnet, and immediately after getting free the hand on the eccentric rod broke, completely disabling the engine. The steamer was made fast to the bank, and while a few of the passengers walked up to town, a greater majority by far of the 125 excursionists remained on the boat, spending the night in singing and other amusements. At daybreak busses were on the scene, and by half past five the last of the passengers had left the boat, which was repaired this afternoon and left for Goree's Landing.

During the evening a presentation of an official badge was made to Miss Hattie Holmes by Mr. Walter Dredge, on behalf of the Lodge, whilst Mr. John Roszel read the following address:

To our Sister Hattie Holmes:

DEAR SISTER,—It is with the most sincere regret that we learn of your approaching departure from Peterborough and we feel that we cannot let this opportunity pass without expressing in some feeble way how sorry we feel that your presence will no longer be felt in our Lodge and at our gatherings. From the time that you first joined our ranks, now nearly three years ago, you have shown yourself to be one of the most willing workers and your aid has always been given in any of our entertainments. We have found you one of our most loyal temperance workers and we trust that where you go you will continue to show the same zeal in this important crusade. And now we ask you to accept this badge, as a souvenir of three years spent so happily by us all in City Lodge No. 404, I. O. G. T.

Signed on behalf of the Lodge.
THOS. E. BAKER, C. T.
JOHN M. ROSZEL, R. S.

Peterborough, Aug. 2nd, 1898.

Miss Holmes suitably acknowledged the gift in a few appropriate remarks.

A committee has taken in hand the management of a handicap team road race to be run off about the 25th of August. Teams of three would be expected to compete from the various manufacturing establishments in the town, as a good road race of this description has never taken place in Peterborough before, it should meet with success. It is to be hoped that the affair will not interfere with the annual road race of the Victoria Bicycle club, on the details of which a committee has been working for some time.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSO.

Mr. J. Williams Bennet is Elected President for 1898-9.

THE ANNUAL REPORTS WERE SUBMITTED.

The Association is Holding its own and has been able to Wipe Out a Portion of the Old Indebtedness—A Bright and Prosperous Year Predicted—Compliments for the Energetic General Secretary.

President Alfred Parker occupied the chair at the annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, last night, which was attended by an audience composed of the more enthusiastic of the workers, although doubtless many who would otherwise have attended are away on their holidays.

After the opening devotional exercises had been concluded, Mr. R. J. Kidd read the following report of the LADIES' AUXILIARY.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association was reorganized in September of last year, the constitution in use in the other branches of the Province being accepted as the basis. The members have been very active during the year and have striven to forward the work along the lines in the same. Eleven meetings have been held besides a number of meetings of the committee.

The aims of the Auxiliary have been to complete the furnishing of the buildings, to make it homelike and attractive to young men, to provide for receptions and in general to assist the Board of Directors in every possible way to aid the young men of the town along physical, mental and spiritual lines.

The Auxiliary is not primarily a money making institution, although much of the energy of its members has of necessity during the past year been expended in that direction.

The art loan exhibition held in November was a grand success and in addition to its being a financial help it was the means of bringing many in closer touch with the work of the Association.

As an educational feature it also deserves a high place, as the hundreds who attended it during the four days it was in progress bear witness.

The annual New Year's day reception to young men was in charge of the Auxiliary, some 300 young men being in attendance. A reception was tendered to the members in March and in April a banquet was furnished for the boys at the end of their membership contest.

The anniversary at home, held in June to commemorate the opening of the new building, was the last event of the year, and its success was as marked as that which had attended the previous entertainments. A high class musical furnished by local talent was the leading feature.

The Auxiliary was represented at the Provincial convention in January by Mrs. J. C. Brown, who furnished an admirable report of the convention and of the ladies' work.

All the money raised during the year has been expended in furnishings, including the lighting fixtures, the boys' room, the physical director's office and the platform of Association hall. We are pleased to report a balance on hand, which will assist in the rest of the work yet to be done.

The following is a report of the treasurer's number of members, 38:

L. CAMPBELL, Treasurer,
MISS LUNDY, Secretary.
MRS. JAS. A. HALL, President.

On motion of Messrs. Bruce Anderson and Frank Adams the report was adopted.

Mr. Bruce Anderson presented the appended report from the Literary and Debating Society.

To the President and Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A.:

I beg to submit a report from the officers of the Literary and Debating Society of the Y. M. C. A., which is as follows:

This society was organized in connection with the Y. M. C. A. work in November last, with the object of improving mentally and morally its members. We started with a membership of thirteen, which has increased to twenty. We held eleven meetings with an average attendance of fifteen. Instructive and interesting debates and talks were taken part in by the members.

On several evenings gentlemen of the town assisted in our programme. Amongst whom were Sheriff Hall and Mr. B. Earle.

Not having organized until late last year, we were unable to make as much progress as we desired, but by starting early and with a little work we hope to have a fine flourishing society this coming fall.

Respectfully submitted.
G. H. BELL,
Secretary.

The report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Anderson and Ford.

THE BOY'S BRANCH

report presented as follows by Mr. A. Froude:

REPORT OF BOYS' WORK.

To the Officers and Members of the Y. M. C. A.:

The boys' branch have been very successful during the past year. Meetings were held on Friday evenings, taking the form of Gospel and social. The Gospel meetings are conducted by the boys themselves, thus preparing them for active work in the Association. The social part of the evening was spent in the boys' room, the time being taken up in lectures, debates and socials.

The branch consists of 114 members, 64 of whom were brought in by a splendid boys' contest, making an admirable showing for our first boys' branch.

Workers' Training Class.—The Workers' Training class was held on Sunday afternoons—fifteen sessions with an average attendance of five. The aim of the class is to prepare the Christian boys for active work in the branch. The class was led by Mr. Bruce Anderson, who proved to be an excellent teacher. Also in connection with the spiritual work, ten boys expressed a desire to lead a Christian life.

Physical Work.—The boys have their own allotted hours in the gymnasium. They were well drilled by the physical instructor. Basket ball formed an attractive feature, a tournament being held. Outdoor sports were engaged in on the P. A. A. A. grounds. Swimming will be a feature of the work next year.

The gymnasium is not used as a playground, but as a hall of health designed to make strong, healthy boys. We are pleased to receive a number of unsolicited testimonials that the physical work has accomplished this end.

A boys' camp at Clear Lake is being held this year, and we hope to have it annually.

General.—We have to thank the Ladies' Auxiliary for the furnishing of the boys' room, and also for the excellent banquet given by them to the boys at the closing exercises.

We wish to thank also the following gentlemen, Messrs. E. Bloome, T. A. Hay and H. Goodwin, for assisting the by lectures in the social part of the Friday night meetings.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. FROUDE,
President.

The report was adopted on motion of Messrs. A. Froude and A. E Dixon.

As the Boys' Branch is considered one of the most important features of the work, the report was received with a great deal of satisfaction.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION BUILDING.

THE TREASURER'S STATEMENT

was then presented by Mr. Frank Adams, who explained that the report was not made out in the detailed manner which he would like to see on account of the annual meeting so closely following the closing of the Association year on July 31st:

The report was received on motion of Mr. Adams and Dr. Ross.

In connection with the rent account of the old rooms the Treasurer explained that although the amount owing was $300, Mr. Geo. A. Cox had kindly reduced the sum to $200.

THE GENERAL SECRETARY,

Mr. Geo. H. Williamson, presented his annual report as appended:

To the officers, members and friends of the Young Men's Christian Association:

The past year—the thirteenth in the history of the work and the first in the new building—has fitly been characterized as an experimental one.

A large measure of success has been ours, as the result of much thought, prayer and work in the preparation and furtherance of the plans which have been in harmony with the General Society, which has stood the test of fifty-four years.

The aim has been to provide an association of young men for mutual helpfulness, providing for the young men of the town an attractive place of social resort free from questions le influences and equipped with helpful agencies for their intellectual, physical and spiritual welfare.

The work of the year has shown that the magnificent gift of the late Mrs. Charlotte J. Nicholls has been appreciated by all classes of citizens, notably by the hundreds of young men and boys who have taken advantage of the privileges of membership and by the large number of friends of the work, including the board of directors, who have given liberally of their time and means towards its support.

Another pleasing feature has been the demonstration of the adaptability of the building to the needs of the field of work. While it has been found none too large, neither has any material defect been discovered in its arrangement.

This is the testimony of the scores of association experts from outside points who have inspected it.

It is gratifying to be able to present many statistics representing definite results accomplished; but would remind you that much has been done that cannot be tabulated. The outcome of the silent influences for good, the warm welcome to the stranger; the quiet talk o things Eternal. These forces which cannot be estimated, may have been the means in many cases of turning life's current.

Finances.—The year has been a trying one in this particular. The financial position one year ago indicated a deficit of nearly $1,600 and the report to-night shows that during the year provision has been made for the year's budget of $2,500 in the new building, while the deficit has been reduced besides to $800.

It was our earnest wish to have our entire indebtedness wiped out and plans were laid accordingly. The young men succeeded in securing $250 for the Board and it is confidently expected that the remaining $250 guaranteed will be raised during the fall and winter approaching. The ladies have done a noble work and have secured nearly $300, which have been applied to the completion of the furnishings.

Membership.—Many methods have been employed in securing our membership. The instalment plan of payment has enabled many young men and boys to become members, who otherwise could not have done so. The plan has been found to work admirably.

A national contest in November added 72, and one conducted on similar lines in the Boys' department increased their membership from 40 to 114.

Many losses have occurred through removals and the loss of those who were active members has been felt in the religious work department.

A number have been transferred to other Associations. Our membership tickets are good in any of the 5,786 associations in 44 different countries of the world. Chas. Halliday and W. J. Allin, who joined the Association at the beginning of the year, were removed by death before its close. Mr. Harry A. Froude, who received his training in our Association, has become General Secretary at Sidney, C. B., where he is now preparing for the close of the first year in their new building.

Another of our active members is preparing himself for active Christian service at the Chicago Bible Training School. Our present membership is as follows:

Full	278
Limited	18
Boys	112
Special Membership	27
Pastors	11
Total	446

Active 165. Associate 311.

Physical.—The work of the physical department for the year already referred to, has been the means of reaching and benefiting a large number of men. The gymnasium and baths will be dealt with in Mr. Knapman's report.

The Boys.—The report of the boy's work has also been presented by their energetic president. Work for boys in the association has come to stay because it has in it the association of the future. In this work generally it is a well known fact that some of the best workers are those who have united with the association when boys.

Educational.—An Evening School was organized in October with 26 different pupils and 3 first-class teachers. Four branches of study were taken up with the following results:—Bookkeeping, lessons 21, total attendance 144, average 6; shorthand, lessons 24, total attendance 121, average 5; arithmetic, lessons 15, total attendance 75, average 5; penmanship, lessons 12, total attendance 96, average 8. Total enrollment 43.

This department was maintained at a cost of $61, which was provided for by fees and special contributions.

The courses were those outlined by the International committee and in use in all the associations on the continent.

Examinations were held in two subjects with satisfactory results.

In the Debating Club good work was done and a foundation laid for a larger season's work during the approaching year.

The reading room has been the greatest educational factor. It is furnished with 52 papers and magazines purchased at a cost of $75. The list includes 5 mechanical and technical publications.

There has been an increase in the attendance of members who make use of the reading room also in the number of strangers and non-members, the reading room being free to all.

The library contains 185 volumes which have been used to some extent for reference.

General.—The Association sent four delegates to the Provincial Convention in Brantford, in January, when an invitation was extended to the Convention to visit Peterborough next year. The matter is now in the hands of the Provincial Committee.

Sixty-five young men have been found boarding houses during the year, eight have been assisted in securing positions. Twenty-six have been helped financially and otherwise. Sixteen letters of introduction have been given to young men leaving town.

Religious work.—The religious work department has in most particular progressed favourably during the year.

Forty-nine Men's Sunday meetings have been held with an average attendance of thirty, during the fall and winter.

Fifty Saturday evening conferences with an average of eight. At these meetings the Sunday-school lesson for the following day has been taken up.

The attendance at all the meetings would, we feel sure, be much larger if some arrangements could be made to improve the service of song. We hope that the plans for the fall work will include arrangements towards this end.

Three bible classes have been conducted. The Bible training class held thirty-eight sessions with an average attendance of six. "Goodwin's Progressive Bible Studies," composed he course. A Bible class was also conducted on Sunday afternoon holding twenty-nine sessions with an average attendance of seven, the course was a series of studies on the life of Christ.

In connection with the Layman's Association, Fifteen meetings have been addressed by our workers.

The week of prayer for young men in all lands was duly observed during the second week of November by a series of meetings.

In October the Association through arrangements made with Mr. D. A. Budge, General Secretary in Montreal, held a two days' series of meetings, addressed by the world-famed evangelist Mr. D. L. Moody. Large audiences attended the meetings and many were impressed with a knowledge of sin and others quickened in Christian service.

During the year as a definite result of the spiritual work 16 made a profession of faith. The majority are the outcome of personal work by the officers and active members.

Each evening during the winter the custom was to close the work of each day with singing and prayer. There was an average attendance of 8.

In the report of last year we likened ourselves to the hosts of the children of Israel on the border land of a goodly heritage. We can say to-night that we have indeed entered in, but we are also led to say in the words of the Prophet "there still remaineth much more land to be possessed," difficulties to be overcome, new ground to be claimed for the Master. With so splendid a field, brightened with golden opportunities, shall we not with a new courage move forward, following the example of Him who said "We can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth us!"

The report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Martin and Robinson.

Mr. T. H. Martin in moving the adoption of the report, thought that the success of the Association during the past year was very largely due to Mr. Williamson's efforts, and that the occasion of the annual meeting should not be allowed to go by without a few words of approbation being said. Mr. Williamson had held the work together in a manner most gratifying to all.

Mr. G. M. Roger thought it was an un-

UNNECESSARY WHISTLING.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

The residents of the North Ward, especially the poor, sick and nervous patients of the Nicholls Hospital, would feel under great favour to you if you would in some way enlist the action of the authorities of the town and railway to put a reasonable stop to the awful screeching of the engines that pass by from early morning until late in the evening. The ordinary running noise and ringing bells of the trains are ample warning in the ward, and should be also for station purposes, where, besides, the time for the arrival and departure of trains is known. The unnecessary, intolerable nuisance should be put a stop to.

Anticipating your kindly notice, please accept thanks from the NORTH WARD.

August 3rd, 1898.

[The subject of the complaint of our correspondent is well worth the attention of authorities. Of course train employees have their instructions in regard to the use of their whistles and bells. But there is a possibility of using discretion in such use while complying with the spirit of their orders. It is well known that there is an unnecessary whistling and ringing of bells, which is the cause of a great loss of sleep to hard working persons who have special need of undisturbed rest, and to nervous invalids, of positive suffering and serious exasperation of their malady. The correspondent who makes the above complaint is not a chronic grumbler nor unnecessary fault finder. We are sure the circumstances he refers are quite serious enough to warrant his calling attention to them, and it is not too much to ask that the authorities take prompt action; for the evils complained of are much more serious in hot weather when it is necessary to have windows opened during the nights as well as days.—ED. MISS EMMA TEMPLE.

HERE IS WHAT SHE SAYS:

At last, after eight months of physical weakness and nervous prostration, caused by over exertion and want of rest, during which time I suffered greatly on account of the shattered condition of my nerves, and for which I was unable to find any relief, I have found a medicine (Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills) that in three months made my nerves strong, removed all nervous troubles, built up my physical system and made me strong and well. They removed despondency, and in consequence of taking your valuable Pills I look forward to the future hopefully. I have to thank your great cure for nervousness and bodily weakness for my present good health and strength.

FIRST SOUTHERN TORPEDO.

Used In the James River After the Fight at Seven Pines.

The story of the first torpedo which was invented and used by General Gabriel Rains during the war with the Seminole Indians, April, 1840, ended in the fighting of 16 soldiers, who had gone with Captain Rains to investigate the cause of the explosion, with some 100 or more Indians, and among the casualties the wounding of the captain and his being carried to Fort King in the arms of his men. Another and second torpedo had been previously placed at the post by him, and soon after the fight 1,000 or more troops were collected there, and it became such a dread to the whole army that a soldier guard was put over it until Captain Rains was able to go and take it up.

"Suppose," said one officer to another high in rank, "that the captain had died of his wound. What would you have done?" "I thought," said the second officer, "of firing at it with a 9 pounder at a safe distance and thus knocking it to pieces."

The occasion of his first submarine torpedo was as follows: Soon after the battle of Seven Pines General Lee, commanding, sent for General Rains and said to him: "The enemy have upward of 100 vessels in the James river, and we think that they are about making an advance that way upon Richmond, and if there is a man in the whole Southern Confederacy that can stop them you are that man. Will you undertake it?"

"I will try," was the answer, and, observing that ironclads were invulnerable to cannon of all caliber used and were really masters of rivers and harbors, it required submarine inventions to checkmate and conquer them, so an order was issued forthwith putting General Gabriel Rains in charge of submarine defenses, and on James river bank, opposite to Drury's Bluff, his first submarino torpedo was made, the primogenitor and precursor of all such inventions, now world renowned, as civilized nations have each a torpedo corps.—Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes and a sallow complexion will defy the best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

Great Events From Little Causes.

While staying at the court of Frederick II of Prussia Voltaire presented Mme. de Pompadour's compliments to the king, who scornfully replied, "Je ne la connais pas." Out of vengeance for so much insult, as she deemed it, madame induced the weakminded Louis XV to convert his country's long standing hostility against Austria into friendship. A Franco-Austrian army then took the field against Prussia, and as it was an easy matter for madame to enlist the practical sympathy of Elizabeth of Russia, who had been the subject of Frederick's indiscreet remarks also, half a million lives were lost.—Notes and Queries.

THE GLOISTEIN CLUB.

THEY GO ON A FISHING TRIP AND RETURN DISGUSTED.

Ex-Mayor Connolly Has a Setback Early In the Day, and Later the Club Sustains a Severe Shock Brought About by Harbor Defenses.

The Gloistein Fishing club held its first outing of the season recently, and as usual was attended with many exasperating mishaps.

The party consisted of 20 persons. Among them were 17 members of the Plattdeutsche Schuetzen corps.

The other three were Pat Connolly, the former mayor of Poverty Hollow; Mike Ryan, the Bowery hotel keeper, and an east side undertaker. Gloistein objected to the undertaker's presence, but was overruled by the others. The objection to the undertaker was founded on the fact that while Gloistein was laid up sick during the past several weeks the undertaker went to Gloistein's hotel each morning and sat at a table most of the day.

The fishing party, most of whom wore rubber boots, went to Long Beach, just below Rockaway Beach. Gloistein was in charge of the bait, which consisted of sand worms, clams and five kegs of beer. The party boarded a small sloop yacht, and shortly before noon, after some delay in taking care of the bait, the yacht was anchored about a mile off shore. The first part of the day was unmarked by any incident, leaving out the experience of ex-Mayor Connolly. When he went down in the cabin to inspect the bait, some one tied a two gallon milk can to his line.

Soon after Connolly thought he had a bite, and the weight on the line made him believe that he had hooked a huge fish. His disappointment on discovering the joke was so great that he fished no more during the day.

The boat remained at anchor until it got dark, and then preparations were made to pull up the anchor. Gloistein started to perform this service, but the anchor seemed to be securely fastened to the bottom. Several of the others then grabbed hold of the rope. Finally, after much pulling and consequent puffing, the anchor was brought to the surface. "Ach, vat do I see?" said Gloistein as he caught sight of something which was firmly attached to the anchor.

Gloistein followed the exclamation by releasing his hold on the rope. The anchor and its burden immediately started for the bottom, and Connolly gave a howl as he held up his hands, which were cut and bleeding from the friction of the rope.

"Gentlemens," said Gloistein, "ve are fastened to a mine. I saw the top of it. It is filled mit dynamite. If ve hid it against itself, dere vill be exploshineses, and up to the sky ve vill be blowned."

"Dynamite!" said ex-Mayor Connolly. "It's dangerous stuff and must be handled with precision, carefulness and gentleness," he said.

At this juncture the undertaker sighted a passing tugboat.

"Let me off," he said. "Put me on the tug. I will have them take me to the shore. Then I wait for you people."

"Such a business man!" said Gloistein. "He's an undertaker. Vat a nice lot of jobs he vill have if dot dynamite is exploshioned."

The undertaker tried to signal the tug, but the captain paid no attention to him. It was finally determined to tow the supposed mine to the nearest point on the shore. The sails refused to fill, and then four pairs of oars were produced from the cabin.

Stanchions were rigged on the sides, and the four heaviest men started to pull for land. The craft moved slowly, and it was frequently necessary to put other men at the oars.

It was nearly midnight when the keel of the boat grated on the shore. Then the party waded to dry land, pulling the rope attached to the anchor and supposed mine after them.

When the supposed mine came to the surface on the sand there was a howl of disgust from the crowd. The mine proved to be a lobster trap. The crowd were wrathy against Gloistein.

"You would be in your own domicile if you were inside that trap," said ex-Mayor Connolly.

"You're no lobster," said Mike Ryan. "You're a crab. I would not insult a lobster by comparing you with it."

Gloistein stopped a promised fight by treating all hands, but he may be disciplined at the next meeting of the club.—New York Sun.

THE ONTARIO HOUSE.

Government and Opposition Will Now Meet Face to Face—A Forecast of the Speech.

Toronto, August 3.—The first session of the ninth Legislature of Ontario is to be formally opened by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Mowat today.

Escorted by the Queen's Own Rifles, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be driven to the chamber at 3 o'clock. He upon taking the Speaker's throne, will observe that the House has no Speaker. He will notify the members through the Provincial Secretary of this fact, and will leave temporarily. Upon returning, he will find that a Speaker has been elected.

The Administrator of the Government will then deliver himself of the speech from the throne. This address will be much shorter than usual. It will open by a thanksgiving reference to a bountiful harvest, and continuing, will announce the two reasons for the calling together of the Assembly, namely, the passing of legislation to assure election constables of the right to vote and the framing of an Act to give effect to the Privy Council's decision, giving the provinces more control of the fisheries. In conclusion regret will be expressed at the premature severance of His Excellency the Governor-General's connection with Canadian administration.

To Mr. H. J. Pettypiece of East Lambton will fall the honor of moving the reply to the address and to Mr. Sam Clarke of Cobourg, West Northumberland, that of seconding it.

The Boy Was Killed.

Smith's Falls, Aug. 8.—Last evening two rigs returning from the races were being speeded along heedless of the approaching in-coming C.P.R. Brockville train. One of them succeeded in getting over the crossing, but the other, a sulky, driven by Mr. George Rice, farmer, and his son, 12 years old, was struck by the train, with the result that the boy was instantly killed. The horse got over and escaped unhurt. Mr. Rice was thrown a considerable distance and is badly injured.

CANADA'S DEFENCES.

Military Experts Arrive to Study the Conditions.

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—The conference of colonial Premiers in London last year is likely to have at least one result of very great importance to Canada. The Imperial sentiment which was so dominant at that time led to the interchange of opinions as to how the colonies could best combine for the defence of the empire at large and for their own protection. It is as a result of that conference and of subsequent correspondence between Canada and the Imperial authorities that a committee was formed of capable military experts to give their attention to a study of the conditions existing here in Canada, and offer general suggestions as to how the defences shall be strengthened and our military force placed upon a footing that will fit it for service at home or abroad. The outcome of the conference and negotiations has been the assembling of a committee of expert military and naval officers who have arrived in Ottawa. They are Major-General Leach, C.B., Royal Engineers, who is to act as President; Lieut.-Col. Dalton, Royal Engineers; Captain White, R.N., and Colonel Lake, Quartermaster-General of Canada.

Jack Hamilton, ex-Reeve of Shelburne, has been brought back to Brampton to stand his trial in the perjury cases.

Flowers are the poetry of the earth; babies the sonnets of humanity. Banish the smiles, the dimples and the laughter of childhood and the world would become a barren wilderness, inhabited by savages.

Woman's ultimate mission, duty and joy on earth are comprised in the one word, "Motherhood." Multitudes of women fail of this mission because of weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism. They do not understand that disorders of this description unfit them for wifehood and motherhood, and as a consequence are careless and neglectful of their health in a womanly way. Others who realize the truth, shrink from the "examinations" and "local treatments" insisted upon by the average physician. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription does away with the necessity for these obnoxious examinations and local treatments. It acts directly and only on the delicate and important organs that are the vestibule of human life and makes them strong, healthy, vigorous, virile and elastic. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It banishes the annoyances of the uncomfortable period preceding maternity and makes baby's arrival in the world easy and nearly painless. All the dangers of maternity vanish under its beneficent influence. Its use during the period of anticipation is a guarantee of the little stranger's health and an ample supply of naturl nourishment. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. All medicine stores sell it. Accept no substitute that may be represented as "just as good."

"For ten years I suffered untold misery," writes Mrs. Carline King, of New Boston, Scioto Co., Ohio. "I then took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and eleven months later presented my husband with a twelve-pound boy. My health is good."

SPAIN'S LOSING GAME.

Things Which Have Slipped From Her Grasp In Three Hundred Years.

Macaulay drew this picture of the power of Spain 800 years ago:

The empire of Philip II was undoubtedly one of the most powerful and splendid that ever existed in the world. It is no exaggeration to say that during several years his power over Europe was greater than even that of Napoleon. In America his dominions extended on both sides of the equator into the temperate zone. There is reason to believe that his annual revenues amounted, in the season of his greatest power, to a sum ten times as large as that which England yielded to Elizabeth. He had a standing army of 50,000 troops when England did not have a single battalion in constant pay. He held, what no other prince in modern times has held, the dominion both of the land and the sea. During the greater part of his reign he was supreme on both elements. His soldiers marched up to the capital of France; his ships menaced the shores of England. Spain had what Napoleon desired in vain—ships, colonies and commerce.

She long monopolized the trade of America and of the Indian ocean. All the gold of the west and all the spices of the east were received and distributed by her. Even after the defeat of the armada English statesmen continued to look with great dread on the maritime power of Philip. * * * Whoever wishes to be well acquainted with the morbid anatomy of governments, whoever wishes to know how great states may be made feeble and wretched, should study the history of Spain.—Exchange.

An Army of Dragon Flies.

A professor of zoology at Lille, M. Charles Barrios, was making a tour through Morbihan, in France. As he was walking along the road he noticed that a multitude of dragon flies were alighting on the telegraph wires. The singular thing about it was that they all rested at an equal distance from each other, and all occupied the same position, with head turned toward the west.

From all sides the dragon flies arrived and always placed themselves in the same position and at the same distance from each other. They remained as if glued to the wire, motionless and paralyzed. Each new arrival flew over the fixed bodies of the others and took its place in the line.

This chain stretched itself out toward the west and turned toward the setting sun. Professor Barrios followed the route for a long distance and found the same strange phenomenon. He estimated the number at 60,000, at least. At an abrupt turn of the road to the south the telegraph line turned also. There not a dragon fly was in sight! The wire was absolutely free from them! With the change of direction it seemed to have lost attraction for them.

Was this chance? Did the electric currents running from the east to the west exercise any influence upon these insects? Was it the solar reflection? Explain it, who can. In any case it would be interesting to know whether this phenomenon be an isolated one or not.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment...

Endorsed by Dr. C. M. Harlan of the American Journal of Health

NOT A PATENT MEDICINE....

He says—Among the proprietary medicines recognized is Dr. Chase's Ointment, compounded by Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, as a remedy for Piles, Eruptions and Eczematic Skin Diseases, for which it has been used with marked success and has effected remarkable cures. It is not the practice of the Medical Profession indiscriminately to use proprietary medicines, but there are hundreds of physicians throughout this country who are using Dr. Chase's Ointment in their practice. We handed out during the last month 2,700 boxes of free samples of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the thankful results have been something astonishing. Here is what one of the cures says:

MR. O. P. ST. JOHN, 246 Shaw St., Toronto, in his letter states: I suffered for some years from Itching Piles, at times being unable to sleep for the annoyance caused by them. After trying almost every remedy known, I was induced to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and can say one box entirely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of it, and have recommended it to several of my friends, all whom have been cured by its use.

Women Criminals In Austria.

In Austria, even for murder, a woman is never put into an ordinary prison, much less brought to the gallows. Whatever the crimes of which they are convicted, women are sent to the convents set apart for this purpose and are kept there as long as the judge determines.

The ladies superior have practically a free hand over their charges and receive from the government sevenpence a day for each criminal under their care. At Neudorf convent, which receives all the female offenders from Vienna, there is nothing in the appearance of the place to suggest a prison.

The courtyard stands open all day long, with only a nun as a doorkeeper. Once inside, all the convicts are on the same footing. They are employed in the domestic work of the convent, and in making matches, buttons, needlework, embroidery, lace, woodwork, etc., superintended only by the sisters.

For work beyond their allotted task they are paid by scale—half the money being given them at the end of the week and half being placed to their credit until their term expires, when it is paid to them on leaving.

WHEEL WHIRLS.

The law in Germany is that in the event of an accident on a tandem the front rider is to blame.

The Japanese are, as a race, so small that it is necessary to build specially low bicycles for them.

Stevens, the first cyclist to journey round the world, states that the best part of his lengthy and adventurous journey—always excepting the heat—was down the Grand Trunk road of India. The worst was in Utah.

Cyclists in Roumania are compelled by the authorities to have their name and address not only upon some part of the machine, but also upon the lamp glass in order that the riders may be identified at night.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER.

Kidney Disease Man's Deadliest Foe Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, July 18.—"Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease," was the assertion of a prominent Toronto physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death-rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used, in every case of Kidney Disease, there would be no deaths from it.

The Sleep Irresistible.

"Whoever sits down," said Dr. Solander to his company among the hills of Tierra del Fuego, "will sleep, and whoever sleeps will wake no more." The brave doctor and his men had tramped a considerable distance through the swamps, when the weather became suddenly colder and fierce blasts of wind drove the snow before it. In a short time the cold became so intense as to cause the most oppressive drowsiness. Dr. Solander was the first to find the inclination to sleep too irresistible for him, and he insisted upon lying down. In vain his companions entreated and remonstrated. He lay down, and when told that he would inevitably freeze to death answered that he desired nothing more than to lie down and die. One of the black servants lay down also. Solander declared himself willing to go on, but begged to be allowed to sleep first, and in a few minutes the two men were in a profound sleep. Soon after, those who had been sent forward to kindle a fire returned with the welcome news that the fire awaited them at a short distance. The men happily succeeded in awakening Solander, who, although he had not been asleep five minutes, had almost lost the use of his limbs, and the flesh was so shrunken that his shoes fell from his feet. It was with much urging and assistance that he consented to go on, but all attempts to rouse the black man were futile, and he was left to die.

The Great Rat Dance of 1874.

During the fall of 1874 rats became a serious menace to the farmers of Jackson county, Kan., and one night at a meeting of the literary society in the Coleman schoolhouse it was proposed to organize a hunt. Sides were chosen, and it was agreed that the losers were to pay for a supper and a dance. Three weeks were fixed as the limit of the hunt, but this was reduced to ten days when it was discovered that warm weather was making it impossible to preserve the tails, which were to be used in making the count. At the end of the ten days both hunting teams assembled at the schoolhouse with their tails and a count was made, with the result of showing 6,850 dead rats in total. More than 1,000 of these had been killed on the farm of G. W. McReynolds alone. After the count supper was served, and a dance followed until daylight. The affair is still known in local annals as the great rat dance.—Halton (Kan.) Signal.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

THE RAVENS.

A Knotty Question Cleverly Answered by a Blacksmith Preacher.

Many years ago there lived in one of the mountain counties of this state a blacksmith who to his reputation for honest work during the week added that of being a powerful exhorter on Sundays. Held in high esteem by his neighbors, possessed of a sufficiency of this world's goods for that primitive community, he seemed to have solved the question of terrestrial happiness, but the "thorn in the flesh" is indigenous to all climes and conditions, and for the blacksmith it grew in the person of one Tom Bradley, a tall, lank mountaineer, who was the wit and wag of the neighborhood, and who also occupied the unenviable position of skeptic in that orthodox community.

Tom delighted to prod the smith with certain inexplicable Biblical statements, and these encounters sometimes resulted disastrously for the exhorter, causing him much humiliation and making him, as he said, "wrassle in prayer and cry to the Lord and spare not."

Once at the yearly camp meeting the old man was giving his "experience" in the tone and manner that were considered devotional in those parts. "My brethren, ah," he said, "as I was a-standin in my shop an gittin ready to shoe Billy Hite's old gray mare, ah, 'long come that son of a gun Tom Bradley, ah. He ast me ef I believed everything in the Bible, ah. I said everything, from kiver ter kiver, ah. 'Believe that yarn about Noah bein shet up in the ark with all them different sort of critters, ah?' sezze. 'Sí, I done swallered Jonah an the whale, ah, an I wa'nt a-goin to gag at Noah, ah.' 'Well,' sezze, ah, 'ef that raven Noah sent out got lost, ah, where did all these here ravens come frum, ah?' Brethren, I thought fer a minute, ah, that old satan had got the underholt on me, ah, an was about ter thoe me, ah, but, thank the Lord, ah, I jest thoed back my head, ah, an the sperrit of knowledge plum filled me, ah, an I sez, sezzi, 'It was the old he raven, ah, that got lost, an the old she raven was a settin on five eggs in the nest, ah, an that's where these hero ravens come from, ah.'"—Memphis Scimitar.

Oak or Squash.

A student asked the president of Oberlin college if he could not take a shorter course than that prescribed by the institution.

"Oh, yes," was the reply, "but that depends upon what you want to make of yourself. When God wants to make an oak he takes 100 years, but when he wants to make a squash he takes six months."—New York Tribune.

NERVOUS DIARRHŒA.

Many Speakers, Actors, Singers and Clergymen Suffer from Diarrhœa when they appear in public.

It can be prevented by taking a few doses of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

There are many people whom nervous excitement of any kind effects in a remarkable manner, causing diarrhœa. I knew an estimable clergyman who was afflicted every time he appeared in public. He could get nothing to check this distressing condition of the bowels, until he tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It acted like a charm in his case, and he always carried a bottle of the remedy with him afterwards. Some men have had to retire from public life altogether on account of their trouble becoming chronic. There is no need of this, however, as Dr. Fowler's Strawberry can control and cure the severest cases.

It is not a new or untried remedy, as it has a record of over forty years of cures to its credit and is recognized on all hands as the only reliable remedy ever offered to the public as a safe and certain cure for diarrhœa, dysentery, colic, cramps, cholera, cholera morbus and summer complaint, whether of children or adults.

The price of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is 35 cts. a bottle, and we would warn you against accepting any substitute or imitation. Many of these are positively dangerous and you are risking your life when you take them.

THE SLATER SHOE

"Slater Boot Trees."

The wear and shape retention of a shoe may be doubled if, when taken off the foot, it be put on a tree the exact shape of the shoe. The leather thus regains its elasticity and fiber tension and the shoe its form. Valuable to wearers with a tendency to run over on heels. A good idea is to have two pairs of shoes alternately "treed" and worn. Each pair will thus give double service if allowed a rest-day between wear-days. Trees to fit the various shapes of Slater Shoes, at $1.00 per pair.

INTOLERABLE ITCHING

Eczema All Over Head and Face. Two Doctors, No Benefit.

Tried CUTICURA REMEDIES with Rapid Cure.

I was troubled several years with cutaneous diseases which developed into chronic Eczema, which spread all over my head, and down on my face. I took medical treatment from two doctors and received but little relief. Then I tried several lotions, etc., which we had in the store, but only received little relief from them. At times, the dreadful itching became almost intolerable. When I was heated, the Eczema became painful, and almost distracted me. I was advised to try CUTICURA REMEDIES and did so, and found them all that is claimed for them. The Eczema rapidly disappeared, and I am well, with no trace of any cutaneous disease. Shall always recommend CUTICURA to all.

Baby Scratched Continually

Our babe, two months old, broke out in sores over her face and ears. She seemed to be in great misery, and would scratch continually. I noticed your advertisement in our home paper, and supposed it would be a good thing for our Sadie. I used the CUTICURA (ointment) and CUTICURA SOAP, and they were a great benefit to her. I did not like to give medicine inwardly to a child so young, but saw that she must have something to drive the disease out, so I got a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, to purify her blood, and gave her about one third of the bottle, and your medicines have done wonders for her.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Y. M. C. A.

fortunate circumstance that the debt of the Association had not been entirely wiped out during the year. It showed that the citizens were not alive to the privileges which they enjoyed by having the building given them as a free gift. He compared the buildings of the Kingston, Montreal and Ottawa Associations with that possessed by Peterborough, and stated that they could not compare with it for adaptability. He hoped that the future would teach the children to manfully appreciate the benefits they were enjoying.

Mr. J. S. Knapman presented the following report of the

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT:

Peterborough, Aug. 2nd, 1898.

To the Board of Directors and Members of the Young Men's Christian Association.

GENTLEMEN.—In presenting this the first annual report of Physical department it gives me much pleasure to look back on the success of our first year in this important part of the work of the Association; and while we have perhaps made a few mistakes and our members have seen weak points in the work, on the whole, the year has been one of general satisfaction to the members and the Board, and the coming season should be one of still greater benefit to the young men and boys of the town.

We have had large numbers of visitors from outside cities and towns where Association work is carried on, and they all spoke in great praise of our building and our gymnasium apparatus and we feel satisfied that our gymnasium apparatus and equipment are as good as any in the province.

During part of the season we had a little difficulty in supplying enough hot water for our baths and in maintaining our swimming tank to the proper temperature, but thanks to our president and the Board this has been remedied.

Mr. Buxton our physical director, gave splendid satisfaction in the work; the discipline was good and in every way he fulfilled his duties well and in the best interest of the work.

On account of having to leave just when the outside sports commenced this department of the work has been neglected, although we made arrangements with the Peterborough lacrosse club for the use of their grounds three nights a week, and for the privileges gave the lacrosse club the use of our building. With a physical director all the year there should be no reason why the outside sports could not be made as as popular and useful as the indoor work, and next year should see this branch of the work more succe sful.

On account of sickness I was unable to give the time and attention to this branch of the work that it deserved, and in electing my successor it would be well to elect a member who takes an interest in this particular department of the work and who is able to join in with the classes occasionally in the evening.

The ladies' classes were well attended and enjoyed very much, which no member of the Board would doubt if they once saw a live game of basket ball between two lady teams.

Basket ball has come to stay, the more the boys play the better they seem to enjoy it. Six outside games were played and the Association won three and lost three. Two games each were played with Toronto, Belleville and Lindsay.

The wheel show and conversat were a great success and should be an annual affair to the members and friends of the Association.

There were five classes conducted during the year, with the following membership:—

	Mem.	No. of Classes.	Ave. Att.
Business Men's	23	54	10
Young Men's	62	53	20
Jr. Business Men's	23	45	10
Collegiate Institute	21	18	10
Boys	85	34	40

J. S. KNAPMAN,
Chairman.

The report was adopted on motion of Messrs. A. E. Dixon and A. L. Grover.

Mr. Parker mentioned those who had been chiefly instrumental in bringing to a successful issue the work in the various departments, and gave each their due meed of praise. None, he thought, could help but admire the earnestness and zeal of the secretary. Those who were brought in close contact with him felt that he was doing a noble work and that his whole heart was in it. All must appreciate the services to which a great deal of the success of the Association was due. The board had been careful in their selection of a new physical director. He was one who would be capable of carrying on the work in every department. He was sorry that a clear sheet could not be shown in the financial statement, but was confident that the ensuing year would be the most prosperous in the history of the Association and that at its close there would be no debt.

Mr. Williamson stated that it had been decided at the beginning of the year not to attempt to reduce the debt, the Association had therefore done better than was expected, as considerable indebtedness had been liquidated.

Mr. T. H. Martin thought there should be no regrets regarding the state of the finances. None had expected so good a showing at the beginning of the year. The great additional expense incurred had not been taken into account by those who had stated that the debt should have been reduced by a greater amount.

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Summer Sale. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customer's gain.

Thursday will be a red letter day with us, marking the beginning of the Great August Sale of Summer Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes.

THE FIRST CEREMONY.

Toronto Honors in Death the Late Archbishop Walsh—Lying in State—Funeral Thursday.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Not for a decade—not since the funeral of Archbishop Lynch in May, 1888—has there been such a demonstration of love, esteem and respect as that shown last night in connection with the obsequies of Archbishop Walsh. The almost unique manifestation was spontaneous and well-nigh universal. Protestants last night vied with their Catholic fellow-citizens in rendering honor to the dead prelate.

It was not the funeral in the ordinary sense of the word, but the solemn transference of the remains of the Archbishop from his late residence, St. John's Grove, adjoining the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Sherbourne street, to their last resting place in the archiepiscopal church of St. Michael's.

To-day at the lying-in-state, and to-morrow at the interment of the remains, the solemn scenes of last night will be repeated, and the prayer will ascend from thousands of voices and more thousands of hearts, that the soul of the deceased Archbishop may indeed rest in peace.

THE FIRST SURPRISE

Sprung by the Defence in the Bank Robbery Trial.

PARE'S LETTER TO MR. PORTER.

An Old Jailbird Is the Crown's Chief Witness in the Napanee Case—A Life Spent in Crime He Admits His Crimes and Only Regrets His Failures.

Napanee, Aug. 4.—There was another great crowd when the court opened at 9.30 yesterday. Many were turned away. Interest is growing deeper as the case proceeds. Pare took the witness stand again yesterday morning.

Then Mr. Porter began the cross-examination of Pare, and Pare gave as his aliases Howard, Bellinger and Oldgeorge. He was born in St. Thomas, Que., 56 years ago, and had a common school education, and learned printers' art. He was a hotel-keeper in Montreal and after living in Detroit two years he returned to Montreal and fell into loose habits and for robbing a till he got three months in gaol. Then he drifted down to Quebec, where he got seven years in St. Vincent de Paul for robbing a safe.

Mr. Porter then took up the life of the man while at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. The first episode was when Pare caused an investigation, when he charged Deputy Warden Ouimet with accepting $300 as a bribe to assist two convicts to escape. An investigation was held, but Ouimet was declared innocent, as the man who had given an affidavit corroborating Pare's evidence could never be found, and after Pare had been in prison four years he had an interview with Detective Cullen of Montreal, and Pare told Cullen there was to be an attempt upon St. Lambert Bank, Montreal, and that a man in the bank was favorable. The witness is very unwilling under cross-examination and contradicts himself frequently.

Pare declared that the reason he told Cullen about the contemplated attempt upon the St. Lambert bank was to get his liberty, and perhaps a little money, and when Pare got out of jail he worked in Montreal, where he cracked a safe and got $380. He was arrested, but broke jail and went to Manchester, N.H. The warrant for his arrest is still out in Montreal. He went to New Hampshire, where he was arrested for raiding a store. He got four years in Concord penitentiary. Then he went to Manchester, then to Detroit, then to Cleveland, then to Toronto. He came to Toronto in May, 1897. He got two letters, one from his sister and one from Jack Roach. He was surprised to get one from Roach, as it was the first he had ever received. He stayed one day in Toronto, and then came down to Belleville. The court adjourned at 12.45 till 2 p.m.

Pare was not called immediately on the assembling of the court, but F. F. Miller, C. E., was put in the box, and produced an amended plan of the bank and the surrounding buildings. Mr. Porter had the witness explain every part of the plan, and give many details. The flat roof just behind Ponton's rooms was shown to possess a gutter down which water flowed. The defence is going into the topography of the scene of the robbery in order to lay the basis of a strong case against the testimony of certain Crown witnesses, notably young Haycock and Mrs. McGreer.

At this stage Pare came back to the box, and Mr. Porter's cross-examination continued. In detailing his movements from Cleveland to Detroit, Port Colborne to Belleville, he got tangled up a little, for Mr. Porter said, "You said this morning that you went direct from Manchester to Detroit."

"I just recall this fact now," said the prisoner. "I did not work there. My friends came up with me; that made five of us. The two got off at Cornwall, but Roach, Holden and I came right up to Kingston. Then Roach went on to Belleville. I saw one of the men who got off at Cornwall after the bank robbery."

One of the cleverest pieces of cross-examination ever worked in this country was played by Mr. Porter when he led Pare up to a startling admission which, if it stands the test of Mr. Osler's invective, will knock Pare's confession into a cocked hat. Mr. Porter said: "Now, Mr. Pare, I want you to give me a sample of your writing." Pare sat down at the barrister's table, and wrote under Mr. Porter's dictation:

"Montreal, May 25, 1897.

Dear sir,—Honorable James Daly. E. Gus Porter. I am waiting to connect with some sharpers, but I can't say much just now. Do you know Detective Wilkes and Dougherty? If I hear more I will try and let you know. Yours truly, "George Pare, or 'Old George' of the Baseball Club."

"That will do," was Mr. Porter's non-committal remark, when Pare had finished.

The writing was somewhat cramped and a big blot disfigured the face of the page.

"Did you ever use that name, Old George of the Baseball Club?"

"Yes, and I guess you know it." (Laughter.)

"Is that your hand-writing, Mr. Pare?" showing him a letter. "That is your signature?"

"Yes," replied the witness.

A stir was created when Mr. Porter produced a letter written by Pare, and asked him if he recognized the hand-writing and the signature.

Pare said: "Yes, that is my writing."

Then Mr. Porter read the following letter, while the court listened with all of the ear that it had:

Montreal, Oct. 26, 1897.

Hon. E. Gus Porter—Dear sir,—A conspiracy is forming here in Montreal against your client, Mr. Ponton, by some sharpers of evil repute well-known here. They are waiting to connect with Detectives Wilkes and Dougherty. If I find out more I will let you know. I remain, sir, respectfully yours,

"Old George" of the Baseball Club.

The beauty of the evidence concerning the letter put into court as an exhibit is that the peculiarities of the hand-writing correspond accurately with the formation of the letters made by Pare when he wrote at the dictation of Mr. Porter. The word "Honorable" in both cases was written "hon," while "some" was written "somes."

There seems to be no doubt about the author of the letter from Montreal.

Picking up the threads of the story.

Mr. Porter drew from the witness that he was arrested on Saturday morning, July 9, by Inspector O'Dowd and another officer of the Manchester police. The latter gained admission to Pare's house on Elm street by an upper window and opened the door for O'Dowd. The two policemen broke into Pare's room and arrested him while he was yet in bed.

On April 17 my sister came to Manchester. She was there from April 17 to June 21.

We lived in the same house all the time. She got the unsigned bills before she started on the excursion to Quebec on June 21. She got ten of them, all signed by me. I signed M. Baines' name to them. I gave her $127; $27 was all right. I didn't tell her anything about the bills at the time. I told her not to spend too much of it. I haven't seen her since. I don't know what she did with the money. She had no reason to be suspicious about the money, so far as anything that I told her. I knew she could not give me away, because she did not know anything. I did not pretend to take much stock in Thornhill's story, anyway. He told me she said the bills had came from me. I said if she said so let them be on me. On Tuesday Lawyer O'Connor came to see me. I was taken out into Chief Healey's office, and questioned about the notes by Healey, Thornhill and O'Dowd. All sort of questions were asked me, and I knew they were trying to sweat me. They kept me there for ten or fifteen minutes, but only Mr. Healey did the talking. I next saw Thornhill on the Wednesday following my arrest. I was still in the police station. I had not been brought before any court.

Thornhill asked me if I had any objection to going to Canada. I said I would not go unless there were papers to draw me out. "We'll have to get the papers," said Thornhill. He pulled out more telegrams and read them to me. They said that my sister was being brought from Montreal, and that a couple more arrests were expected that day. He asked if I had anything to say that I might make my case a little lighter. I referred him to my lawyer. He left. My lawyer told me what was against me, and told me what to do. He said there were three or four to be arrested and advised me to do the best I could for myself. Then I started out from that time to do that. The lawyer said: "You go to Healey's office and make a clean breast of all you know, and all will count in your favor." I believed him and went to Healey. I felt that if I could do anything to save myself I ought to do it. In such cases as this I had always up to this time got the worst of it, so I thought it was time for me to do something for myself. My object in adopting this course was to benefit myself. I was not a bit sorry about committing the robbery; I only wanted to save myself.

I went to Healey's room. There were present Lawyer Davidson, for the Dominion Bank; Detectives Dougherty, Carpenter, Thornhill and Dennis F. O'Connor. I made a confession. It was not taken down in writing. I signed nothing on that occasion; then I came to Canada. I knew every little detail of the trial last fall. I knew Mr. Ponton had been accused and discharged. I read only one small paragraph of the investigation. I left Manchester about the middle of October for Detroit. I came by way of St. John to Coteau Landing, and took the main line of the G.T.R. At Coteau Landing I heard some people talking about Ponton's investigation at Napanee. I bought a ticket at St. John for Detroit, good for ten days. This was not the first I had heard of Mr. Ponton's connection with the robbery. I had seen a few paragraphs in a Canadian paper in Manchester. While I was in Belleville my two American friends stayed in Montreal with my sister. I wrote to one of them to go out on their own hook, as I was busy in Belleville for two or three weeks. On my way from Cleveland to Montreal I didn't stop off at Belleville; Roach, Holden and I were together. Holden and I were supposed to meet Roach at Napanee the same night. When Holden and I came to Napanee after half an hour we met Roach on the west side of Napanee station on the track near the junction of the Bay of Quinte with the G.T.R. We met him there by appointment about 9 o'clock.

That was the first week of June. I was introduced to Mackie as the "new man." The old scheme of holding up the people in the bank was discussed, and it had not panned out before this. My forte was not holding up people.

Then the card playing at night and its purport was gone into. At the first conversation I didn't know there was a man in the bank. The report was brought back that if possible some men would be playing cards in the bank. This was in the first week of July. I wanted to see the lay-out for myself. That was all the report brought in. I didn't know and they didn't say that they had communicated with the man in the bank. I became the main mover not long after, for the other schemes did not pan out.

The court adjourned at 5 till this morning at 9.30.

LAWYER LYONS ARRIVES.

He Is Expected to Give Evidence in the Case To-Day.

Napanee, Aug. 4.—Lawyer Lyons of Belleville came into town last night. He registered at the Campbell House, but about 8 o'clock was driven up to Lawyer Madden's house, where he now is. He is expected to give his evidence to-day.

Mr. Lyons was supposed to have written a letter to the Dominion Bank warning them of an attempted robbery, but this he denies. The truth of the matter is that Lyons gave the warning verbally, to which fact several of the citizens are prepared to swear.

The Jack Roach implicated in Pare's confession is the son of a farmer living two miles east of Deseronto. The whole family bear an unimpeachable character. Two of the sons were agents for the Rathbun Co. at important agencies in Ontario. John returned from California a year or two ago with a fortune estimated at about $25,0000 or $30,000, and lived with his father in Belleville, in a quiet, unassuming way. That he has anything to do with the case passes the comprehension of the citizens of Napanee, who know the family and the son Jack. Roach is now in California, looking after some mining interests. His father is daily an interested spectator of the proceedings at the Court House.

TWENTY YEARS AND A FLOGGING.

Robert Norton's Severe Sentence—Body Found on Waterfront.

Owen Sound, Aug. 4.—Robert Norton, a cooper of Owen Sound, was sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment and 30 lashes for seduction, committed on Rachel and Maggie Strathy, ages 11 and 17 years, on July 12 last. He was acquitted on the charge against the elder girl, it being proven she was a consenting party and was over 16 years of age.

The body of a man was found floating on the waterfront yesterday afternoon. The body had apparently been in the water for about two weeks, and is supposed to be Thomas Saunders, lately of Sarawak Township.

AGAINST THE STREET RAILWAY.

Privy Council Upholds the Right of Toronto to Assess Rails, Poles, Etc.

Toronto, Aug. 4.—The City Solicitor's department received a cable yesterday from Christopher Robinson, Q.C., to the effect that the application made before the Privy Council of England by the Toronto Street Railway to appeal against the decision given in favor of the city to assess rails, poles and wires had been dismissed.

The Dominion Educational convention opened at Dalhousie College, Halifax, yesterday.

It is now a settled fact that the Grand Trunk will build terminal facilities at Port Huron.

FACTS ABOUT HEALTH

It is Easy to Keep Well if We Know How—Some of the Conditions Necessary to Perfect Health.

The importance of maintaining good health is easily understood, and it is really a simple matter if we take a correct view of the conditions required. In perfect health the stomach promptly digests food, and thus prepares nourishment. The blood is employed to carry this nourishment to the organs, nerves, muscles and tissues which need it. The first great essential for good health, therefore, is pure, rich blood. Now it is certainly a fact that no medicine has such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is literally true that there are hundreds of people alive and well today who would have been in their graves had they not taken Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is depended upon as a family medicine and general regulator of the system by tens of thousands of people. This is because Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure. This is the secret of its great success. Keep your system in good health by keeping your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla, which absolutely cures when other medicines fail to do any good whatever.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

TEACH BOYS TO SWIM.

The following from the Ottawa Journal jumps exactly with what the EXAMINER has frequently urged. But the Journal should have included girls in the injunction to teach swimming:

The circumstances under which Miss May Robertson, of Peterborough, was drowned at Toronto has called forth a good deal of harsh criticism of the "island dudes in boating flannels," who sat in their canoes and saw the young lady go down to death while her sister was rescued by Mr. Wilkes Stewart, the only man in the neighborhood who made any attempt to save them. One writer says that Mr. Stewart was the only man present—the others being "c rs" and "cowards." These reproaches ought to be directed only against those who could swim. Evidently it would only have added to the chapter of accidents if the "island dudes" who could not swim had made an attempt to save the drowning ladies. To have made such an attempt would have been quite as foolish and fatal as the action of the young ladies themselves who, according to the reports published in the newspapers, paddled their canoe into the swell made by a passing steamer so as to have a "rock" and thus tempted the misfortune which befel them. We have more faith in the courage and chivalry of young Canadians than to believe that any of them would sit by and see a young lady go down to death if it were in their power to save her.

The incident argues strongly the necessity of teaching every boy to swim. Every season furnishes many melancholy arguments of a similar nature and yet hundreds of young men go out boating, and take ladies with them, who are utterly unable to swim a stroke. There is force and reason in the law laid down last year by "Mack" in Toronto Saturday Night forbidding any man who goes out boating with a young lady from coming back alone. Any man who cannot swim may at any time be placed in the same uncomfortable position as those "island dudes" who were prevented from making an effort to save a young girl's life, not because they wanted to preserve their boating flannels, as their critics charge, but because they, as we prefer to believe, desired to preserve their own lives.

If the gentleman who lost his life on Tuesday morning at Jackson Park had been able so swim only a few strokes, a life valuable to the community, and especially to his family, would probably have been saved. The body was found in about six feet of water, and a stroke or two of swimming would have brought the unfortunate gentleman to ground upon which he might have stood. Learning to swim is very simple—it costs nothing and is something that can be taught to children four or five years old or to men or women of forty or fifty. One can't understand why swimming is so much neglected. With a cloud as big as a man's hand, we take out an umbrella, yet we will get out in frail canoes and on board other crafts, with the certainty that if, by mishaps, only too common, we are thrown into the water, we can't make the first effort to save ourselves. Yet, if we had taken the pains to learn to swim, we would be in a position to save or help save our own lives, and even, perhaps, save the lives of other persons in peril of drowning.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE average daily income of the Montreal Street Railway Company is nearly $4,000. The railway pays at the rate of ten per cent. per annum.

THE Montreal Herald remarks that the Laurier Government not only makes trade with Britain possible through its preferential tariff policy and increasingly profitable by providing improved transportation facilities, but it has now set about booming business by educating the British consumers. Canada is now doing business on the front street. It also points out how considerate it is on Sir Charles Tupper's part not to stop the progress of the Quebec Conference by proving by a series of stump speeches in a hot weather tour that the Canadian Government has not the confidence of the country. The country was not prepared for this further evidence of his devotion to the Empire and the Anglo-Saxon alliance, and will be all the more deeply impressed by it.

Dr. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE, BLOWER INCLUDED, 25c., acts magically and cures quickly. One application allays pains, clears the passage, reduces inflammation and gives comfort. Cures cold in the head, and throat afflictions which if not taken in time will lead to chronic catarrh and later consumption. It is sure, pure and harmless, easily applied.

IN MEMORIAM

Of MATTHEW O'CONNER, WHO DEPARTED THIS LIFE ON MARCH 1ST, 1898.

Weep not fond parents—dry your tears—
'Tis true your child is gone;
But now he dwells in brighter spheres
And sings the angels song.

Ah! yes, the coffin lid is closed,
The gentle form now sleeps;
Calm and quiet his sweet repose
While you re sadly weep.

We know you miss your darling boy
Who caused such joy and pride;
It seems as though you cannot yet
Imagine why he died.

But God, who doeth all things right,
Hath called dear Matthew home,
And now he dwells with angels bright
For ever round the throne.

His sweet voice hushed on earth—
Bow to thy Father's will;
Thy lovely boy so full of mirth
In heaven is lovelier still.

Then why, oh loved ones, should you weep,
Though lonely be your home?
Cannot your Heavenly Father keep
Your lov'd one till you come?

Though very sad may be your heart,
Your drooping spirits raise;
You yet will meet where none shall part
Through endless years of praise.

Brother and companions dear
Come kneel at Jesus' feet;
Ask His divine assistance
And He'll make your joy complete.

And parents, dear, He doeth well
From whom afflictions come;
Go now to Him, your troubles tell,
And say Thy will be done.

Requiscat in pace.

BETHEL.

From Our Own Correspondent.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. John Handbidge and her Sunday school class gave a missionary lawn social at her residence, Riverside, Otonabee, for the Jennie Ford Orphanage, China. Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph.B., occupied the chair, and briefly stated the circumstances leading up to this gathering. God inspired Miss Jennie Ford, a neice of Dr. Ford, of Norwood, to go to China as a missionary. The Central Board of Missions accepted her, but she was not permitted to labour long ere God called her to her reward. While in China she saw the inexpressible vice, superstition and ignorance of the people, and an orphanage was founded, the authorities naming it the Jennie Ford Orphanage. To this work of mercy many hearts are drawn. The following programme was presented; Duet, Misses Ethel and Elsie Deyell; recitation, Miss Lewella Deyell; duet, Misses Misses Howson; recitation, Miss Nettie Stewart; solo, Mrs. J. Handbidge; recitation, Miss Minnie Hamilton; solo, Miss Lottie Beer; speech, J. Kindred; solo, Miss Howson. Refreshments were afterwards served.

A HAMILTON EPISODE.

A SMALL WHEAT RALLY.

Encouraging Liverpool Cables, Wet Weather in Europe, Good Export Demand and Light Receipts the Basis.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 3.

Chicago speculative wheat market to-day showed strength, partly owing to reports of damage by wet to some European crops, other bullish factors being the good cash demand, the large export requirements and the yet comparatively light primary receipts. This month's delivery rose 1⅝c per bushel, and held the top price to the end. The September option touched 66c, but dropped back to 65⅝c, representing a gain of ⅝c for the day. The December option rose a cent and then lost half the advance.

On the Liverpool Board, September wheat to-day rose ⅜d per cental, and the December option ¾d. In Paris, this month's delivery declined 25 centimes, and the later options advanced 35 centimes.

At Toronto to-day, there were some sales of Ontario red wheat at 62c, north and west, which is the lowest price yet accepted for this year's crop. Most holders are still asking around 65c, north and west.

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash..... $5,008 00

2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for..... 3,280 00

3rd, or take the profits in cash 2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being so satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the Investment period.

THE LEGISLATURE

The Opening by Lieutenant-Governor Sir Oliver Mowat.

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Hon. F. E. A. Evanturel Re-Elected Speaker—Choice Endorsed by the Opposition Leader, Who, However, on the Balance of the Government's Program Says He Will Give Vigorous Opposition.

Toronto, Aug. 4.—At the opening of the Legislature yesterday the attack made by Mr. Whitney upon the Government when speaking to the motion to elect a Speaker came in the nature of a surprise to the majority of the visitors and to the occupants of the Government benches, who had not looked for anything more than a formal sitting, in view of the announcement made in the morning that the Opposition would not oppose Mr. Evanturel's re-election. The protest entered by the leader of the Opposition did not provoke any reply from the Government side and the anticipations of a stormy debate which the incident aroused were not fulfilled.

Precisely at 3 o'clock Sir Oliver entered, with cocked hat and goldbraided court uniform. The old knight walked with a sprightly step to the Speaker's throne, Mr. Hardy at his side, and Capt. Kirkpatrick and Lieut. Cosby preceding. The Provincial Secretary, stepping forward, declared it to be His Honor's pleasure that the House should forthwith elect a Speaker.

Sir Oliver retired, and the Attorney-General, rising, nominated for Speaker, Francis Eugene Alfred Evanturel. Mr. McKay of South Oxford seconded the nomination.

Mr. Whitney, after attacking the Administration for summoning the House at this time and under present conditions, and promising vigorous opposition thereto, concurred in the nomination of Mr. Evanturel as Speaker.

Mr. Evanturel was declared elected Speaker by the clerk of the House, and was escorted by his proposer and seconder to his throne. He returned his thanks for the honor conferred upon him.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

His Honor then read the speech from the throne, as follows:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

I have great pleasure in welcoming you to your legislative duties at this your first meeting of the Assembly since the last general election.

I have directed that the order-in-Council authorizing the issuing of a proclamation calling together the Legislative Assembly, with the report upon which the order-in-Council is based, stating the reasons for summoning you to meet at this early period of the year, shall be laid before you without delay.

His Excellency the Earl of Aberdeen has announced his intention of retiring from the exalted position of Governor-General of Canada before the expiration of the full term for which he was appointed. This announcement has evoked expressions of regret from all classes of our people, in whose well being and happiness his Excellency and the Countess of Aberdeen have, during their residence in Canada, taken so deep an interest. Their Excellencies' sympathetic participation in all philanthropic movements and benevolent enterprises, their hearty co-operation in all good work, their patriotic devotion to Canada, and their constant study of Canadian interests, will always be gratefully remembered by the people of this Province. While we regret the departure of their Excellencies, it is a source of gratification to believe that their interests in Canada will not cease with his Excellency's term of office as Governor-General.

Causes for Congratulation.

I rejoice on being able to congratulate you that the Province is being favored with another abundant harvest, and that the prices of almost all the products of the farm have been satisfactory to the agriculturist. There has been no abatement in the efforts of the Department of Agriculture to promote the welfare of the husbandman through the operations of the numerous agencies and organizations under its direction, and by the preparation and wide circulation of bulletins and reports of an instructive character. The practical and experimental work in connection with the Agricultural College continues to afford much valuable instruction and encouragement to those who can personally investigate it, as is evidenced by the constantly increasing number of farmers who continue to visit and inspect its operations, not less than thirty thousand having visited the college and farm during the month of June last. It is gratifying to learn that the work of the department in enforcing the provisions of the act of last session with respect to the spread of the San Jose scale, and in protecting the orchards of the Province from the destructive ravages of that pest, has been actively pursued, and with good results.

It is also a subject for congratulation that the trade and commerce of the Province are constantly increasing, and that agricultural, manufacturing and commercial enterprises are alike prosperous and successful. Great activity still prevails in the mining districts, and there is abundant evidence that the mineral wealth of northern Ontario is being steadily developed.

It is gratifying to record the increasing interest which is being taken in road and street improvement throughout the Province. Successful efforts to bring about reform are apparent in many districts. The fullest information appears to be desired by both urban and rural municipalities regarding this branch of public work, the importance of which cannot be overestimated, influencing so largely as it does the commercial, agricultural and social welfare of the community.

The Lumber Trade.

Owing, I believe, to the unsettled conditions of certain branches of trade in the adjoining Republic arising out of the war with Spain, and to the duty imposed by the tariff of that nation on lumber when imported, the lumber market has not been as active as in former years. I am pleased to be able to state that shipments to the British markets have greatly increased, and that satisfactory prices have been obtained.

The work of the commission appointed last year to enquire into the practicability of preserving and restoring the white pine upon lands in the Province not adapted for agricultural purposes or for settlement, and whose preliminary report with recommendations was presented last session, has been continued during the year. The final report of the commissioners is expected to be completed and ready for distribution during the session; in that case a measure, supplementary of the Forest Reserves Act of last session, may be submitted for your consideration.

Right of Certain Electors to Vote.

In view of the great number of election petitions awaiting trial, it is desirable to facilitate their disposal by the courts and to lessen the expense and labor of the trials as far as may be practicable, and so that they may, if possible, be disposed of by the time this Assembly may again meet in the early part of the coming year. To this end a bill will be submitted for your consideration making provision for the speedy determination of the question of the right of electors to vote who have been called upon or appointed by the returning officer or deputy returning officers under the Election Act to act as constables or special constables on election or polling day, or to perform other work or public duties connected with the election, and for other purposes.

Provincial Fisheries.

The long contested question between the Governments of Canada and the Provinces relating to the rights in and over Provincial fisheries has at length been finally decided by the Imperial Privy Council. Leases of fishing rights in Provincial waters and licenses and permits to fish in Provincial waters have heretofore been granted by the Department of Marine and Fisheries under the laws and regulations of the Dominion. The judgment of the Privy Council has determined that the right to fish in Provincial waters, including the waters of the great lakes and international and inter-provincial rivers, can be granted only by the Province, and that the revenues derivable therefrom are payable to the Provincial Government. The regulations as to the time and manner in which fish may be taken, the instruments of capture which may be employed, the fixing of close seasons, and some other minor matters of regulation are by the judgment declared to be subject wholly to Dominion legislation; and the Government of the Dominion is held entitled to impose a tax for revenue purposes as a condition of the right to fish. It is desirable in the public interest to make further provision for the due administration by the Province of the important rights and interests which are now definitely ascertained to belong to the Province, and for the collection of the revenue to be derived therefrom. A bill upon the subject will be submitted to you.

The proposed legislation in respect to the two last mentioned questions is among the reasons for your being called together at this somewhat unusual season of the year, and I trust that you will deem them of sufficiently pressing importance to secure your approval of the course which has been taken. It is presumed that when you have disposed of matters which are immediately urgent you will prefer postponing consideration of other and general business until the early part of the next year.

I feel assured that your deliberations will be characterized by wisdom and patriotism, and that they will conduce to the happiness and prosperity of the people.

His Honor retired and the Attorney-General gave the usual formal notices of motion.

The Main Bills Come Friday.

Other notices were: On Friday next, bill to amend the Ontario elections law, also a bill relating to the provincial fisheries. Mr. Hardy's outline of his proposed conduct of business was presented in a notice of motion. It provided that after Friday the Government business shall have precedence over all other business on each day of the session during the month of August; and that in addition to the usual session commencing at 3 p.m., there shall, during the month of August, be a meeting of the House at 11 a.m. on each day of the session, Mr. Speaker to leave the chair at 1 p.m.

Opposition Leader's Objection.

To Mr. Whitney this appeared arbitrary and exhausting physically. He did not think the Opposition wished to unduly prolong the session. It was being held in a torrid season and this should be an argument against burning the candle at both ends. He would offer no obstruction, but would insist that every opportunity be given for the full discussion of every question submitted. "If he'll only be reasonable," said he with a gesture, indicating the Attorney-General, "he'll be surprised at how nicely we shall get on. But to say that after Friday no member shall be at liberty to introduce a private bill, a thing he is sent here to do, savors more of the time of Oliver Cromwell than of Oliver Mowat." (Applause.)

Mr. Hardy Replies.

Mr. Hardy explained that he had given notice for Friday. He had given Mr. Whitney the programme in a general sense, subject, of course, to what the hon. gentlemen of the House desired. As they had no committee meetings in the morning there could be no very valid objection to a morning meeting.

The House then adjourned until 4 o'clock to-day.

Government Caucus.

Unbounded confidence in the Government and in each member of it, implicit faith in the policy of the party and its prospects, enthusiastic unanimity and a resolute determination to present to their opponents a united front and to remain at their posts in the legislative chamber as long as may be necessary to accomplish the object for which the Legislature has been summoned, were the distinguishing characteristics of the speeches delivered at the caucus of the Government supporters yesterday morning. Every man was on deck, with the exception of Mr. Craig, who, though absent in the body owing to a severe illness, conveyed to the Government and his colleagues his warmest wishes for their success, and assurances of his entire concurrence in the policy of the party. Throughout the whole proceedings not a single note of discord was sounded, and the stirring remarks of the Cabinet Ministers and their supporters were heartily cheered. The party enters upon the first session of the new Parliament with unbroken ranks, with harmony and concord prevailing, and ready to repel every assault made by their opponents. Messrs. W. A. Charlton, South Norfolk, and W. J. McKee, North Essex, were elected whips, and Messrs. Russell, East Hastings, and Douglas, East Northumberland, assistant whips.

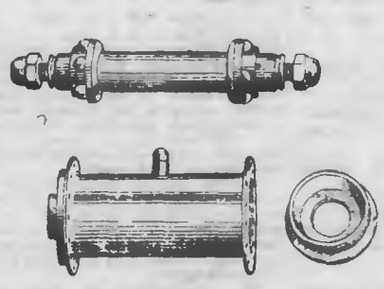
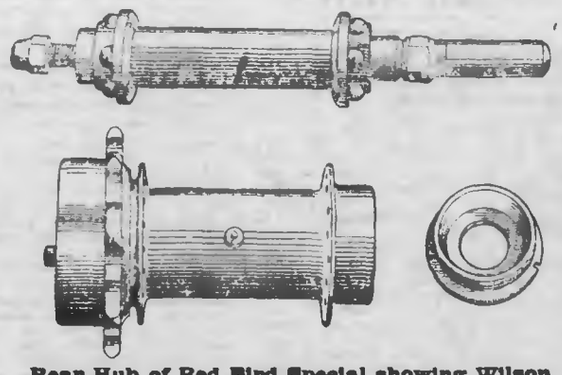
SHERRITT RODE HUBS LIKE THESE

In his races at Peterborough and Toronto, Alf. Sherritt, who defeated the fastest amateurs in the Dominion, rode a Red Bird Special with the new caged bearings that add so much to the easy running qualities of a wheel.



This is the front hub of Red Bird Special showing the new caged bearings.



Rear Hub of Red Bird Special showing Wilson automatic brake and new caged bearings.

It will be noticed that with the new caged bearings the balls are separated and never come in contact with each other. The result is an entire absence of friction and easy running qualities utterly impossible with the old style bearings. Sherritt was fortunate enough to choose a Red Bird Special, with caged bearings, for his mount, and the result was that at both Peterborough and Toronto he won just about everything for which he competed. All of which would go to prove our old contention that when anything worth winning is won the trick is generally accomplished on a Red Bird.

ESSIE THORNTON WAS KILLED ACCIDENTALLY.

SO THE CORONER'S JURY DECIDED LAST NIGHT.

The Evidence Given by the Witnesses—The Discharge of Firearms Inside the Town Limits is not Illegal.

The adjourned inquest into the death of Essie Thornton, who was shot on Saturday by Archie Seymour, on Harvey street, was resumed last evening in the council chamber.

Before the proceedings were opened Mr. R. M. Dennistoun asked permission to cross examine the witnesses in the interests of Seymour, and was allowed that privilege by Coroner Bell.

Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the inquest for the Crown.

Dr. Young resumed his testimony, stating that since the adjournment he had made an examination of the body, assisted by Dr. Clarke. His report was as appended:—

THE POST MORTEM.

Report of the undersigned on the post mortem examination of the body of Esther Thornton, held at the morgue of the Nicholls Hospital on the third day of August, 1898: Body—That of a female. Age, about 21 years. Height, about 5 ft. 6 inches; well developed. No external signs of injury, with the exception of a wound about one inch below the lobe of the right ear, apparently produced by a bullet.

On removal of the skull and the membranes, membranes of the brain were normal and healthy; the brain presented the same appearance.

Upon making a dissection from the external wound inward, tracing the course of the injury through the tissues of the neck, we found the bullet imbedded in the third cervical vertebra, having first struck and fractured the transverse process of the fourth cervical vertebra in its course. The third vertebra was splintered, some spiculæ of which being embedded in the spinal cord.

Upon opening the thorax the lungs were found to be free from disease, normal and healthy. The heart with the pericardium and endocardium was found to be normal and healthy.

Upon opening the abdominal cavity, the stomach, liver, gall, bladder, spleen, intestines, kidneys, uterus, ovaries and abdominal arteries were all found to be normal and presented a healthy appearance.

We, therefore, pronounce death to have been due to the injury done to the spinal cord by the spiculæ broken from the third cervical vetebra by the bullet.

T. W. H. YOUNG, M. D.
J. CLARKE, M. D.

THE BULLET

was produced as taken from the vertabra of the deceased.

Mr. Dennistoun, on behalf of his client, asked the witness where he was when called to attend the case.

Dr. Young stated that he was at his residence and was summoned by a small boy whom he did not know. A man named Fleming was there when he arrived, also several women. He was there a quarter of an hour before any other doctor arrived. Dr. Brown and Dr. Clarke came afterwards. Some boys were there. He did not know if the lad Seymour was there. This was at about seven in the evening. The girl was lying about six feet from the west fence, which was about six feet high and of close boards. He found a hole in the fence, apparently made by a bullet. It was about eight or ten inches from the top of the fence. He was told that a boy had been shooting in the next yard. One person could not see another in the other yard without standing on an elevation. An ordinary small boy standing, say, fifty feet from the fence, could not see Miss Thornton in the next yard. He had noticed an object hanging on the clothes line, which had been pointed out as the mark at which the boy had been firing. To his knowledge he had not seen the boy Seymour. The girl had cried out several times that she was shot. The general impression at the time was that the shooting was purely accidental. He had never seen a smaller bullet.

To Mr. Winch, foreman of the jury, Dr. Young stated that he understood the boy was sitting on the steps of the kitchen when shooting, but even if standing up he could not have seen the girl. The steps were about fifty feet from the fence.

To Mr. Wood witness stated that the bullet hole in the fence was not in a line with the girl and the steps in the position in which she lay. Possibly she had gone a few steps before falling. The hole in the fence corresponded in height with the hole in the girl's neck, if she was standing.

DR. CLARKE,

sworn, testified that he had assisted Dr. Young in making post mortem examination. He agreed with the report presented as to the cause of death.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness, said that a messenger had come for him stating that a girl had been shot on Harvey street, that Dr. Young was there and wanted assistance. The patient was then lying on a couch in the house. He had made an examination of the yard. A person standing in the next yard could not possibly see into that of the Thorntons. The fence was too high. He had seen the can referred to hanging on the clothes line. The bullet hole in the fence was about half way down. He corroborated the evidence given by Dr. Young in other particulars. The bullet was from a 22 calibre rifle and would only be used for killing sparrows or very small game.

To Mr. Wood, the witness stated that he had heard of of another death caused by shooting, in the country. He was not the attending physician. Seymour's mother had shown him the rifle used. A bullet from it would go through a two inch plank of pine. It was a dangerous weapon to shoot with in town and the practice should be prohibited.

John Seymour, brother of the lad who fired the fatal shot, stated that at the time of the shooting his mother, his brother Archie, aged 16, and himself were at home. He was sitting on the kitchen doorstep with his brother. His mother was in the dining room. Archie fired at the can from the steps. The can was hanging from the clothes line. He heard a scream from Mrs. Thornton's yard. Both boys climbed over the board fence. Essie Thornton was LYING ON THE GROUND.

Blood was coming out of her neck. Another girl was with her. He was there until she was carried into the house. Archie had run for the doctor as soon as he saw her. Witness saw the bullet hole in the fence. The scream came from that direction. The rifle had not been used before.

To Mr. Dennistoun, witness stated that the distance from the steps to the fence was 17 paces. His uncle, George Brown, had paced it off. At the time of the shooting he could see no one in Thornton's yard. They had shot there with an air gun before. The bullets from this would not go through the fence.

Archie Seymour was called, but as Mr. Dennistoun asked that his evidence be not taken, the County Crown Attorney did not insist.

Miss Nellie Laird, sworn, stated, that she was with Miss Thornton in the yard shortly after seven o'clock in the evening. While they were together witness heard a shot fired and saw the deceased fall and scream out. Witness could see that the deceased had been shot in the neck. Miss Thornton said she was dying, and asked that someone be sent for a doctor. Mr. Fletcher and Gordon Thornton came out of the house when witness called. The Seymour boys came over the fence immediately after the shot was fired.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness stated that there was ONLY ONE SHOT FIRED.

Archie Seymour had gone for a doctor. Gordon Thornton and Mr. Fletcher also went for doctors. Witness could not see the boys in the other yard on account of the high fence. It was quite possible for a person sitting on the Seymour steps not to hear witness and Miss Thornton talking. Witness had no reason to believe that the boys thought she and Miss Thornton were out in the yard.

Coroner Bell in addressing the jury stated that the only question before them was whether the death of Miss Thornton was accidental or not—whether there had been culpable negligence apparent, such as would warrant their returning a verdict of manslaughter.

After deliberating for about half an hour, the jury returned the appended verdict:

"That Esther Alma Thornton came to her death on Aug. 2nd, 1898, in the Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, as the result of a shot fired from a rifle in the hands of Archibald Seymour, on Saturday, July 30th, 1898, and that said shooting was accidental.

"We would suggest that recommendations be made in the proper quarters, looking to a prohibitory law being passed re the discharge of firearms in town, as we understand the discharge of such is not at present illegal."

THE TECUMSEHS ARE COMING.

Arrangements Made to Bring This Crack Toronto Lacrosse Team to Town on Monday.

Everyone will remember the splendid game of lacrosse which resulted when the Toronto Tecumsehs came to town last year and played the Peterboroughs and therefore the Executive takes pleasure in announcing that this team will again play here on Monday afternoon next.

As the Tecumsehs won from the Torontos, last year, it was no disgrace for the Peterboroughs to fall down before them, but the local team is in such good shape, this year, that it is confidently expected the Tecumsehs will have to take a defeat in Peterborough on Monday.

In order to accommodate the public the game will not begin until four o'clock, which will give the business men an opportunity of getting over to see the match, which will be of two hours' duration.

As the Peterboroughs are put to great expense in bringing the Tecumsehs to town a big attendance should reward this effort to cater to the wishes of the citizens, so many of whom have expressed a desire to see the local boys try conclusions with the famous Tecumsehs again.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 4, 1898.

THE LESSON OF THE LATE SHOOTING.

Last night's inquest brought out prominently the existence of the fact that there is no legal protection against loss of life and other mishaps, by the use of firearms within the corporation. There is a bylaw, it is true, forbidding the discharge of firearms within the limits of the corporation, but it is useless, inasmuch as the penalties it prescribes are so severe as to be beyond the powers of the local authorities to enforce. Therefore, it is practically a dead letter. The evidence at the inquest directly connects the lad Seymour with the shooting, though it is also evident that he was not, in any sense, guilty of any intent in the matter. All the same the point is brought out that the careless use of a popularly supposed harmless weapon was directly responsible for the unfortunate death of Miss Thornton; and it is very sad to reflect that a young woman in perfect health of body, as the post mortem examination disclosed, should in the full flush of healthy womanhood have her promising life brought to so sudden and tragic a close.

The lesson to be most deeply impressed is that the weapon, popularly called a pea rifle, and thought a mere toy is, on the contrary, one of a very deadly and formidable character. From its name it might be—and we believe is—supposed that it is something like a toy and that its use can not be attended with any danger of serious results. The idea is general that these cheap rifles are not dangerous, but the improvements in manufacture, and the concentrated deadliness of modern ammunition, invests the bullets discharged from them, with a great penetrative force. The rifle used by the lad, Seymour, is a Flaubert, and it carries a 22-calibre bullet with sufficient force to penetrate, as Dr. Clarke testified at the inquest, a two inch plank of pine. The bullet that caused the death of Miss Thornton was evidently equal to such a performance, if not a greater. At a distance of 50 feet it passed through an inch board, and travelling six feet further, pierced the tissues and penetrated the spinal column, consisting of dense bony tissue, a resistance equivalent to another inch of timber.

It is desirable to impress the deadly capabilities of these apparently harmless pea rifles, and it is likely that the proposed charging of the cartridges with cordite or smokeless powder, will make them even more deadly. The bullets of the Lee-Enfield rifle, with which the 57th Battalion was armed recently, are not very much larger than those of the "pea" rifle in question; yet, with a charge of 64 fibres of cordite, they will kill a man at a distance of two miles. So that if cordite is used as the explosive in the cartridge of the Flaubert rifle or "pea" rifle, its deadly range will be greatly increased.

Another point to be insisted upon is that the authorities take immediate action to pass a bylaw that will be capable of enforcement, to prevent the use of these rifles and other firearms within the town limits. In Birmingham, England, where these rifles are manufactured, the prevalence of accident from their use in the city, has lead to stringent regulations against the practice. There is altogether too common and indiscriminate use of firearms in town. In the spring on the outskirts, idle men and boys armed with shot guns and rifles are peppering away at birds, and at the same time breaking the law against the destruction of insectivous birds and endangering life, for a gun fired at an angle into a tree will carry its charge a long distance and the shot may fall with fatal effect upon persons on adjacent premises. A good tight bylaw should be passed to prevent the dangerous practice of discharging firearms anywhere within the town limits. And the law will have to be very stringently drawn and should invest the servants of the law and citizens generally with large powers; for these same pea-rifles make a very light report and can be used without persons in even the near vicinity recognizing what may be going on. It will, therefore, be necessary to provide for the exercise of general vigilance in the effort to prevent a practice that may at any moment lay low in death some of our citizens.

The authorities have been urged to pass a workable bylaw for the purpose mentioned, and now that a most lamentable death has taken place in, if not through the absence of a proper bylaw, it is to be desired that no time will be lost in adding such an enactment to the town bylaws.

THE LAST OBSEQUIES.

The Remains of the Late Mr. Fred Foot Interred in the Little Lake Cemetery.

The funeral of the late Frederick Foot took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, McDonel street, and was very largely attended.

The different orders to which the deceased belonged turned out well. The members of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England lead the procession, each carrying a bouquet of flowers. They were followed by the members of Court Peterborough, Canadian Order of Foresters and Peter Lodge, Independent Order of Oddfellows, all of whom wore sprigs of evergreen on the lapels of their coats. As the procession passed down George street all places of business were closed and the blinds lowered.

The service at the house was performed by Rev. J.C. Davidson and that at the grave was taken in charge by the Oddfellows.

A singular co-incidence in the death of Mr. Foot was that of Mr. Sabine, who was drowned a few weeks ago, was initiated into Court Peterborough, C.O.F., on the same evening as Mr. Foot, in May 1879.

OVER $41,000 PAID IN.

To Tax Collector Denne on Saturday and Monday Last.

Tax Collector Denne took in about $15,000 at his office on Saturday, and on Monday $16,000 more passed over the counter. The season for the rush was that three per cent is to be added on to this year to the half year's taxes which were unpaid by August 1st. Of course various sums have been paid in during the last few weeks but the big rush came on Saturday and Monday. The total amount to be collected was $74 592 37, so that it will be seen over half has been paid in. The portion of the bylaw governing the new mode of collecting the taxes reads as follows:

"All statute labour and dog taxes are due on August 1st, 1898. One-half of all other taxes is due on August 1st, 1898, and the other half on Nov. 15th, 1898. If the first half be not promptly paid when due, the second half shall forthwith become due and payable. Upon prompt payment of one or both of said instalments on August 1st, 1898, a discount of 2 per cent. will be allowed on the amount so paid. Three per cent. will be added to the first instalment if not paid on August 1st, 1898, and five per cent, including the percentage already added, if any will be added to all taxes unpaid after Nov. 15th, 1898."

A LETTER FROM SANTIAGO DE CUBA.

A Peterborough Boy at the Front Writes Home.

HE IS WITH SHAFTER'S ARMY.

An Interesting Communication From Mr. James K. Hunter, Formerly of Otonabee—He will Soon be Home Again—His Experiences.

Mrs. William Hunter, of Ashburnham, has just received the appended interesting letter from her son, who, as will be seen, is at the front with the American army.

Santiago de Cuba, July 15th, 1898.

Mrs. Wm. Hunter:

DEAR MOTHER,—I take the first opportunity to write you since my arrival in Cuba, I will now give you a slight description of our journey and war experience. We are now in a place where the natives have been butchered like animals by the Spaniards. We first received orders on June 21st that our regiment was to leave Camp Alger, but the destination could not be found out. On June 22nd we broke camp, proceeded to Dame Loring, and from there we went by railroad to Alexandria, Va., where we were quickly loaded on the boat (City of Washington), arriving in Fortress Montroe early the next forenoon. Spending most of the day at the fort viewing the beautiful sights, at 4 o'clock we went on board the Yale, formerly called "City of Paris," and at that point we began to find out our destination, which was to reinforce General Shafter's army of invasion in Cuba. After 5 days and 5 nights sailing we

ARRIVED NEAR SANTIAGO,

where Sampson's blockading fleet was watching the enemy. By noon Monday we landed at a small town called Siboney, formerly occupied by the Spaniards. Not more than three days before our landing a few shells from Sampson's fleet soon routed them from their blockhouses and rifle pits, driving them back nearer to Santiago, which is about 14 miles from Siboney. We found the heat quite severe, but now we are getting more accustomed to the climate. As soon as we landed the natives began to flock in from the hills partly clothed and wearing a very hungry look. Most of them were without shoes, some more fortunate ones with one shoe. Very few of them can speak our language. They treated us very kindly, gathering cocoanuts and mangroves, which are very plentiful and appear to be the principal food they have had to live on the past few years. We pitched our tent in a cocoanut grove, but were compelled to move to higher ground owing to the heavy rains we have had since our arrival. Things passed along very nicely for the first four days, but on July 1st, at three o'clock in the morning, we were hustled out of camp, it being the decided day to ATTACK SANTIAGO DE CUBA.

We had about 23,000 men and the Spaniards about 40,000. The battle raged for three days under heavy fire, it being a strongly fortified place. The Spaniards had every advantage over us. The climate being so warm, it was hard for American soldiers to stand. All around Santiago are large mountains. And the Spaniards had built block houses and rifle pits. Nevertheless when we started nothing stopped us. Not till we had captured their rifle pits and 4000 prisoners were they willing to surrender the city of Santiago de Cuba. We lost between four and five hundred killed, and 1700 wounded. The most disagreeable part we have to contend with is the heat and the heavy rains. Our clothes and blankets are never dry for two and three days at a time. I do not anticipate much more fighting. As soon as we are released I intend coming home. Our regiment has been guarding the prisoners ever since the battle. We may soon be sent back to United States for we have more troops here than are necessary. I will conclude for the present. Remember me to all enquiring friends.

Your sincere son,
SERGEANT JAS. K. HUNTER,
Co. E.—33 Michigan Regiment,
Santiago de Cuba,
General Shafter's Army.

[Accompanying the original letter, which was evidently written under circumstances disclosing a great scarcity of stationery—upon blank scraps of printing paper interlaced with Spanish printed matter, was a sample of a Cuban dollar bill. This bill is a little smaller than the Canadian 25 cent bill. It is of good paper, rather stiffer and thicker than the Canadian bill, handsomely engraved. The face of the bill contains on the regulation scroll work the words in Spanish—"El Banco Espanol de la Isla de Cuba, a la presentacion de este billete, pagara al portador, 1 peso," which being translated is: "The Spanish Bank of the Island of Cuba will, on the presentation of this bill, pay the bearer one dollar." The obverse of the bill has a medallion portrait of the unfortunate Queen Regent of Spain. The "peso" is a Cuban denomination of currency containing 100 centavos, and is the Cuban dollar of the par value of 96 6 cents of Canadian currency. This little bill is a decided curiosity and in case of the passing away of Cuba as a distinct autonomy, will pass out of use and become a relic. This very bill may have a history. One cannot know that it may not have been on the person or in the possession of a yellow fever patient. It has been pretty well fumigated and may now be considered to be innocuous.]—ED. EXAMINER.

MORE POPULAR DISAPPROVAL.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—The town council, or at least one-half of them, have recently exhibited a most extraordinary spirit of opposition to the will of the people who were asked to signify their opinion as to a change in municipal government.

If the people have been misled as to the meaning of the change proposed, or have not sufficiently considered its future effect, then the least we could expect would be a full and free discussion of the subject and an explanation of the cause of the council's opposition to it, which have not been offered.

Is it that those who opposed the By-law in council are afraid of the general vote of the people as against their ward friends? Or have we reached that stage of old "fogyism" when our representatives are afraid to step out of the rats they have blundered along in for years? If these are not the true reasons for their peculiar action, let the opponents in the council come forward and state their cause in a manly way, otherwise we will have to be satisfied with our own conclusions.

The ratepayers have carefully preserved the names of the councillors on each side of the question for future reference and the result will surely be felt on the first Monday of January.

Yours,
PETERBOROUGH.

August 4th, 1898.

OUR TOWN COUNCIL.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—There are too many "Fresh Alicks" in our town council. It strikes me that the whole outfit has not enough brains for one half the number. It is common talk around town that we get less for our taxes than any other town in Canada—that is any town that makes a boast of there being little or no debt.

The only reason given by the "noble six" who refused to abide by the vote of the people, after asking them to vote and give expression to their ideas of the new plan of electing councillors—the only reason, I say, is that the number who voted was small in comparison to the number qualified. That is a good reason—a valid one—one worthy of all acceptation. They are real Daniels come to judgment! The same reasoning holds good with the other bylaw which was voted on at the same time, as the one in question. The six sapient councillors skipped out by the early morning train for Hamilton (at our expense) to view a roller and a crusher, the purchasing of which was authorized by about the same vote, of the same people and at the same time. "Consistency thou art a jewel."

We expect developments in connection with the enterprise in a short time that will convince every person.

LACROSSE.

The Peterboroughs leave for Beaverton on the 8.05 train in the morning to play the return match in the championship series. The same team will go as played against Beaverton here on July 29th, viz., Goal, Dobbin; point, Lynch; cover point, Brown; 1st defence, Glover; 2nd defence, Mein; 3rd defence, Jim McCabe; centre, King; 3rd home, Hogarth; 2nd home, Jack McCabe; 1st home, Phelan; outside home, Lipsett; inside home, Mooney; field captain, Bert Dolan.

The Markham's are evidently as strong as ever this year, as yesterday they won from the fast Newmarket Bradford aggregation by 7 goals to 1. The latter team turned down the Orillias earlier in the season in an exhibition game. Dr. Heggie, of Brampton, refereed the match in a most satisfactory manner.

The Orillia Packet says: Jack Curran is expected to reach home to-day. A certificate has been procured for him, and he will play lacrosse, strengthening the already strong team with which Orillia will battle for the championship.

Winnepeg, Aug. 2—The Victoria Lacrosse Club of this city, is in receipt of a communication from E. Herbert Lennox, president of the Canadian Lacrosse Club, relative to a visit late in the present month of a picked team of Ontario lacrosse players to Winnipeg, Rat Portage, Brandon and other Western Canada lacrosse centres. The idea is being favourably received here, and in consequence of the unprecedented boom the game is enjoying here in the west this season, the tour should prove a financial success. The local clubs will jointly consider Mr. Lennox's proposition at an early date. The Fort William club won their protest over Port Arthur, and are now practical champions of the Thunder Bay district.

The Globe says: Mooney, the fast inside home man of last year's Young Capitals, is playing a star game for the Peterboroughs in that position this season.

The Mail and Empire contains the following item of interest to-day: The Peterboroughs have greatly strengthened their team since defeated by Brampton. The suspensions of Dobbin, Rubidge and Phelan have been lifted, and Mooney, of last year's Young Capitals, has been secured, as well as Hogarth, who was the heavy man on the Metropolitans' home field in '96. Peterborough now leads in the Northeastern district.

JUST LIKE TORONTO.

Toronto sporting circles have an unenviable reputation for bad faith—breach of engagements. For years it has been the practice of nearly all athletic organizations having their place in Toronto, to disappoint Peterborough clubs. The only exception perhaps has been lacrosse, and in this compensation was made for breach of faith by sending down a rickety aggregation of muffs that the local team could easily smithereenize. This, however, has been improved within the past few years. In Rugby and Cricket the chief outrages have been perpetrated, and cricket is a present shining example. This morning Mr. E. M. Poussette, secretary of the local Cricket Club, received a letter from Mr. Petman, of the Toronto-Rosedale Cricket Club, stating that that club would not keep the engagement to play here on August 8th. This is the second time the match has been postponed, the first date having been June 30th. And this after the Toronto-Rosedale Club had issued a printed card containing a list of fixture, in which the Peterborough match was duly scheduled. The excuse given seems to be frivolous. In the absence of the secretary the assistant secretary arranged the schedule of matches, and he, after having arranged the schedule, now has the assurance to state that he had "arranged another match for that day." This does not, however, seem to be any excuse. The club has a numerous membership and they could, as they have done already during the season, play two matches on one day, if they were honourably desirous of keeping faith with Peterborough. In any event, after once disappointing Peterborough, the match arranged with the other club on our date should be cancelled. Cricket is regarded as, par excellence, the game associated with gentlemen, and the gentlemanly trait of keeping an engagement should not be ignored. The Toronto club owes Peterborough a match anyway, but even that fact did not prevent the extraordinary course of cancelling two dates in succession.

A BRAVE STRONG HEART.

Talks That are True.

Mrs. S. F. Bull, St. Lawrence street, Madoc, Ont., is enthusiastic in her praise of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. She writes as follows:

"Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are a splendid pill. When I began taking them I was in a terrible nervous condition and physically very weak. My heart was very weak, beating unnaturally and spasmodically causing me great suffering and sleepless nights. I felt so ill and weak all the time that I could hardly do light house work. After taking three boxes of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills I feel like a different woman. My nerves are strong. Physical weakness has been replaced by strength. My heart is strong and healthy, so that it is able to fulfil its functions and beats naturally. In consequence I sleep and rest well. If I had not experienced this great change from extreme physical and nervous weakness to perfect strength of body and nerves I would not have believed such a quick and radical cure possible. I cannot say too much in favour of this great medicine. They do everything that they claim to do and more. In my opinion they have no equal as a cure for nerve and heart trouble, weakness and general debility."—Signed, MRS. S. F. BULL, St. Lawrence street, Madoc, Ont.

A BAD INVESTMENT MADE GOOD.

I have half a gross of empty bottles upon my shelves. Everything my neighbors and friends would tell me to try I would go straight away to the drug store and purchase. I was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia and liver troubles and was getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged buying one medicine and the other and receiving no benefit that I was about giving up all hope of ever getting better, when my husband brought me home a box of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, which he said had been highly recommended to him. I began using them at once, when, to my great surprise, I felt better in a very short time and continued them for about two weeks more which cured me entirely. I have not the least sign of dyspepsia or liver troubles now, and have also gained several pounds in weight.

BLANCO THE GREAT.

Bagasta (Log.)—
Another day has flown, and still no rest.
From east and west rumor with trumpet tongue
Assails the ear with tales of victory,
But I, who know too little and too much,
Too well can weigh this solace of the wind.
Day by day more like to him I seem who holds
The grim wolf by the ears, or who, with desperate grasp,
Maintains upon the caudal of the bear precarious tenure—
Destruction to hold on; equal destruction to let go. Alas!

(Enter the shade of Blanco, riding on the ghost of the Matanzas mule.)

Blanco (cheerfully)—
Illustrious chief! What shade of care darkens that brow so wont to beam?
What's up?

Bag.—
Nothing is up. All's down.

Blanco—
How so? Are we not winning merrily? Have I not proved the pen is mightier than the sword?
Pass me you weapon, and at the word
Our foes shall perish. 'Tis but the spilling of a drop of ink,
And lo, stark on the field a thousand Yanks lie cold!
Another drop. Behold, their boasted guns and blasted gunners,
Where are they now? Ask of the winds, etc.

Bag.—
Thou tiest me with thy folly. This will not go.
We've worked that line to death. Can you suggest naught better?

Blanco—
Better! Is it naught
To mount the pedestal of fame and stand
With Ananias and Munchausen? Both men of note, as I am.
While you sit moping here mark how I rise superior to fate and facts.
Observe my Pegasus, whose pendent ears
Betray his generous blood. On him I soar victorious.
Let cannon roar! Send on the troops!
Hammer our ships to pieces, blow our forts
To kingdom come. I am unconquered still, and in the murk
And general eclipse but shine more brightly.
Thus from despair do I extract a jest,
And from destruction gain such fun as may be.
Do thou but follow—
But hark! What sound is that? Another fort gone skyward? I must hence and write it up.
Farewell!

(Blanco and mule disappear.)

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes and a sallow complexion will defy the best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

THE BOUNTY JUMPER

HE PLAYED A PAYING GAME DURING THE CIVIL WAR.

The Richest Harvests Were Reaped in the Closing Days of the Conflict—Boston's Exciting Experience With a Gang of New Hampshire Recruits.

When the civil war broke out and the call in the north went forth for volunteers, no bounties were paid, and nearly 1,000,000 men volunteered with no more pecuniary inducement than the regular army pay. After a time, however, volunteering languished, and to stimulate enlistments bounties were offered by the nation, the state and the cities and towns. This not bringing forward recruits in sufficient numbers, the draft was resorted to. Drafted men were paid smaller bounties or none at all, and this fact sent into the service as volunteers many who were liable to conscription.

Men who were drafted often, when able, procured substitutes, paying at first $100, then $200, then $300, and finally, as available substitutes grew scarce, much larger amounts. Many cities and towns obtained the recruits needed to fill their quotas under the various calls for troops by enlistments in other localities, as men who were willing to enlist wanted to be credited to the places that would give them the most money. The procuring of men to serve as substitutes and to make up deficient quotas grew into a business of itself, and a very profitable one at that. "Substitute brokers" quickly appeared in great numbers all over the north, and they made enormous profits by agreeing to fill quotas at so much per recruit, providing men whom they had induced to enlist on the payment of amounts much smaller than those offered by the towns.

One of the results of the payment of big bounties was the coming into existence of a class known as "bounty jumpers." The various bounties and gratuities toward the end of the war rarely aggregated less than $1,000 per recruit, and a great many hard characters took advantage of this national, state and municipal liberality by enlisting, getting the money and deserting at the first opportunity. It is on record that some of these men "jumped" their bounties as many as 20 times, each time clearing from $1,000 upward. Generally the desertions were effected at the state camps, where recruits were herded until called to the front. Sometimes, however, the bounty jumpers did not get away until they had been sent to regiments in the field. Unusually the deserters left singly, as opportunities arose, but once in awhile many would make a simultaneous break.

An instance of the last mentioned sort occurred in Boston, which created a sensation at the time. On Aug. 21, 1864, 450 recruits for the First New Hampshire cavalry, under command of Major Cummings and guarded by a company of the Veteran Reserve corps, arrived in this city by special train from Concord. They had all been paid their big bounties the day before and were to sail from this port for Washington on the United States transport steamer Constitution. Arriving in the old Boston and Maine station at 11 o'clock in the morning, they were taken under convoy by a detachment of troops from the Beach Street barracks and a detail of police and started on their march to Battery wharf, where the Constitution lay waiting to receive them.

A great crowd, which, as The Herald of the next day averred, "consisted mainly of the lowest characters from north end," gathered around the detachment as soon as it left the station, and immediately it got into Haymarket square scores of the recruits threw away their knapsacks, blankets, coats, caps and canteens and started on the run in every direction, their escape being covered by the toughs, who surrounded the guards and prevented them from firing on the deserters. The police pursued and caught a number of the fleeing men, whom they brought back to the officer in command, but about 35 succeeded in getting away.

The remainder were marched down Blackstone to Commercial street and thence to the wharf, but on the way still more of them escaped from the ranks, while others flung away their clothing and equipments, until the pavement along the route of march was fairly carpeted. Many hurled their canteens at the officers, and one lieutenant was struck over the head with a beer bottle and knocked senseless. At the wharf two men broke away and jumped overboard, and the guard fired at them, wounding one so badly that he was easily captured and killing the other, who immediately sank. It is hardly necessary to add that the steamer did not linger at the wharf after her unruly passengers were aboard.

In the course of the afternoon ten of the deserters were arrested by the police. One was discovered to be an escaped convict who had been confined in the state prison at Charlestown for the murder of his mother. The others were all "tough citizens," with long records of crime and well known to the police in this and other cities. Five were found in the cellar of a liquor dealer on Hanover street, near the First station house, and a number of persons were arrested for secreting them.

Most of the deserters were never captured and got away to enlist again and jump more bounties.—Boston Herald.

THE LOVERS OF THE SEA.

Twain are the lovers of the sea
And hard the burden of their life
Who wage for that which may not be
Wars unproclaimed and secret strife,
While the gold wanton feeds their hate
And triumphs in their sad estate.

Sometimes about the earth she flings
Her foam white arms and clips his waist,
And with low, purling laughter sings
Her love song to him so enlaced.
Sometimes she casts one lazy kiss
To heaven that stoops and smiles for this.

And presently in wilder mood
She leaps to meet the lowering skies,
With sparkling lips to taste love's food
Full tenderly from starry eyes.
Then frets and sighs to be caressed
Awhile upon earth's envious breast.

Yet fears she wholly to declare
For one or other of these twain,
Lest the love, destined to despair,
Forget its worship in its pain.
Lest the high heaven should crack and fall
Or earth divide and swallow all.

A Perfumed Darling.

Among the customers of a Columbia avenue drug store a few evenings ago was a young colored man attired in a very flashy suit and with the air of a "real hot sport, suh." He asked for 10 cents' worth of perfumery, and the druggist, sizing up his taste properly, poured out an ounce or two of the loudest smelling cologne in the store. In the meantime the young "blood" stood in front of a mirror admiring his own shape. He confided to the druggist that he was going to see his best girl.

"Yo needn' wrap up de bottle, mistah," he said. "I wish yo' would po' his ovah me."

"What! Pour it all on your clothes, do you mean?" asked the astonished druggist.

"Dat's jes' w'at I mean, suh. I done want to smell good fo' once in mah life." After complying with the queer request the druggist sold him another 10 cents' worth for his girl.—Philadelphia Record.

All's Not Well.

Dr. Field, who was the examining surgeon for the naval reserves while the recruiting was being done in New Orleans, has many a good story to tell of recruits in the service. A good one he tells is of a German who was walking his post and calling the hours, as is required. He called, "Seven bells, and all's vell." The next call, however, was a variation. It was: "Eight bells, and all is not vell. I haf droppit my musket oferboard."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

Life.

Like the flame on the forge that looked fireless and dark
Ere the bellows-draft quickened the smouldering spark—
So life is a spark; and life is a fire;
And life is a flame rising higher and higher
Over free breath of nature ere hope dies in men,
And the fast-fading embers will waken again.

Thousands of people die of wasting weakening diseases every year who by all rules of nature and reason ought to be restored to health and strength. The medicines they receive from the average doctor according to regulation, stereotyped practice are mere temporary palliatives; they do not reach down deep into the vital organism where the spark of life lies dormant waiting to be awakened.

In numberless cases where every other remedy absolutely fails Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery breathes its strong vitalizing power upon the slumbering forces of life and wakens them into active energy. It quickens the digestive and blood-making glands and empowers them to supply fresh rich nourishment to all the organs and tissues; imbues the heart and lungs with vitality; destroying and excreting naturally from the system the bile-poisoned dregs which lurk in the circulation, thus building up new constitutional vigor and activity.

"I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs and chest, and I suffered intensely," writes Mr. Harrison Smith, of Capecreek, Ky. "I tried several of our best physicians, and they gave up all hope of my recovery: they said I had consumption and could not live more than a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and am sound and well today. I feel better than I have in ten years."

AN ISOLATED RACE.

The Ainos of Japan, Who Had Never Seen a Foreigner.

Mrs. Mabel Loomis Todd writes for The Century from personal observation an article entitled "In Aino Land." Mrs. Todd says:

In the summer of 1896, as a lay member of the Amherst college expedition which visitd northern Japan to view the total eclipse of the sun, I had the rare opportunity of seeing the absolutely primitive "hairy Aino" of that region.

In the southern portion of the island, near Hakodate and Sapporo and about Volcano bay, travelers have visited these shy and silent people. But several hundred miles north are many Ainos who until the summer of 1896 were strangers to the members of any race but their own or the few Japanese who are establishing small fishing villages along the coast. The dwellers in the province of Kitami are too distant to be sought by visitors, and a foreign woman, the Japanese officials informed me, had never before reached Kitami.

Skirting the rough western coast by steamer and rounding Cape Soya, the eclipse party located at Esashi, which must not be confused with another town of the same name near Hakodate. The news of the arrival of strange white foreigners spread quickly among the neighboring villages. Walking with stately tread, bushy haired and bearded groups of Ainos often passed the expedition headquarters, apparently looking; for nothing unusual and giving no evidence of curiosity, yet never failing to see every foreign figure within their range. Humbly accompanying their lords, women and children frequently followed, far less imposing than the men. Somewhat larger and apparently stronger than the Japanese although not taller, the older men are actually patriarchal, with long beards and masses of thick hair parted in the middle Many faces have a benign and lofty expression.

Driven gradually through ages from the south of Hokkaido, the Ainos are among the few races yet retaining in this overcivilized world of ours an utterly unspoiled simplicity. Their origin has never been satisfactorily traced, but they were certainly in Japan long before the present race of Japanese had arrived, and names clearly originating in the Aino tongue are still retained all over the empire. Gentle and subservient to the conquering race, it is evident that they formerly held more egotistic views than now, even fancying themselves the center of the universe, as is shown perhaps by an old national song:

Gods of the sea, open your eyes divine.
Wherever your eyes turn, there echos the sound of the Aino speech.

A Breakfast He Didn't Eat.

There is a woman who keeps a hotel and restaurant down town. She is good as good can be and prominent in righteous works. Last Sunday morning a man I know went into her cafe and ordered breakfast. It was a little late, and he was hungry. His breakfast order included several extras. Before a single dish had been placed before him the proprietress walked up to his table and said in a voice that was distinctly audible to everybody in the room:

"Would you please pay me now?"

The man looked up in surprise.

"Why, I don't owe you anything yet,' he said.

"But I want you to pay me now," persisted the landlady. "You're the only one here who isn't a regular boarder. I don't know you, and I want to go to church, so please pay me now."

The stranger rose in wrath.

"Madam," said he, "I wouldn't for worlds keep you from going to church. Here is the money, and you may keep the breakfast."

And breakfastless, but filled with a rage that made him forget his hunger, the stranger stalked out.—Washington Post.

Russia's Priceless Jewels.

"A whole guidebook devoted simply to the Hermitage could give no sort of idea of the barbaric splendor of its belongings," writes Lilian Bell of the famous St. Petersburg museum in The Ladies' Home Journal. "Its riches are beyond belief. Even the presents given by the emir of Bokhara to the czar are splendid enough to dazzle one like a realization of the 'Arabian Nights,' but to see the most valuable of all, which are kept in the emperor's private vaults, is to be reduced to a state of bewilderment bordering on idiocy. It is astonishing enough to one who has bought even one Russian belt set with turquoise enamel to think of all the trappings of a horse—bit, bridle, saddle girth, saddle cloth and all—made of cloth of gold and set in solid turquoise enamel, with the sword hilt, scabbard, belts and pistol handle and holster made of the same. Well, these are there by the roomful. Then you come to the private jewels and you see all these same accouterments made of precious stones—one of solid diamonds, another of diamonds, emeralds, topazes and rubies."

An Evasive Answer.

"John," said a clergyman to his factotum, "I shall be very busy this afternoon, and if any one calls I do not wish to be disturbed."

"All right, sir. Will I tell them you're not in?"

"No, John. That would be a lie."

"An what'll I say, yer reverence?"

"Oh, just put them off with an evasive answer."

At supper time John was asked if any one had called.

"Yes, there did," he said.

"And what did you tell him?" asked the clergyman.

"I gave him an evasive answer."

"How was that?" queried his reverence.

"He asked me was yer reverence in, an I sez to him, sez I, 'Was your grandmother a hoot owl?' "—London Answers.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER.

Kidney Disease Man's Deadliest Foe
Dodd's Kidney Pills Its Only Cure.

Toronto, July 18.—"Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease," was the assertion of a prominent Toronto physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death-rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former heights.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used, in every case of Kidney Disease, there would be no deaths from it.

A Sad but Glorious Day.

"Victory!" cried the Spanish minister. "Write out a proclamation at once authorizing our people to celebrate!"

"Why, your excellency, what has happened? Have your forces fallen upon the Yankee pigs and compelled them to cry for quarter?"

"No, but one of our battleships has just been scuttled and sunk before the cowardly swine could gain possession of it."—Chicago News.

Appalling.

"Don't you know," said the politician, "that some of those islands in the Pacific ocean are the work of coral insects?"

"What has that to do with our taking possession of them?"

"My friend, you are wholly deficient in the foresight that makes a statesman. Supposing some ships with a cargo of insect powder was to founder in the neighborhood?"—Washington Star.

Self Confession.

She had been arrested for shoplifting.

"Do you wish to make any statement before sentence is passed upon you?" asked the judge.

"I have nothing to say," was the response.

Those few words were her undoing. Every one knew then that the prisoner was a man masquerading as a woman.—Yonkers Statesman.

Innocent.

Angry Guest—Say, you, there was a pair of kid gloves in one of the pockets of this coat when I hung it up on that hook. They're gone.

Imperturbable Porter—Don't know anything about 'em, sah. 'Sides dey wurn't kid. Dey wuz cheap dogskin, sah."—Chicago News.

Coughs.

Every person who coughs should not alarm himself with the idea that he is in a bad way. Experience has convinced us of a fact that there are two distinct kinds of coughs—one proceeding from an affection of the lungs and air tubes, as in a cold, the other proceeding from effervescence in the stomach. The lungs cough is a symptom which all know to require attention, lest serious consequences ensue. The stomach cough is a much more simple matter and may easily be got quit of. It is caused by the food and drink which are put into the stomach effervescing and producing an irritation. A knowledge of this fact ought to lead persons so affected to ponder a little on the nature of their ailment and the tone of their digestive powers.—New York Ledger.

Effects.

"It makes people nervous to have money," remarked the observer of men and things. "Not to have it is apt to make them nervy."—Detroit Journal.

DYING BY INCHES!

But Dodd's Kidney Pills will Yet Renew Life.

Thousands of persons die in the prime of life because doctors think Bright's Disease and Diabetes incurable. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cure them both. They have cured thousands of cases.

These diseases and other Kidney complaints are as common as ordinary colds. But people don't realize that they are afflicted till the disease has eaten deep into the system. Even then, Dodd's Kidney Pills will positively cure.

Thousands of people are dying on their feet, but do not realize it. They notice one or more of these symptoms: shortness of breath, loss of memory, failing sight, ravenous appetite, pale or reddish urine, with brick-colored deposit, scalding when urinating, constipation, nervousness, pains in the loins. Their only hope is Dodd's Kidney Pills. They won't fail. They never do.

In preserving berries or any other fruit liable to fall to pieces if a small lump of alum is added to the fruit while cooking it will make it firm.

If you use a wooden pail about your household and it begins to shrink and leak, fill it with water and then stand it in a tub filled with water. This will swell the wood so it will leak no more.

The backs and arms of chairs become very dirty with constant use. They should be washed with warm water in which there is a little soap and then the polish brought back by kerosene or turpentine.

A goodly amount of kerosene on a soft rag cleans shutters nicely. This takes off all the dust and brightens them as well. Brush well first, then apply the kerosene, rubbing hard, then polish with a dry flannel cloth.

ANIMAL ODDITIES.

The eyes of the birds that fly by night are generally about double the size of those of day birds.

In India elephants over 12 and up to 45 years of age are deemed the best to purchase and will generally work well until they are 80 years old.

It is stated that in the West Indies the lizards, from the large iguana downward, run erect on their hind legs when hurried. Pictures on rocks at the watershed of Guiana show lizards running erect. The Mexican iguanoid lizard and the "frilled lizard" of Australia also do so.

THE BEEHIVE.

Look out for robbers when the honey harvest becomes scarce.

The way to get wax of a light yellow color is to let it cool slowly.

Do not expect many swarms and a large honey flow at the same time.

The best time to introduce a queen is the middle of the day when the greater part of the bees are at work.

If a colony becomes queenless and it is not diseased, unite it with another and give it a brood frame from another colony.

Second swarms may be controlled by taking out all cells but one after the first swarm issues, as second swarms rarely issue unless there is a plurality of queens.

If frames of clean comb are given to newly hived swarms so that they can go to work at once, there is not much danger of the bees leaving the hive and swarming out.

To raise comb honey to the best advantage there should be good, populous colonies, and when they are in this condition swarming is likely to occur often.—St. Louis Republic.

Evading the Issue.

"Mr. Addemup," said Mr. Spotcash severely, to the bookkeeper, "I have spoken to you before of your careless manner of smoking in the office. You threw a lighted match in the waste-basket a little while ago and it set a lot of papers on fire. Such work as that might start a big blaze some day."

"It was heedless," replied the bookkeeper. "I will see that the office boy keeps that wastebasket emptied hereafter."—Chicago Tribune.

Farsighted Economy.

Mrs. Wildedunks—Jenkinson, we ought to take one of the first class magazines. It's only $4 a year, and the children are getting old enough now to have something good to read.

Mr. Wildedunks—Only $4 a year! That's all, is it? If you begin on magazines, you'll think you have to keep it up. At the end of every year you'll want to have 'em bound. There's two volumes in a year. Costs $1 a volume for binding. That makes $6 a year. In ten years it's $60. Then you'll want a bookcase to hold the 20 volumes. That'll cost about $25, because you'll think it ought to be big enough to hold the 20 more volumes. There's $85 thrown away. Do you think I'm made of money? If you want to read the magazines, what's the matter with borrowing 'em?—Chicago Tribune.

Testing Them.

Alexander Hamilton, when slavery existed to a limited extent on Manhattan Island, bought a slave for the purpose of emancipating him.

At the first meeting of the Emancipation society of the city of New York Hamilton attended at the request of Lafayette, who desired to become an honorary member.

"Gentlemen," said Hamilton, coming straight to the point, "in token of our sincerity, let every person here emancipate his slaves now."

The members were astonished at the application of this severe test. Not one was willing to submit to it. Hamilton, seeing that his proposition met with general disapproval, took his hat and left the building.—Exchange.

A Choice Spot.

"Any musical inducements connected with the summer resort you are going to?"

"Yes; the landlord assures me that no brass band is allowed to come within 20 miles of the place."—Chicago Record.

U. S. TO HOLD MANILA

Such Is Said to Be Administration's Decision.

A CABINET COUNCIL AFLOAT.

The Details of Peace Are Now Being Arranged—M. Cambon's Interviews With President McKinley—It Is Not Likely That Spain Will Now Delay Peace Settlement.

Washington, Aug. 4.—A Cabinet meeting was held last night down the Potomac River on board one of the lighthouse tenders, at which the peace situation was discussed at length. The party returned to Washington at 10.30 o'clock, having reached a decision on certain points brought to the President's attention by M. Cambon in behalf of the Spanish Government. The Secretary of State drove from the wharf to the French Embassy and delivered to M. Cambon the answer of the United States to the questions he had asked as the representative of Spain. The Spanish Government, it is understood, accepts the terms of the United States and does not ask for a modification of them, but requests information on certain points before giving formal assent to the demands made by this Government as a preliminary to the appointment of commissioners to arrange a treaty of peace. Nearly all the matters on which further information or explanation is asked relate to unimportant things. The main question concerns the occupation of Manila by the United States forces. There is now no doubt that the President and his advisers agreed to stick by their determination to hold Manila and the surrounding territory permanently. There is reason to believe that this Government's answer, delivered to M. Cambon, frankly explains that Manila city, bay and harbor would not be returned to Spain. There is a feeling in Cabinet circles that Spain will not make any effort to delay the peace negotiations, but will formally accept the American terms on the basis of the explanations made to M. Cambon.

AGUINALDO HUMAN.

U. S. Consul Wildman Says He Treats Prisoners With Humanity.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 3.—The State Department has been advised by United States Consul Wildman, at Hong-Kong, that all prisoners taken by Aguinaldo, insurgent chief, including Monks, are "treated with perfect humanity," and that all reports to the contrary are absolutely false.

Cubans Capture Gibara.

Key West, Fla., Aug. 4.—Captain Del Valley Ignacio of the insurgent forces was brought here yesterday morning by the gunboat Helena, which took him aboard near Tunoz de Sazo, on the south coast of Cuba, on July 25. He reported that on July 9 Gen. Miguel Gomez (under whom he served in the Sancti Spiritus district of the Province of Santa Clara), attacked the town of Gibora with 500 men, and after two hours' fighting compelled the Spaniards to raise the white flag.

Three dynamite shells from the Syms-Dudley gun tore big holes in the walls of the town, killed nine Spaniards and wounded 12. One hundred and six prisoners were taken, and the town is now held by the Cubans. The Cuban loss was one killed and three wounded.

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Summer Sale. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customer's gain.

Thursday will be a red letter day with us, marking the beginning of the Great August Sale of Summer Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes.

THE LATE ARCHBISHOP.

Many Thousands Visited St. Michael's Cathedral To-Day's Ceremony.

Toronto, Aug. 4.—The remains of the late Archbishop Walsh lying in the magnificent casket of silver and velvet, were visited by thousands all day yesterday in St. Michael's Cathedral. The whole edifice, draped in black and white, the innumerable burning candles and the sorrow-affected multitudes, made an impressive and never-to-be-forgotten sight.

A death mask of the late archbishop was taken by Sculptor Hamilton McCarthy last evening.

The Anglican Church of Toronto will be represented to-day by Right Rev. Bishop Sweatman, who will sit with the Cabinet in the Cathedral.

To-Day's Ceremony.

The solemn service of burial takes place to-day at 10.30. Admission will be without ticket. Two elevations have been arranged on either side of the sanctuary for the clergy, and in the front rows of the Cathedral will be seated the members of the Cabinet and the judges. Members of Parliament will occupy seats on the left side and the City Council on the right. Back of this will be such citizens who wish to pay their farewell respects to the dead prelate.

The service will begin with the solemnization of high mass. Very Rev. Bishop Dowling of Hamilton will be the celebrant. Following this will be the sermon to be preached by Archbishop McQuaid of Rochester. Then comes the absolution, pronounced by the Archbishops of Montreal, Ottawa and the Bishops of Hamilton, London and Alexandria, and then the interment.

Special this week at Miss Melville's, Infants Jackets from 48c up, 138 Hunter Street.

COVERING EACH DAY.

Bank Robbery Conspiracy as it Progressed Diurnally.

PARE STILL BEING EXAMINED.

The Crown Witness Details the Movements of the Gang for Another Series of Days—Numerous Meetings in Ponton's Rooms—A Blackmailing Scheme—Probable Line of Defence.

Napanee, Aug. 5.—All day yesterday Pare was on the stand with Mr. E. Gus Porter bombarding him with questions which seemed irrelevent in some cases, but which the friends of the defence say were carefully planned. The chief counsel for the defence began with Pare's situation and the condition of the plot in the first week of June, 1897. Every day until the 3rd or 4th of August was covered, and now the defence has led Pare up to the first week in August. Yet the friends of W. H. Ponton point out that but thirty days have been covered. This is where Mr. Porter intends to tie Pare up. "He is all off chronologically," said a gentleman, who is a close friend of the Ponton family.

The line of argument that the defence will likely adopt is that Pare's confession is a story concocted by the witness, with the aid of parties who know Napanee like a book. They will also endeavor to prove that the role assumed by Pare is not a new one, having been played twice in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. Pare was able to say yesterday what day of the week the month of August, 1897, began on. This shows a marvellous memory, or one that has but recently been brushed up The defence is not slow to grasp this point.

Holden has signified his intention of going into the witness box. One who knows him says that when he tells his story "there'll be music." In Boston Holden denied that the unsigned bills found upon him were his. He made no statement, but declared he was ignorant of the whole matter. He is reckoned the most desperate of the prisoners, and may be expected to cause considerable consternation by his story.

It has been learned, much to the pleasure of the townfolk, that the Jack Roach mentioned in Pare's confession was a short man, and is in no way related to the estimable Roach family living a few miles east of Deseronto.

"There is a woman in the case" is about to be proved true in this case. The Crown has brought a woman witness into town, who is expected to reveal startling facts.

Magistrate Daly is desirous of having the investigation adjourned from to-night till Tuesday morning. This will undoubtedly be done.

He Was Called Into the Job Because More Help Was Wanted.

Pare opened by explaining to Mr. Porter that the reason he was called in this job was that there was more help needed in the scheme that was on foot since the early spring, and that he was not the principal mover in the scheme.

Pare said he saw Detective Dougherty here last fall on the evening that Mr. Porter's client, Ponton, was acquitted.

"Dougherty was standing in the office of the Paisley House, and I heard some one say: 'That's Dougherty,' and I took a good look at him, and knew him again when I saw him in Manchester."

The daily tour of duties was gone into by Mr. Porter. Every day was taken up separately and Pare had something to say about what happened each day. The Grove was the day ground of the party of robbers, who at night slept in barns, in no one on two consecutive nights. Mackie always went home late at night and returned in the afternoon. Mr. Wiggins' hired man saw all four of the crooks. Holden, Pare, Mackie and Roach. The first scheme was to "hold up" the card players in the bank. The man in the bank was to give a signal. The witness did not stick to his first story at this point. Pare added to his first story by saying that the four went down town two by two and in several separate squads peeped into the bank. They met on the Market Square. Pare said Roach was suspicious of the man in the bank and declared the game of cards was a bluff to tire out the robbers.

Then a new point was brought out when Pare said the question of blackmailing the banker was raised by Roach and Mackie. The man in the bank was to be told that the fact that a hole had been bored in the safe with his permission was a strong point against him. If he wished to square himself he would have to cough up some money. He would have to take the money from the bank. But Holden and Pare jumped on this scheme and it played out. Then the bicycle scheme was proposed by Ponton, so Holden told Pare. The man who was to be captured was Durand, who had the combination.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Pare and Holden Arranged and Called in the Bank Man.

On the opening of court at 2 o'clock Pare's cross-examination was continued. The witness said Holden reported that the man in the bank was willing to go on and get the desired information. Mackie, Holden and Roach suggested that Pare make direct connection with the man in the bank. Holden was to meet the bank man and give Pare a sign if he was willing to meet Pare. The four of us agreed upon this. Mackie did not stop with us that night.

On the next day Holden met him alone. Holden reported that the bank man had no objection to anybody else coming in so long as he had his $5,000 share. He was to be made to believe that I had just come. The next day we waited. We waited till 9 or 10 o'clock till the bank man came to the meeting place all alone. Holden met him and I was called over after a while and was introduced.

"This is the man we had reference to, Will, who was to get into the bank." I was called George.

Pare then gave a long-winded description on how he instructed "Willie" on picking the safe and how to make the impression. He then instructed the man in the bank how to change the combination, but he could not make a key because he could not get a piece of wire.

Pare then related how he got the wire the next day, made the key and waited for Mackie. The bank man came at 9 o'clock to Centre street on foot. I told him to try the key in his lock, but not to unlock it. I wanted him to get used to it by degrees. This talk lasted about 15 minutes. The bank man met the four of us that night for about half an hour. I said if he could change the combination to go to work, take the key, unlock the combination. put all on one number, and lock it and tell us that it was so changed, and we would all go in and take the money out of the safe.

He said that he had tried the key on his combination, but it was too big. He had made no progress in experimenting on the lock. After a kick that the delay was not paying him, from Roach, the night he went to Montreal for a week, Pare said he met the bank man that night at 9 o'clock for about 20 minutes. The bank man proposed to put the deal off for a month, when Durand's vacation came, for the latter knew the combination. Pare continued: "I said, 'Suppose Durand could get his vacation first, could Mr. Baines be got out of the way? Does he ever go fishing?'

"'Yes, sometimes in August and then for two or three days,' said Ponton.

"'Well, we will wait for August.'"

"I said this in July, on the 20th or 21st. I fix this date by Roach's going away. It was the night of the same day Roach went away. I said that I would wait till August for the man in the bank."

"What did the bank man say?" asked Mr. Porter.

"'We won't have any more meetings on the road. But if you want to speak let one of you pass down town and if the middle window curtain is up you can come up to my room and talk over what you want,' said the bank man. This was on July 21. On the night of July 22, Holden and I went away to Kingston. We jumped a freight." Pare then told that they went back and forward to Kingston for a week, but the curtain was never up. One night after the week was about up we saw Jack Roach get off the train from Montreal, near the bridge at 9 o'clock in the last days of July. He had been riding the bumpers. He saw us and came over to us and talked about how things were going. The next morning Roach went down town to get some breakfast for us all. Holden and I waited for him to come back. When he came back we went down town and got our own breakfast, as Roach had brought us none. We asked him: "What are you going to do? Have you any money?"

He said: "My money is my own."

"What did you come for?"

He replied: "I am interested in this matter."

I said: "If you don't stay you may declare yourself out of the game."

He said: "I am going to stay."

We did not tell him what had been going on. I told him that we did not want him at all unless he stayed right with us.

He said: "Nobody can drive me out of this job."

Holden took no part in the conversation, though he was with me in the matter. Roach went away that night, and that was the last I saw of him till the job was done. Holden and I went down town to see if the blind was down. It was down and we passed by. The next night I was to go up to the room, whether the curtain was up, or not, but when we came to John street, the curtain was up. This was before 9 o'clock—about 8.30. I went up to his room by going up on the left hand side of the street.

I went up the stairs and his door was the first door on the right at the top of the stairs.

"How did you know that? you never had been there before:" said Mr. Porter.

"I really did not know, but I suspected this was his door. It was an idea that I had," said the witness. "I went in and the door was not locked, though there was a spring lock on it. I found nobody there. He was not there. I waited 15 or 20 minutes till he came, about 9.30. There was no light in the room. He came in. He was all dressed up and said he was going to Belleville that night. He said: 'I've got some news. Mr. Baines is going fishing. I'm not certain yet about Durand, but I will find that out to-morrow.'

"'What good will Mr. Baines' fishing do us?' I asked.

"'Then,' said he, 'I may be left in charge of the safe.'

"'If you are, what will you do?'

"'I will leave it on the day lock, so that you can come in during the night and take out the money,' he answered.

"'No, that would never do, because where would you go at 10 o'clock next morning if the money was gone?' I asked.

"'I don't know where I would go, if not to jail,' said he, laughing.

"'If you leave it on the day lock I will go in and get their own combination, and we won't have to change it at all,' was my suggestion.

"The next night I saw the curtain was up near 9 o'clock. I found the door unlocked. I went in; he was in the sitting-room. He was sitting on the sofa.

"Ponton said Mr. Baines was going out fishing the next day. 'I believe everything will be all right to-morrow night.'

"I said: 'That will do; I am going.'

"I then went to Holden. Ponton did not tell me that he had been to Belleville. All I wanted was that Baines be gone. The next morning we went to Belleville ourselves to see what was the matter with Mackie. I saw Mackie at his house towards noon. His wife and children were there. He was in the woodshed. He said he had been sick for over a week. We came back to Napanee.

"Then, between 8 and 9 o'clock, I went to Ponton's room. I looked for no sign. I was told the night before that I should go. I went into the room, locked the door and sat down on the sofa. He was in the same room. He gave me two small pieces of paper, upon each of which was an impression. He said it was Mr. Baines' key opening the compartment and his own. He told me he was in charge of the vault and the safe.

"They were on the day lock. I could go in and get the combination.

"'If you go in, how shall I know it to-morrow morning?' asked he.

"'You go in the earliest; if you find the cap locked up, then all the rest is locked up all right. If it is loose, then it is a sign that we could not get in, and you will have to look up the safe. Go in before breakfast, and be sure that everything is right and I will have the combination, you can depend. To-morrow night I will come over,'" replied Pare.

"I forgot to say I got it back from Mr. Ponton," said the witness when Mr. Porter asked why he had not said this before. "I was going in there to get their own numbers on the combination. I could do just as well without the key," he admitted.

"It was nearly 10 o'clock when I got my key and I rested, as there was no hurry, and I could not get around the bank till past 11 o'clock anyway. We decided we could not go in till the west-bound train passed, near 3 o'clock." After detailing where and how he loitered till that hour, Pare continued: "I went into the bank and then into the vault. I was in there about 1¼ hours. I came out about 5 o'clock."

Here the witness repeated his testimony of Tuesday about the safe and its contents.

"I had a screw-driver and I took the cap off, turned the knob on the inside and found out the number on each wheel. I found out the combination numbers just as the bankers used them. I found them to be 40-60-80, and 40 to 2. I had to look at the dial to get the number. I did not write down the combination. I put it in here (pointing to his head). The combination on the vault was known to a number. I doubt if a man can work the combination and I left the safe just the same as Mr. Baines would do it himself."

"You found it necessary to have a candle there, and it turned up," said Mr. Porter, when the witness failed to mention the fact.

"I sneaked out of the bank and scooted. I was well satisfied with what I had done."

"I saw Ponton that night in his room at 9 o'clock, but there was no previous arrangement. I gave him the sign agreed upon, I raised my cap. He raised his and I knew he understood me. I went up to his room and found the door unlocked and walked in. I sat down on the sofa and waited two or three minutes, when he came in.

"'How did you succeed the night before?' he asked.

"I said, 'All right.'

"He asked me: 'Have you the right numbers?'

"I said: 'Yes, I have, but I told Holden I would tell nobody. You need not expect them.'

"He said: 'I don't care about knowing them.'

"It was the first week of August that I got the combination—it was Thursday or Friday, the 5th or 6th. I met Holden and said, I'm going to Ponton and see if he knows what day the most money is in the safe. I went the next night to Ponton and asked him about the money. He said the most money was in the bank on Thursday. The only reason I did not take the money on the first night was to save Ponton and myself from jail.

The court then adjourned till this morning at 9.30 a.m.

FACTS ABOUT HEALTH

It is Easy to Keep Well If We Knew How—Some of the Conditions Necessary to Perfect Health.

The importance of maintaining good health is easily understood, and it is really a simple matter if we take a correct view of the conditions required. In perfect health the stomach promptly digests food, and thus prepares nourishment. The blood is employed to carry this nourishment to the organs, nerves, muscles and tissues which need it. The first great essential for good health, therefore, is pure, rich blood. Now it is certainly a fact that no medicine has such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is literally true that there are hundreds of people alive and well today who would have been in their graves had they not taken Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is depended upon as a family medicine and general regulator of the system by tens of thousands of people. This is because Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure. This is the secret of its great success. Keep your system in good health by keeping your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla, which absolutely cures when other medicines fail to do any good whatever.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE PLEBISCITE.

True to its promise to call for an early vote on the plebiscite, the Dominion Government have fixed upon September 29th., as the date upon which the people of Canada will have an opportunity of voicing their sentiments as to prohibition, at the polls. The date selected should meet with popular favour. It is a date that favours no one party more than another, and it is as early as arrangements could well be made, and at the same time sufficient time is given for a vigorous campaign. The farmers of the country, too, have been considered and by the date fixed their harvesting should be well over, and they will have leisure to devote to the consideration of this important question. The prohibitionists are already hard at work while the "Antis" as they are commonly called, are not allowing grass to grow under their feet. The form of the ballot paper is as follows:

Are you in favour of the passing of an act prohibiting the importation, manufacture or sale of spirits, wine, ale, beer, cider and all other alcoholic liquors for use as beverages? Yes. No.

The vote will be taken under the new Franchise Act, and those entitled to vote will be those who have the right of the Provincial franchises or who would have the right to vote in a Federal election. The proceedings at the taking of the vote will be as nearly as possible the same as in the case of a general Dominion election. From present indications there will be an unusually large vote cast, as the new Franchise Act is practically a manhood franchise.

It is interesting to note in this connection that there have already been popular votes on the liquor question in four of the provinces. These provinces were Ontario, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island. Manitoba was the first province to have a prohibition plebiscite. The voting took place there on July 23, 1892. In the following year, December 15th, 1893, Prince Edward Island voted, and in 1894 Nova Scotia and Ontario had plebiscites, the former voting on March 15th, and the latter on June 19th. In every instance the result was in favour of prohibition. The votes recorded were as follows:

	For Prohibition.	Against Prohibition.
Ontario	192,487	110,797
Nova Scotia	43,776	12,355
Prince Edward Island	9,118	1,923
Manitoba	18,087	7,115
	261,008	122,180

Majority for prohibition.....138,828.

The result of the coming vote is being awaited with confidence by the friends of prohibition. They look upon Quebec as the only doubtful province, and are making strenuous efforts to capture it, while the "Antis" are no less active.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE fact that a tramp has been discovered in the act of using a revolver has thrown some of the western papers into an ecstacy of terror and one of them demands that a law be quickly passed to "suppress the revolver." The revolver is probably irrepressible, but the carrying and misuse of that lethal weapon is already governed by law. Mr. Blake's "crimes of violence prevention bill," passed in 1878, as a consequence of the Hackett murder, provides all necessary machinery for remedying the evil, and its provisions, as incorporated, later in the criminal code need nothing but an application of the law to make it effective. If, with the remedy at hand, the evil complained of is suffered to exist, it is the administrators of the law and the public who are alone to blame. By all means let the genus tramp, and for the matter of that any other carrier of concealed arms be dealt with as the law directs.

IVY POISON AND ITS CURE.

Poison ivy grows over trees and fences and runs over the walls and along the ground. It may be distinguished by its brown, hairy-like stem, its three leaves (in cluster) and white berries. It is also known as the poison oak; sometimes it takes the form of a bush and other times that of a vine. The poison ivy and the poison sumach are utterly unlike in appearance, but both belong to the same general order—rhus.

The poison sumach grows in swamy places and is known also as poison dogwood and poison alder. It grows from six to twenty-six feet in height, in shrub like form, and foliage consists of about five pairs of opposite and terminal leaflets. It can always be recognized in the fall by its colour and white berries.

Ivy poison is very painful; first the skin is very itchy, then red and swollen, eventually breaking into blisters. The face often swells so much that the eyes are closed.

Having described the plants and told how to detect the poison, I append a number of receipts for the latter's cure when the poison is in its first stages.

Bathe the affected parts with a saturated solution of baking soda (bicarbonate of sodium) in water that is warm—not hot, as that changes the soda into washing soda; or

Bathe with warm water and soap—good, pure soap; or

Bathe with alum curds—a tablespoonful of powdered alum to a pint of milk; or

Bathe with weak ammonia water; one part aqua ammonia to five parts of water: or

Bathe with carbonate of sodium—one ounce to half a pint of water, or sulphite of sodium or chlorinated soda in same quantity to same amount of water; or

Bathe with lead water and laudanum in equal parts, or with witch hazel added; or

Bathe with half an ounce of phenol sodique diluted in three ounces of water; or

Bathe with one ounce of glycerine of carbolic acid diluted with eight ounces of water; or

Bathe the affected parts with a two per cent. solution of creoline.

In the later stages, when the inflammation is great and blisters appear—

Use sassafras bark tea: two ounces of bark to a pint of hot water. Let it soak a few hours, and bathe, while it is warm, the affected parts; or

Oak bark tea used in the same way as the above; or

Break the blister, if not already broken, by pricking, and drop, with quill or dropper, solution of subsulphate of iron, full strength, into the blister.—Ladies' Home Journal.

ARCHBISHOP LAID TO REST.

An Imposing Ceremony at St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 5.—A vast concourse of people assembled in St. Michael's Cathedral yesterday morning to attend the obsequies of the late Archbishop Walsh. The scene was one long to be remembered by those who witnessed the grand funereal pomp, full of music, ritual and color, with which the Roman Catholic Church lays her dead prelates to rest. The elaborate ceremony of burying the Archbishop took over three hours. It says much for the masters of ceremonies, Fathers Tracy and Hand, that the interest of the vast audience filling the cathedral never wavered, and the whole function passed off in the most beautiful and impressive manner.

The pontifical high mass which was celebrated with so much grandeur was really the last chapter in the office for the dead. This began on Tuesday night, when the dead prelate's body was removed from St. John's Grove to the Cathedral, and vespers were sung, followed on Wednesday by matins and lauds. The ceremony yesterday morning, although it might appear intricate to the casual observer, was quite symmetrical in its arrangement. First there was the solemn high mass, then the funeral oration by Bishop McQuaid of Rochester, and lastly absolution delivered by each of the bishops present, in order of seniority. Following this the body was borne to the grave, where the last prayers were read.

The Governor-General was represented at the funeral by Major S. T. A. Denison, A.D.C., and Sir Oliver Mowat, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, was present in person. The attendance of clergy was very large and represented all sections of the country.

A CRIPPLE FOR LIFE.

H. R. H. THE PRINCE OF WALES MAY ALWAYS WALK WITH A LIMP.

With a Fractured Knee Cap, the Chances Are That at His Age He Will Never Totally Recover—The Reasons Why the Injury Is Regarded With Seriousness.

If the Prince of Wales ever ascends the throne of England he may have to go there on a crutch.

From the magnificent country home of Baron Rothschild at Waddesdon comes the news that the Prince, while going down to breakfast by the west stairway, slipped and fell on his knee cap, severely fracturing that part of his person to the extent that he may be obliged to compose himself for a time and give up all the pleasures which have been mapped out for him during the next three months.

It was a great misfortune to His Royal Highness, who up to the present accident has gone through a life of pleasure without suffering many of its discomforts.

In the midst of the excitement that followed. Dr. Shaw, the village physician, was summoned, and with the aid of a professional nurse, the Prince was given all possible attention and relief. But the injured patella persisted in developing an inflammation that induced a considerable swelling. Dr. Shaw gave positive instructions that the Prince should take a long rest at any cost, and give up the fulfilment of his many actual engagements.

It is hoped that nature will accomplish the work before her with success. But there are grave fears that never again will he walk without a perceptible limp, and perhaps a crutch may be part of his possessions.

An injury to the patella, or knee cap, notwithstanding the skill of the best surgeons of the world, often leaves its imprint during life, so that free use of the limb is not infrequently out of the question.

And then again, the Prince of Wales, notwithstanding his vigorous constitution and robust health, is nearing three score years, and an injury that he could have overcome twenty years ago may cling to him to-day with a distressing persistency.

To be sure, the best medical attention in all England and Europe will be given him. But even the skill of man cannot always successfully combat the influences of age.

A fracture of the knee cap, while not necessarily dangerous, requires immediate attention and the most careful nursing, and especially so in the case of the Prince, owing to his advanced years and somewhat energetic disposition. The great difficulty will be to keep him under sufficient restraint to permit the fracture to mend. The bone of an elderly person does not knit as readily as in a young person, and the affected parts seldom mend readily.

It will also make a great difference if the fracture is compound, as in that case it will require an operation, which is always attended with more or less danger.

Dr. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE, BLOWER INCLUDED, 25c., acts magically and cures quickly. One application allays pains, clears the passage, reduces inflammation and gives comfort. Cures cold in the head, and throat afflictions which if not taken in time will lead to chronic catarrh and later consumption. It is sure, pure and harmless, easily applied.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L.:

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for me to decide upon one of the following options offered me for settlement of my 15-payment Life Investment Policy for $5,000 which has matured this year, viz.:

1st, to take the value of the Policy in Cash..... $6,008 05

2nd, or fully paid-up insurance for..... 3,283 00

3rd, or take the profits in cash 2,050 25

and continue my policy without further payments being required from me, such policy participating in future profits.

I find it somewhat difficult to make a decision either of the three options being satisfactory. I am certainly very much pleased with the results offered me, and as I find many others are giving full testimony to the profit-earning power of this company, I do not hesitate to give my endorsement as well, that the North American Life is one of our strongest Canadian institutions to day giving first class results on Investment Policies, on a safe and conservative basis. I find that my policy, which was originally a Life by fifteen payments, has become an Endowment at the end of the investment period.

THE LEGISLATURE

The Debate on the Address in Reply Begun.

THE GOVERNMENT'S INTENTIONS

Premier Hardy Announces the Introduction of a Bill That Allows the Courts to Decide the Question of Constables' Votes—Able Speeches by Messrs. Pettypiece and Clarke.

Toronto, Aug. 5.—The galleries of the Legislature were crowded yesterday afternoon to hear the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, which was moved by Mr. Pettypiece, East Lambton, and seconded by Mr. Sam Clarke of Northumberland. Both gentlemen are new members of the House, and their addresses were listened to with marked attention by the House. They spoke well and received the hearty congratulations of their fellow-members. In the evening the galleries were uncomfortably crowded with visitors who anticipated a brilliant debate, and they were not doomed to disappointment. The leader of the Opposition in a speech of two hours' duration, which aroused the enthusiasm of his followers, arraigned the Government, and was replied to by the Attorney-General, whose address, though somewhat briefer in space of time occupied in delivery, was a masterly exposition of the position of the Government upon the questions now before the people.

Moving the Address.

The address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was moved by Mr. H. J. Pettypiece of East Lambton. He referred briefly at the outset to the past history of his riding and the notable men who years ago had represented it in Parliament. He congratulated the Premier on the splendid manner in which he had made his first appeal as Premier to the electorate of the Province, and on his triumphant return to guide the destinies of the Province for another four years. He then reviewed the topics of His Honor's address, and then he came to the question of the constables' vote.

For more than thirty years, he said, electors who happened to be appointed to preserve order at polling places have recorded their votes just as freely, and, I believe, just as unbiassed, as any other electors have done. Their legal right to do so has never been questioned until now, and their moral right is not questioned even now. The contention as to their legal right has not been raised by any responsible person, at least so far as I am aware, but by irresponsible persons who are figurehead petitionors in several election protests. He then at length discussed the question. In a brilliant peroration Mr. Pettypiece touched on the proud position to which the Province of Ontario has attained through the industry, frugality and business enterprise of her people, backed by the wise, capable, economical and honest administration of public affairs which it had enjoyed during the past 30 years.

The Reply Seconded.

Mr. Samuel Clarke of West Northumberland, Mr. Pettypiece's desk mate, seconded the reply to the address, asking the indulgence of the House in what he described as a very serious task. He also congratulated the Speaker on his return for the third time to his honorable position with both sides of the House at his back. After referring to the matters of the speech, he said Mr. Hardy had come back strong enough for all intents and purposes. He then in the most humorous manner treated the various questions of the day, and by his many hits against the Opposition caused laughter in which they had to join. He closed by congratulating the Government upon the handsome surplus that has been accumulated, and expressed his pride that after twenty-five years their opponents had not been able to bring a single charge of any serious import against their administration.

The Speaker then left the chair.

Mr. Whitney.

Mr. Whitney opened by congratulating the mover and seconder of the reply. The mover, he said, was well able to take care of himself and of the Government, but the House perhaps might have wished to notice a little less asperity in his manner. The seconder, however, admitted that he had a difficult task, while the other was disposed to defend everything and gave the impression that he was a thick and thin supporter par excellence of the Government. If the poor, down-trodden Grit constable suffered, he suffered because of the slackness of the Government. If the Government knew that a precedent existed for their present action, why did they not see it 11 long years ago. Why did they not hasten to protect the rights and privileges of the people of this province long ago and not allow benighted and bigoted Conservatives to deprive them of it. He would not discuss the measure in detail, but he would say enough to have the people understand that the Government was on its defence. He was not attacking any man's vote, but simply desired to say that the law should govern that vote. The Government, on the other hand, was saying that the law should not.

Who, he asked, was meant by the irresponsible figureheads, which the mover claimed had brought up this legal question? They were certainly British subjects and possessed of the franchise, which was equivalent to saying that they were the equal of the honorable gentlemen opposite. However much the Government supporters might sneer at them, they deserved and would receive due credit from the people.

In concluding his speech Mr. Whitney moved, seconded by Mr. Marter: That the following words be added to the said address: And also to represent to Your Honor that this House, being convinced that one of the best safeguards of the prerogatives of the Crown, as well as of the liberties and franchises of the people, is to be found in the application of the principle that the Government should be conducted by Ministers responsible to the people, and holding seats in the Legislative Assembly, avails itself of this opportunity to express its regret that the Government has met the Legislature for the despatch of business with two members of the Executive, the heads respectively of two of the most important departments of the Government, without seats in the Legislative Assembly, having been defeated at the last general election.

The Attorney-General.

The Attorney-General, who was in splendid form and good voice, rose to reply at 10 o'clock. After the applause which greeted him had subsided he expressed his desired to join his congratulations with those of the hon. leader of the Opposition to the hon. mover and seconder of the address, who had shown themselves unusually well informed upon all the questions which had been referred to and possessed of marked ability. He did not call to mind during his 25 years of service in the Legislature that he had ever heard more able speeches in discussion of public questions than they had heard from the mover and seconder of the address, and congratulated the House that those gentlemen had entered it. Continuing, he said: I congratulate my hon. friend also on his powers of speech, which he has shown during the last two hours. If his speech had contained as much of what might be called intellectual ability as it did of physical force, it should have almost paralyzed my attempt to answer it. One would have thought to hear some portions of the speech of my hon. friend that he was really leading the majority of this House instead of the minority; that he really had that majority of 25 which he had desired to have. A great deal of his speech was what might be called brag, and I will not, therefore, for a single instant attempt to answer that kind of argument.

After showing that the Reform party was never more united than at the last election, and that it had polled 56,000 votes more than it did under Sir Oliver Mowat's leadership (this in answer to the insinuation that it had lost votes by his retirement), the Premier showed that while Mr. Whitney was doing a good deal of make-believe and posing for effect, the country was entitled to any explanation that had not already been given for calling the House together.

The constable vote is not the matter of chief importance in calling the House together. By the constitution the British North America Act provides that it shall meet once in twelve months. It is compelled to meet once in twelve months, but if left to January it might have been inconvenient to meet; our honorable gentleman might not have had a seat. Sandfield Macdonald, in 1871, called the House together. He thought he had a majority and he had seven seats empty and was defeated. Should we not notice this example and take warning? Sandfield Macdonald said an election trial was as uncertain as a horse race. In our case there were 60 or 70 cases filed. They would not have been finished by January. We were forced to call the House together.

After referring to the question of the fisheries and showing the importance of its immediate settlement, he dealt exhaustively with the question of the defeated Ministers. While within his rights in making his motion on this question, his arguments in support of it were not straight, and his comment upon the citations he made was poverty-stricken. He then by history and precedent completely demolished the case of Mr. Whitney against Messrs. Dryden and Gibson. The Premier then referred to the steps which had led to the calling of the House together, and the terms of his memorandum, and outlined the form of action it was proposed to take. A change had been made after due consideration from the suggested course of passing a declaratory act, and the bill which it was proposed to submit provided for the submission of the question to the courts. He outlined the proposed bill, and then concluded his concise and masterly speech with a brilliant peroration. At the conclusion his followers crowded round him and congratulated him upon the brilliant effort.

Col. Matheson moved the adjournment of the debate and the House rose.

CASH WHEAT WANTED.

Farmers Seem to Be Holding Back New Crop for Better Prices—The Latest Quotations.

Thursday Evening, Aug. 4.

The Chicago wheat market owes its strength these days largely to the strong demand for cash and immediate delivery stuff, which arises from the shortage of existing stocks, and is increased by the apparent reluctance of farmers to freely market the new crop at present prices. Wheat for this month's and next month's delivery advanced ½c early to-day, and held over half the gain at the close. December wheat, after rising ¾c per bushel, reacted to yesterday's final figure. The demand for cash wheat is reported strong at St. Louis, and the article rose 2c at Duluth.

On the Liverpool board spot wheat declined ½d per cental; the September delivery closed unchanged from yesterday, and the December option showed an easing off of ½d for the session. Paris wheat 10 centimes lower for this month's delivery, to 15 centimes higher for later options.

Some of the new Ontario wheat was bought for export at 63c north and west to-day. This price was paid for both red and white, but most holders are asking 65c to 66c per bushel.

A LOCAL STONE CRUSHER.

To be Purchased in Preference to Those Made Elsewhere—Tenders Opened Last Evening.

A meeting of the committee of the whole was held in the council chamber last evening when tenders were received for stone-crushing machine as follows: Good Roads Machinery Co., from $990 to $1,084.50; Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., from $800 to $1,025; Sawyer-Massey Co., $1000.

Messrs. A. E. Lech and Geo. Munro were present on behalf of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co.; Mr. Starr for the Good Roads Machinery Co., and Mr. McDonald for the Sawyer-Massey Co. All spoke to some length expanding on the merits of the machines manufactured by their respective companies. After debating the matter for some time it was decided to recommend the council to purchase a No. 5 crusher from the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co., at a cost of $1 025.00.

Councillor McWilliams drew attention to the fact that the Peterborough Light and Power Co. was about to erect a new building and was undecided whether to locate it in Ashburnham or Peterborough. He was of the opinion that arrangements could be made to have the building erected in Peterborough. The matter was referred to the Manufacturers Committee with instructions to meet representatives from the Light and Power Co. and endeavour to reach some arrangement whereby the desired end might be attained.

On the petition for a granolithic walk on the north side of Charlotte street being taken up, it was decided to ask for tenders for the construction of a 10 ft. walk from George street to Aylmer, and an eight foot walk from Aylmer to Bethune.

The Street and Bridge committee was instructed to ask for tenders for the new bridges, the cost of which are to be defrayed by the debentures recently issued. Attention was called by the Mayor to the dangerous condition of the Hunter street bridge.

SONS OF SCOTLAND EXCURSION.

A Successful and Delightful Trip Down the River to Gore's Landing and Rice Lake.

Queen's weather and smiling lads and bonnie lassies greeted the numerous patrons of the Sons of Scotland excursion all day yesterday. The morning looked a little dark and threatening, but an hour before the steamer left a cool breeze sprang up and as "the clouds rolled by" the crowds of excursionists kept increasing on the "North Star." At 9.15 the steamer and her scow steamed out with about 250 souls on board—as lively a party as the management could have wished to see.

No sooner had the boat got clear of the locks than dancing was begun and with that eagerness and celerity which only a jolly crowd can indulge in. And it was kept up uninterrupted with spirited enthusiasm and delight until the arrival at Gore's Landing at 1.30. In fact so engrossed had the votaries of the dance became that the steamer's arrival was quite unnoticed by them, and the "break away" was only accomplished by the pounding of the dinner bells close to their ears.

A large number of the party took dinner in the splendid new hotel just completed by Mr. Harris, while the majority who had baskets, spread their tables in the green groves near the lake. The forty or fifty who took dinner at the hotel, extolled the bill of fare, the viands and the cook for the excellence of the menu, and the tempting attractiveness of the table. After dinner many inspected the new hotel and its first-class equipment, while others roamed about the shore, enhaling the boat loads of ozone which abound at this picturesque breezy point.

The boat made an early start for home, as the committee was apprehensive of the lowness of the water in the river and expected trouble with the logs. The sail home was even more delightful—air, sky and breeze combining to make the trip very enjoyable to all. The only event which marred to some extent the pleasure of the homeward trip was when out the boat came within about six miles of the locks. From that home the steamer had to plough through a complete forest of logs—so thick that frequent stoppages had to be made. A good many strong views were expressed as to the injustice of the logs being allowed to run at large in a navigable stream, blocking up the steamer channel and impeding navigation. The question was frequently asked—could not a boom be run down one side of the river and confine these logs to one part of the stream instead of allowing them to spread all over the river. The captain and crew of the steamer had had to work like tigers to make any progress through the jam, whilst the passengers impatiently looked on. But, with excellent manoevreing at the wheel, good judgment and skill, the sturdy North Star and the palace scow were safely snubbed at the wharf by 10.30.

The committee of the Sons of Scotland received warm praise from their party for the delightful outing they had afforded them, and hoped that if it was their first there was good reason why it should not be their last.

The secretary requests the members of the committee to meet on Saturday evening at Mr. Noble's store.

THE SERGEANT'S LETTER.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—As you are doubtless aware, the future historian in writing up the Hispano-American war, will make use of all public and semi-private documents on which he can lay his hands. But the thousand and one details of the conflict and the personal experiences of those who took part in it will be gathered together and licked into shape only through the perusal of thousands of private letters. For that reason, and as a matter of fair play to a defeated nation, I wish to call your attention to some of the inaccuracies in the letter you published yesterday from a "Sergeant" who wrote two weeks after the decisive battle was fought, and whose letter is dated from the battlefield.

1. His dates are wrong, or else they had 32 or 33 days in June instead of 30.

2. He says the Spaniards had 40 000 against the American force of 23,000. This is a deliberate exaggeration, for the letter was written two weeks after the fight, and he ought to have known that there were less than 7,000 Spaniards to defend a line twelve miles long.

The victory was a grand one, but it is not fair to the defeated to exaggerate it, especially since it has leaked out that the general in command and two of his generals on the line of battle had voted to order the whole army to retreat to the coast, as they did not think they could hold their positions. Why, at one point, El Caney, six hundred Spaniards kept 4,000 United States regulars at bay for eight hours, and only retired then on account of lack of ammunition! Then we should also bear in mind that the sixty-eight hundred Spaniards were more than half starved. If their bellies had been full, their ammunition boxes in good shape, and their pockets filled with cigarettes, they would be fighting yet in those very same trenches.

Yours,
SIGMA.

THE FIRE TEST.

Peterborough Found Wanting in Several Respects by the Inspector.

Appended will be found the report of Robert Howe in regard to his inspection of the local fire preventive appliances on July 7th last:

Changes—Three hundred feet additional hose. One cellar revolving nozzle. One controlling nozzle. Mains extended 3671 ft. x 6 inch and 313 ft. x 4 inch, the latter for services only. Four hydrants added.

Test—Gave alarm by telephone from Dixon's mill office, London street, at 9.0½ a.m. Hose wagon and four men arrived 9.03½, one stream thrown at 9.05, two at 9 06 1-2, each through 200 feet of hose and 1½ inch nozzle, horizontal distance thrown from the two 110 ft., pressure 90 lbs. Hook and ladder truck with 5 men arrived at 9.03½ (3 1-2 minutes after alarm) Steamer was called on first alarm, did not respond. Second alarm sent in 9 15. steamer arrived with 2 men, and fire lit 9.22 1-2, but could not pump, the suction hose being detached from pump nozzle and incapable of replacement without a suitable expander which the fire department does not possess, the steamer will therefore be out of commission until that appliance is obtained. Tested one of the chemical fire extinguishers and found it in good condition.

Summary of appliances in use—Waterworks, direct pumping without reservoir or standpipe; 125 hydrants; two hose carriages; 2160 ft. of first-class and 800 ft of other serviceable hose; hook and ladder truck; two chemical fire extinguishers; steam fire engine; Eastman's deluge set; "Magneto" fire alarm with eight boxes; pull-bell on fire hall; constant telephone service, 260 subscribers; three men on night patrol; 20 firemen, of whom three are fully paid and seven sleep in the fire station; four horses stabled in fire hall at nights, two there by day, the others on corporation work were 2 1-2 minutes late with hook and ladder truck at test, although supposed not to go outside of fire limits.

DEFICIENCIES FOR CLASS "B."

1. The "Magneto" alarm is unsatisfactory, and should be replaced by an effective "Sector box" system with sufficient wei l placed boxes to strike 15 inch gongs in fire hall and pump house, 6 inch gongs in the dwellings of such firemen who do not sleep in the fire station, and to operate the general alarm bell. There does not appear to be any intention of complying with this requirement.

2. The steam fire engine should be provided with a reducer to enable it to be coupled to any of the hydrants. An expander should also be provided for the suction hose.

3. There are only three instead of five fully paid men, of whom the chief is not one. The chief is required to be a fully paid man.

4. Horses sufficient to haul all the appliances should be maintained for fire purposes only. One team employed on corporation work was 8 1-2 minutes late at the test.

5. The number of dead ends on the water mains should be considerably reduced and the single branch hydrants replaced by double ones.

6. Steamer did not respond to first call, and was unable to pump after arrival following second alarm.

In conclusion I would say with regard to the future placing of hydrants, that the standard does not contemplate a greater distance than 500 ft. apart in any built up portion, nor more than 300 to 350 ft in the business or congested sections.

WAGON UPSET.

Mr. A. E. Sims Thrown Out and his Wagon Upset in a Runaway.

The horse attached to the delivery wagon of Mr. A. E. Sims' bakery took fright this morning at a pile of sewer pipes in the lane back of the Eastland terrace and caused a rather bad runaway. The wagon was upset and broken in several places and in the smash-up Mr. Sims was thrown under the rig. He managed, however, to crawl out before any assistance came to him. The horse broke loose from the wagon and ran about half a block with the shafts and whiffletree attached, when it was stopped. Mr. Sims wishes to thank the ladies who kindly assisted him at the time of the accident.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 5, 1898.

CANADA'S SHARE AT THE KLONDYKE.

OVER TWELVE MILLIONS IN GOLD WILL BE THIS YEAR'S OUTPUT.

The Government Royalty Will Exceed One Million Dollars.

The New York Herald publishes the following from John D. McGillivray, its commissioner to the Yukon, under date of June 28:

The total yield of gold—the only source of wealth in this country at present—will this year amount to something between $12,000,000 and $20,000,000. Out of this directly and indirectly, the Canadian Government will take in taxes the following sums:

Placing the gold yield at $12,000,000 the reality will be $1,100,000 or more. On each claim $2,500 of output is exempt from the ten per cent. royalty, and it would be a very liberal estimate to say that $1,000,000 is exempt. Each miner must pay $10 for a license. Under the regulations this includes any one who owns, locates or works for wages in mines, and as a consequence nearly every man and woman in the district takes out a license. There should be issued this year, therefore, certainly not less than 20,000 licenses, which will yield a revenue of $200,000.

The water front of Dawson, which for sanitary reasons should have been left open, has been leased for $30,000 a year to people who will clear $100,000 a year from it. The town lots of Dawson, outside the Harper-Ladue survey or main town, were squatted upon by people who come in last year and this spring. They were told that a small tax would be levied as soon as a survey should be made.

BIG REVENUE HERE.

The survey has been made and the new outfit of officials, under Major Walsh, have assessed these lots at sums varying from $50 to $200 each, or nearly their full present value. This will yield a revenue of about $100,000. A further and probably much larger sum will come from the sale of the lots in the main part of the town. Mr. Bulyea collected before Major Walsh came in nearly $50,000 from the saloon men for permits to sell liquors.

According to the newspapers from the outside, the Canadian government is charging $2 a gallon tax on liquors brought in here. I do not think that anyone who watches the scowloads of whiskey coming in will think 100,000 gallons a high estimate of the amount that will arrive in Dawson this year. This will yield a revenue of $200,000.

Then there is collected from each lease of placer ground or renewal, $15. There are some 10,000 claims located. Most of the owners of these will release, and many new locations will be made. This means another $150,000. The customs duties will make a very large sum, but without further data it is hard to estimate at all closely.

TAXES ON OUTFITS.

At least 20,000 and probably 30,000 persons have come in or are on their way, from the passes. All those I have interviewed say that they were taxed about $30 each on ordinary outfits. This should make the collections at least $500,000, allowing something for supplies purchased in British Columbia. Yet many of those who come are traders, who bring large scowloads of supplies bought in the States.

Last year on some 2,800 tons brought up the river from St. Michael, Mr. Davis, the customs officer here, collected about $70,000. This year, with nearly one hundred steamers on the river, at least ten times as much freight should come up. However, put the duty at $500,000, or about seven times as much as was collected last year.

At Ottawa many rights to cut timber have been granted, as well as concessions to mine by dredging and other methods. I suppose this means further revenue in the future, if not this year. However, a large revenue is collected here from timber. How much this will amount to I cannot say. The tax on timber for various purposes is high, and the total should be a large item. The Gold Commission collects a small fee for each paper filed, there are fines collected, stamps sold and other sources of revenue which aggregate considerable.

A TOTAL OF $2,930,000.

Taking these main items, $1,100,000 from royalties, $300,000 from miners' licenses, $30,000 from Dawson water front lease; $100,000 from sale of Dawson town lots, $50,000 from saloon permits, $200,000 from $2 per gallon liquor permit tax, $150,000 from leases of claims, $500,000 on customs duties on goods coming via St. St. Michael, and we have a total of $2,930,000.

According to the estimates of the Government submitted to the Canadian Parliament last spring, the cost of government for the Yukon provisional district for this fiscal year will be slightly under $400,000. Much of this will be for maintaining of police. There are two men employed in collecting the royalty. They have the assistance also of the police. The Government so far is at very little expense except in maintaining the police. The customs duties are collected by one official here, with the assistance of the police, and it is much the same, I understand, on the upper river.

ROBERT GRIFFIN SUICIDED THURSDAY.

HE LEAVES A NOTE SAYING DRINK WAS THE CAUSE.

The Deceased was Subject to the Blues, but the Reason for his Taking his Life is a Mystery.

Mr. Robt. Griffin, of Havelock, who has lately returned from Uncle Sam's domains, and who is a brother-in-law of Mr. David Vansicle, of Belmont, shot himself through the heart on Thursday last, death resulting instantly. The case is something of a mystery. On Wednesday he hired a rig in Havelock and drove out to Deer Lake for Miss Cole and brought her in to the picnic, with her. Miss Cole spent the night with a friend, and Griffin drove her back home Thursday morning and started back immediately for Havelock. After coming as far as the Free Methodist church he turned around, drove back to Cole's, put the horse in the stable, took off his coat and making a pillow of it lay down and shot himself in the heart. Miss Cole thinking he was a considerable time in the barn went out to look him up, and reached the barn in time to hear the shot. She rushed in, but he was dead before she reached his side.

SPENDING THE DAY

HE HAD WRITTEN

two notes—one to his sister, Mrs. David Vansickle, saying the cause was drink—the other to Miss Cole, saying she would soon follow him. He was not a heavy drinker, and his relations with Miss Cole were both pleasant and proper. Griffin was a dark complexioned hypochondriacal man and looked like one who was subject to the blues. He was not known to be in specially straightened circumstances. His brother-in-law, Mr. David Vansickle, when he called for Griffin's trunk at the Graham House could throw no light on the matter.

THEY ARE TO BE BROUHT TO TIME IMMEDIATELY.

By Refusing to Pass the "Popular Vote" Bylaw the Members Have Rendered Themselves Amenable to the Law.

The six members of the council who defeated the third reading of the council amendment bylaw, have placed both themselves and the town in an unenviable position. Sec. 373 of "The Municipal Act" expressly provides that the council shall, within six weeks, pass the third reading of a bylaw approved by the ratepayers, and those councillors who have wilfully disregarded this provision, have brought themselves within Sec. 138 of the Criminal Code which makes them liable to one year's imprisonment. Moreover the council can be compelled by mandamus to pass the bylaw and any ratepayer can take action in that direction and compel the refractory councillors to pay the costs. We understand Mr. J. B. McWilliams has instructed his solicitor to take the necessary steps to enforce the law in this respect.

THE QUESTION OF MUNICIPAL REPRESENTATION.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR EDITOR:—Will you oblige a resident of 37 years in Peterborough, having taken interest in Municipal matters, although not taken an active part in the same for certain reasons, which being stated in a letter appearing in the Peterborough EXAMINER of Dec. 19, 1893. Being astonished a letter appears something similar before the ratepayers, only that the doors are opened for more corruption. The letter referred to is appended:

WM. LECH.

DEAR SIR,—Being on the eve of our municipal elections, the ratepayers are aroused by this year's high taxes, as well as by the question of exemption. The writer has had many questions addressed to him, such as "What is to be done to get good, honest men in the council?" etc. For this question there is only one answer, and that is, that no honest man, be he of independent means, or otherwise, can afford to give so much valuable time for the benefit of the town for nothing; and yet each election brings forth such an abundance of candidates that teams are put into requisition, as if life and death depended on success. Many of such candidates who could not honestly maintain themselves are elected for municipal honours.

The writer has never been able to solve the question where honour comes in by accosting every Dick and Harry for a vote. Such a practice is degrading and no honour about it. Each election brings forth always a lot of big talk about economy. Some may be compelled to practice the same at their homes, but it is quite a different thing with the care of public funds. Such representatives as the latter class are generally pitch-forked into the council by cliques interested in having their schemes attended to, such as exemption from taxation and the like. Everyone must admit that our country, by a too expensive Government in comparison to population, is bled to death, and the same holds good even with our municipal government. If Peterborough had for each ward one councillor and the mayor, all elected, not as now by the different wards, but elected by the whole vote of the town, the same way as the mayor is elected, we should have enough. Such councillors should receive a salary for their services, and only by such procedure our ratepayers will find honest and responsible men to represent them. As Peterborough is confronted with works of great magnitude and large expenditures, it is of the greatest importance that we should be represented by a council whose integrity should be above criticism. Whatever the expenses in salary would be for our representatives, good savings would be effected thereby.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

WM. LECH.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

It will be a warm game on Monday afternoon when the local lacrosse team again tries conclusions with the Tecumsehs. The Peterboroughs are a good deal stronger than they were last season and the visitors will have to travel fast to come out victorious. In order that all may be given an opportunity of seeing the game the ball will not be faced until four o'clock.

A full practice of the team will be held on Saturday evening, and after taking a rest on Sunday the boys should be in fine shape for the Monday game.

THE WHEEL.

Michael says the mile record will be brought down to 1.30 this year. Eddie McDuffie thinks 1.32 will be the limit.

Tom Linton says that if the National Track Owners' Association will get him the use of all its pace-makers he will put the hour record at thirty-four miles.

Frank O. German, of Brocton, Mass., has made a new record for 12 hours, paced, having ridden 242 miles and 1160 yards in that time Friday night on the Bottonwood track. The former record, held by Louis Gimn, of Cleveland, was 238 miles and 1320 yards.

Teddy Edwards finished his 200th century at Chicago last Tuesday. He says that the secret of his ability to ride is his practice of resting a few moments when ever so inclined. He dismounts frequently and for the first few miles rides rather slowly.

CRICKET.

A cricket meeting is to be held at the Oriental to-night. The club is trying to get the Wanderers, of Chicago, to give them a game while on their trip, some time during the next two weeks. The Wanderers is one of the strongest organizations in the United States.

A cricket match will take place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock, between the Bankers and the Town. The Town will concede the Bankers the services of Sam Ray and Cumberland, the pro.

ENGLISH ATHLETICS.

The recent English athletic championships were successful from every point of view, and the standard of the performances was unusually high. Hugh Welsh, a Scotchman, won the mile run in 4.17 4-5, and he is expected later on to smash Tom Conelf's record of 4.15 3-5.

Make no engagement for going out of town on Civic Holiday, August 18th, until you know the greatly reduced fares which Court Littlejohn, C. O. How to Use Corn Plasters.

Dr. Alanel, writing on the treatment of corns, mentions a tip communicated to him by a layman concerning corn plasters. Instead of applying them whole, as purchased, the advice is to cut the plaster in two across the centre, and then to apply the two sections around the base of the corn. This method afforded relief at once, and in six months the corns were got rid of. The two sections can be fitted around the base of the corn accurately and tightly in a way that is impossible when dealing with a ring uncut.

PEOPLE GETTING OLD.

As age advances, vitality retreats. Old people find themselves tired, listless, dyspeptic and lacking in strength. They lose interest in the active affairs of life, and may either become chronic complainers, burdening their friends, or they may, by using Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills be made bright, cheery, happy and healthy, as witness the following interesting example. The words of those who have lived many years carry wisdom with them. Why not profit by them?

WISE WORDS.

Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these Pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished, and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Yours very truly,
Signed, MR. & MRS. CLARK, Victoria St., Glencoe, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

BOWIE AS A SLAVE TRADER.

Tactics by Which He Beat the Law and Made Enormous Profits.

The United States had not long suppressed the slave trade. There were plenty still of lowland planters, with money in both pockets, ready to buy whatever of "black ivory" other men would fetch in. Lafitte, the Louisiana pirate, kept up the business of such fetching in. His haunts were no great ways from the Bowie habitat. Moreover, young James was in the way of coming upon the pirate whenever the business of board rafting took him to New Orleans. He was too shrewdly American not to grudge such fair profits to a pack of foreigners. In company with his brother, Rezin Bowie, Jr., and two others of like adventurous minds he undertook to get a fair sharing in it.

Money was needed to begin. Bowie sold his land to get it. Then the four entered into treaty with Lafitte. He sold them sound and likely blacks off his slaveships at the rate of $1 a pound. That made the average price something like $140 the head. In the open market the blacks would fetch from $500 to $1,000 each. But there was another and a better chance of gain, which the trading crew were quick to seize upon. Under the laws then standing all Africans brought in in violation of the statute were confiscated and sold out of hand, one half the price going to the authorities, the other to the informer. Bowie and his comrades made a practice of informing upon themselves; then when the slaves were seized and sold they bid them in, pocketed half the money they paid and found themselves free to offer their purchases wheresoever they chose, for the blacks were now lawfully within United States boundaries and a commodity as staple and as marketable as cotton.

The profit was enormous—nobody ever bid against the partners at the forced sales, though there were a lively crying and a swift mounting of prices at the later vendings. Altogether the company realized a profit of some $65,000 within a couple of years. But the business involved such mummery and flummery of false names, pretended disguises and pretended seizures that the Bowies pretty soon tired of it. They dissolved it, and at least set about spending as strenuously as they had gone about making.—Martha McCulloch-Williams in Harper's Magazine.

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes and a sallow complexion will defy the best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood.

Well Fed Fighters.

Says the London Chronicle: "Admiral Dewey's interruption of the battle of Manila bay to give his crews the opportunity of breaking their fast recalls our own 'glorious 1st of June,' when Earl Howe, before he gave the French such a hammering off Ushant, hove to for an hour before attacking to permit of his men fortifying themselves for the coming fight with a good meal—a pause which caused much conjecture in the minds of the astonished French. It has ever been the Anglo-Saxon way to fight, if possible, on a full stomach. Wellington once said that if ever he wanted an Irish or a Scotch regiment to reach a particular point by a certain hour all he had to do was to promise the former a drink on getting to its destination, the latter its pay, but that the corresponding bait to an English battalion was a good dinner of roast beef."

These testimonials in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla are written by honest people who want you to know what it has done for them.

WHEN OLD AGE COMES

IT DEPENDS NOT UPON YEARS, BUT UPON VITAL FORCE.

The Greatest Enemy to Long Life Is Self Indulgence — Why People of Advanced Age Should Eat Sparingly and Drink More Freely.

Some men are 20 years younger physically and mentally than others are at the same age. It is self evident that old age does not begin at any set time, so far as the divisions of time divide the periods of life, but that it has to do with that subtle agent known as the vital force, an acquaintance with which enables the analytical mind to become proficient in prognosis by weighing in the balance the vitality on the one side with the pathology on the other.

The indication of old age may be noticed by ocular inspection. The figure stoops, the walk is less elastic, the rounded figure gives place to the spare habit of body, the wrinkle of time mounts the cheek, while the frost of many winters mantles the brow. The typical healthy person who attains old age is spare of body, and old age emphasizes this fact by causing a paucity of adipose tissue. So the wrinkle of time, after all, is kindly in nature.

Physiologically we notice that a diminution of the physical energy is accompanied by a corresponding diminution of the power to eliminate waste material from the body. Elasticity and strength give place to hardness and brittleness of nearly all the tissues of the body. The general health may be good, because there is a harmonious balance between the action of the nervous system and the circulatory system.

However, the former is less responsive to external stimulation, and the latter is less vigorous in old age. The vital processes conducted by the circulation, respiration and metabolic changes in the tissues are less active. There are diminished adaptability of the whole system to changes in the environment and less ability to meet the requirements of emergencies, such as sudden demands of muscular and mental strain.

The senile conditions and diseases are numerous and obvious—in the first place, weakened digestion and assimilation. The weakened vigor of the circulation and glandular system necessarily weakens the power of eliminating the excrementitious substances, which gives rise to pernicious nutrition, and that in turn is the cause of the tendency to develop malignant or benign growths in different parts of the body in old age.

The strong tendency to overeat and underdrink, together with the natural decline of functional power, gives rise to a condition of lithemia, which is the prime cause of the majority of deaths in old age. In the healthy state that great glandular furnace and chemical laboratory, the liver, is capable of transforming an excess of nitrogenous matter, which may result from metabolism of tissue or exist in the food consumed, into the highly soluble excrementitious substance known as urea. This excrement is eliminated from the blood mainly by the kidneys and to a much less extent by the skin.

Now, in old age, with the functional power and natural vitality on the wane, together with the strong tendency to overtap this function of the liver, we find this waste is not converted into urea, but into uric or lithic acid, a comparatively insoluble excrementitious and toxic substance, which if it appears in the blood in sufficient quantity and is long enough continued in circulation through the urinary tubules sets up irritation and inflammation, which inevitably impair the function of the renal epithelium, and we find this poisonous substance is not eliminated from the system, but accumulates in the blood.

This explains why old people are almost universally troubled with disease of the liver, kidneys, bladder and prostate gland. The unstable circulation, atheromatous changes and brittleness of the walls of the blood vessels, with the tendency to overtax the digestive apparatus, are the cause of many old people going to "that bourn from which no traveler returns" by the apoplectic route.

Hereditary diseases naturally manifest themselves when the vitality is below a certain level, so we are not surprised to find certain dyscrasic and latent tendencies manifesting themselves at this period of life, when the natural vitality is waning. The diseases most frequently found to be the cause of dissolution among the aged are pneumonia, diseases of the liver and urinary organs, consumption, cancer, apoplexy and gangrene.

The enemy to longevity, the author continues, is self indulgence. People who have reached an advanced age may prolong their lives and greatly add to the comfort of their declining years by diminishing the quantity of food ingested, thereby avoiding too large a residue of waste matter either in the intestinal canal or in the form of excrementitious matter in the blood.—Journal of American Medical Association.

STUMP PENCILS MASCOTS.

Members of Gotham's Stock Exchange Superstitious About Lead Sticks.

"Talking about hoodoos and mascots," said a member of the Stock Exchange, "the boys on the floor of the exchange are as superstitious as a lot of sailors. If you don't believe it, you look at the lead pencils they are using the next time you are in the building.

"You won't find a man using a long lead pencil. Why? Because a long pencil is a 'hoodoo' of the worst kind. They always cut a new pencil in half before they sharpen it. Some of these pencils acquire the reputation of being lucky.

"Less than a week ago I came down without my pencil, which, by the way, is a lucky one—every memorandum made with that pencil results in a profit for me—and I borrowed one from a friend on the floor. He handed me a stump about an inch long and said, 'You can use that; it's a lucky pencil.'

"Sure enough, I made two deals in the morning, and each netted me a handsome profit.

"I was about to make a memorandum of some stock I had bought when my friend approached and said:

" 'Here, take this pencil and let me have mine again. I've lost on every deal since I loaned it to you.'

"Sure enough, I lost on that deal, and the luck went back to the owner of the pencil.

"When you get hold of a lucky pencil, you want to hang on to it.

"Some of the boys have little lucky pencils not more than an inch long, and they guard them as they would their lives.

"If you, through carelessness or accident, cause them to break the lead point they lose whatever regard they have for you and forever afterward regard you as inimical. Some of them wouldn't take $5 for a little piece of pencil worth considerably less than a cent."—New York Press.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Circumstances are still much in the habit of altering cases. It is said that a Yorkshire socialist was explaining to a friend the principles of his belief, and that he made the statement at the outset that all possessions should be shared equally.

"If you had two horses," said the friend, "would you give me one?"

"Of course," said the socialist.

"And if you had two cows, would you do the same?"

"Of course I should."

"Well, suppose now," said the friend slowly, "that you had two pigs, would you give me one of them?"

"Eh, tha's gettin ower near home," said the other slyly. "Tha knows I've got two pigs."—Youth's Companion.

CURIOUS CULLINGS.

In a recent book on China the author says that Chinese burglars are difficult to catch, as they oil their bodies all over and twist their pigtails into bunches stuck full of needles.

About 100 years ago starch was used only for stiffening the frills around the necks of the ungodly. Religious people called it the "devil's liquor" and regarded its use as highly reprehensible.

In certain parts of Africa it is considered a mark of disrespect to bury out of doors at all. Only slaves are treated in such unceremonious fashion. The honored dead are buried under the floor of the house, where they must make things pleasant for the living.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

When a young woman starts out in married life with a modest home containing just the bare necessities, she pictures herself in the future the mistress of a stately mansion, containing the comforts and luxuries of life. In that dreamland of the future there will be rich carpets on the floors, fine paintings on the walls, a magnificent sideboard loaded with silver and dainty tableware in the dining room, musical instruments, books and all that the heart of a sybarite could yearn for, and—a baby.

To either man or woman, all the comforts and all the luxuries of life and all the wealth in the world soon become a bore and a weariness, unless there is a baby for whom they can both contrive and plan and work. A woman who, through ignorance or neglect, suffers from weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood, blasts all these hopes. Either she will be childless, or will lose her own life in the struggle of maternity, or her babies will be born puny, sickly and peevish and unable to withstand the ordinary ailments of childhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription surely and completely cures all these delicate complaints. It is the discovery of one of the most eminent living specialists in women's diseases,—Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. The "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the sensitive organism concerned. It imparts to it health, strength, vigor, virility and elasticity. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It robs maternity of its perils and insures a healthy, robust child.

AIR IN LIQUID FORM.

UNQUESTIONABLY IT IS THE COLDEST THING KNOWN TO SCIENCE.

How It Is Produced by Its Inventor, Charles E. Tripler of New York—Wonderful Experiments Conducted by the Gotham Investigator, Scientist and Capitalist—It Is Now a "Real Live Force."

(Special Correspondence.)

New York, July, 1898.—Liquid air, which is the air we breathe reduced to liquid form under high pressure, is about the coldest thing known to science. Except for a faint bluish tint, becoming more pronounced as the liquid evaporates, it looks like pure water. Each cubic foot of liquefied air represents about 768 cubic feet of ordinary air. All heat originally derived from the sun having been practically expelled during compression, in returning to its gaseous state immense power lies in its expansion. This power, of highest efficiency, is easily controlled and utilized. Two distinct fluids are present, liquefied nitrogen and liquefied oxygen. The normal temperature of liquid air is 312 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, or about 260 degrees colder than the perpetually frozen Arctic regions.

During the past ten years Mr. Charles E. Tripler of New York has devoted his time to improving and cheapening the process of liquefying air, and experimenting with the fluid. His machines now liquefy air at the rate of 40 gallons per day and the cost is less than 25 cents per gallon. Mr. Tripler expects to produce it at a much lower price. It will thus become of inestimable commercial value, and promises to revolutionize present agencies for refrigeration and power production. Its general use would discontinue the demand for coal in the production of power. The new force is much more powerful than steam and farther reaching in its possibilities than electricity. Proposals from capitalists to develop his inventions have been showered upon Mr. Tripler, but his own large fortune will enable him to go forward without their aid. His apparatus, taking the heat from the air, creates a cold so intense that incoming air liquefies at atmospheric pressure. At the beginning steam power and a strong compressor forced air into a series of coils, copper pipes and leather valves. In 15 minutes from the beginning of the process liquid air pours from a faucet at the end of the route traversed. It is then passed into another apparatus producing a more intense cold, and the external air, driven by natural pressure through the inlet tube to fill the vacuum caused by condensation, becomes liquefied.

It has been found difficult to confine the liquid for transportation. Mr. Tripler has succeeded in transporting it from New York to Boston and Washington, keeping it from evaporation for 36 hours, and now claims that it can be handled without danger if the gases are not confined. If by chance the tops of the cans were entirely closed the fluid would explode with terrific force, a gallon being sufficient to wreck a building of the strongest construction. Yet it may be dipped with an ordinary cup and poured from one vessel into another as one pours water; but if a tin dipper which had been immersed in liquid air for a few seconds should be dropped it would shatter like glass.

A few weeks ago a number of scientific men were invited to witness Mr. Tripler's experiments. Among them were Dr. Cyrus Edson, Mr. James J. Pearson, an authority on explosives, formerly with the Armstrongs, warship builders; Mr. Herbert Tweddle, one of the constructors of the pipe line built by Great Britain across Sahara desert; Lieut. George Kuenzel, inventor of airships, and Mr. W. E. Munn, editor of the Scientific American.

During two hours a bewildering series of experiments were performed before these witnesses. A tumblerful of liquid air was poured into a test tube about a foot long and a little more than an inch in diameter. The top was closed with a cork through which three slender glass tubes two feet long passed. These were open at both ends and dipped beneath the surface of the fluid. This prepared tube was taken into the street and there immersed in a tumbler partly filled with water. The pressure of the "air steam" was so great that the cork could hardly be held in place and the liquid was forced through the small tubes in snowy jets rising amid clouds of vapor to a height of about 15 feet, and falling in a storm of snow and rain. If the test tube had been held in the hand the result would have been the same, but in a few seconds the hand would have been frozen. There is hence no doubt that liquid air would be of incalculable value in cooling rooms in summer.

In the next experiment fire was frozen. A tea kettle partly filled with liquid air was placed over the intense heat of six Bunsen gas burners. It began instantly to boil. Near the first kettle a second, also partly filled with liquid air, was placed upon a cake of ice. This liquid air began to boil harder than that which was over the fire. On lifting the kettle from the fire a sheet of ice was found over the bottom, thickest where the flames had been hottest. Dropping ice in the kettle made it boil harder, and a few ounces of water caused it to gurgle, spout and spit and the lid could be held on only with great difficulty. At the close of the experiment the kettle was inverted and lumps of ice were found inside, as dry as chalk. Scientists estimated that power enough had been generated to run an engine. The "steam" was ice cold.

A tin lemonade shaker half filled with liquid air was slowly revolved in a pan of water. The coating of ice which immediately formed around it cracked with the intense cold. After repeated immersions an ice cup was formed, thick enough to handle after the tin cup had been removed. The ice cup was partly filled with liquid air into which Mr. Tripler dropped a lighted cigaret. With a single puff it was consumed, the ice cup remaining uninjured. A white-hot carbon rod was plunged into the liquid air in the cup. It burned with intense brightness. Heat came through the ice which was not melted or cracked. A steel wire in the cup, lighted with a match, burned like a fuse, the bottom of the cup being covered with pellets of steel. During this time the ice cup had been held on a linen handkerchief, which was found to be frozen so stiffly that it could be broken in the fingers. After remaining in the liquefied air for a few seconds an egg could be pounded into bits as fine as flour. Raw beefsteak yielded the same results. When taken from the liquid it was so hard that it rang like silver. Rubber after having been immersed a few seconds became as friable as glass. Leather, strange to say, was not affected by the fluid.

If into cream, sweetened and flavored, a spoonful of liquefied air be dropped six seconds of stirring will produce excellent ice cream. A nail may be driven into wood with a bar of mercury, frozen by having the liquid air poured over it.

The great explosive power of the fluid was shown by pouring a teaspoonful into a copper tube a foot long, and sealed at the bottom. A closely-fitting wooden plug was driven in the top. Within four seconds, with a loud report, the plug shot up 200 feet above the surrounding buildings. Its possible use as an explosive in war can hardly be imagined. It may also be of great value in cooling guns in action. It may also be used as motive power in ships and may be safely handled in an ordinary engine. The vessel would be freed from the weight of coal, and the necessity for coaling stations would no longer exist. In submarine boats the motor would furnish all the air needed for breathing, pure and cold, and used in engines of aluminum and boilers of paper it may perchance solve the airship problem. The surrounding atmosphere would furnish all the heat needed.

When liquefied air is delivered to our houses in cans and bottles, coal and ice trusts may become things of the past. As a germicide it will prove of immense value, as clothing may be disinfected readily by its use. It is said that the molecules of oxygen are brought nearer mechanically in liquid air, hence any carbon body ignited in close contact to it will undergo oxydation instantly, resolving itself into its original gases, with explosive energy. It is expected to open up a new field in the line of safe explosives, and is likely to be utilized as a pulverizer of refractory substances, as by its evaporation they are made excessively brittle in low temperatures, probably from the shrinking apart of their molecules.

Mr. Tripler says that he resolved 25 years ago to devote his life to produce some power to supplant steam and electricity. After experimenting with many different substances and agencies he became satisfied that in liquid air could be found the power which would revolutionize the world. As a motive power, he now thinks, it is no longer a theory, but a "real live force which requires no conditional experiments."

This is to certify that I was sick in bed the most of the time for three years with kidney disease. No Flowers Allowed at a Military Funeral.

"Flowers can play no part in a military funeral, the rules of army or naval burials forbidding them," explained an army officer to a reporter. "While I was down at Chickamauga recently it was rumored that one of the soldiers in a camp there had died. Indeed it was so printed in a local paper. The result was that on the following day a large quantity of flowers were sent by sympathetic ladies and others with a request that they should be placed on the coffin of the dead soldier. Now, the fact was that no soldier had died and the officers had the flowers sent to their quarters. If there were a death in the camp, the flowers could not be used, for they are not military in any sense. The only thing allowed on the coffin of a soldier or sailor is a flag. That has been decided to be decoration enough, and among military men I have never heard the slightest objection to the custom, which has always prevailed."—Washington Star

CUBANS AND SPANIARDS

Are Still Fighting in the Island—Heavy Fighting Expected at Holguin—Garcia Grants Spanish Request.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 4.—The Spanish General at Manzanillo has asked Gen. Garcia that he be allowed to march to Holguin with his command without molestation by the Cubans. The Cuban leader has granted his request. Garcia is now marching upon Holguin, where heavy fighting is expected. Large numbers of Spanish guerillas have deserted to the Cubans, and are fighting the Spaniards with the same ferocity that they former manifested toward the Cubans. Garcia has gained an important victory over the Spaniards at Mayari after heavy fighting. The Spanish were completely routed and lost heavily in killed, wounded and prisoners. The steamship City of Berlin has arrived here with two regiments of immunes from New Orleans. Gen. Wood, Military Governor of Santiago, in order to put a stop to abuses, has fixed the value of the Spanish dollar at 50 cents in American money. The health of the city is still bad.

The Attitude of Spain.

Madrid, Aug. 5.—The consultations between the Premier, the Presidents of the Chambers and other prominent persons, are described as being really of a national character, with a view of ascertaining the opinions of all parties.

The Government has not yet entered upon any engagement regarding the terms for concluding the war with the United States. The Cabinet will follow the advice of the party leaders, and will leave to the Crown the liberty of choosing new advisers.

All the leaders consulted thus far have observed the strictest reserve, with the exception of Senor Romero y Robledo, the leader of the Weylerite party, who declares himself in favor of continuing the war.

The Queen Regent has summoned several generals for consulation.

WAR NEWS IN BRIEF.

Military movements are being pushed in Porto Rico.

A Cabinet officer who met the President yesterday afternoon, states that Spain's final reply to the United States' note is expected before the end of the week.

No confirmation has been received at Key West of the report that Neuvitas, the chief port of the Province of Puerto Principe, had been evacuated by the Spaniards, after a bombardment by the American ships.

The first prize steamer captured by the Americans during the present war, the Buena Ventura, was sold yesterday to the highest bidder, Lewis Luckenback, for $12,900.

Spain has asked for more details regarding the terms of peace. The Washington Government has replied, insisting on the position first taken, and is waiting for a response from Madrid, which had not been received last night.

GILLESPIE COMMITTED.

The Bankrupt Merchant Must Stand His Trial.

Montreal, Aug. 5.—Magistrate Lafontaine yesterday committed W. E. Gillespie, manager of the firm of Gillespie & Co., Penetanguishene, to stand his trial in the Court of Queen's Bench. In his judgment, Magistrate Lafontaine said that false reports had been made and circulated, and it was proved by incorporation certificates produced that Gillespie was the sole manager of the company. By an inventory of stock taken by an employe of the company, it was shown that the value of the stock was much less than estimated in a letter to Thibaudeau Bros. At the time of the assignment Gillespie said his book debts were worth $3,500 as assets, but Magistrate Lafontaine found that the book debts had previously been assigned to S. F. McKinnon of Toronto, and therefore could not be counted as assets.

BREAD OF THE NATIONS.

How the Staff of Life Is Made Among Various Peoples.

It is a curious and interesting study to compare the various materials which serve the different nations of the world as the basis of their bread. In this country, where good bread, made from spring and fall wheat flour, is within reach of all, rarely a thought is given to the fact that, after all, the inhabitants of only a small portion of the earth's surface enjoy such food. In the remoter part of Sweden the poor bake and bake their rye bread twice a year and store the loaves away, so that eventually they are as hard as bricks.

Farther north still bread is made from barley and oats. In Lapland oats, with the inner bark of the pine, are used. The two together, well ground and mixed, are made into large, flat cakes, cooked in a pan over a fire. In dreary Kamchatka pine or birch bark by itself, well macerated, pounded and baked, frequently constitutes the whole of the native bread food. The Icelander scrapes the "Iceland moss" off the rocks and grinds it into flour, which serves both for bread and for puddings.

In some parts of Siberia, China and other eastern countries a fairly palatable bread is made from buckwheat. In parts of Italy chestnuts are cooked, ground into meal and used for making bread. Durra, a variety of the millet, is much used in the countries of India, Egypt, Arabia and Asia Minor for making bread. Rice bread is the staple food of the Chinese, Japanese and a large portion of the inhabitants of India.

In Persia the bread is made from rice, flour and milk; it is called "lawash." The Persian oven is built in the ground, about the size of a barrel. The sides are smooth mason work. The fire is built at the bottom and kept burning until the walls or sides of the oven are thoroughly heated. Enough dough to form a sheet about one foot wide and about two feet long is thrown on the bench and rolled until about as thin as sole leather, then it is taken up and tossed and rolled from one arm to the other and flung on the board and slapped on the side of the oven. It takes only a few moments to bake and when baked it is spread out to cool. This bread is cheap (1 cent a sheet); it is sweet and nourishing.

A specimen of the "hunger bread" from Armenia is made of clover seed, flax or linseed meal, mixed with edible grass. In the Molucca islands, the starchy pith of the sago palm furnishes a white, floury meal. This is made up into flat, oblong loaves, which are baked in curious little ovens, each being divided into oblong cells to receive the loaves.

Bread is also made of roots in some parts of Africa and South America. It is made from manioc tubers. These roots are a deadly poison if eaten in the raw state, but make a good food if properly prepared. To prepare it for bread the roots are soaked for several days in water, thus washing out the poison. The fibers are picked out, dried and ground into flour. This is mixed with milk, if obtainable; if not, water is used. The dough is formed into little round loaves and baked in hot ashes or dried in the sun.—Sanitary Record.

STING OF THE BEE.

Poisonous Properties That Lurk In the Honey Maker.

The chemical and toxic properties of the poison of the honeybee have been a subject for long study by a German scientist, Dr. Joseph Zanger. During his investigation Dr. Zanger employed 25,000 bees. He found that the fresh poison is clear, like water, of an acid reaction, bitter taste and of a fine aromatic odor.

On evaporating and drying at a temperature of 100 degrees centigrade (212 degrees F.) a gummy residue is left. It is soluble in water; with alcohol it forms an emulsionlike mixture. The aromatic odor is due to a volatile substance, which disappears on evaporation and is not poisonous. The poisonous constituent is not destroyed by short boiling nor by drying and heating the residue to 212 degrees F. nor by the diluted acids or alkalis.

Dr. Zanger has proved the existence of formic acid, but he has also proved that that is not the poisonous principle. The latter is an organic base, soluble, with difficulty, in water, but kept in solution by an acid. On the healthy skin neither the bee poison nor a 2 per cent solution of the poisonous principle has any effect, but they act as powerful irritants on the mucuous membranes.

His tests made on rabbits and other animals show that when the poison is brought in contact with the eye there follow lachrymation, hyperemia, chemosis and croupous membrane or conjunctiva. The general condition is also affected; the animals become melancholy, take no food, but are very thirsty, and the urine shows small amounts of albumen.—Philadelphia Record.

A Louisville Slander.

Not long ago there was put in at the Louisville telephone exchange a switch board run entirely by a battery, so that the amount of calls was definitely indicated by expenditure of force. The chart showed correct business conditions up to 10 a. m., and then there came a most unaccountable drop. The electrician was bothered. There must be a leakage, a weakness, somewhere. Again and again the same remarkable and instantaneous drop showed on the chart, and the perplexed telephone engineer went from Chicago to Louisville to investigate.

He was with a group of anxious managers and directors waiting for the significant hour to approach, when suddenly some one looked at his watch and called, "Gentlemen, we are losing time," whereupon one and all arose and passed to the nearest buffet. That was crowded, and they tried another, only to find it also thronged. Then the electrician looked at the hour. It was just past 10 o'clock, and a daily scene was being enacted. All Louisville was out taking a drink.—Chicago Times-Herald.

African Skins.

Between 1850 and 1875 it is certain that some millions of blesbok, wildebeest and springbok must have been destroyed in the Transvaal and Orange Free State. The slaughter was so prodigious and the variety of wild animals so great in these wild regions of South Africa that the result made a sensible difference in the leather industry of Europe. The markets were filled with skins which, when tanned, gave leather of a quality and excellence never known before, but the origin of which, as the material was still sold under old names, purchasers never suspected. Hides of the zebra and quagga arrived in tens of thousands, and good as horsehide is for the uppers of first class boots, these were even better. Smart Englishmen for years wore boots the uppers of which were made of zebra and quagga skin or from the hides of eland, oryx and gemsbok disguised under the names of "calf" or patent leathers.—London Spectator.

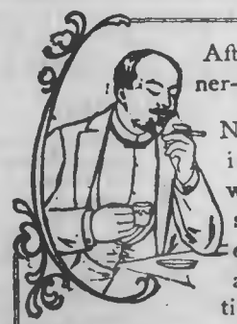
Travellers

Should always carry with them a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

The change of food and water to which those who travel are subject, often produces an attack of Diarrhœa, which is as unpleasant and discomforting as it may be dangerous. A bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in your grip is a guarantee of safety. On the first indication of Cramps, Colic, Diarrhœa or Dysentery, a few doses will promptly check further advance of these diseases.

It is an old, reliable remedy, with over forty years' of cures to its credit, whose merit is recognized everywhere and one that the doctors recommend in preference to all others.

Sold by medicine dealers everywhere at 35c. a bottle. Always insist on the genuine, as many of the imitations are highly dangerous.



After dinner-coffee.

Nothing in the world is so necessary as a fitting termination to a perfectly served dinner.

At no time does the true merit of coffee become so manifest. To produce that delicious, aromatic beverage that delights the hearts of epicures and acts as a delightful conclusion to a well-enjoyed meal, only the finest material should be used. They are represented by

Worth Three Times The Price.

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Summer Sale. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customer's gain.

Thursday will be a red letter day with us, marking the beginning of the Great August Sale of Summer Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes.

The End of a Famous Old Inn.

Hampstead folk and Londoners who find their way up to the heights of Hampstead for a breath of fresh air will have noticed that the famous "Jack Straw's Castle" is now in the hands of the builders. At present the old inn is supported with huge props and the lower part incased in scaffolding. This should be enough to raise an alarm among those who fly to the defense of historic buildings, for "Jack Straw's Castle," it is well known, has been frequented by some of our most famous celebrities, past and present. Here Dickens came for a well cooked chop and a bottle of good wine after a ramble on the heath. Washington Irving introduces the inn in his "Tales of a Traveler," and it has always been a hostelry beloved of artists. Here, too, the old courts leet were held. As a matter of fact, the ancient face of the "Castle hotel" is to be preserved, but the interior will be entirely changed, and the charm of the old inn will have passed away. The low rooms and bar will be replaced by loftier rooms and a modern bar. There must be many who have pleasant recollections of good dinners at "Jack Straw's Castle" after breezy walks on the heath, and many will mourn over the inevitable changes that modernise old cities.—Westminster Gazette.

PARE AND DOUGHERTY

The Detective Closeted With the Crown Witness.

THE MAGISTRATE STOPS IT.

Inspector Burke and Chief of Police Healey, Who Claims the Bank's Reward for Arresting Pare and Recovering Some of the Money, on the Stand—Pare Not so Clear.

Napanee, Aug. 6.—Until Tuesday next the prisoners in the bank robbery case will spend their time in charge of Jailer Vanluven, while the court room that has been crowded for the last five days will be tenantless. Mr. Osler went up to Toronto by yesterday's afternoon train, and Crown Attorney Herrington looked after the examination in chief of Chief of Police Healey of Manchester, N.H., whose men arrested Pare.

Pare Closeted With Dougherty.

When court adjourned yesterday afternoon Mr. E. Gus Porter went up to the Magistrate's desk and made a strong protest against the manner in which the prosecution are acting with regard to Pare. Mr. Porter stated that every time Pare left the stand he was interviewed by detectives who had no right to do so. Mr. Porter said that Pare that morning was closeted with Detective Dougherty in the surrogate office in the Court House.

"The jail is where he should have been, and he should have been alone in his cell," protested Mr. Porter.

Crown Attorney Herrington said he had no objection to an order being made that nobody but the Crown counsel should see the Frenchman. Magistrate Daly made the order and Pare will have uninterrupted quiet for three days.

OFFICIAL TESTIMONY.

Inspector Burke of Boston Gave His Testimony—Pare on the Stand Again.

When court opened yesterday morning Inspector Burke of Boston, Mass., was called to give evidence concerning the arrest of Prisoner Holden. He told where and how he arrested the prisoner, and exhibited the money found upon him at his arrest. The fourteen silver coins were tied up in a dirty old sock. All of the coins were non-current in the United States. One was a five-franc Belgian piece of the date 1870, upon which were four marks in indelible ink. Partially burnt bills of the uncountersigned Dominion Bank issue 46,000 plus were shown. They had been rescued from the fire by Burke. The exhibits were put in a box, and in open court Mr. Burke gave the box to Chief Adams. D. H. Preston, Q.C., cross-examined the witness shortly, but did not upset the evidence in any way. The cross-examination was but a review of the prime evidence. Burke found a knife, a cheque for $400, and $17 in American money. The $17 Burke gave to Mrs. Holden. He did not bring the cheque because it is attached by the Pinkerton agency upon some ground. When asked by the detectives about the money when arrested, Holden had said that the money was put in his house by someone, and that he knew nothing about it.

Prisoner Pare was again brought into court and cross-examined by Lawyer Porter. The prisoner's memory did not seem to be as clear this morning as formerly. He got confused about where he bought the hoop iron from which to make a key of Mr. Baines' compartment, though he remembered distinctly the very words he used when he bought it. The witness declared that the impressions were made upon plain paper. The impressions found by the detectives last year were upon printed paper. The prisoner kept the impressions because he wanted to use them again. The cross-examination takes up day after day of Pare's life in August, 1897. The witness tells the little, trivial incidents that happened on each and every day, frequently repeating isolated conversations, and telling when and where Mackie came from and went to Belleville. When the key was made, it, the impression and the file were hurled in a shed on the Bay of Quinte road and Mackie was told of this. "The same day," he said, "Holden and I went to Kingston. The next day we returned to Napanee. I went up to Ponton's rooms, and coming out I met a woman, but I turned my head away and passed on. The next day I made a key out of a piece of brass. Penton told me that night about the entrance from the back and said I could use it."
